Berlin blockade during the Cold War

After the end of the Second World War, the four victors divided Germany into a occupation zone. Berlin is also four points, and is in the Soviet occupation area like an island. On June 24, 1948, the Soviet Union blocked all water and land traffic to West Germany, and power supply was also cut off. The Western Alliance reacted.

The door to the world

On June 25, 1948, Lucius D. Clay, the US military officer in Germany, ordered the construction of a Berlin air bridge. One day later, the first U.S. transport aircraft landed at Tempelhof at Berlin. The airport located in the US occupation zone became the most important hub of the air bridge. Today, people can still visit the airport that has become a myth and abandoned at the time of Berlin under the guidance of the commentator.

For a full 14 months, 2.2 million west Berlin people relied on air to survive. The Allies designed a system of extremely precise operation: 3 air corridors were opened as one -way lane, 2 were used for take -off, and one was used for landing. At the time of the busiest, there are 5 planes at the same time! Great performance: In 14 months, there were 278,000 batches of transportation, with a total of 2.3 million tons of goods.

Today, most tourists coming to Berlin fly to the German capital at the German capital via TEGEL airport. Many people don't know that the airport is also inseparable from the air bridge. Tiger Airport is a contribution from France in the air bridge. In the autumn of 1948, the French Allied forces had only three months paved the largest runway in Europe, which was 2,5 kilometers long. On November 5 of that year, the third empty bridge airport in Berlin was put into operation.

"You see, all these major events I have mentioned now have become the past." Ambassador Hubber said, "What we need to get used to is that we must re-build cross-Atlantic relations and must adapt to the reality of our era."

Harbin believes that Russia's aggression on Ukraine - "and our ability, determination, and perseverance in dealing with this aggression" - will become a engine to determine the future of the Atlantic relations.

Ukrainian war is the biggest challenge

Harbers said that therefore, it should be in the war of Russia to Ukraine It will still be the biggest challenge in the next few months and years. She said: "The result of this war will largely define and shape the international geopolitics and geopolitical patterns."

The diplomat warns that many countries in the world will pay close attention to whether Germany, the United States and its allies have the ability to provide continuous support for Ukraine.

"This is very important. It will define our reputation and define the legitimacy of what we do, that is, the basic principles of defending international law and the United Nations Charter," Hubber said.

Description: Many people chose to go to English -speaking countries during the implementation of Hong Kong's immigration after the implementation of the National Security Law. There are not many who come to Germany. The two Hong Kong people interviewed by Voice of Germany chose Germany because of their opportunities in their lives, but the factors of Hong Kong's political environment have an important role in promoting.

(Voice of German in Chinese) Ms. Lin said she was a native of Hong Kong. "I was studying in Hong Kong. When I was in college, I went to Britain to study in the last year. Then I worked in Hong Kong. I was in an accounting firm. I got married and had children."

In 2021, Ms. Lin applied for a master's degree in Germany, and later came to Germany with her husband and son through this visa. She tells that half of the reason to come to Germany is because of children. Her son read Waldorf Education in Hong Kong, because in the mainstream school, the child reads language-Chinese and English have obstacles, and psychological pressure is great. "He begged the teacher to give him less homework, but it didn't work." After taking the child to see the psychologist, she was worried that the child may "take medicine and read". She felt that the little child was "unreasonable" Essence So she took her child away from the mainstream school and went to the co-LearningCenter under the Waltdorf system in Hong Kong, and the child was very happy and could grow back to the child's original state. However, since the autumn of 2019, she cannot find a teacher with such qualifications in Hong Kong to continue the so -called "alternative education" to the children. When she saw a master's degree in Germany who provided education in Education in early 2021, she had a interest in her own entry and was applied and was admitted. "I ask if I can bring my child to study, the answer is okay." "I also want to see why Waldorf's education can help my children. My child has obstacles to study language, but he can be in Waldorf in Waldorf. When growing up, he can learn well. His grades are not necessarily very good, but he loves reading, and he has more reading than me."

After graduating from Germany, although Ms. Lin did not engage in teachers' work due to German, she found a job in the accounting industry of the Bank, and continued to stay in Germany with her family.

Ms. Lin said that for her husband, she made immigration Germany's decision is difficult. "Because he doesn't want to leave Hong Kong. He actually loves Hong Kong. He feels that he shouldn't leave Hong Kong. We didn't come out of the parade in 2019. What did you publish? But we also love Hong Kong at all. But we also love Hong Kong. All of our family members. All in Hong Kong."

The other half of the reason for Germany is related to politics. "Politics does not mean freedom of speech, or something," Ms. Lin said. She said that Hong Kong's implementation of the TSA examination system in the past ten years has led to the school's first grade in primary school in order to achieve good scores. "They practice their children from this direction, and his homework and exams are also in this direction. Teachers regardless of their children's ability. I say that my child has limited ability when he is studying language. He has more than ten homework at that time. He did his homework until 12 am and 1 am, and he would get up at 6 o'clock the next day. "In 2015, the government held public hearing on the TSA examination system under social criticism. Ms. Lin participated in the public hearing and feedback her child. However, the end result is, "They continue to let the children test TSA. I was cold at that time. Why can education be done like this and ignore the life and death of the child. At that time, I felt that there was no confidence in the government. They do education, but they ignore their children, as long as their grades."

One person election: Li Jiachao in the eyes of Hong Kong people

In addition, Ms. Lin also observed that the government has gradually moved towards the direction of control. "Control is more, and it has an impact on my children. What topics do you want to read, it is not allowed. It is something that is not sensitive. If the government feels on his adults, you are not allowed to go. Well. "In addition, considering the privilege class and social unfairness of the Mainland, Ms. Lin is also worried that children will encounter uneven opportunities in the future.

Today, more than two years have passed, Ms. Lin feels that the decision to leave Hong Kong is correct. "Now my child is very happy to live here." Ms. Lin said, the child can learn what he wants to learn freely. "For example, he likes the history of World War II, he can read. That is surprising to me, because his teacher allowed him to study." In contrast, Ms. Lin said, when she left It has been said that the degree of freedom in Hong Kong will decline, and it is true. Whether it is the use of "peaceful travel" application software during the epidemic period, or the difficulty of extracting compulsory provident fund in advance, Hong Kong people reflect this.

The Hong Kong Government Push the "Anxin Travel" APP why Hong Kong people are uneasy

Ms. Lin said: "Also, if my child continues to grow in Hong Kong, he has to at least 50,000 yuan in the Hong Kong government to complete the" Tomorrow Lantau "-is a big place to develop the north. Because all of them are all.

Things No need to go to the parliament to discuss Well. So no matter how much you say, 1 billion, 10 billion, 100 billion, 10 trillion, no problem, you can pass within 3 seconds. Therefore, if we continue to stay in Hong Kong, we will pay a lot of taxes, and my child will pay a lot of taxes. Just like the Mainland, the child will lie flat, because he can work hard, and he can't be the person he wants to do, and he wants the job he wants. The more he earns, the worse the quality of life. "

"Now there is only a unilateral sound"

Mr. Li and his family came to Germany because of an opportunity at work. In April last year, Mr. Li's company in Hong Kong had a vacancy in his parent company in Germany. He applied and got it. "You also know that the situation in Hong Kong at that time was relatively chaotic, and the government's situation was not very good. It was worse than the previous year and the previous year. Especially the situation of children's education. Seeing that there was an opportunity to work in Germany to work, Decide here. "

Mr. Li said that after the Citizen Movement, he discovered that "why does the Hong Kong government do this? It seems that it doesn't care about our freedom." The Hong Kong government should do what. He felt that he was usually a little fair before. "The sound of the positive and negative sounds must be together, but now it seems to be gone. There is only a single voice. Even if the other party strives to say, explain it until the end (the other party) There is no way to accept it, and then just do it according to my plan. I think this situation is not good. "

Mr. Li said, I don't know when I can return to the state of Hong Kong ten years ago or 20 years ago. "That is, I want to say anything, you can go to the parade, or what I do. Don't violate the law. The situation in Hong Kong is more dangerous now. You can also see some reports, saying that what I said on the street, said on the same day that he did not catch you that day, but I set up one in the future. I set up one in the future. The law can go back to what you did before, what bad things you did, and he caught you again. I don't think it is good. ##### Many Hong Kong people have encountered hardships after immigrating to Britain

Mr. Li said that it would be difficult to leave Hong Kong without this job opportunity in Germany, because there were more things to give up. "I know that many Hong Kong people have gone to Britain. Because the method to go to the UK is more convenient. But what do you want after going to Britain? If you don't have a job, you need to think about it. So this part also needs to be considered. Come out, but after a few years, it is still impossible, and if you have to return to Hong Kong, it doesn't make sense. "

Now more than a year in Germany, Mr. Li said that his family liked life here. Of course, "the contrast between Hong Kong and Germany is also quite large." Hong Kong is a major metropolis, and in Germany, they live in a small village. "But overall, our life here is happy. There is not much difficulty when children study." Mr. Li contacted the Hong Kong people in the German Association German, of course, I do n't understand when I came, I ca n't say German. Many things have to help others. So if you want to find some Hong Kong people in Germany, we can understand at least what we can say and help each other. " You can talk about your language.

Hong Kong Foreign Institute of Foreign Experts Examination: What makes them go?

In Germany, Mr. Li has always paid attention to the news of Hong Kong. His feeling is that Hong Kong's economic situation and security have continued to decline. "I don't know when it will return to my situation when I was in Hong Kong before. I guess it may not have this opportunity in the next five years and eight years, and it may not be able to return to the previous level. The Chinese or Hong Kong government has a big change. But I haven't seen this opportunity now. "

Mr. Li said that he has no plans to return to Hong Kong. "I thought about it a little, but there was no chance to go back. Especially what are the other 23 articles Ah, Guoan Law These two have a great impact on us. Because its rules are not clear, for example, it still has to be banned That Rongguang's Song of Hong Kong Essence Its legislation is unclear. It is not clear how it goes to this legislation and how to implement this regulation. "

The Koreans are "young" at once, one to two years old (Voice of Germany Chinese) When the Koreans woke up on Wednesday (June 28) in the morning, they found that they were one year younger than Tuesday, and some were even two years younger.

This large -scale "aging" is attributed to the effectiveness of a new law. The law abolish the traditional age calculation method (virtual age) and requires Koreans to use the internationalization method of internationalization.

Lee Wan-Kyu, director of the South Korean Legal Department, said at a press conference on Monday: "We expect legal disputes, complaints and social confusion caused by age computing will greatly reduce."

Korean people used to use virtual years before

According to the traditional method of calculating the age in South Korea, a person is already one year old when he is born. Everyone's age will increase by one year on January 1, not only the age of birthday.

Although the international age calculation method has been used in South Korea for legal documents and medical documents since the early 1960s, the traditional calculation method is still used in daily life.

But the law passed in December last year ended this traditional system. According to a government poll in September last year, 86% of Koreans plan to use international systems.

"I will be 30 years old next year." Choi Hyun-Ji, a 27-year-old office staff member, told Reuters when talking about the traditional age algorithm. "But now I have more time, it's great."

"Squid Game" reveal Korean social problems

Why is the virtual age continued in South Korea to this day?

This traditional algorithm has also been used in other countries in East Asia before, for example China, Japan and North Korea, but they were abandoned decades ago.

It continues in South Korea, partly because of the importance of "age" to Korean, because people usually use respect, such as "Unni" (sister) and "OPPA" (brother), not personal names.

"Age is indeed important." Humanologist Mo Hyun-Joo told AFP, "If you don't know people's age, it is difficult to communicate with them."

In the traditional algorithm, everyone in a grade in the school is considered the same age, so we can talk to without a language level.

There are also the third age computing system in South Korea. It is used to calculate a person's school year, when to participate in the compulsory military service, and when to buy alcoholic beverages.

The system is similar to the traditional algorithm, but starts from the age of zero. The system is not affected by new laws and will continue to exist.

After a teenager was shot by the police, France experienced the third night of riots

Riots began on Tuesday to weekends. From south to north, from Paris to a number of cities in Marseille, France appeared to have a smashing and burning incident.

On Thursday evening, the French Ministry of the Interior said that more than 3880 fires occurred on public roads, and Wednesday was 2391 on Wednesday.

In Ryleos in the suburbs of Paris, the attacker hit a car to the mayor's house. When his wife tried to escape with their two children, he was injured.

In Marseille, about 30 young people broke into a gun shop and stole at least four shotguns. Mayor Marseille called on the state government to immediately send the army.

Lyon Mayor Gregory Doucet(Grégory Doucet)He called the city's "unprecedented" riots and called on the police for reinforcement. After he had a crisis meeting at the city hall, he said that the city was "troubled by unprecedented intensity, degeneration and violence."

French Minister of Home Affairs Gérald Darmanin revealed that France deployed 45,000 police officers. Starting from Tuesday, there are people arrested every night, as few as three or four hundred, as many as thousands of people.

Darmanin asked their parents not to let their children participate in riots, and some children participating in riots were only 13 years old.

The government also requires closing overnight bus and tram services, and said that armored vehicles will be used to assist in law enforcement.

Police, Mother, Macron

Tuesday, French President Macron(Emmanuel Macron)It is said that the behavior of shooting Nahler is "unforgivable."

But his remarks caused anger by the police union, accusing him of being eager to judge the police involved. Police unions called for them to be innocent before discovering guilty.

Another French police group posted a tweet saying that the police officer who "opened a fire to a young criminal" "was great" and blamed the death of the teenager on his parents, claiming that they "could not educate their sons."

The Minister of the Interior Dalmarn said the tweet was "despicable and unacceptable" and would take legal operations. This tweet has been deleted.

Nahler's mother Mounia said in a video circulating in social media that they took her child and urged people to participate in the parade and commemorate her son.

"He is still a child. He needs his mother," she said. "He kissed me in the morning and said, "I love you, mother!."

"One hour later, I was told someone to shoot at my son. What should I do? He is my life. He is my everything."

President Macron told reporters in Marseille: "Nothing can prove that the death of a young man is reasonable," he called for, "keep calm and realize justice."

"I want to express the feelings of the whole country about what happened and the death of the young Nayer, and tell his family's support and the emotions of the country."

"We have a teenager." He said: "This is puzzling and unforgivable." He added that the case had been handed over to the court immediately, and he hoped that the judicial would "quickly complete his work."

2017 Dispute

Nahler was the second person to be shot and killed by the police during the traffic law enforcement this year. Last year, 13 people died in this way and set a record.

The human rights organization criticized a law amended in 2017, expanded the scope of police guns, and allowed the police to shoot without the driver's ignorance of the parking order. Official statistics show that after the law is revised, the number of police shooting vehicles during driving has been increasing every year.

Reuters said that since 2017, the French policeman's deadly shooting during the traffic interception process was black or Arabs.

The police officer said that he shot because he felt that he was in danger. However, a video released online and verified by AFP showed that a policeman pointed at the driver with a gun through a window and seemed to shoot at close range when he tried to drive away.

Agence France -Presse also reported that in the video, you can hear a person saying, "You will be shot on the head", but it is not clear who said it.

When the shooting occurred, there were still two people in the car. One of them escaped, and the other was a minor and was arrested and detained by the police.

Is the French policeman a racist?

Police on Champs Elysiums Avenue

The core issue of these protests is that French police are racists?

The riots on the streets believe that this is the case. Many people interviewed by BBCs have the same feeling of people from the Nantali ethnic communities from Paris. On Friday, the UN Security Council called on France to "seriously solve the deep problem of racism and discrimination in law enforcement."

In response, the French government said that there was no basis for these charges.

But protesters are the problem.

They said that unless the French government acknowledged and started dialogue on their concerns, they would continue to the streets.

However, business owners and residents in the community are paying a price, and their property is destroyed every day, and they want the riots to stop.

Social media short video to help long riots

Many comments say that the scene in the past few days is reminiscent of the 2005 riots.

At that time, the riots were taken by "outsiders" -most of them were photographers or reporters recorded on the spot.

This time, through the rough observation of Tiktok, Instagram, and Snapchat, you can see the latest riots' first -person perspective.

Through the labels such as "NaHel" and "riots", we can see hundreds of videos, showing that teenagers run in French cities, break into the store, set fire to destroy cars and trash cans.

In one of the videos, the masked people were closer to an automatic cash machine with a circular saw, and dozens of people cheered.

In another news, a senior asked helplessly who was shooting: "Why do you do this?"

The third video shows that a shop was smashed by a group of people, and many people were shooting with mobile phones.

Many videos have a humorous tone, and there are even a few videos to show riots to show riots.

President Macron has accused the social media platform in terms of inciting violence and promoting organizational protests.

At the beginning of this year, the subsidy mentioned by the German government was obviously 6.8 billion euros, and now it is tentatively scheduled to be at 9.9 billion euros. It shows that Intel's powerful bargaining ability is not included, which does not include possible industrial electricity subsidies in the future. In June, the German federal government signed a letter of intent for investment with Intel. The German Economic Minister of Economic Head said that the investment shows that Germany is very attractive as a high -tech base. According to Bloomberg, although the global energy crisis has been reduced, China still purchases a large number of natural gas from various countries.

Data show that so far this year, 33% of long-term liquefied natural gas transactions have flowed to China. China is expected to become the world's largest liquefied natural gas importing country in 2023. And Chinese companies have agreed to buy more natural gas with a long -term basis for the third consecutive year, and the number exceeds any country.

The report emphasized that China's purchase strategy is to scatter imports between countries to buffer geopolitical interference in one step. Last month, China Petroleum Natural Gas Group signed a 27 -year agreement with Qatar and obtained its equity in the country's large expansion projects. At the same time Signed a contract with American developer Cheniereenergy Inc. for decades.

Traders who understand the government's strategy revealed that the power outage and supply in the past few years have changed the way of thinking of Chinese policy makers. They are now more inclined to protect energy and safety, rather than considering fuel importers that may be overdone.

However, to attract attention, some people have never really established Communists' ideals and beliefs, the world view, outlook on life, and values are not correct, and the motivation of entering the party's team is impure.

"Numerous facts tell us that only by the signs of winning the brave on the narrow road and daring to fight and be good at struggle, can we win dignity, take the initiative, and effectively safeguard national sovereignty, security, and development interests." Xi Jinping said, "In our team, we can't be in this team. There are timid ghosts, let alone people who have a different heart, in Cao Yingxin in Han, and the same bed dreams. "

When talking about the letter of letters and visits, Xi Jinping said, "What are the fear of the petitioners?" When he enumerated himself in Zhengding and Ningde, Hebei, he publicly accepted the case of petitions and solved many issues. After that, every time I arrived in the place, I insisted on doing so, emphasizing that "letters and visits are the masses who came to the door, which can be exhausted or ventilated."

Xi Jinping criticized the corruption within the party, and some (party members) asked for comparisons. When they saw some bosses waving their money like soil, spending on the sky, they were unbalanced. Some people are lucky, thinking that they are caught "falling eggs". Xi Jinping also recorded by the "Yuan Shi" records Xu Heng, "Although Pear has no master, I have the master", and the cadres who accuse the illegal discipline are the lack of this kind of cultivation and context, so that the defense from the heart is to fall into the degradation. Essence

When Xi Jinping attended the first meeting of the 20th Central National Security Commission on May 30 this year, he pointed out that China is currently facing "the complexity and difficulty of national security issues have increased significantly." He called for adherence to the bottom line of thinking and extreme thinking, preparing to "adopt a major test of high waves and even stormy waves", and said that China is currently facing "the complexity and difficulty of national security issues are significantly increased."

On July 1, the newly revised "Anti -Spy Law" and the newly formulated "Foreign Relations Law" was implemented. Behavior.

Tesla's nearly 500,000 vehicles have increased by 83% over the same period last year, an increase of 10% over the previous quarter. Analysts had previously expected Tesla to pass by less than 450,000 vehicles.

From April to June, Tesla, headquartered in Texas, produced 479,700 vehicles, an increase of 85% compared with the second quarter of 2022.

This allowed Tesla's total output of this year to reach 9.058 units, successfully moving towards the target of 1.8 million vehicles in 2023, and exceeded the expectations of industry observers.

Sla's production efficiency allows large-scale delivery. "

As the competition in the field of electric vehicles has intensified, Tesla has reduced prices in the United States, Europe and Asia. This also allows Tesla to withstand the test of decline in the demand for the Chinese market.

Description: (AFP Moscow, 2nd) A senior propaganda person in Russia accused the mercenary group of Wagner, the head of the mercenary group, "behavior derailment" after receiving the public funds. After Wagner's brief troops, Moscow is developing a new storyline.

The head of Wagner led the troops last weekend to launch a short -term troops against the high -level military leaders of Russia, which made the Kremlin's face lost.

Agence France -Presse reported that Russia's propaganda machine's important figures and Russian national television host Dmitry Kiselev stated in his TV show once a week today that "Prigjin's behavior because of large money, Derailment."

"He thinks he can challenge the Ministry of Defense, Russia and President's personal person."

Kiev Lvov said that Wagner's actions in Syria and Africa made Prigjin think that he could not be punished, and after his miscellaneous army won the battlefield in eastern Ukraine, this feeling was further strengthened.

Kievolov said without any evidence that Wagner received a national fund of more than 858 billion rubles (about NT $ 304.6 billion).

Russian President Vladimir Putin acknowledged for the first time earlier this week that the Russian authorities "fully" funded this standard for military forces and shocked all walks of life.

Pu Ting said that from May 2022 to May 2023, Wagner received more than 86 billion ruble funds from the Russian government.

Russian law prohibits private mercenary groups.

The Wall Street Journal reported today that the Federal Security Services (FSB) assault search for the headquarters of St.Petersburg in St.Petersburg to find evidence of adversely for Porigin.

Due to the sanctions of Washington and the European Union, Porigjin has been operating in the dark for many years, but since Pavilion sent troops in Ukraine in February 2022, Porigzo has suddenly become the focus of attention.

In the last month, Porigjin abandoned the attack Moscow and reached an agreement with the Kremlin to accept Belarus in exile.

Many political observers believe that Perigjin's soldiers attempts to show that Panting's control of power is weakening. (Translator: Ji Jinling)

On June 28, the National People's Congress of China passed the "Law of the People's Republic of China", which passed the macro specifications and guides China's diplomatic work, and fully implemented on July 1st, which became the focus of the attention of international media last week. The international media pays attention to the confrontation of this law, that is, China takes this law based on this law and adopts the "countermeasures" and "restrictions" operations on the sanctions and threats of Western countries; The Chinese leaders have entered several iconic foreign policy initiatives of global security, global development and global civilization, and reiterated China's position against "hegemonism and power politics".

The author believes that Chinese diplomacy often considers policies rather than laws, or policies are more important than law. The significant difference between policies and laws is: the law strictly emphasizes the law without compromising; the policy is flexible, but once a decision is made, it often only focuses on the law and even the program. Therefore, this "Foreign Relations Law" may prevent prevention and deterrence of the West, but in a certain period of time, Sino -foreign relations may also be more nervous. These two consequences may exist at the same time.

Mainly attitude and symbol

The author believes that the "Foreign Relations Law" adopted by the National People's Congress of China last week is basically policy rather than law, and even more like a constitutional document of Chinese diplomacy, especially the "Anti -Foreign Sanctions adopted by the National People's Congress of the Chinese National People's Congress in 2021 Compared with the "Foreign Relations Law" passed last week, the specifications and regulations of the specific "countermeasures" and "restrictions" of Western countries have fewer regulations and regulations, mainly a posture and symbolic position.

The reason for this is because China's policies are often manifested in attitude and symbolic words. This feature can be clearly seen from the legal content passed last week.

First, the law mainly expounds the policy principles of Chinese diplomacy, and specific legal provisions, especially the provisions of "countermeasures" and "restrictions" Western behavior, are rare, so the law looks more like a constitution of Chinese diplomacy. Essence Second, this law specially includes the global development initiative, global security initiative, global civilization initiative proposed by Chinese leaders in the past three years, and promoting the all-round, multi-level, wide field, and three-dimensional external work layout. The political guidance of the ministry is particularly strong.

In addition, the law also specifically emphasized the "centralized unified leadership" of the Communist Party of China on Chinese diplomatic work. This also shows the strong political color of the law.

At the same time, on June 29, the next day, Wang Yi, a member of the Political Bureau of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China and the director of the Office of the Central Foreign Affairs Working Committee, was published by the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China. Strong policy characteristics. This article pointed out that the current development of China's development has entered a period of strategic opportunities and risk challenges, uncertainty, and unpredictable factors, we must face difficulties. The legal "toolbox" of the struggle. Wang Yi's article also said: This new law provides a legal basis for China's legitimate rights to exercise anti-sanctions and anti-interference in accordance with the law. These contents of Wang Yi's article are undoubtedly a explanation of policy guidance.

However, there is another interpretation, that is, this new law is providing the main trunk and framework for formulating new relevant legal provisions in China in the future. Singaporean scholar Li Mingjiang believes that the substantial impact of the "Foreign Relations Law" is to guide China in the future for a period of time in the future.

However, this is a matter of the future, but it just proves the author's point of view, that is, the "Foreign Relations Law" is exactly the guidance of the policy. It is expected to become a constitution of China's diplomacy in the future.

Chinese and foreign relations will be more nervous?

Since the "Foreign Relations Law" is based on policy and symbolism as the main characteristics of the law, this kind of law that often focuses on the light program and provisions. When the current Chinese and foreign relations are highly sensitive, what will happen to Sino-foreign relations, Impact? Obviously, at least a period of time, Chinese and foreign relations will increase a lot of tension factors and atmospheres. From the perspective of Western public opinion, this is the case.

The US Cable Television News Network website reported on June 29 that China announced a comprehensive foreign relations law, stipulating that it has the right to take "countermeasures" measures to take a threat. This is the latest measure that Beijing has taken in the tension with Western relations.

The news report said: This new law emphasizes that China has the right to take corresponding countermeasures and restrictions on the acts of violations of the basic criteria of international law and international relations, and harming China's sovereignty, security, and development benefits.

On the same day, the website of the United States Bloomberg News reported on the same day, entitled "China's Foreign Relations Law of the Foreign Relations of Western hegemonic rights": China wrote the right to retaliation measures to overseas acts into a new foreign relationship. Law, the (China) national media said that this law provides a legal basis for counterattack sanctions and "Western hegemony".

It is reported that although China has already implemented retaliatory sanctions, this law will provide more legal support for such measures. The Foreign Relations Law also requires that national institutions have strengthened cross -departmental coordination and cooperation to implement retaliation measures.

Even the Hong Kong "South China Morning Post" website reported on June 29th. The report said: Beijing passed the new legislation that supervised China's foreign policy on the 28th. The latest efforts.

The author believes that tension is a necessary prerequisite for prevention and deterrence, but if you cut in with legal means, the scope of application should not be too wide. It can only be targeted at very few key issues and areas, such as Taiwan issues on China.

Vigner Group leader Pricigen(Reuters)The Wall Street Journal quoted Western officials as saying that after the failure of the rebellion launched by the Wagner Group nearly a week ago, Russian President Putin has begun to control the group.

The newspaper quoted these officials as saying that Putin is committed to controlling more than 100 companies under the Wagner Group, and the Russian security department has also raided the group's auxiliary agencies.

The media added that the commander of the Wagner Group, Yofgen Nihigo, transferred some of his property to his staff a few weeks before the rebellion, which may make the problems facing the Kremlin more complicated.

The newspaper quoted Western officials as saying that Perigo set up one of the most complicated and most unusable corporate architectures.

According to Western officials interviewed by the newspaper, many transactions reached by Wagner Group and African governments are unofficial and depend on smuggling.

With the continuous upgrading of the future of the Wagner Military Group and its discussions in different regions of the world, the Russian Ministry of Foreign Affairs said earlier that the leaders of African countries should decide whether to continue to cooperate with the Wagner Military Group, Russia's Klimlin spokesman Dimitri Peskov said that Russian countries have nothing to do with Vagna Group's activities in African countries.

He also added that the Wagner Group "conducted independent activities that had nothing to do with the Russian country in Africa", although Russian President Putin revealed that the funds of Wagner Group from Wagner Group came from Russia last Tuesday.

Putin also made it clear that Wagner Group received 86.262 billion rubles (more than $ 1 billion) within a year, and said that Russia had "fully" funded Wagner Group.

Russian Foreign Minister Lavrov pointed out in another separate statement that Wagner Group "will continue to work in the Central African Republic and Mali, although the organization's leader Yavigani Porige has launched a rebellion."

Vigner Group leader Pricigen(news agency)

Vagner Group's role in the Middle East

Reuters once quoted US officials earlier that Washington was studying the possibility of the Tagona Group's rebellion on the organization in the Middle East and Africa business.

On the other hand, the Wall Street Journal quoted diplomacy and intelligence sources as saying that the Kremlin was taking action to control all business of the Wagner Group worldwide.

The Wall Street Journal also quoted uninterrupted sources saying that Moscow had informed Syrian President Bashar Assad that the Wagner forces in Syria would no longer act independently in the local area and added that the Wagner armed personnel stationed in Syria have already been Follow the order to Russia's military base in Latakia.

Since 2017, the Central African Republic has deployed a number of Wagner troops to guard diamonds and gold mines, and its existence is distributed between Madagascar and Mozambique. In addition, the group was invited by the government to Mali to provide security guarantees for the country and crack down on armed groups.

In 2020, the US Department of Finance determined that the existence of Wagner Group in Africa was a cover set by Porigen's mining company.

In addition, the Wagner Group's event was expanded to South America in early 2019, and intervention was implemented there to help Venezuela President Nicholas Madro with safety guarantees. It should be pointed out that Venezuela has the largest known oil reserves in the world.

For the first time, the organization appeared during the Russia's Crimean Peninsula in 2014. At that time, the organization launched an attack in Ukraine. At that time, the Kremlin needed someone to replace it to alleviate the pressure on the international community.

The Wagner Group participated in the combat operations of various conflict areas in Africa, Asia and Latin America. In addition to rape and robbery in the Chinese and African Republic, it was also accused of committing human rights and war crimes in its area.

After a few hours after the funeral of the 17 -year -old boy shot by the police, although the car broke into the mayor's residence and other independent incidents and caused hundreds of people to be arrested, the riots in France were relatively reduced on Sunday night. The Minister of the Internal Affairs Ji Lald Dalmarin wrote in the tweet: "Due to the resolute action of the security forces, the night becomes more calm."

On the other hand, in a statement, the French judicial union called for the frozen law to allow security forces to shoot without the detention of the detainees, and called for the establishment of an independent investigation department to supervise the morality of the security forces.

The union's statement condemned the judicial department to intervene in the murder of the boy Nahr, and said that the judicial department must not suppress the so -called uprising, nor still in the face of the political statement that deny the political violence or the police discriminated against.

Nahr's grandmother called to keep calm

At the same time, the grandmother who was killed by Naher called to stop violence. Grandm's Nadia said in a telephone interview with the local BFMTV channel: "I want to say to those who destroy, stop your actions. Don't destroy stores, buses and schools. We hope to return to peace."

Nach's grandmother added that some demonstrators regarded Nach as a means of splitting and violence.

The French Prosecutor's Office reported that earlier on Tuesday, the boy Nachr drove a rented car and was stopped by the patrol police.

A video circulating on social media showed that two policemen tried to stop the car. One of the policemen fired from the window when the driver tried to drive and escaped the boy.

The policeman was facing an official investigation for "deliberate murder" and was initially arrested.

In response, Patrick Jarry, the mayor of Nanthal, who saw the boy Naher's killing video, asked the residents of the city to respond to the appeal of the grandmother of Nagahr to end violence.

The mayor of the western city of Paris issued a statement again, and once again called for the end of the violence.

On Sunday morning, Vincent Jean of the Mayor of Ryleos, the city of Lairos, southern Paris, said that at the dawn, the thugs broke into his house with a car when they drove the car. This house.

He explained on Twitter that what happened was an "unbelievable cowardarian assassination attempt". At that time, he lived in the town and had about 30,000 residents in the town.

On Sunday evening, French News Radio quoted private sources that two policemen in Paris 13 were injured by guns, and Paris prosecutors launched investigations for intentional murder.

One of the police officers bounked in the back, and the other policeman bombed in the lower abdomen, but the bulletproof vest blocked the first bullet, and the shield of the second policeman blocked another bullet.

Algeria Pay attention to the situation of foreign communities

On the other hand, Algerian President's Office stated that the Minister of Minister's meeting on Sunday heard the introduction of the Foreign Minister's introduction on the "situation" of the Algerian community.

The statement did not mention whether the introduction was specifically included in the French community in the context of the event in France after the Algerian boy Nachr was killed.

A vegetable vendor in Luoyang, Henan was fined 110,000 yuan for unqualified vegetables. The administrative organs applied for mandatory enforcement from the court, but the court ruled that it was not approved. Observer believes that although the Chinese State Council has strengthened supervision, it has failed to effectively curb the crooked winds of some local governments' fines.

The surnamed Jiang's involved vegetable vendors recently sold a group of vegetables, spinach, green peppers and other vegetables purchased from a large wholesale market in Luoyang, Henan, and exceeded the standard for pesticide residues by administrative organs. The amount of problems involved less than 200 yuan. The vegetable vendors made a profit of about 21 yuan, but the authorities were fined 110,000 yuan.

(Weibo screenshot) After reviewing the Luoyang West Industry District Court, the vegetable vendor had reason to believe that the products bought from the wholesale market meet the food safety standards. The administrative organs in the case did not consider the initial illegal of the parties, and it was not subjective and intentional. The court believes that the punishment of the parties is too important and the punishment is quite principled, and the final ruling is not allowed to be enforced. The administrative organs subsequently submitted an application for submission, but were rejected by the court.

Lin Shengliang, an objection of the incident, believes that the vegetable vendors should not be held accountable during the incident.

Lin Shengliang: "It should be accountable from the source. His responsibility for the wholesale market, and even the regulatory loss of relevant departments. The uncle selling a sky -high price ticket for the bottom of the society is obviously selective law enforcement, on the other hand, on the other hand, on the other hand, on the other hand It is the simple and rudeness of the enforcement of relevant departments. "

The dismissal person Lin Shengliang condemned the Henan authorities to selectively enforce the underlying vegetable vendors. (Lin Shengliang is exclusively provided, the shooting date is unknown) Shaanxi vegetable vendors have been fined 60,000 for five pounds of celery

In 2021, after selling five pounds of celery in Yulin in Shaanxi, the authorities were fined more than 60,000 yuan because of unqualified sampling inspection, which later attracted the attention of the State Council's inspection team. Lin Shengliang believes that the latest incident reflects the crooked wind of some local governments.

Lin Shengliang: "The in-depth reason why the local government is keen to punish the people of the grassroots level is that the general anxiety of completing the fines of fines. Even if the (China) State Council has launched a large inspection across the country, it can not restrain the crooked and evil spirits of the fines, which is more likely to be more likely. It is the talk that blocks superiors."

Cai Yan, an associate professor of retirement law at Wenzhou University in Zhejiang, also expressed concern about some local governments in China under fiscal difficulties.

Cai Yan: "If the punishment is so unfair, it must be linked to the benefits. Once the local government's finances have problems, (not excluded) will make some instructions. Sometimes these cars will be punished frequently."

Cai Yan, a retired law, believes that the Henan authorities have punished the vegetable vendors involved in violation of the principles of Chinese administrative law. (Cai Yan is exclusively provided, the shooting date is unknown) Cai Yan said that in accordance with Chinese law, the establishment and implementation of administrative penalties must be based on facts, which is equivalent to the facts and social harm of the facts of illegal acts.

Cai Yan: "Your illegal behavior should be equivalent to your punishment. The punishment is the principle of proportion, and the right to tailor the rights can not be used freely. The people at the end are the lowest vegetable farmers. Do you punish him more than 100,000 and ask others how to live? Do you have to leave a family and his wife?

Cai Yan praised the ruling of the Luoyang Court on this incident, reflected the relative independence, exerted the function of supervising the government, and was responsible for the Chinese Constitution, and guarded the dignity of Chinese justice.

Is it possible for Russia to enter the "Hou Putin era" after the mutiny?

Description: The short -term turbulence and uncertainty brought by the soldiers have triggered a question that people will step down and what will happen to Putin. However, although the mutiny could face Putin's unstable situation, he also allowed him to consolidate his power through strict suppression. Reuters last week, the Wagner mercenary was near the headquarters of the southern Military Region of Rostov City on the Russon River, which controlled the area last weekend.

For a moment, this seems quite possible.

Yofgen Prige was appointed a Russian catering contractor and later became a warlord. He had a tank and a private army. He showed Russia and the world what the replacement of President Putin may look like.

In the 23 years of Putin's administration, this is the second time. A rebel leader with populist charm showed a imaginative Russian vision after Putin - last time in 2011, Alekse Navar Ni led a uprising that supported democracy on the streets of the capital.

When the mercenaries of Poligon made a mercenaries to Moscow, the core dissatisfaction of providing him with motivation is the same as Navalni: Putinism is a system of no accountability. It is composed of a group of corrupt officials. And please the boss, not doing the right thing for the country.

Similarly. The unusual incidents that happened last weekend not only showed Putin's vulnerability in power competition, but also showed such a prospect: no matter what happened next, it may originate from the Russian President at the cost of Russia and Ukraine. Extreme and unpredictable forces. The mercenaries of Pricigen were accused of killing innocence and committing other crimes. He made it clear that even if Putin's power was not more cruel, he might be equally cruel.

"The war has incredible instability. This is how history has been changing," said Max Bergman, the director of the European, Russian and Eurasian projects headquartered in Washington's Think Tank Strategy and International Research Center. "This is completely unstable, it will cause the cultural rebound -you don't know how this will show. I don't think we know what direction Russia will develop in."

In the short -term window period of turbulence and uncertainty, the unimaginable things have briefly surpassed the assumptions, which has caused people to question how this Russian long -term leader will step down and what will happen next.

In May, Yevgeny Prigozhin and Wagner's mercenaries were in Bachurut, Ukraine. This photo came from the video released by his company Conkid on the Telegram account. Concordgroup/Telegram, VIA Agence-Presse-Getty Images

The Western government, including the United States, pointed out that Putin's authoritarian leaders have scored cracks. Constantine Datyulin, a senior member of his party, Acknowledged The risk of Putin asked Poigo to ferment for too long, and this incident "did not increase the authority of anyone." Russia's power center -the core circle of the army, oligopoly, Putin - all analyzed to see if the possible heirs.

Without trusted candidates, within a few days, Putin has re-established a balanced appearance at least in Russian politics. His series of appearance aims to convey his firm control and longing for power.

"I wish you health! Hundred years old!" A woman shouted to Putin in Jerbonte in the south. After a few days of the soldiers, the video showed that Putin was in a group of cheers, which was in sharp contrast to his isolation state in the new crown epidemic in the past few years.

Today, Pryigo is exiled to Belarus, and his Wagner's mercenaries are also chaotic. However, he has proven that as long as he does not point his finger at Putin, a person who is willing to say that the Russian government's mistakes in Ukraine can find the listener who sympathize with him.

Before the hand was closed, Pryigon launched the populist anti -elite corruption movement while calling on Russia to transform, at least temporarily transformed into Chile under the leadership of North Korea or Augusto Pinoche under the leadership of Kim Jong Un, in order to strive for Ukraine won, thus won support.

When Russia lost on the battlefield, he used people's dissatisfaction with the system that does not account for accountability and indifferent elites. But he is also responding to the wishes of the eagle people in the Russian society, that is, it is more extreme when necessary. He once attacked Moscow's "weak old grandfather" without "guts" to use nuclear weapons.

The information he finally conveyed was contradictory -suggesting that dramatic upgrades were needed to succeed in the war, and at the same time, the entire reason for the Klimlin claimed to be wrong was wrong. He is a strange messenger. His wealth and the privilege of guilty and negatives are brought to him by the system he criticized.

However, when a Russian soldier died because he died of a leader who was almost responsible, his obvious anger was recognized.

"Subordinates and intermediate officers and soldiers who really entered the battlefield all expressed their understanding to him to a certain extent," said Russia's retired generals Leonid Ivasus, who opposed the war. "He said that military operations were not good, lack of supply and death."

advertise

Although the rebellion may indicate more instability in Putin, these incidents may also provide him with an opportunity to consolidate his power through a more severe suppression, and wait strictly.

Porigen is basically a unique figure in Russia, and almost no one else like him like him to launch a rebellion, battlefield experience, and casual control.

As Putin began to ensure that the national armed forces were loyal to themselves, the Russian leader's allies have also gained greater influence, such as Victor Zolotov, the head of the National Guard, who had been his bodyguard.

"I definitely believe that despite the exposure of weaknesses, the regime has successfully survived the soldiers and restored its normal operation," said Andre Correzkov, a senior researcher at the research institution Kanegi International Peace Research Institute. "I don't think there is no force to engrave the experience of Parigo. Putin is scared, but this does not mean that his regime has collapsed."

Since the intercourse of the century, Putin has been working hard to clear the potential political threat.

In his early years, he aimed at the oligopoly class in the 1990s after the disintegration of the Soviet Union. He imprisoned the petroleum tycoon Mikhail Hodolkovsky and made it clear to other industrial giants that the end of the disobedience was the same as him.

In 2013, the Russian police detained Alexon Navarine. EVGENY FELDMAN/Associated Press

But Putin's attitude towards the right forces is different. With the development of the war, the nationalist forces that may have threatened him in theory have gained space for activity, and sometimes criticize the army, partly because they play a role in implementing and promoting the war plan. Porigen is a typical case.

For a few months, he has been allowed to attack the Russian military leadership in public, and for the Russian Puluo, even if the criticism is far less than this, he will be held accountable. He can get such special treatment, partly because his troops are indispensable for the war; when he joined the battle, the Russian military was absent from major general. Essence Poligon's action proves that Putin's long -term allies may also change against his government, even if the Russian leader has always been careful, only allowing the most trustworthy confidant to occupy a position around him.

Hojolkov was released from Russia in 2013 and has been living abroad since then. Soon after the rebellion began, he publicly called on the Russians to pick up weapons to support Perigo.

He said that these Russian mercenaries are "not friends of democracy", but a group of "robbers", but he said that Plord can become a useful blade to remove "Kylimlin, who has tortured this country for 20 years for 20 years. Palace malignant tumors ". He said that the Russians who pursued democracy would then overthrow Puligon.

Russian liberals quickly opposed.

"Any voices that use violence to overthrow the government and come through the stage through violence will only lead to a regime completely dominated by violence," in a post by the opposition politician Schlosberg in Telegram.

On Sunday, some people expressed support for Putin in Moscow. Dmitri Lovetsky/associated presus Navali issued a statement from prison saying that he learned what happened last weekend from a lawyer.

He declared that Puligo and his men were not arrested after launching a mutiny, and he himself faced the allegations of the establishment of extremist organizations to overthrow Putin regime violence, which was ironic.

advertise

Navali said that all the futures of this country in the post -Putin era must be determined by free elections.

"It is not democracy, human rights and parliament that causes the government to be weak and cause turmoil," he said. "It is a dictator and the weakness and chaos of the government. This is always the case."

If we completely stop trade and investment will destroy the economic stability of our two countries and even the world."

Officials say Yellen will tell Beijing that on the one hand, the United States will continue to take action against China to defend human rights and safeguard their national security interests; (<https://www.dw.com/zh/zh/耶倫促中國解決非洲債務-中使館無端施壓/a-64505770>) Wait for the issue to cooperate with China.

Yellen's expected issues include China's human rights doubts in Xinjiang, "Economic Stress" internationally And Beijing recently blocked Micron products, investigated a number of American companies, and launched a series of measures such as the Anti -Spy Law to expand the scope of spy behavior. In addition, she will discuss with China that the United States is about to sacrifice the investment restrictions on China.

Washington expects that Yellen will not bring a "major breakthrough", but hopes to establish long -term communication channels with China's new economic policy team to avoid misjudgment risks.

In May, the Treasury Secretary and the central bank leader meeting were held in May of the Seven major industrial groups (G7) to discuss how to co - counter China's "economic coercion".

What economic relationship should Meizhong maintain?

Earlier, Brinken told the United States media after meeting the Chinese President Xi Jinping in Beijing that the United States and China "agreed with the stable relationship", but the two sides still had significant differences. Soon after, US President Byndon called Xi Jinping as a "dictator", Treating China dissatisfaction; Brinken response : "We will continue to do what you don't like, saying what you don't like, just like you will undoubtedly do what we don't like, say what we don't like."

On June 30, Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs spokesman Mao Ning expressed dissatisfaction with this: "The United States has aware of the mistakes against China for mistakes, pursuing mistakes in China, and blocking China , Use actual actions to fulfill the commitment made by the United States ."

When Blingken participated in the US Think Tank Foreign Relations Association (CFR) on the 28th, it stated that curbing China and "decoupling with China" does not meet the interests of the United States And the United States hopes to "see China success in the economic field." Yellen also talked about similar propositions in Johns Hopkins University in April: "China's economic growth, and the role of the United States in economics, may not be incompatible."

On June 19, U.S. Secretary of State Brillin met with Chinese President Xi Jinping in Beijing. U.S. President Biden affirmed the results of the trip. However, some experts pointed out that the United States and China had not recovered the dialogue in the military and the relationship between the two sides was still very fragile.

EdwardAlden, a scholar of the Foreign Relations Association, pointed out to AFP that Yellen's trip to Beijing is expected to restart the lower levels of stable interaction between the United States and China. OIndon added that the United States had blurred its "decoustal" position in the past, but has recently changed its attitude and has clearly adopted the strategy of "de -risk"; this means that the United States will "" "Establish a guardrail", but in other respects, "try to continue cultivating a stable US -China economic relations."

Wendycutler, deputy director of the Asia Society Policy Institute, said Chinese officials are observing what specific measures the United States has taken to show that "decircation and China's ultimate goal of the United States." In Olden's view, Beijing also recognizes the importance of the US market, so he realized that he is also responsible for the relationship between the two parties, "because this is also too important for China."EvanMedeiros, a Chinese expert at Georgetown University, believes that Yellen's visit was only "the next step in the uncertain process." Mai Aiwen told the Financial Times,

"Under the situation of the essence of competition, and the world view of both sides is in wrestling," this trip seems difficult to greatly change the situation.

Later, in April this year, Ing finally met with Hannah's daughters at the London Empire Museum. This photo has been displayed in the museum for more than 20 years. Now, people can now understand the things behind two families and photos.

Debie said: "Ingle is a very special character for us."

She also said, "I think my mother will be proud of us. She always talks about those two little girls, and it is important to find them to her."

However, who is the photographer?

We learned from the records of Getty Images Hulton archives that the photographer's name was Stephenson, who had worked in Topical Pressagence. The agency hired more than 1,000 photographers at the time to provide a lot of pictures for the newspaper industry.

The work record of the photographer retains the date of July 5, 1939. It is clearly marked with "3 children waiting for Liverpool Street Station Station", and marked the photographer's name Stephenon.

John F Stevenson may be photo shooters.

We cannot be sure, but it may be a Scottish named John Festevenson, who is famous for his song "Dear Glasgow's Old Town" with his people. In the 1930s, Topical Pressagence recorded a contact information for his address in Glasgow.

With the help of the Scottish Public Archives Office, the BBC found his family through the address on birth and death.

His reporter's grandson Gordonestevenson (Gordonestevenson) had some memory of Grandpa's work in London as a free reporter in the late 1930s. "I remember he told me that his job was to interview these homeless children and provided them with benefits. He told me that he took a lot of such photos."

Although this photo has become so important, we still don't know. However, the identity mystery of the three girls and photographers was finally solved. And the story of their brave survivors, as witnesses of the Nazi Massacre, and brave survivors, will always spread to the world.

Profile picture: A police car driving along the small road leading to the ancient village of Dongshi. Agence France -Presse Pictures

Because my hometown Dongshi Ancient Village recorded the seven -year crime of the Chinese Communist Party, the CCP has been trying to try to destroy the evidence of crime. Even if all the concretes that have been demolished for the private prison specially established for our family were pulled away a few kilometers away, it was still uneasy. So I came up with a reservoir in Shuangyao Town, moved the residents there, drowned the sin there to the bottom of the water, and destroyed the historical testimony forever. For this reason, the Menghe Repair Reservoir, which is in a disconnected state in the state of breaking in the state of breaking throughout the year, is extremely absurd and difficult to say.

After several years of preparation, the project of Shuangye Town Reservoir is now in the stage of forcing the people to accept the relocation of local compensation standards. According to the CCP's public compensation standards, at least 300,000 yuan per mu in Shandong land. And in accordance with China's land contracting law: the contract for cultivated land is at least 30 years; the grassland is at least 50 years; the forest land is at least 70 years. There can be only a large number of contracts in the above three contractual contracts, and not less. In other words, the contract for the contract can be 40 years or more, but it should not be less than 30 years of grass and forest land ... grassland and forest land are the same. In addition, in order to protect the legitimate rights and interests of the contractor, it also specifically indicates that the local authorities are not allowed to use the so-called "most villagers' signature (according to the handprint) consent" to terminate the contract and take the land from the farmers.

However, it is sad that in the falling area of the Communist Party of China, the laws that protect the interests of the people are often like a waste paper. Now in Dongshi Gu, local officials are forcing the people to sign and agree to only compensate more than 9,000 yuan per acre of land. The forest land is only symbolic compensation a little bit of the losses of attachment (unparalleled trees), refusing to compensate the land fee ... The reason given is "the land is the country, and now the state will use it ...". The homestead of all farmers to be relocated, regardless of the size of each house only compensates for 15,000 yuan. Isn't this blatantly robbed the people's wealth?

All villagers who refuse to sign will be retaliated with various threats and strikes of CCP officials. Among them, the ancient villagers of the East Division Dudu were 55 years old this year. Three years ago, his wife died of violent illness. Now, the old mother who is almost blind in her 90 -year -old eyes needs to be supported, and there are children who have not yet become a family. The family only depends on Du Dudu to see the door in a local elementary school. He can get a meager income of more than 1,000 yuan per month to maintain his livelihood. Because the demolition compensation was too unreasonable, he refused to sign. Local officials and the evil officials of the education department came to force him to sign on the compensation contract, and threatened that he would not let him continue to see the door in elementary school without signing. Under the pressure, Dudu had to be forced to sign "agree" to demolish ...

Facing the CCP's forced and persecution and overlord clauses, the people of dozens of local villages complained, miserable but helpless. After all, where can I find a place where robbers and robbers who have controlled power? Intersection

After the CCP 's evil, in order to cover up the evidence of sin, not only did it have to flood the ancient divisions, but also snatched the father and fellows who had lived there for thousands of years of houses and fields that had been farmed and cultivated, and once again proved that the Communist Party of China was a group of robbers and robbers. As long as the Communist Party, the black power group exists for a day, the people on that land must not be peaceful.

Therefore, only by ending the communist tyranny and the establishment of a republican constitutional rule of law and the rule of law democratic mechanism, can the people's free human rights be guaranteed. In the falling area of the Communist Party of China, only without the Communist Party can the people of Li Min have true freedom and happiness.

Since the Korean national football team member Son Jun-Ho was detained in China for bribery, all sectors of Korea and the international football industry continued to pay attention to the incident.

The Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs previously announced that the South Korean foreign aid who played for the Chinese Super League Shandong Taishan team was taken away for investigation for suspected "non -public official bribery".

31 -year -old Sun Junhao was detained by the Chinese public security when he was prepared in Hongqiao Airport in Shanghai, China in mid -May. After 37 days of detention, he was officially arrested by the Chinese law enforcement authorities on June 17.

This is the first time that foreign players have been criminally investigated by the law enforcement department in China's football history, but the authorities have not yet announced specific case details.

According to Chinese media reports, the Shandong teams that Sun Junhao belonged to the recent players and former coaches were involved in an investigation of suspected "manipulation competitions". The Chinese law enforcement authorities have not announced the specific case. However, before Sun Junhao was taken away, the team members of the Shandong Taishan team, Jin Jingdao, Guo Tianyu, and the original coach Hao Wei have been taken away by the public security department.

Some Chinese media reported that these players and coaches may be suspected of accepting bribes to play counterfeit balls in some games, thereby helping the opponent team win the Super League champion or relegation.

BBC cannot independently verify relevant statements.

By June, the Chinese media said that Sun Junhao's Chinese agent Zhou Kaixuan was also taken away by the investigation.

The Shandong Taishan team won the Chinese Super League and the Chinese Football Association Cup champion under the temporary restructuring of the new crown epidemic during the 2021 season. At that time, Sun Junhao was the team's main midfielder.

In the 2022 season, Sun Junhao was accused of repeated low -level mistakes in a Super League game. In the end, the Shandong team won the Super League's runner -up in the same way as the Wuhan Three Town team points.

After being taken away, the registered information such as photos and profiles of the players involved in the case have been deleted from the official website of the Taishan team in Shandong.

Korea's call for "fair investigation"

Since Sun Junhao was taken away, the Korean Football Association and official diplomatic agencies have tried to communicate with China, seeking to meet with Sun Junhao and understand details.

The BBC Korean Ministry of Korea reported that the Korean Football Association sent lawyers to China to assist Sun Junhao, but he returned without seeing him or his local Chinese lawyer.

The South Korean Football Association expressed "powerlessness" and complained that "the reason why Sun Junhao was detained did not tell us".

The South Korean government has also tried to assist Sun Junhao through consular talks. The BBC Korean Ministry of Korea quoted the relevant sources of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of South Korea and said: "After Sun Junhao was detained, the local embassy staff had conducted consular talks many times." It also said that China "had no human rights" during the detention of Sun Junhao.

Members of the political community in South Korea published a comment on the incident, saying that Sun Junhao was detained for many days, and the situation delayed "regrettable".

Yin Shangxian, a member of the National Party, told the BBC Ministry of Korea that the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of South Korea should "require China to conduct fair and rapid investigations and take necessary measures."

Li Changmin, a member of the Parliament Foreign Commission and a Democratic member of the Democratic Party, said that the government should quickly confirm the specific charges of China on Sun Junhao.

In Chinese judicial operations, lawyers usually need to be approved by the public security department before they can meet the defendant with the accompaniment of public security personnel.

The BBC Korean Ministry also quoted officials in South Korean Foreign Ministry that unlike South Korea, China banned lawyers from informing the third parties related to investigating specific matters, which made the South Korean government's understanding of the progress of investigation.

In addition, some Korean experts told the BBC Ministry of Korea that according to the Vienna Convention, South Korean citizens have the right to accept consular assistance, but also pointed out that diplomatic contacts are "meaningless" without allowing specific allegations.

After Sun Junhao was detained, the Korean national team still included Sun Junhao in the latest player list announced in early June.

Although Sun Junhao's condition cannot have the conditions to participate in the national team training and competition, the German coach Jürgen Klinsmann of the South Korean team still told the media: "We are doing what the association can do for the association, we can do what the association can do for it for the association. Sun Junhao made every effort."

"I don't know how Sun Junhao's spirit and physical condition are now. We can only pray. I hope he can know that we can help him behind him," Klinsmann said after the list was announced.

Who is Sun Junhao?

Sun Junhao's football career began in the campus football system in South Korea and debuted in a professional football game in 2014. He was selected in South Korea under the age of 23 in 2014 and won the Gold Medal of the 2014 Incheon Asian Games with the team as the main force.

In early 2021, he moved to the Super League and joined Taishan, Shandong. In the first season of the Chinese Super League, he helped the team to win the double championship of the Chinese Super League and the Chinese Football Association Cup.

After Putin launched the war against Ukraine, Chinese social media in China was full of various false news. Without exception, Russia won the victory, Ukrainian soldiers defeated like mountains, and the United States and the West. Some are officially systematically fabricated and spread, and some are made of small pink spontaneous folk.

Recently, a broadcaster named Paul Kocharine became popular on Douyin. He claimed to be a Russian Chechen, his face was full of beard, and he looked sturdy. He specifically filmed the experience and feelings of the US military and his comrades -in -arms. He was welcomed by Chinese netizens. In just two months, the fans increased by 300,000. Selling Russia's production, successfully sold hundreds of goods, and earned pockets.

Later, a sharp -eyed person found that the films of Paul Kocan's encircling of the US military were online ready -made resources, and many of them were not pictures and videos during the Ukrainian war. But he voiced and explained, saying that he really fought on the front line. However, the words "filming scene, film and television plot" are also written in the film, as if many movie explanations at the beginning of the movie: "The plot of this drama is purely fictional. Please do not get a seat." Er Kocci courage to fight the U.S. military and repeatedly made great achievements, and also called him "Russian King" and "Russian God of War"!

Soon after, Paul Kochatie was exposed to the true body as a Chinese, and he has always faked foreigners with AR technology. This farce ended.

The name "Paul Koccar" obviously comes from the name of the protagonist of "Paul Cocajin" -The Soviet red classic novel "How to Made Steel". The clip of Ostrovsky's "How to Made Steel" was selected into the Chinese middle school Chinese textbooks. It is a youthful memory of the Communist Chinese generations of the minds. This Chinese Internet celebrity, which uses Paul Koccar's name, is about the young people after 1990, but their generation is still Soviet -Russian iron powder, and it is still the brain disability of the CCP 's pro -brainwashing education of the Chinese Communist Party.

The earliest introduction of the Soviet -Russian revolution model was Professor of Peking University and Li Dazhao, the curator of Peking University Library. Li Dazhao was arrested by Zhang Zuolin from the Beijing Soviet Embassy for subverting the activity of the Republic of China government for subverting the activities of the Republic of China government. The CCP shaped it into a revolutionary martyr. In fact, he was a traitor who was dead.

It is Mao Zedong who truly relied on the support of the Soviet Union and Russia to capture the world and consolidate the regime. French scholar Bi Yanggao specifically emphasized the impact of the impact of Mao in the book of "History: Comparison of the China -Russia Revolution" on the book of the "Confucius of the Communist Party (Bu) Party History" on Mao. This book was written by Stalin himself, and the dialectical materialism and historical materialist parts were scrutinized by Stalin. Stalin proposed the five stages of evolution of human history, and was born in Marxism, and there was its original part. Wolkonov, a Soviet -Russian objection historian, pointed out in "Stalin Biography": "The infamous" The Concise Course of the Party History of the Communist Party (Bu) "has become a real dogmatic encyclopedia. Mummy Encyclopedia. It has published more than 300 versions of about 43 million volumes In the last three chapters, more than 70 pages, but there are more than sixty comments, citations, and conclusions. According to content, the spiritual grain of anti -history has caused the lack of spiritual poverty, the simplification and originalization of theory. Stalin prepares fertile soil in order to cultivate a huge simple -minded class. , Tolders, diligent clerical clerks, and executors who do not have brains will supplement the bureaucratic institutions, punishment agencies and cadres at all levels. "

As early as Yan'an in the 1940s, Mao Zedong believed that this book was the "Sunflower Treasure" of the Chinese Revolution. Not only did he read at least ten times, he also had to study carefully. Mao Zeng said that Marx has no experience in revolutionary practice. The Paris Commune has only 40 days, but Lenin and Stalin have experience in participating and leading Russia for more than 100 years. experience of. Therefore, not only should we learn this classic of Stalin, but also to study hard and carefully.

How did steel and steel unparalleled?

However, this boring book is difficult to attract the interest of young people. As a result, the emotional and sensational "How to make steel" has become a popular version of its literary. Ostrovsky tells the story of how he was refined into an "steel" without thought. But in real life, Ostrovsky's short life has proven the cruel fact that "how steel is not made".

On November 26, 2006, the Moscow Communist Youth League member published an article entitled "Reboning Life" by a reporter Switlana Samorevolova. The reporter interviewed Ostrovsky's niece Garinna Ostrovscia. Garlina's mother Yekaterina was the sister of Ostrovsky and the last stage of her life. The "nursing nanny" is very familiar with its situation. According to Galinna: Ostrovsky was born in the Ukrainian military family. His father participated in the Balkans and performed heroically in the battle. He was awarded two cross medals. The mother was born in the family of the Czech Forestry Bureau. She is an extraordinary woman who speaks six languages and wrote poems. Ostrovsky participated in the Red Army at the age of fifteen to help the Red Army suppress the Ukrainian independence movement. At the age of sixteen, he was seriously injured. At the age of 27, he was completely paralyzed. At the age of 32, he died. With the advent of the book "How Steel is made", he quickly became famous, and his name spread throughout the vast Soviet land. He was awarded various high honors. But in fact, he complained to his friends more than once: "What we built is completely different from the struggle for us ..." "Nicholas' personality is too straightforward, if his best friend Saldatov said," Nicholas. He died of illness in 1936, and sooner or later, someone would 'help' end his life. "In today's China, no one believes that Paul Kochakin's story is true, and no one believes that the story of Lei Feng's Chinese version of Lei Feng is true - people question: In Lei Feng's short -lived life, shooting There are six or seven hundred photos. A common PLA warrior is rare to take so many photos at that time. It can be said that since 1949, the characters that have influenced the Chinese public through images are Mao Zedong and the other may be Lei Feng. At that time, there were two main photographers who took pictures of Lei Feng. One was Zhang Jun and the other was called Ji Zeng. According to the memories of the two, there were few on -site captures. Most of them were them. Create according to the political needs and the superior instructions at that time. In these photos, some of them were "made up" by the photographer based on the deeds of Lei Feng, which passed through that year, and processed.

Interestingly, the Paul Kockekin of the Soviet Union and Russia had an idealistic enthusiasm for the revolution, and today's Chinese Internet celebrities, whether it is called Paul Kocharine or Wang Kangmei, is like Russia or the revolution. Water injection pork finally points to the goal of "bringing goods". This is extremely utilitarian nationalist. He knows that the two topics of Russia and the United States have a huge market in China. His personal performance and image shaping can bring huge economic benefits. As for the truth and normal logic of history -since modern times, Russia has been the country with the most wealth in Chinese territory and plundering Chinese wealth. The real Chinese nationalist should point to Russia first. Thinking, let alone such thinking departs from China's main theme.

Steel is not made, and it is not a failure. As long as there are endless and inexhaustible leeks and human mines, the party's rule can be stable as a rock. Small fish and shrimp like Paul Kocha can also be a little bit cold in this human flesh feast.

Description: China's military -based private security company is mainly responsible for the guard work that does not require fatal weapons. In some analysts, the Chinese government's broad definition of national security and its actions to promote political priority through commercial enterprises may lead to private security insurance. The scope of the company's duties expands outward.

On June 24, 2023, after Wagner's mercenaries, the Moscow Guards mobilized to enter the battle base. Reuters picture Audio-Link: <https://www.rfa.org/mandarin/pinglun/chenpokong/js-070320230658.html/@stream> At the end of June, the Wagner soldiers changed in Russia, dramatic starting, dramatic ending, but shocked the world. As a authoritarian country, such a fierce internal rebellion occurred in Russia; as a political strong man who ruled Russia for 23 years, Putin encountered such an open challenge and could only end with humiliation. These are enough to cause psychological shocks to Beijing, Zhongnanhai and Xi Jinping.

First of all, this happened under the war that launched Ukraine in Putin. From this, if Xi Jinping launched a war to invade Taiwan, the internal army may not be fully listened. The pressure of war, psychological fear, and generals are generally corruption. The Communist Army soldiers are mainly composed of single children and lower -level civilian families. Compared with the Russian troops, the war is more likely to bring internal panic and chaos to the Communist Army. Once the war is unfavorable, it is likely to change or mutiny.

Secondly, Pricigo is an old friend of Putin. He has more than thirty years. Pricigo personally led his soldiers to the front line, hard fighting, and fierce fighting, which is tantamount to life for Putin. But seeing that there is no chance of winning, and realizing that the war is based on improper reasons, it is reversed. As a result, although the twenty fierce struggle for power seizing power, Xi Jiajun was unique and Xi Jinping was alone. But the anti -Xi and those who are capable of anti -learning must eventually be inside the Xi family. This is the law of law, the laws of human nature and the laws of history. Xi Jinping's defense is invincible, and the hidden dangers cannot be eliminated.

Again, Porigerjin is not the same. As soon as he reverses, he directly attacks the capital Moscow, indicating that he understands the principle of seeking snakes and seven inches, capturing the thief to capture the king first. If you change to China, once a similar rebellion occurs, the danger directly comes directly is Zhongnanhai and Xi Jinping himself. The so -called: force and reaction force. Move the stone to smash your feet. Playing firemen will burn self.

In addition, the Wagner Group entered Moscow, thousands of miles a day, as if there was no one. Almost unstoppable along the way, quickly advance to only 200 kilometers from Moscow, and the capital portal opens. The Russian army, military police, and agents seemed to disappear, but they were unaware to block the guns for Putin. As Xi Jinping lamented the collapse of the former Soviet Union: "No one is a man!" Putin could only mobilize six fighter planes for low -altitude bombing, but was shot down by the Wagner Corps.

As for the people, not only did there be no one in Putin, on the contrary, "the pots of pots of pots to welcomes the king", the public welcomes the Wagner Group. People's heart is like this!It can be seen that in Russia, the world is bitter in Putin! If Prodigin did not accept the mediation or flicker of the Belarusian President Lukashenko, it was possible that it would be a drum and Moscow. At that time, Moscow's shape was not only fixed in defense, but also in the heart and public opinion. After the mediation of Lukashenko, Putin quickly agreed to reconcile and immediately agreed to forgive Pleigo and Wagner's officers and soldiers to prove that he was in his heart: How empty is Moscow! What's more terrible is that for him, how empty can he support his military and people's hearts!

On the other hand, people who are not conducive to rulers are more than Russia. Just look at how much sensitive words and banned words have been set up by the Xi authorities (—Namers said: Even Chinese is almost abolished by Xi), and the large -scale public opinion rollover scene that happened in Da Nengxun was probably a little. The power of the CCP leaders is completely compared with public opinion and people's hearts. The greater the power, the more you lose public opinion and depleting. The reason is simple, one -party dictatorship has against the trend and human heart. Today, one -party dictatorship has added a unique and one -person dictatorship. The person in charge did not realize it?

For a long time, the discussion of Chinese and foreign public opinion: The day of Xi Jinping's launch of the Taiwan Strait War is the day when the Communist Party and the Xi Dynasty were destroyed. This statement is roughly vain. Not to mention that, when it comes to war, the Communist Army is by no means an opponent of the U.S. military. As soon as the battle was opened, the world was in chaos. The anti -learning forces inside and outside the party must be unprecedented, and the anti -communist and anti -learning waves of the Chinese people will be unprecedently high. After that, at that time, Xi Jinping and Xi Jiajun, which one of them can block the mighty tide of the people's hearts? The praying arm blocks the car. It is said that the Russian mutiny was frightened by Xi Jinping.

07032023092819.html The "Communist Declaration" came out in 1848, admitting: "A ghost, communist ghost, wandering in Europe." This ghost floated to the world with the help of the Soviet regime. Nearly half of the world's population is involved in an experiment to establish an equal, free, and happy paradise on earth by the ghost. All the experimental fields have established a party rights system that stifled human rights and deprives human rights. It turns out that all the experimental fields are full of lies, scarce, hunger, persecution, imprisonment, abuse, killing, and all-round spiritual control of people. The disaster caused by this experiment to all humans is difficult. 31 years ago, the Soviet Union disintegrated, and this cruel experiment ended in failure. There are several ghosts that are germinating. The largest fortress is the Communist Party of China. This new evil axis is being a strange transformation method to harm the people and the world.

102 years ago, the Communist Party of China was established under the direct leadership of the Communist International to destroy the National Revolution as the same passers -by of the National Revolution. As the Republic of China was invaded by the Japanese invaders, the CCP launched armed riots, split China, and established the so-called "Soviet Republic". Collect the opportunity to grow with the invaders. After the war, the state government was exhausted. On the one hand, the Communist Party of China deceived the world and the United States, and said that it would establish an American-style democratic system. On the other hand, it provoked the civil war with a resentment. The CCP establishes the so-called People's Republic of China in the falling area of the Republic of China. In fact, it is a party rights and autocracy that is more disgusting than the imperial dictatorship, and interrupts China's normal path to modern civilization. The name of its country is not true, one is not China. When they died, they went to see the foreigner Marble instead of seeing the ancestors; second, not the people. In the name of the people, there are signboards such as the Great Hall of the People, the People's Court, the People's Government, etc., but in fact, people's rights are completely deprived. In general, "party leadership is everything"; Openly upheld one-party dictatorship and negate the republic of democracy. The Royal Democratic Party is a vase. From land reform, town anti-, public-private partnerships, anti-rights, Great leap forwards, cultural revolution, etc. until June 4th. Taga, tragedy, tragedy, China. Destroying Huaxia culture, chaotic moral people, killing national elites, burning cultural relics and historic sites, breaking cultural foundations, dirty mountains and rivers, iron evidence is like mountains, irreversible.

In 102 years, the CCP became the Xi family, and the Communist Party of China has come to an end. Where does China go?

Wang Bingzhang, who was imprisoned, predicted that China would have such a day: the Communist Party's collapse, "non-Communist" fever will push all the statues of the CCP veterans such as Mao Zedong, and the government will return to the New China created by Sun Yat -sen -the Democratic Republican of the Republic of China system. In 2000, Wang Bingzhang wrote the article "Reconstruction of the Republic of China". Announced: "Rebuilding the Republic of China and re -standing in the east of the world's first democratic Republic is the responsibility of all Chinese children." He hoped that in mainland China, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Macao, and overseas Chinese, he re -lifted Sun Yat -sen's banner, Rebuilding the Republic of China, which once belonged to and in the future, must also belong to all Chinese children. This day is not far away!

The poster wrote that the design institute was established in 1992. The design qualification is level A. It has 12 registered survey and design engineers, 4 of which registered architects, 4 registered first -level structural engineers, as well as drainage, equipment, etc. Practice engineer. Shanghai One Architectural Design Institute Co., Ltd. issued the "Stop Working Notice" to the employees last week. (Network picture/ancient pavilion provided) Shanghai has stopped construction of large -scale construction projects

Fang Yaping, a person in the industry in Shanghai, said in an interview with this station on Monday that many local large companies in the local area have already been suspended. Some have stopped work last year. The reason is that there is only one reason, that is, Shanghai stopped building large projects: "Some design institutions in Shanghai now There are no business.

There are many large design institutions in Shanghai. This is different from the architectural design company. The design institute specializes in the large project, such as the National Theater, not a design building. Of course The design business of the building is also connected. Now the Shanghai economy is messy, and even the residential building can't be rented anymore.

People in the industry said that in the golden age of the construction industry, due to the many projects, the design institute is in an absolute advantage. The design cost of the project was very considerable at the level of salary at that time, so there will be a saying that the design institute employees buy a car for three years and buy a house for five years. However, as the real estate market shrinks rapidly, Shanghai will no longer build large projects. Some analysts said that within 5 to 10 years, enterprises related to construction will be closed.

Some netizens wrote a message that the construction industry is not downturn, which has affected the steel industry, the glass industry, and the labor market. This series of influences are getting more and more profound.

Mr. Zhou, a resident of Shanghai, told this station that many college graduates in Shanghai were unemployed: "Many people now can't find other jobs and go to express delivery. Civil servants now feel unsafe, too busy, and low salary (salary reduction and cancellation of cancellation (cancellation of cancellation and cancellation Bonus). Now the common people go through the three -year epidemic, and know how your government says, he is not as promoted as before. "

Shanghai luxury house Cuihu Tiandi Royal Garden 31.88 million price reduction 30 %

The shrinking of the Chinese real estate market directly affects the trading of second -hand housing. The Weibo netizen "Zhengzhou Old Handsome" posted on July 1 that he and his wife bought a house in Manhattan, Jinshui District, Zhengzhou five years ago. Annual loan. But now the house is sold, free of charge. As long as the household is directly transferred to the buyer. New buyers are repaying bank loans and left contact information. Some netizens commented that the price of second -hand housing has been lower than the balance of bank loans, and no one will take it. The industry insiders Fang Yaping said that there are many such houses now, but no one will have: "I can't get it out. Who wants to pick up this disk now? For example, you have a loan of 2 million yuan in this house now, but this house now has fallen to the house now. More than one million, no one wants. "

Shanghai Central Residents Cuihu Tiandi Royal Garden, a 140 -square -meter housing, began to be listed at 31.88 million yuan, and the price per square meter was 220,000, but now it has fallen to 19.99 million yuan, which is 140,000 yuan per square meter. Wagner's mutiny may force Beijing to re -consider relations with Russia

If Putin is overthrown, China may maintain a certain degree of distance from Russia. Alexey Maishev/Sputnik Russian President Putin and Chinese leader Xi Jinping in the Kremlin in March this year.

Just three months ago, Xi Jinping, the highest leader of China, also in Moscow and Russian President Putin Touching the cup and expressed confidence in the "firm support" of Putin's "firm support" among the Russian people.

Today, Wagner's mercenary organization After a rebellion in Russia, after shaking Putin's indestructible image, people had doubts about this confidence. Those who closely observe China say that although the mutiny has only lasted for a short time, it may lead to the close relationship between Xi Jinping and Russia. This relationship has caused the Chinese government to be criticized around the world and threatened some of China overseas overseas. Benefit.

China regards Russia as a necessary partner to challenge the United States. But Putin's adventure desire -from invasion of Ukraine to dependence on private mercenaries can be seen -forcing Beijing to undergo Western pressure to defend Sino -Russian relations.

Xi Jinping's long -term betting will only be effective only in Putin to maintain the common interests of the two countries. But the rebellion had caused people to question Putin's authority: the Wagner soldiers almost encountered resistance from the Russian regular army when they advanced to Moscow. Putin asked Belarus to provide asylum decisions for the leader of the leader of the mutiny leader, Yafgeni Pleigo, which was not like a strong man with a strong power.

"China recognizes that the Putin government is actually relatively vulnerable internally. This vulnerability has existed before. After the outbreak of the Russian and Ukraine War, this fragility was increased," the researcher of the Russian Eastern European Institute of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences Xiao Bin said.

The members of the Wagner hired mercenary organization, after a brief rebellion, was preparing to evacuate a military headquarters located on the Rostov on the Russon River. It was taken on June 24.

After the rebellion, China publicly reiterated its support for the Kremlin. Analysts said that because the interests of leaders of the two countries, the relationship between the two countries may remain firm, at least from the outside.

However, this mutiny may have also forced Beijing to consider how it would be affected by Putin's geopolitical, economic and territorial interests if it was suddenly overturned. This may lead to a certain degree of distance between China and Russia.

In the 23 years of Putin's governance, Russia -China relations have improved significantly compared with the Soviet era and the President Yeltsin. The border between Russia and China is more than 4,000 kilometers, and the two countries have sent dozens of divisions to wait on both sides of the border.

Any change in Russia now will immediately re -evaluate the relationship between the two countries. Xiao Bin said that China will worry about Russia's new leaders to adjust the country and adopt a more friendly attitude towards the United States. This may cause China to be isolated in the competition with the United States and face greater pressure.

In more extreme cases, the deterioration of the relationship between Beijing and Moscow may force China to re -deploy troops in the border area border with Russia, which will harm China's interests in other regions. Fu said.

"Reducing the number of troops on the Sino -Russian border, which enables China to prepare for the Taiwan Strait, South China Sea, or greater conflict with India," Calver said. "I think what has happened in Russia is not enough to let China think about military deployment issues, but this makes them think for the first time to think about whether to do this."

A Chinese naval ship near Dongzhou Island in Taiwan was taken in April this year. China may be considering what kind of affected its geopolitical interests will be affected if Putin steps down. LAM YIK Fei Forthe New York Times

Any instability in Russia also warns China that there is urgency in protecting the supply of Russia's energy in the country.

At the same time, the weaker Putin may give China the opportunity to gain some benefits, Song Wendi, a politicalist at the National University of Australia.

Beijing may consider speeding up efforts and let Russia make more concessions. China's primary goal may be to obtain more Russian technology and strive for more preferential conditions for the proposed Siberian power No. 2, which will help the Russian natural gas supply that was previously flowing to Europe to China.

The issue of Putin's political future highlights the different practices that he and Xi Jinping have weakened the weakening of the United States and reshape the global order in order to better protect the common goals of their national interests.

Putin's approach has always been more aggressive, and he launched the largest war since the World War II in Europe. There is no doubt that Xi Jinping has also adopted a tougher position in territorial claims in recent years, especially on the Taiwan issue (Beijing claims that this autonomous democratic island is its territory). Tension. But so far, Xi Jinping has been cautious to avoid turning confrontation into a war that may involve the United States and its allies.

Xi Jinping has also been committed to consolidating domestic power. Since 2015, the Chinese leader has begun to make significant adjustments to the Chinese People's Liberation Army. By removal of several commanders who are considered unfaithful or corrupt, they promoted their allies to add Strong control of the army. In many ways, he avoids the loyalty issues facing Putin today.

Russia and China trade reached a record high after the invasion of Ukraine in Russia. The Chinese government also ensures that Moscow is not completely isolated in diplomacy.

"Russia's main motivation is to raise the price of friendship and obtain more benefits from the interaction with China," Song Wendi said. "When Russia looks reckless and unpredictable, it can do this, which is no different from North Korea."

China has paid a considerable price for Russia. The Russian and Ukraine War exacerbated the tension between China and the United States, and harmed China's efforts to improve relations with Europe. Ukraine's counterattack has also made the world pay more attention to China's aggression on Taiwan.

China has carefully responded to these unfavorable conditions in China. Chinese official media described it the importance of its "Wagner incident" and praised Putin to resolve the crisis. The CCP's "Global Times" accused Western media of "speculation" on the rebellion, distorting the relationship between China and Russia, but it does not seem to have reported that Perigo said that the government deceives the Russian public and convinces them that the North Atlantic Convention is in response to Russia. The Black War is responsible.

"The Chinese government still believes in Putin's control of Russia and the long -term stability of Russian society," said Wang Wen, Executive Dean of the Chongyang Financial Research Institute of Renmin University of China in Beijing. Russian.

"It is believed that the Wagner incident will split China and Russia.

Although China's mainstream supports Russia, other Chinese experts worth noting believe that the Russian and Ukraine War has damaged China's position in the world. The person holding this view includes Yan Xuetong, a senior scholar of the international relations of Tsinghua University in China.

Yan Xuetong told reporters in Beijing last month that the United States did not send troops to defend Ukraine, but in comparison, the European member states in NATO have increased their existence in the Asia -Pacific region.

"From a security point of view, this war has not increased China's national security, but has caused China to face more security threats," "According to PekingNology The translation of news email, Yan Xuetong said.

The WeChat public account "Nanchang Release" released on June 29. The "Nanchang Thousands of people crossed the Ganjiang River Event" was scheduled to be held at 5 pm on July 15. (Weibo) In this regard, Song Yongyi, an expert in the Cultural Revolution, accepted an interview with Radio Free Asia that people in the upper and lower levels of China were imitated Mao Zedong, and the upper -level imitation of the political arena will quickly return to the Cultural Revolution.

Song Yongyi said: "The dictatorship of the Mao period, the masses of the sports, and brainwashing the masses. This is ready -made, so it is used to imitate, governing the country without a new situation, and the second exposure to the strong desire to pursue totalitarian power in politics. Historically, personal worship is mainly prepared for permanent governance to make selfish interests. Recently, it is reported that Xi must be at least 80 years old, and see if you can live at that time.

 Cultural Revolution Expert: Mao is soaked in the water and flows in the water.

Song Yongyi mentioned that when watching the film at the time, Mao was "drifting". Mao Mao's memoir also said that Mao floated a big belly.

Song Yongyi: "In fact, he was soaked in the water, because he was more fat, so he had buoyancy. The so-called Changjiang Yangtze River was written. There were more than a dozen swimming players around the Yangtze River drifting in the Yangtze River. What he said, drifting with the water. Mao traveled to the Yangtze River in Wuhan has its political significance. It is the most important demonstration to Beijing Liu Shaoqi, indicating that my body is still good. He has launched the Cultural Revolution and returned to Beijing to rectify Liu Shaoqi quickly."

Gong and Jian, a Chinese disagreement who stayed in Taiwan, also said: "Create God, make God during the Cultural Revolution, and create a god with Xi Jinping now, saying that he walked 200 pounds to walk the mountain road, 15 kilometers without changing his shoulders. For those who want to rule his rule for a long time, we must fool the people, engage in personal worship, and make God."

Gong and Jian mentioned that China deliberately filmed the news documentary and watched Mao Zedong's large belly in the Yangtze River. Now it is said that the catfish belly floating surface, even if it was shot, at least once in the Yangtze River.

Song Yongyi also said that in July, the hottest, Wuhan was like a stove: "The materials exposed now, Mao Mao has his old lover at the East Lake Hotel in Wuhan, so he is unwilling to leave. In 1967, he went to Wuhan again., Mao Cangsong flee, and ran to Shanghai for the first time in his life. The so-called great leader went to the Yangtze River to swim and showed the courage to go to the end of the cultural revolution to the end.

Gong and Jian said that during the Cultural Revolution, the teacher was beaten into a black five category and a stink nine, so the school teacher hated Mao. I remember that in 1992 and 1993, he promoted to high school. In the 100 years of Mao, he scratched the restoration of the Cultural Revolution. Red songs, many people wear Mao Xingzhang on their bodies. Fortunately, Deng Xiaoping returned during the South Tour of the Cultural Revolution through the restoration of the Cultural Revolution, but in the practice of Xi, China did not have the second Deng Xiaoping, which was sinking to the abyss of the Cultural Revolution.

"Taiwan Golden Melody Award" last Saturday(One day)To end, in addition to Chinese language, the diversified compatible development of local Taiwanese, Hakka and Aboriginal songs has also become a highlight. Taiwan

's President Tsai Ing -wen pointed out that diversified, rich, and unbounded is the characteristics of the Golden Melody Awards, and it is also the voice of freedom to bring to the world to the world.

Peng Jiahui Breaking the Golden Melody Award Records the Chinese Music Circle of Taiwan's Music Circle great influence Chinese rock godfather Cui Jian won the Golden Song Best Chinese Male Singer Award

Award After winning the Golden Melody Awards, Peng Jiahui, after 7 years, once again won the guest song with "The Dream I Make in the living room", became the first double song in the history of the Golden Melody Awards. In the award, she said, "I was a newcomer award at that time. After 28 years, I did not expect to come to power again. I sang my mother tongue. My only hope allows more people to hear guest songs and music should not be spoiled. "

Modified into Chinese.

"On the stage of the Golden Melody Awards, the heart of music love also eliminates the language boundary between different ethnic groups. Here, no matter what language is used, Taiwanese, guest language, indigenous ethnic language, Chinese, English, Japanese, Japanese, Japanese You can sing freely and let us condense together. " President Tsai Ing -wen in Taiwan said on Facebook that the Golden Melody Awards are a variety of and rich voice.

Golden Melody Awards reflect multiple freedom value against totalitarian autocracy

Eliminate a race to destroy its language first, and the Chinese government has suppressed the language of Tibet, Xinjiang Uighurs, and Hong Kong for many years; and in Taiwan, in free and democratic Taiwan, encourage mother tongue creation and retain cultural roots.

"Simply put, it is a democratic and open society, and a society with autocratic power." Li Xiaofeng, a retired and honorary professor at the National Taiwan Institute of Culture, National Taipei Education University, said that Taiwan and China were open to China. It is a single closed value, and all values are determined from top to bottom.

Not just a question of language, he said that under the system of one -party dictatorship, all resources are controlled in the hands of the ruling party. For example, in the early days of Taiwan Chiang Kai -shek's administration, it was also the party, government, military and police special, emotional governance units, media, and education. Now the election of the government is open, no matter how to criticize the government, it will not be arrested. This is the difference between the two sides of the strait.

"Today, the Communist Party of China is a social society, including only one view of history." Li Xiaofeng said, "There are 56 ethnic groups within China, each with its own language, or different languages in the same nation. Respect local language. "

Wu Jianzhong, an associate professor of the General Education Center of Taipei Ocean University of Science and Technology, told this station that seeing Taiwan's unique multiculturalism and various music styles through the Golden Melody Awards ceremony. Under the democratic environment of Taiwan, music creators are not constrained by the system, which can stimulate various music appearance. This is the affirmation of the Golden Melody Awards.

"In various kinds of music fields, Taiwan has strong musical strength. This is more difficult for them to be free to create music in the context education of patriotic education in mainland China. The doubts of humiliation. "Wu Jianzhong said.

Golden song Taiwanese songs have been given heated discussions in Chinese speeches after Chinese songs

However, another episode also occurred in the Golden Melody Awards. Zheng Yinong, who won the best Taiwanese female singer award and the best Taiwanese album award, was not good at speaking in Chinese. However, this social media in Taiwan has triggered warm arguments. Zheng Shuncong, who once published a Taiwanese teaching book, wrote on his face, "We have not wanted to change anything ..., singing Taiwanese awards, there is no saying in Taiwanese, this is a fake Taiwanese song." Taiwan media "New Head Shell" Guan Renjian, a column commentator, also called Zheng Yinong under the "Chinese Taipei Song Song".

Nie Yongzhen, who has won the Golden Melody Awards Best Album Packaging Award, wrote on Facebook, "We grow in a country that is free to express and does not need to be reviewed. The most unnecessary thing is that when the creator stands on the stage, the language Channel switching is put on a review of overly political correct framework. "

During the interview, Li Xiaofeng proposed a warning message. In the process of the Kuomintang's rule for 3 or 40 years, Taiwan almost did not speak mother tongue. In society, it is not too late to encourage speaking mother tongue.

The US State Department warned: "American citizens traveling or living in China may be detained if they cannot obtain US consular services or cannot know about their suspected crimes."

(Voice of Germany in Chinese) The US State Department issued a travel warning that US citizens re -considered their travel to China because China exists in the risk of arbitrarily implementing and wrong detention of domestic laws (including outbound ban).

This warning did not quote specific cases. In May of this year, the Chinese court sentenced 78 -year -olds in the crime of spy US and Hong Kong citizen Liang Chengyun's life imprisonment for life Essence

Last week, the Standing Committee of the Chinese People's Congress Through the "Foreign Relations Law", Threatening countermeasures and restrictions on acts that endanger China's interests.

China has recently passed a wide range of content ["Anti -Spy Law]](<https://www.dw.com/zh/zh/中国反间谍法生效-外企忧心忡忡/a-66088954>)Amendment. The revision made the foreign business community shudder, and some companies' offices were searched by assault. This is also a law that sanction foreign critics.

The U.S. State Department warned: "The Chinese government enforces its own laws at will, including issuing an exit ban to US citizens and citizens of other countries without fair and transparent law enforcement procedures."

The warning said: "American citizens traveling or living in China may be detained if they cannot obtain US consular services or cannot know about their suspected crimes."

The warning states: "The Chinese authorities seem to have a wide range of free discretion, and can set various documents, data, statistical numbers or materials as national secrets, and use this detention and prosecution for foreigners suspected spy activities."

The warning lists a series of acts that may be accused of crimes. From participating in demonstrations to sending electronic information that criticize Chinese policies, it is even just researching the areas of sensitive.

The warning states that China's outbound ban can be used to force individuals to participate in investigations of the Chinese government, forcing family members to return from abroad, resolve civil disputes that are beneficial to Chinese citizens, and "obtain bargaining chips on foreign governments."

These warnings are also suitable for travel to Hong Kong and Macau, a special administrative district in China. The U.S. State Department issued the warning on Friday (June 30) and sent it to the media via email on Monday.

The U.S. government has issued similar warnings to its citizens in the past, but the travel warnings in recent years have been mainly published in China's severe implementation of the "clear zero" policy and closed the border.

How to hurt the transnational business of Sino -US relations

China usually responds to the United States accusing its dictatorship in anger. It also issued its own travel warning against the United States, saying that there are risks such as high crime rate, anti -Asian discrimination, and high medical emergency costs.

In view of China's authoritarian political system and the absolute control of the CCP's legal affairs, the details of the crime of spy charged by the US and Hong Kong citizen Liang Chengyun are unknown. He was detained in Suzhou, a city in the southeast on April 15, 2021. At that time, China was implementing a strict "clear zero" policy.

These warnings are issued in the aspects of trade, technology, Taiwan, and human rights issues in the lowest point in the aspects of the United States and China, although the two parties are taking some measures to improve the situation. U.S. Secretary of State Brills conducted a delay in Beijing for several months last week. Minister of Finance Yellen will also conduct a highly anticipated trip to Beijing this week. China has recently appointed a new ambassador to the United States. He went to the White House to submit the national book to President Biden.

Meng Wanzhou was released from Canada to fly back to China. "It was also released on the same day to fly back to Canada. Treasury Minister Jennte Yellen will visit China on Wednesday. This visit is of great significance to stabilize the tension between the two largest economies in the world.

This will be the first time Yellen has visited China as the Minister of Finance. Previously, Secretary of State Anthony Blintin also visited China last month. Earlier this year, the United States found that Chinese spy balls flew over the United States, and China was dissatisfied with the efforts of the Bayeng government to prevent China from obtaining some sensitive technologies, and the relationship between the two countries was tense.

This trip also coincides with the time when the global economic uncertainty intensifies, and the output of China's epidemic is sluggish. The United States tries to avoid economic recession while curbing inflation.

Despite hoping to re-establish a dialogue, the meeting may involve sensitive issues that have been deteriorated for many years.

The Biden government has been taking measures to reduce the dependence of the United States' imported products in China, and try to limit China obtaining semiconductor technology, biotechnology and sensitive technologies. These technologies are robots and artificial intelligence Provide motivation with high -end computing.

At the same time, from the poverty -stricken countries of Chinese loans facing breach of contract, China is unwilling to re-negotiate the loan terms, which makes the United States dissatisfied; and, even if Russia invades Ukraine, China still maintains close economic relations with Russia.

A senior official of the Ministry of Finance who was unwilling to disclose a priority of Yellen on Sunday said that Yellen would meet with senior Chinese officials and American companies in China and American companies in China. The official said Yellen will discuss global challenges and common concern with Chinese officials.

It is expected that the Treasury Minister will oppose China's recent ban on Meicuang Technology. The company's chip is used in the memory storage of various electronic products such as

It is expected that Yellen will also be concerned about the human rights acts in Xinjiang's ethnic minorities.(<https://www.nytimes.com/zh/2019/11/16/world/asia/xinjiang-documents-chinese.html>)Essence U.S. officials also want to better understand the scope of China's new anti -espionage law, which may bring new challenges to foreign companies.

Although both parties may express dissatisfaction, Yellen plans to prove that the United States' reduction in China's dependence on China and protecting national security is not to make these two highly intertwined economies "decoupled".

advertise

In recent weeks, Yellen's attitude towards China has become mild, saying that the relationship between Washington and Beijing is important to the entire world. In an interview with MSNBC last week, she said that "benign competition" can benefit workers and enterprises of the two countries.

"I hope to make a contact in China this time," said Yellen. "There is a group of new leaders who need to understand each other."

She also said that the two countries "need to discuss the differences between each other, so that we will not have misunderstandings and will not misunderstand each other's intentions."

As China is concerned about different American words and deeds, the Treasury Secretary is likely to face the sharp issues raised by the Chinese government's true intention.

The Biden government has implemented extensive restrictions on China's acquisition of advanced technologies, saying that China 's ability to use such technologies threatens national security.

In the New York's Foreign Relations Commission on Wednesday, Blint said on Wednesday that it would prevent China from obtaining technology that might be used to harm the United States and conforms to the interests of the United States.

"Allows them to obtain technology that may be used to deal with us. How can this meet my country's interests?" He asked, and mentioned China's continuous expansion of nuclear weapons plans, the development of hypersonic missiles, and "may be used to suppress the purpose of suppressing the purpose of suppressing the purpose "The use of artificial intelligence.

"If they change their positions, they will do the same thing," he said, and added that the United States is implementing "very targeted and very narrow control measures."

Although Yellen questioned in the past The role of tariffs on imported goods in China, but the Trump administration's tariff regulations are still there, and it seems unlikely to be canceled in the short term.

China has also disappointed with the efforts to transfer its supply chain from China to other allies recognized by the United States. Yellen and other Cabinet officials call this trend "Youkan Outsourcing" Essence

The United States is still dissatisfied with the reorganization loan of poor countries who are unwilling to face debt defaults, and worry about the depreciation currency in China, because this will make China exports more competitive in the United States.

advertise

In addition to the tight monetary exchange rate, China also faces debt problems at home and abroad. For China, the debt crisis of developing countries is not at the same time. With the slow deterioration of the real estate crisis, loans issued by many banks to developers and local governments have faced the risk of serious losses. This makes banks reluctant to accept huge losses for overseas loans. Although Western experts predict that if you cannot significantly reduce debt, the economy of these developing countries may be difficult to recover.

During the epidemic, the contacts between the officials of the United States and China were very limited. At that time, China basically closed the border and no longer sent officials to participate in the international economic conference. As some measures to strengthen national security, China has gradually stopped released thousands of economic data series in the past few years, making it difficult for U.S. officials to understand the current situation of China's economy.

China announced the appointment of the new party committee secretary of the National Central Bank Saturday, indicating that Beijing's interview with Yellen attaches great importance to: Pan Gongsheng is a well-known technical bureaucrat. Since 2016, he has been the director of the State Administration of Foreign Exchange and is responsible for supervising China's monetary policy. Essence

An Kaibin, a senior coordinator of Chinese affairs in the Ministry of Finance(Christopher Adams)Said that Yellen and its team "when the Chinese economy lacks transparency, it may try to get more inside information."

At present, the beach is the protagonist on the resort map. Cambridge University(Cambridge university)A study in 2014 stated: "Seaside tourism is the biggest part of the global tourism industry. More than 60%of Europeans choose to go to the beach for vacation. Seahibu tourism accounts for more than 80%of American tourism revenue."

Some beach vacation destinations -Maldives and some areas of the Caribbean -will not enter the sea. The same is true in the Mediterranean region, especially in the Mediterranean coast of Africa, the rising sea plane is eroding the beach. The weather becomes hot and unbearable. We are likely to see that going to the cooler northern Spain (where I was there last summer), the beach vacation of the beach on the Norman, British and Stick's Navia Peninsula became a trend, until these places eventually became hot. Alaska and the North Pole will soon become a more durable summer heaven.

The following is a small example of how to change the resort map. Thirty years ago, I stayed on a small town of St. Lennez on the coast of southern England for a few months. Since the 1920s, this place was once a high -end seawater bathing place. Until the cheap flights to the Mediterranean appeared, vacation on the British seaside was no longer popular. When I knew this place, the former high -end hotels at the beach were all pensions who had no money, and local authorities in London.(councils)People hidden there. In the new climate, St. Lennard may restore the glory of the past (provided that the British water company no longer does not process sewage to rivers and ocean emissions). When the weather is too hot and not suitable for sunbathing, you can also visit Sussex's local vineyards. At the same time, Spain's hot sun coast(Costa del Sol)It may inherit the crown of "abandoned pre -resort". This transformation will reverse the historical trends of tourists from wealthy countries to poor countries.

Another possible trend is that summer will no longer be the peak tourist season. First of all, summer will become hotter and not suitable for travel. Second, more and more people who do not have to have children do not have to take advantage of the summer vacation. Third, with the booming development of the tourism industry, the reception capacity of popular destinations in the peak tourism season is approaching the limit. It is expected that the beach resort will re-focus on the spring business, which will be the first rays of sunlight of the year for tourists from the north. We may even see the situation in the 1920s that came back again -the British ruling class would spend the winter in the blue coast.

Winter ski tour will gradually disappear. Now, the Alps account for 40% of the world's ski passenger flow. There are hundreds of ski resorts. One of the main reasons is insufficient snowfall. In this century, almost all glaciers of the Alps may disappear. University of Arizona(University of Arizona)Zeng Xubin and others wrote that from 1982 to 2016, the number of ski season in many ski resorts in the United States shortened 34 days average. Ski town has begun to try to turn towards summer and cycling destinations.

The changes in the resort map will cause pain. The main withdrawal of pain will be millions of tourism practitioners and their families they support in poor countries. But this huge change will only be previews, and more people will be forced to say goodbye to their homes in the future.

This year's July 1st is the 26th anniversary of the transfer of sovereignty in Hong Kong, and it also marks the 3rd anniversary of the "National Security Law of the Hong Kong District". On the occasion of the Hong Kong government, Hong Kong people in Manchester, Shefeld, and London in the United Kingdom protested the freedom and rights of Hong Kong people by the National Security Law in the methods of parade and rally. Among them, the parade of Sheffield, which was also disturbed by China's "little pink", but more local people supported Hong Kong people.

According to the live video, after the local police involved in the mediation, the man first tried to argue with the police in English, and then talked to the British police in Mandarin: "What are they doing? You see him!"There are two other men who call and intimidate the parade in Hong Kong people, raised their unconventional gestures, and kept clamoring: "Taking your dad!We are Chinese!You are like me, but he is your father, your grandfather, you, you Ancestor. Taking your ancestor!"

RE-WATER, a Hong Kong-Hong Kong person organized by the host parade, issued a statement, saying that before the parade began, there were already suspected Chinese "small pink" shuttled in the crowd to monitor. Sweating the volunteers, hindering the march to advance.

Raiders in the Peace Racing of British and Hong Kong people will be attacked one after another

Just two weeks ago, several Hong Kong people were attacked by suspected Chinese students in Southampton, Britain, and were attacked by suspected Chinese students. Counting the attack on the Chinese diplomats in Manchester City last October and the attack on Chinatown in London at the end of 2021, the Peaceful rally of British and Hong Kong people in the UK was interfered by Chinese officials and "little pink".

The Executive Director of the "Inter-Parliamentary Alliance on China" (IPAC), Luke Depulford, reproduced related videos in Twitter, criticizing the British government that has not resolved the problem of frequent Chinese "small pink" harassment Hong Kong people.

Pei Lore said, "How many times have you been? We have warned the British government in the BNO visa plan from the beginning that this situation will happen. However, they have not yet developed plans to prevent these incidents."

Little pink disturbances make local people support Hong Kong people

RE-Water, a Hong Kong person who hosted the July 1st rally of Sheffield City, said that the British police and some enthusiastic locals at the time of the incident were successfully continued and no one was injured. Instead, some locals joined the parade. They emphasized that the Chinese present had the right to express their opinions, but had no right to prevent Hong Kong people from acting, reiterating to be willing to communicate and debate rationally, rather than violence.

They are angry with the Chinese people to prevent the parade and pull demonstrations, but reiterate that Hong Kong people will not be afraid and will continue to declare to the world that the CCP regime must be cut with the destruction of the freedom of Hong Kong people. The RE-WATER calls on the Sheffield City Government to separate from the relationship between sisters in Anshan and Chengdu in China, and ask British Prime Minister Sonak to immediately fulfill its promises to close all Confucius Institutes and protect the freedom of Hong Kong people in the British parade and assembly.

London Hong Kong people mourn and retrograde Chinese sports deceased

In London, dozens of people in the Hong Kong and Hong Kong people in the Hong Kong Economic and Trade Office in the Hong Kong Economic and Trade Office mourned on July 1, 2021. After holding a knife in Causeway Bay with a knife and piercing police, Liang Jianhui, who died of his chest.

At 4:20 pm in London time, the moment Liang Jianhui announced the dying of the day, the rally of Hong Kong people mourned together, mourned Liang Jianhui, and other Hong Kong people who died in the Chinese campaign. The conference placed a painting that depicts Liang Jianhui with his chest and pressed his chest at the outside of the Hong Kong Economic and Trade Office. Many participants presented flowers, and some people looked sad.

Some participants told this station that the incident of Liang Jianhui's assassination made him sad, describing "don't want to mention it, but dare not forget." He also described "July" is a sad day. Even if the official celebration of Hong Kong officials, citizens' ideas are completely different: "I hope all Hong Kong people will not forget this day, because everyone knows what is going on, July 1st, July 1st The day when the British government handed over Hong Kong to China is a great blow to Hong Kong people. "

Participants: Patriotic do not have to brainwash forced to force

AMANDA, a Hong Kong person who participated in the rally, said that July 1st was meaningless to her, because on July 1, 20 years ago, she and 500,000 Hong Kong people went to the streets to oppose Article 23 legislation of the Basic Law and successfully forced Hong Kong The government withdrew the legislation. However, to this day, even if Liang Jianhui charged his life with his life, the regime has disappeared.

AMANDA, a Hong Kong person who participated in the rally, said that Liang Jianhui accused the power with his life, and the regime was deaf. (Photo by Lu Xi) Amanda said: "I didn't think of a good ending after 20 years. In 2019, the Hong Kong Government did not handle it well, so that the situation was upgraded and so many people were separated here. At the point, we will push a person to such a desperate situation and do such irrational things? It is really a very poor figure. "

She described Hong Kong in the "July 1" view of the five -star red flag in "July", thinking that patriotism does not have to brainwash forced. She hopes that overseas Hong Kong people seize every opportunity and tell the people around them to tell the real Hong Kong story. Even if the strength is small, she also hopes to tell friends who are still in Hong Kong that the Hong Kong people who leave are not forgotten.

When J's speech, he thanked Hong Kong for his political enlightenment and believed that Hong Kong had revealed the "one country, two systems" lies. He is called "South Guangdong" in Guangdong. He hopes that Hong Kong and "South Guangdong" can one day independent and become "good neighboring countries."

Victoria Garden in the past few years

Since 1990, the June Fourth Candle Light Gala held by the Hong Kong Federation Association on June 4th will attract tens of thousands of people to gather in Victoria Park in Hong Kong to mourn the June 4th incident. However, since the outbreak of the new crown epidemic in 2019, the Hong Kong authorities have banned rally twice on the grounds of epidemic prevention. Next, the "National Security Law" adopted in 2020 will be regarded as illegal activities. In 2021, the Federation will be dissolved. Since then, the June 4th Memorial Party will not exist. The picture shows the Hong Kong people spontaneously on June 4, 2020 to the Victoria Garden to commemorate June 4th with candlelight.

The Guoan Law reshaped Hong Kong society and destroyed the legal firewall between this special autonomous region and the Mainland. The National Security Law stipulates that people who have been accused of rejuvenating their specified regulations can be tracked around the world.

According to this law, the Guoan case is treated by police, prosecutors and judges designated by the Hong Kong government. Beijing can take over certain cases to judge in the inland that is opaque and strictly controlled by the Chinese Communist Party in the Mainland.

Two days before this wanted list released, the Hong Kong government held the "Return 26th Anniversary" celebration.

At this time, it was also the third anniversary of the implementation of the National Security Law of the Hong Kong District.

In the past three years, 260 people have been arrested, of which more than 160 have been sued with 5 companies. Most defendants are well-known democratic politicians, activists, union members and reporters.

Ren Jianfeng (former lawyer and Australian citizen of Hong Kong, Australian citizen) who was included in the wanted list told AFP that he felt sad for Hong Kong.

"This reflects the degree of degeneration of Hong Kong." Ren Jianfeng said, "The Hong Kong government and the CCP authorities tried to show that their laws can pass globally."

After the implementation of the National Security Law in Beijing, 10 countries including the United States, Britain, Australia, and Canada suspended the criminal judicial mutual assistance agreement with Hong Kong.

The Dalai Lama has repeatedly emphasized that the reincarnation is the personal power of the Dalai Lama, and it will never fall into the hands of the Chinese government.

The Chinese authorities have stated that the Dalai Lama cannot be reincarnated according to personal wishes. The reincarnation must be certified by China. The place of signing through the gold bottle must be in China.

The China Records Association and the China Tibetan Studies Center jointly held the theme news of the "New Era, New Tibet, New Vitality" theme news in Beijing on June 29. Hong Kong's "Wen Wei Po" reported that Zhang Yun, a researcher at the History of the Chinese Tibetan Studies Center, pointed out that the reincarnation system of the living Buddha can not be determined by himself, nor will it be used or not for a certain purpose because of personal preferences or for some purpose. Respect and abide by this system.

In this regard, Ms. Lai, a Buddhist of Taiwan, accepted an interview with Radio Free Asia and said: "This is the so -called Great Pass and Cognitive War, as if the Pope () of Vatican (Whether) will be specified by the Communist Party. This is ridiculous. . Maybe China has encountered a lot of crisis or consolidate the regime and depends on the history of the Communist Party.

Ms. Lai Lai, who has studied Buddhism for 20 years. (Reporter Xia Xiaohua) The Dalai Lama representative Ge Sang Jian will be interviewed by Radio Asia in Liberty, saying that the Chinese side reflects the imperial mentality, wants to control Tibet, and let these so -called experts explain. In fact, this is a brainwashing education and deceived the international community.

"Of course we know, this is a very serious issue (reincarnation). It needs to be found and determined by the Dalai Lama, including the inheritance leaders of Tibet, through strict inheritance rituals. Living Buddhas. This person who wants to reincarnate or stop reincarnation is that he can make a decision, and you can make a decision to reincarnate. This is a system of inheritance in Tibet for the formation of Tibet for hundreds of years and thousands of years."

Ge Sang Jianxian believes that the CCP held the above -mentioned media meeting forum at this time and arranged for reporters to ask questions because the 88th birthday of the Dalai Lama is coming, and a large number of Han people must enter Tibet after the epidemic. They must tell the story of Tibet. On the stage, the Han people were clear, and it was clear that the CCP did not trust the Royal Tibetan scholars.

Japanese media request to visit Tibetans in Tibet: Reflect the serious human rights of Tibet

According to the Taiwan Media Central News Agency, during this news teahouse in Beijing, some Japanese media mentioned that, except for the officials hosted by Chinese officials, reporters cannot go to Tibet at will. Can the media go to local interviews in the future?

Dan Zeng Nanda, vice chairman of the Tibetan Welfare Association, told Liberty Asia. It is a very rational question to go to Tibet to interview in Tibet. It is normal for the free international community to do. However, at this press conference in Beijing, it became a question, reflecting how serious the human rights issue in Tibet was.

Iran's scenes released by the U.S. Navy to shoot an incident of an Iranian passenger plane(Iranian media)Iran commented today (July 3) to commemorate an Iranian civilian airliner by the 35th anniversary of the US warship "Vinson" in the Gulf waters. As it has been insisting in the past few decades, it has been called on the United States again. Exit from the Middle East. At the same time, the United States announced last month that in view of the "increasing threat of Iran to ships", the United States will strengthen its military existence in this rich area of oil resources.

On the morning of July 3, 1988, an Airbus A300 passenger plane at Iranian Airlines and 655IR flights to Dubai International Airport was taken off by the U.S. Navy for 7 minutes after taking off 7 minutes after the departure of Hong Kong Airport in southern Iran. All famous passengers were killed, including 66 children.

The U.S. Navy said at the time that it accidentally hit the plane because it mistakenly sentenced the passenger plane to a F-14 fighter, and the Pentagon also believed that Iran as "allowed this aircraft to fly over the active conflict area for flight. And responsible for this. " However, Iran insisted that the accident was deliberately made by the United States, and provided evidence for this: former US President Ronald Reagan maintained the "Vincent" captain Will Rogers shot down the passenger plane. Decided, and the captain was welcomed by heroes after returning to the United States.

The United States emphasized that the Iranian passenger plane did not respond to the "Vincent" battleship that asked it to change the direction instructions. The claiming that the Iranian passenger plane was in the recognized international air channel at the time, and the US report concealed the fact that the battleship tried to connect with it through the frequency of military communication that was not familiar with civil aircraft.

Iran held a grand funeral for 290 victims on the 290 victims on the plane in 1988, including 66 children(Iranian media)Although 35 years later, the world's public opinion has almost forgotten this incident, but Iran still insists on sprinkling flowers in the bay water to commemorate this tragic memory. Political statement.

Iranians will not forget this memory, because the United States has never officially apologized and has no responsibility to this tragedy, although it pays nearly $ 100 million in compensation to Iran in 1996 in exchange for the latter from the International Court Withdrawal of allegations against the United States.

Under the participation of officials and families of the victims, Iran sprinkle flowers in the bay waters every year to commemorate the tragic event of this passenger plane being shot down.(Iranian media)

Ending the existence of the United States

Under such circumstances, the former commander of the Iranian Revolutionary Guard, Kanney, said that the incident made the Iranian people's hostility to the United States -the Pentagon Metropolitan Morning all the international standards and alliances on the feet and shot down one. Civilian aircraft, and US officials also acknowledged that the ship radar can easily determine the type of the aircraft. In addition, the aircraft did not leave Iran's airspace.

In an interview with a reporter from the Peninsula TV station, Kanani explained that Iran insisted on holding this activity every year, saying that "the wound caused by this aircraft was still bleeding." It has not changed, "Now, it is standing with everyone who is hostile to Iran."

The former leader of the Iranian Revolutionary Guard concluded that Iran hopes to end the US military existence in the region to prevent such bloody incidents from happening again. He also called on the establishment of the Islamic Alliance to prevent foreign forces from intervening in the region.

In 1988, Iran held a grand funeral for the victims of the crash(Iranian media)

The appeal of Iran

Political researcher Mcydi Shaki enumerated Iran's demands made by the official end of the U.S. Navy's shot out of the case of the U.S. Navy. The specific situation is as follows:

In an interview with a reporter from the Peninsula TV station, Shaki Bai said that the incident was "the most tragic incident in Iranian history. This is because the international community, including the UN Security Council and the International Civil Aviation Organization, did not extend in this case for Iranian justice".

In the end, Shaki Bai pointed out that Iran will continue to disclose the United States' statement of human rights in the framework of "US Human Rights Week" from June 28th to July 3rd, until Iran's above requirements are implemented, and they will be implemented, and and of. The United States completely withdrew from the Middle East.

The wreckage of the Iranian passenger plane that was revealed to the reporter at the time was shot down by the US battleship(Iranian media)

The possibility of misjudgment

On the other hand, Iran's former foreign officials Freedon Malaysi criticized the opening of this controversial case and believed that this was a key factor that caused Iran and the United States to continue to upgrade in the past few decades. In this regard, he explained that the incident that shot down the passenger plane had ended from the technical level after paying compensation to the families of the victims in Washington, but its political level has remained open to this day.

In an interview with a reporter from the Peninsula TV station, he said that the United States is responsible for shooting down the passenger plane, but he called on Iran and the United States to take responsibility and take the courage to open a page in the past to prevent the difference between the two parties from further expanding. Because this will cause damage to both parties.

At the end of the summary, Malaysi said that he did not want to escape for the United States, but there was a possibility of misjudgment in incidents, and the Iranian Revolutionary Guard was the best proof of the Ukrainian passenger aircraft in early 2020. It is also called on the United States and Iraq to accept mistakes and try to prevent them from happening again.

Wang Yi, director of the Office of the Foreign Affairs Working Committee of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China, said on July 3 that China respects the development of Japan, South Korea, and countries, but "cannot be used to curb or even block the neighbors around him." He also secretly criticized the US behavior as "the hegemony and domineering coercion."

According to a comprehensive Chinese media report, Wang Yi made the above representation when attending the opening ceremony of the 2023 China -Japan -Korea Cooperation International Forum in 2023. South Korean Foreign Minister Park Zhen and Japanese Foreign Minister Lin Fangzheng also delivered a speech in the forum through a video connection.

In his speech, Wang Yi said that in recent years, in order to seek geopolitical interests, "individual countries outside the domain" deliberately publicized the differences in ideology, weave various exclusive small circles, trying to "replace cooperation with confrontation to split unity." He also said that if this trend is developed, it will not only seriously interfere with the smooth implementation of the cooperation between the Three Kingdoms, but also continuously exacerbate the tension between the regional situation.

Wang Yi emphasized that respecting Japan and South Korea's development relations with countries around the world, but "no relationship can be used to curb or even block the neighbors around him." The three countries of China, Japan, and South Korea and Asian countries should maintain regional unity and stability, resist the tide of thinking of the cold war, and "not be coerced by hegemony and overbearing."

Wang Yi's explanation of this remark is just as the United States has adopted a more close relationship with Japan and South Korea to fight against China 's increasing regional influence. Last week, Japan's "Asahi Shimbun" quoted several Japanese and Korean officials as saying that Japanese Prime Minister Kishida Kishida and US President Biden and South Korean President Yin Xiyue were planning to officially hold a summit in Washington at the end of August to focus on discussing the situation in East Asia, including North Korea's nuclear nuclear, With the Missile Development Plan and China's hegemony.

Just as the unemployment rate of young people in China hit a new high, the Communist Party of China directly affiliated to the Economic Daily, the Communist Party, said on July 3 that as the graduates of 2023 left the campus one after another, a survey data showed that the fresh graduates who chose "slow employment" of "slow employment" From 15.9%last year to 18.9%this year.

According to the article, the phenomenon of "slow employment" is not a derogatory term, and it needs to be viewed from two aspects. Most "slow employment" is not employment, let alone "lying down". Because the pressure of employment of youth this year is still high, unlimited graduates and unemployed young people have to passively choose slow employment and continue to search for appropriate positions. In response to this situation, employment services should be continuously provided so that young people with employment willingness should employ or participate in employment preparation activities as soon as possible

Public information shows that "slow employment" refers to college students after graduation, neither plan to employment immediately nor to continue their studies, but temporarily choose to study, support teaching, accompany parents or start a business inspection at home, etc. Phenomenon.

At the same time, Liu Yuanchun, a well -known economist in China and founder of the China Macroeconomic Forum, warned that the problem of unemployment in China may last for 10 years and will continue to intensify in the short term. Social problems even become the fuse of political issues.

According to a Bloomberg report on the 3rd, Liu Yuanchun issued the above warnings in a report issued by the China Macro Economic Forum at the end of June. The report also mentioned that the pain points and difficulties of China's economic recovery are concentrated as "five 20%", including the unemployment rate of the unemployment of youth groups, an annual decrease of 20%of the profit of industrial enterprises, and a new annual decrease of the real estate construction area by 20%. The income of local land transfer is 20%annually, and the gap in the consumer confidence index is as high as 20%. This shows that the pressure in related fields has exceeded the ability of economic self -repair.

Dam Mengsi, who is also vice chairman of the EUROPEANCOMMISSION, said in a speech at Tsinghua University in Beijing that he "believes that China is willing to move towards the right direction." "This seems to be contradictory."

China is the country with the largest greenhouse gas emissions in the world. These greenhouse gases, such as carbon dioxide, can lead to climate change. China's commitment to greenhouse gas emissions is considered to be the key to maintaining the global temperature rise within 2 degrees Celsius.

However, nearly 60% of the electricity in China last year came from coal.

Greenpeace said in April that China's approved coal -fired power generation this year has risen, accusing China of priority to consider power supply instead of reducing the burning fossil fuel to reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

The behavior of large -scale approval of coal -fired power plants has increased people's concerns. I wonder if China will deviate from the promise that has been made, that is, it reached the peak of emissions from 2026 to 2030, and carbon neutrality would be achieved by 2060.

In recent years, the Beijing authorities have repeatedly urged the development of the country to fulfill the promise of climate financing.

Although China is the second largest economy in the world, it still refuses to accept that it is no longer regarded as a development country.

Two of them are employees of a restaurant. They believe that this restaurant may be the source of explosion, and the other two wounded are passers -by; the injuries of the four are mild.

Fortunately, this coffee bar has not started business when the explosion occurs. The explosion caused the coffee bar about 20 square meters of rooms to be burned, and seven surrounding buildings and two cars were also damaged to varying degrees.

According to the Xinhua News Agency, after a preliminary investigation of the police, the cause of the explosion or the high concentration of gas in the cafe in the building in the building encountered a bright fire.

In order to avoid the high temperature in the daytime, countless Vietnamese farmers were forced to choose to farm in darkness.

Agence France -Presse reported on Monday (July 3) that since this year, South Asia and Southeast Asian countries have ushered in a record high temperature. In early July, another heat wave was about to land in northern Vietnam, which led to the local farmers who chose to cultivate at night in order to avoid daydown or heat stroke that appeared during the day.

A 47 -year -old Vietnamese farmer Lan (LAN) told AFP: "When the strong sunlight directly illuminated on my back, the warm water in the field splashed on my face, and it became very difficult to grow rice."

After a few days after trying to focus on the high temperature of 37 degrees Celsius, Lan found that he needed to change the cultivation model to avoid unbearable high temperature weather.

The farmers who choose to farm at night must wear lighting. Because of the limitation of visual, farming time is longer than during the day. (Agence France -Presse)

However, farming in darkness will also face visual limitation, leading to the extension of farming time. Lan said: "Because of the lack of light, the planting may not be on a straight line, so I wear a headlight to cultivate."

Although the working hours were stretched, Lan showed that it would continue.

Another 62 -year -old Vietnamese farmer also said that he had changed the farming time to the evening and early morning. He said: "Although it can be seen clearly during the day, but the temperature is too high, the work process will become uncomfortable, and it will be tired."

Fortunately, farmers choosing to farm at night will not affect the income and expenditure efficiency. They can still earn about $ 40 a day (about S $ 54). Compared with the labor class with a revenue of only 250 US dollars per income, the income of farmers is relatively considerable.

Pan Gongsheng, who has just been announced to replace Guo Shuqing's party secretary of the Central Bank of the Central Bank Reuters information picture [Audio-Link: https://www.rfa.org/mandarin/zhanlan/yehuazhongnanhao/gx07032023153122.html/@stream]

Pan Gongsheng, who has just been announced to replace the position of the party secretary of the Central Bank of the Central Bank of China, was actually arranged as a succession echelon of the central leader of the central bank as early as 2017 as early as the 19th Central State member. The reasons behind the scenes of the Central Committee of the Central Committee at the 20th National Congress of October last year made the outside world unimaginable.

The previous program of our column just introduced the then party secretary of the central bank, Guo Shuqing, failed to be re-elected as a member of the Central Committee in the 20th National Congress. It was announced in March of this year to be announced to become the deputy director of the 14th National People's Congress and the National Committee of the Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference, but Yi Gang was unexpectedly announced to be re-elected as the governor of the central bank ... The next day the show was broadcast, the CCP authorities announced the news of the Party Secretary of the Central Bank of the Party Committee. Pan Gongsheng, a member of the Central Bank, member of the Party Committee and Director of the State Administration of Foreign Exchange, was promoted to the party committee secretary. On June 29, Guo Shuqing, who gave the party class to the central bank as a party committee secretary, officially left his first-line provincial and ministerial level. Work.

People noticed that because the Central Organization Department announced that Pan Gongsheng was promoted to the party secretary of the central bank and eliminated the position of the party secretary of the Central Bank of the Central Bank of the Central Bank, it also announced the position of removal of the Deputy Secretary of the Party Committee of the Central Bank of the Central Bank. When reporting the news, it also hinted that the era of Yi Gang in the central bank was over in the title or content. For example, "Guo Shuqing and Yi Gang are removed from office", they just took Pan Gongsheng to take over the central bank's party committee secretary. "Comprehensively take over the central bank. "But in fact, as I have analyzed in the last article of this column, the author has analyzed:" Since Yi Gang has been discharged from the internal plan ', he was announced to be observed in the hospital, then this', then this' Observation of 'phase shorter can not be only three or two months. "

When the outside world and the internal media of China, when Pan Gongsheng "fully took over the central bank", none of them noticed that the person in charge of the Central Organization Department announced the "purpose" at the central bank cadres' meeting on the afternoon of July 1. On the day, the third session of the Standing Committee of the 14th National People's Congress just closed, and the personnel appointment and removal of the personnel determined at the meeting were related to the State Council.

As we all know, the appointment and removal of the President of the Central Bank of the Communist Party of China and the heads of the so -called State Council ministries and commissions must take a process at the National People's Congress, that is, Xi Jinping's "full process of democracy". Then, in accordance with the "Rules of the National People's Congress of the People's Republic of China", the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress exercise its powers at a meeting of the National People's Congress. The Standing Committee of the National People's Congress is generally held every two months; when there are special needs, the meeting can be temporarily convened. The Standing Committee Meeting is generally held in the late month. The session is generally about 5 days.

In this way, whether or not it will end the central bank's "dual head system" in the future, and Pan Gongsheng will replace the administrative position of the president. The earliest time to wait for two months, that is, late August this year.

In other words, starting from July 1, the relationship between Pan Gongsheng and Yi Gang has been changed from the relationship between the deputy governor and the governor and the superior to the superior in the past 5 years. The relationship between Guo Shuqing and Yi Gang is a relationship between the same superiors. That is, the relationship between the party committee secretary and the party committee members and the relationship between the deputy governor and president of administrative and business.

Next, if the so -called "dual head system" started 5 years ago by the central bank has been set by the CCP's senior management, it will no longer need to be maintained for a long time. Then two months later, or after a little longer, Pan Gongsheng may be Like Wang Xiaohong, before the 20th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, he first served as the party secretary as an administrative deputy. After a period of time, he took over the executive leader.

So will the "dual head system" be implemented in the central bank for a long time? May wish to see why it was "dual -headed" at the central bank 5 years ago.

On March 26th, 5 years ago, an analysis article published an analysis article "Guo Shuqing!" The candidate of the new bank's new secretary announced, why is the "Secretary+Vice President" combination? What is the meaning of picking more? Look at the Four Detailed Explanations ". The first paragraph of the article is: some arrangements seem to be unexpected, but they are also reasonable. On the afternoon of March 26, a cadre conference was held within the central bank, and it was officially announced that Yi Gang was the president of the Central Bank and Deputy Secretary of the Party Committee. Guo Shuqing served as the Secretary of the Party Committee and Vice President of the Central Bank. At about 20:48 tonight (March 26, 2018), the central bank's website announced the latest leadership team members. Among them, except for Guo Shuqing, the vice presidents were Chen Yulu, Pan Gongsheng and Fan Yifei.

Please note that the position of Pan Gongsheng in this paragraph ranks third among the deputy governor, including Guo Shuqing. Since then, Chen Yulu, the youngest central bank's vice president, has been degraded back to the original education system, and served as president of Nankai University and Deputy Secretary of the Party Committee. Fan Yifei has been doubled and transferred to the judicial organs. There are only Pan Gongsheng who are the vice president of the old qualification.

For example, the Shanghai Finance and Economics Articles continued to analyze: To the outside world unexpectedly, although Guo Shuqing was the party secretary of the party committee in the central bank's party, the administrative position was the vice president. This arrangement is unusual. In the past, the party committee secretary and president of the central bank were held by one person. For example, Zhou Xiaochuan, who had just retired, has served as the party secretary and president of the Central Bank for 15 years.

The article quotes the analysis of insiders in Beijing: Among some ministries and commissions, the ministers and the party committee (party group) secretary are not the same person, and it is also common to implement the "dual head system". Under this arrangement, the minister is usually the deputy secretary of the party committee (party group), while a deputy minister is the secretary of the party committee (party group). "Among the ministries and commissions that implement the" dual head system ", the minister is the" leader '. ".At that time, Caixin.com also reported that: Guo Shuqing said at the conference held by the central bank on the same day, "In the future, it will be a good assistant to President Yi Gang on the specific business and administrative affairs of the central bank."

As also introduced in the article, it is worth mentioning that Guo Shuqing and Yi Gang have worked for 4 years at the central bank. At today's cadre conference, Yi Gang stated that he will fully assume responsibility and fulfill the duties of the president, and sincerely unite with the Secretary of Shuqing and the members of the Party Committee, consolidate the entire work together, and jointly create a new situation in the work of the People's Bank of China. Guo Shuqing said that he resolutely supported the central government's decision and fully supported Comrade Yi Gang as the president of the People's Bank of China, and was very happy to return to the People's Bank of China again. Fully support Comrade Yi Gang to fulfill the duties of the president ...

Nowadays, I have not seen Pan Gongsheng at the meeting of the party secretary of the central bank. However, the relationship between the "dual heads" of the State Council of the State Council of the Communist Party of China cannot resume the relationship with the local party and political leaders.

After Pan Gongsheng's replacement of Guo Shuqing's news was announced, there were also external media describing the words such as "accident" and "sudden" in the report title.

In fact, Pan Gongsheng's top position is unexpectedly "reasonable" to say unexpectedly. It depends on the analysis from that angle or from which time.

In February this year, the author published an article "Several Possibilities for Possibilities of the Next Central Bank of President" in this column. The article introduced that Yi Gang was "accidentally" appointed as the governor of the central bank five years ago. Economists have discussed whether the former Henan Provincial Party Secretary Xie Fuzhan will be transferred to the president of the central bank. The brother revealed that Yi Gang succeeded Zhou Xiaochuan as one of the contents of the "general consideration" before the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China. The total number of votes in the process of "pre-selection" was lower than the threshold, which was "second."

What can provide evidence for the above statement is that Pan Gongsheng, another central bank of Zhou Xiaochuan at the time, was also arranged to be arranged as a member of the 19th Central Committee.

The Pan Gongsheng was nine years younger than Yi Gang. His resume specifically stated that he joined the Democratic League in 1993 and later joined the Communist Party of China in 1999. He is a doctor of economics and researcher at Renmin University of China. Poor scholar and senior researcher at Harvard University.

In other words, compared to Yi Gang, this person is a "Dr. Tu" cultivated by the Chinese Communist regime by himself. In the future, the overseas "education" is gold -plated. But at least one layer of gold has been plated.

The time for Pan Gongsheng to be promoted from the deputy governor of the Agricultural Bank of China to the deputy governor of the central bank was June 2012. He was then arranged to be the secretary of the party group and director of the State Administration of Foreign Exchange that Yi Gang was no longer concurrent at that time.

Under normal circumstances, most of the allocate of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China and the Central Discipline Inspection Commission to the State Administration and Commission are mostly a central member, a member of the Central Discipline Inspection Commission, and it is not common to be assigned a central alternate member. At the same time, there are almost no places for the two central alternate members. It can be proved that the "Suggestion List of Candidate Candidates for the two Committee members" (that is, the Central Committee, the Central Committee and the Central Discipline Inspection Commission) before the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China. Yi Gang, who presided over the deputy governor of daily work, and Pan Gongsheng, a member of the Party Committee and Vice President of the Central Bank, ranked among the list of members of the Central Committee and the Central Committee of the Central Committee.

The next story is that there are two 19th central alternate members in the central bank starting in March 2018. Guo Shuqing, secretary of the central bank party committee, is not only a member of the 19th Central Committee, but also has been re -elected for two central members.

Time quickly passed for 5 years. At the 20th National Congress of the Communist Party of China held in October last year, the head of the Central Financial Systems delegation was Guo Shuqing, the deputy head of the deputy group, Yi Gang, and Yi Hui Man.

The development of the incident is enough to prove that this Pan Gongsheng has been the successor of the leader of the central bank that has been cultivated by the CCP authorities at least 5 years ago. According to this analysis, he is now appointed by the party as the Party Secretary of the Central Bank, and he may take over the administrative leader of the central bank in the future.

However, after the results of the "Election" of the 20th Congress of the Congress last year, people discovered that Pan Gongsheng, who was born in July 1963, was not only promoted to the central committee members, and even the central alternate members were not arranged for re-election.

Since then, the author himself once thought that Pan Gongsheng's possibility of promotion at the central bank system was unlikely. From this perspective, Pan Gongsheng is suddenly announced as the secretary of the Central Bank of the Party Committee, which can be said to be surprising. It is simply "salted fish turn over".

The reason for this "accident" was that it was originally a "accident" that Pan Gongsheng failed to enter the Central Committee at the 20th National Congress of October last year. A "accident" that surprised the Chinese Communist Party's decision-making layer at the time but could not be remedied.

Before the 20th National Congress of the Communist Party of China was held, the central bank's Pan Gongsheng and Yi Gang and Guo Shuqing successfully entered the 20th National Congress of the Central Financial Institution. Among them, only Pan Gongsheng's name entered the 20th Central Committee members' "Candidate Suggestion List".

After the 20th National Congress, Xinhua News Agency issued a special article: During the conference, the delegations were pre-selected by the "two committees" candidates in a differential election method. Nominated 222 candidates for the 20th Central Committee, with 17 differences and 205 elected, with a difference of 8.3%. Nominated 188 candidates for the Central Committee, 17 differences, and 171 were elected, with a difference of 9.9%. Nominated 144 candidates for the Central Commission for Discipline Inspection, 11 differences, and 133 were elected, with a difference of 8.3%.

And Pan Gongsheng is one of the 17 candidates of the 20th Central Committee of the 20th Central Committee.

However, in the election of the Party Congress from the Central Committee to the local party, almost none of the candidates who were dropped by the difference were less than half of the votes, but because of the premise of too few differences, most of them were "elected". It is a high ticket and even a full votes, so often the person who is unfortunately entered the difference list actually lost tickets to dozens of votes.

Specifically, Pan Gongsheng himself, the first one may be that there are too many tickets in this delegation, that is, there are too many tickets in the central financial delegation. During the election of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China, a candidate's votes in his delegation were very critical. However, the central financial delegation is very small, with only 44 representatives, so even if these 44 representatives are drawn in Pan Gongsheng's name, some representatives in other delegations need to be intentionally or unintentionally or unintentionally or unintentional. Pan Gongsheng's name was drawn.

Speaking of it, no one believes that even the senior officials of the Communist Party of China did not expect in advance that a large part of the 20th National Congress represents the "democratic rights" and actually perfunctory things. From the first to the lower sequence, 205 are selected on the votes, so the 17 candidates ranked 206 and after the votes were sorry. Who asked you to be born in a family with too many surnames?

In this way, Pan Gongsheng, who ranked last in the "Twenty Central Committee Candidate Candidate Suggestion List". Analyze the content in detail, and keep the next article in this column to continue.(This episode is chaired and broadcast by high -tech)(The article only represents the personal position and point of view of the special commentator)

Russia's Deputy Prime Minister Novak announced that Russia will reduce production of 500,000 barrels of crude oil per day in August.

Reuters reported that Alexander Novak issued a statement on Monday (July 3) saying: "In order to ensure that the oil market is balanced, Russia will voluntarily reduce the supply of 500,000 barrels of oil every day in August."

Analysis pointed out that this is another move to promote the rise in oil prices in the world.

The Russian Ministry of Finance said on Monday that the average price of Russian Ural crude oil in June was $ 55.28 per barrel (about S $ 74.75), which was 31.97 US dollars less than $ 87.25 in the same period in 2022. In addition, the average price of $ 55.28 was lower than that of the West Set the upper limit of the price.

Novak's spokesman refused to disclose whether Russia's crude oil production would also decrease at the same amount.

In March of this year, Russia decided to reduce production of 500,000 barrels of oil per day on the basis of February. After that, it was decided to be extended to June and then extended to the end of the year. This new decision is to reduce export volume rather than output.

Igor Sechin, head of Russian Energy Giant Rosneft, said that Russia was losing to other oil alliances+(OPEC+) countries in June that Russian crude oil production was small. Xie Qin pointed out that some crude oil exports of some oil alliances+countries are as high as 90%of its output, while Russia only supplies the global market with half of its output.

A person familiar with the matter revealed that the Myanmar military government will listen to the democratic leader Weng Shan Shuzhi this week's appeal to the two convictions to reduce the 33 -year prison sentence of the military government under the series of allegations.

Reuters reported that insiders on Monday (July 3) said that the Supreme Court has announced that it will hear the two appeals against Wengshan Shuzhi violating the official confidentiality law and election fraud. In view of the sensitivity to the two cases of Wengshan Shuzhi cases, insiders added that the court may only make a final decision for two months.

The 78 -year -old election government led by Weng Shan Shuzhi was overthrown in the military coup in February 2021. She was imprisoned by the Burmese army and faced a series of control.

The Burmese government spokesman has not responded to this.

The Burmese military insisted that Weng Shan Shuzhi was convicted under the trial of an independent judicial institution and refuted the human rights organization's secret trial or imprisonment of multiple democratic athlete members, and also denied illegal execution of relevant persons.

In June of this year, Angeshan Shuzhi's younger son Aris has publicly called on the Burmese Army to release his mother and urge the international community to increase pressure on the military. Aris claims that the Burmese army has never provided him with news, nor did she reveal her physical condition. He had asked for help from the Burmese Embassy, the British Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the International Red Cross, but everyone was powerless.

Britain encountered the hottest weather in the history in June. The British National Meteorological Administration warned that the artificial climate change is making high temperature weather more frequent.

Reuters reports that the British Meteorological Administration said on Monday (July 3) that the average temperature in June was 15.8 degrees Celsius, the highest record in the past 140 years, and exceeded the record of 14.9 degrees Celsius created in 1940 and 1976.

In 2022, Britain also set the hottest day in history. The temperature exceeded the 40 -degree Celsius mark for the first time, causing the interruption of infrastructure such as airports and railways, and triggered wildfires.

The British Meteorological Administration described the latest record as a "fingerprint with climate change", saying that a study of meteorological experts found that since 1940, the UK has ushered in the average temperature of more than 14.9 degrees Celsius each year since 1940.

Pauldavies, chief researcher at the British Meteorological Administration's climate extreme event, said: "In addition to natural changes, climate change caused by humans has caused the earth's atmosphere to warmer, and it also increases the possibility of creating a record high temperature."

Earlier this month, British Water Supply Merchants Southeast Water Co., Ltd. launched a temporary ban in Kent, Kent, England, and Sussex. Use a water pipe and sprinkler.

The British Meteorological Administration also said that marine heat waves that affect North Atlantic also played a potential role in improving British land temperature, saying that the rainfall in June was only 68% of the average level.
