In addition, according to these experts such as Liu Yuanchun, Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, the unemployment rate of young people in China is more than 20%, and It will continue to deteriorate. Hong Kong Police Hanging Million Wanted Eight Social Transporters, Luo Guancong was worried about the threat of security

Democrats who fled in Hong Kong told the BBC that his personal safety would become more dangerous because the authorities wanted to want to want to want to want to want to want to want.

Nathan Law, who is currently living in the UK, is one of the eight exile people wanted by the Hong Kong police.

The Hong Kong authorities rewarded HK $ 1 million (about 100,581 pounds; $ 127,637), collecting information that can lead to their arrest.

Luo Guancong said that due to the existence of a reward, he needs to "be more careful" in revealing his whereabouts.

These eight targeted activities were accused of collusion with foreign forces - this is a crime that may be sentenced to life imprisonment. After large -scale democratic protests in 2019, Hong Kong implemented a severe national security law three years ago. This crime is a crime under the National Security Law.

British Foreign Minister James Cleverly said that Britain "will not tolerate any intention to intimidate and sorrow in Britain and overseas individuals."

He said in a statement: "We call on Beijing to revoke the National Security Law and call on the Hong Kong authorities to stop those who maintain freedom and democracy."

Under the National Security Law, hundreds of democratic activities were arrested and convicted in Hong Kong.

Beijing has stated that this law is needed to stabilize the city, but critics claim that the law aims to suppress dissidents.

In this announcement, eight people named in the United Kingdom, the United States or Australia -have no extradition treaties between these countries and China.

Li Guihua, General Police Division of the Hong Kong Police, said that the crimes of "harm to Guoan are very serious".

He acknowledged that if they stayed abroad, the Hong Kong police could not arrest them, but said they would not stop law enforcement.

Luo Guancong is one of the main characters in the Hong Kong democracy protest. He said that although he felt that he was in the UK, the situation was "relatively safe", but after the news of the reward was announced, he had to be more cautious.

"Someone may be in the UK -or anywhere -provide some of my information (for Hong Kong authorities). For example, my whereabouts, when I transfer to some countries, they may be able to extradite me, "Luo Guancong said.

"All these may put my life in a dangerous situation. If I don't be careful about seeing or where to go. This makes me have to live a more cautious life."

The Hong Kong Government will re-push the "23": What is the difference between the National Security Law? Luo Guancong posted a post on Twitter, urging others not to cooperate with the authorities in this matter, and said: "We should not limit ourselves, self-examination, intimidation, or living in fear."

Guo Fengyi, an exile activist who was included in the wanted list and the executive director of the "Hong Kong Democratic Commission", also expressed the same view, saying that the purpose of this reward was to threaten her and other activists.

"We are united to fight for our home -Hong Kong's freedom and democracy," she said in a statement.

Liu Zudi, also wanted, told the BBC that the "little pink" people who could encourage overseas to pro -pro -Beijing "small pink" people would attack or harass them on their personal attacks.

Luo Guancong said that in the long run, he is not very worried about his future.

"In the final analysis, I wonder how countries with a strong rule of law system will cooperate or cooperate with the Hong Kong government to extradite any of us among us, because this is obviously a political crime and violates our basic human rights."

Australian Foreign Minister Pennywong said that the Australian government's announcement on the announcement of the reward "deeply disappointed" and said that Australia "still pays attention to the continued erosion of Hong Kong's human rights, freedom, and autonomy."

The other five in this reward list were Xu Zhifeng, Guo Rongzhang, Meng Zhanda, Yuan Gongyi, and Ren Jianfeng.

Voice of Germany: What is the purpose of your trip to Taiwan?

Karamal: Although this is the first time I visited Taiwan as the Secretary - General of the International Inneure Organization (Identnial), the relationship between the international amnesty and Taiwan has a long history. During the period of Taiwan's dictatorship, international amnesty was committed to assisting with conscience. During this interview, during this interview, during the interview, I also saw two of them -Chen Qinsheng and Chen Ju, chairman of the Taiwan National Human Rights Committee.

No matter where I go, everyone will mention this long -term relationship and the efforts of international amnesty in democracy and human rights.

Therefore, some of the reasons for my visit is to rebuild these relationships and pay special attention to the continuous work of the International Amnesty Taiwan Branch, because it is not only one of the most successful branches of the International Amnesty Organization in the region and even globally globally. Essence As a national entity, it has indeed achieved extraordinary achievements. Therefore, I am very eager to meet with members, staff, and directors in Taiwan in Taiwan to understand their work and see what our other members have.

This is the first reason I came here, but there are other why it may not be very good. I come here to evaluate the progress of the Taiwan government in terms of human rights and practical human rights conventions, and it is also to explore and understand the impact of increasingly intensified international tensions, especially the tension in the United States and China on the protection of human rights in Taiwan for human rights. Impact, but not only this.

Taiwan is indeed at the front line of the international system reorganization and the conflict between China and the United States. Last year, Russia's invasion of Ukraine had exacerbated this conflict. Therefore, this visit also wants to know how to deal with the increasingly tense situation and how we should respond to ensure that human rights are protected anyway.

Voice of Germany: What do you find about the impact of the geopolitical tensions of the China and the United States in the Taiwan Strait?

Karamal: Well, of course, I think there are many impacts, such as resources, fear, fake messages and other aspects. All this makes the protection of human rights, on the one hand, it is particularly critical and important, and on the other hand, it may be reduced to a victim in the tension.

Taking false information as an example, any researchers around the world will tell you that Taiwan is the first victim of the fake information. In terms of human rights and democracy, the people of Taiwan are the targets of fake information. The purpose of these false information is to instill fear, so that people believe that human rights are unhelpful, human rights have no effect, human rights cannot protect the people, and the Taiwanese government cannot protect the people of Taiwan. This level of false information is already a form of infringement of human rights, making it more difficult to advocate human rights protection and human rights education. However, this also highlights how important international human rights organizations such as INENE Organizations are investing in Taiwan can ensure how much protection of Taiwanese people understand human rights and know how much protection of human rights conventions, human rights operations, and human rights and justice can bring them.

Another example is the fear of military intervention, which makes people feel strong uncertainty and fear that something will happen to themselves or children. Creating such an environment itself is already infringing the rights of Taiwanese. Of course, no matter whether it is public or direct, any form of military operations will constitute a major human rights violation of the people of Taiwan.

We haven't reached that step, but what I want to express is that even in the current environment, the severity of false information, (Taiwan Strait) militaryization and human rights politics need to be specially considered to consider how to safeguard human rights.

On the eve of June 29, Karamar accepted an exclusive interview with the Voice of Germany at the International Amnesty Organization Taiwan Branch.

Voice of Germany: When I talked with your Taipei team earlier, I learned that you met with Taiwanese officials and citizen groups. Who is particularly impressive? After seeing them, do you think Taiwan is ready to face the impact you mentioned just now?

Karamal: Everyone I met was impressive. Of course, because I have a human rights background, I am particularly moved by those who are struggling with the rights of myself or others.

When I met some people who were illegally detained because of free expressions in Taiwan, or in China, or in China. They have resistance, and their wives and family also have resistance, which is impressive. I also met the prisoner, including Mr. Qiu and Mr. Wang (referring to Qiu Heshun and Wang Xinfu). Their philosophy of life is also impressive. It can teach us what it looks like to continue to live in the fear of being executed, but they are again Being able to discover beauty in simple things in life and prepare for your own life.

I also met the person in charge of the National Human Rights Commission (Chen Ju). She was a conscience and a victim of torture. International amnesty had assisted the rescue when she was detained. Her determination to protect human rights is impressive, even if some rights were deprived when she was young.

Politicians in Taiwan are all in a very complicated environment. Taiwan's unique international status allows them to continue to weigh between various priority matters and issues. Although I do not always agree with the road that Taiwan chooses, I never doubt that they are committed to ensuring human rights as much as possible, so this visit to Taiwan brought me huge hope.

Over the years, although Taiwan has not affiliated to the United Nations -this position has been given to China in the past, Taiwan has found its method of implementing the human rights agenda. The Taiwan government and the civic society jointly designed and practiced a very creative system, which shows that their commitments to international standards and their willingness to accept external evaluation commitments based on these standards. They are copying special mechanisms and procedures for the existing human rights system in a more effective way. This is something that must be particularly emphasized, and I personally inspire a lot.

Five international conventions have been included in Taiwan's domestic regulations and systems. These five conventions are supervised by international experts who visit Taiwan on a regular basis. After they issued a review report, the Taiwan government will evaluate the report and promise to implement regulations in accordance with the recommendations. This is a virtuous circle, and it is very rare in terms of human rights and must be prominent; this is a great achievement in Taiwan.

One of the tasks I visited actually told Taiwan: You have done so much, but you can do more. In terms of the "Torture Convention" and "Refugee Convention", Taiwan can do more and incorporate these conventions into domestic law. Therefore, all kinds of talks I held here are to emphasize to the Taiwan government that they have established a road, and this path should be linear, which means that there is only one direction in advance, that is, to continue to localize these international obligations And implement it.

Voice of Germany: Let's talk about the recent incidents of international amnesty organizations. In May this year, International Amnesty Organization said that there were Uygur students who disappeared at the Hong Kong airport, but found that this is not the facts Essence This incident seriously damaged the reputation of your organization. I want to ask what happened. How will your organization rebuild the trust of the outside world?

Karamal: There are a few words in your questions that are not correct, so I correct me a little bit. Traditionally, international amnesty organizations are committed to helping people who are in danger of life due to being imprisoned, missing or illegally detained. When this person disappeared 3 weeks later, "I don't want you to speak on behalf of me." At this time, we will stop because our basic principles are to obtain consent and do not cause damage. Therefore, when some people say that we do not want us to speak on their behalf, we do not want us to initiate and publicize the case, then we must definitely follow their instructions immediately, and we do this too. After 3 weeks of disappearance, this person asked us not to do anything, and we stopped action. This approach has practiced the key principles and standards of our investigation, that is, does not cause damage, and takes into account consent and accuracy. In my opinion, this is the key message that the outside world should know from this.

Voice of Germany: But the information received by the public is that your organization said that he disappeared at the Hong Kong airport, but found that he did not go to the airport at all. So is this in terms of accuracy —

Karamal: There are different explanations to the incident. In my opinion, as a reporter who should avoid damage, you should adhere to the "The Do NO Harmprinciple". We should not talk about the student's situation because this may make the situation worse. This is our bottom line. This is not what happened and nothing happened. The question is to how much we receive the current consent to talk about this? We did not agree to talk about this. In addition, if we continue to talk about this, to what extent will it hurt? There will be a lot of damage, so we no longer talk about this. This is the position of the International Amnesty Organization as a human rights organization.

Voice of Germany: Okay. So what you mean is that your organization stops this project because he does not agree with consent?

Karamal: Yes, this is the most important key.

Voice of Germany: Why did this information not mentioned in the more corrected statement of your organization?

Karamal: What information?

Voice of Germany: Nothing to agree.

Karamal: Yes, this is the key principle. I don't need to repeat things that have been disclosed. I am supplementing the information for you: The working principle of the International Amnesty Organization is "no harm" and "obtaining consent." In the case of these two principles, we immediately take action and ensure that we do not cause harm; if (the parties) withdraw from consent, we must also withdraw any related actions. That's it.

Voice of Germany: Okay. I see. What about Beijing? When your organization issued other in-depth investigations on Xinjiang Uyghur ethnic minorities in the future, the Chinese government may refute you with this incident. How will you deal with it?

Karamal: I am very resolutely committed to continuing the work we have done. Regarding the International Amnesty Organization, the Chinese government has proposed too many allegations, no matter what they say now, it is nothing new. We and other organizations have published an exquisite research on China to treat Uighurs. China's approach is equivalent to anti-human crimes, but China has not yet proposed any accurate and effective refutation information.

China will put forward various allegations on anyone, for international amnesty organizations, as well as the Taiwan government, as long as we dare to doubt their human rights issues. No matter where we are, China and Russia have accusations about us, and Israel accuses us of anti-Skilk because we publish racial isolation reports. This is the script of all dictatorship, we are used to it. We know how to deal with it, and we will continue to adhere to our working principles and the commitment to maintain human rights.

Voice of Germany: Do you personally think that the incident has damaged the reputation of the International Amnesty Organization?

Karamal: I don't know which event you are talking about. But no, I don't think (I think) people from this area understand that this incident does not have any impact (for the organization).

After the "Hong Kong National Security Law" passed, the International Amnesty Organization announced at the end of 2021 that two local branches were closed.

Voice of Germany: Some people on the Internet have accused the International Amnesty Organization as a "anti-China organization" to maintain human rights and act as a non-governmental organization in Western political instruments. How do you respond to these remarks?

Karamal: As I just said, we suffered a lot of allegations. Whenever we emphasize that a country has human rights issues, the government and supporters of the country usually accuse us of opposition to the country Essence We criticized Ethiopia to commit anti-human crimes in Tigray's conflict, and was criticized against Ethiopia; when we talked about Israel's treatment with Palestinians, we were accused of anti -Jewie. We have also been accused by the US government for pointing out human rights violations. Therefore, China's accusations of our authority are consistent with the usefulness of authoritarian leaders, that is, trying to shift the focus to avoid their own human rights violations.

International human rights are neither West, east, nor Latin America, nor Africa. It is a universal standard. Most people in the world, and even governments of various countries gather together. It is the basis for the relationship between the government and the people, and it is a way to ensure that individual rights are exempted from the infringement of government rights. Rights are naturally held by us. As long as you are an individual, you have the right to. Chinese people have human rights, Taiwanese have human rights, and French people also have human rights (compiled by: Karamal is French).

I will describe it so much that in a series of tensions such as the Chinese government and the United States, and in the battle between the global superpowers, human rights have become one of the instruments of this conflict. The U.S. government is allegedly advocating political, citizenship and democracy, while China advocates (economic) development, national sovereignty and economic rights. In fact, the position of the International Amnesty Organization is that we do not choose the side station in this conflict. We are still quite fair. What we want to express is that human rights are inseparable, and citizenship, political power, economic power, social power, and cultural rights are part of our birth and must be protected equally. They are abused and misused by Chinese governments and other countries, do not mean that they belong to another country or government. We must safeguard human rights around the world, including China, and resist China when necessary.

Voice of Germany: Do you have to take action to fight against the accusations of China?

Karamal: At any time, I mean, this is always the case. For example, when China accuses us of inclined to the West in terms of human rights advocacy, we can usually do two things -the first thing is to show that as a human rights organization, international amnesty organizations also pay attention to the United States, China, Russia, Mali, etc. A series of countries.

The second thing is that we have just released a report on global human rights. Among them, we pointed out that Western countries have made double standards, because they look at the Ukraine conflict priority than many other conflicts and fail to maintain from a global perspective to maintain human rights. When they realize their vision, they actually discharge the order of high and low. We did not hesitate to point out the weakness, limitations or violations of the so -called western countries. So I can say that we often do this without any justice. This is what must be done. We resolutely condemn the Chinese authorities that have repeatedly violated the freedom of speech. We have prepared and will continue to condemn the Chinese government to perform the death penalty, infringe the right of strikes of the people, and infringe on the people's assembly rights. The Chinese authorities have committed a variety of human rights violations, some in terms of citizenship, politics, and economic, social, and cultural aspects. No matter what China does to us, we will continue to condemn them.

I can guarantee you that we are a global (initiative) movement, and we have everything to resist Chinese fake messages.

Voice of Germany: You mentioned at the Oslo Freedom Forum last year that many Western countries did not publicly condemn Russia's invasion of Ukraine, and once said that "neutrality is not an option." If China really invaded Taiwan, do you think the Western world will be more difficult to form a united front?

Karamal: Listen, I will not start to predict what China may do and won't do anything. When a government -no matter which government -the key principles that violate the "United Nations Charter" and the formation of the formation and governance methods of the international community, and infringe on human rights, "neutrality" cannot exist.

Ukrainian counterattack is stalemate

I said a year ago that it is still clearly expressed that it is not an option to take a neutral attitude towards Russia's invasion of Ukraine. Governments of various countries, governments including Africa, Latin America, and Asia, should be with Ukraine, because Ukraine's territory is invaded, the country is completely violated, and the people are killed. (Russia) committed many sins of war. So yes, neutrality is impossible.

In the face of other large -scale human rights, it is also impossible to maintain neutrality. For example, the Myanmar government has done what local people and ethnic minorities do; dozens of people have been imprisoned in Egypt or Saudi Arabia because of freely. So no matter where these infringements happen, we must resolutely oppose it.

Voice of Germany: Do you think the situation of "neutrality" is also applicable to the tension of the Taiwan Strait?

Karamal: As long as there is a large -scale violation of human rights anywhere, neutrality is not an option. It's not advisable.

Voice of Germany: Do you think the Western world is paying attention to Taiwan? Is Western countries paying attention to the situation between China and Taiwan, and possible human rights disasters?

Karamar: There is no doubt that the world is paying attention to what is happening in Taiwan, including organizations like us. As I said, one of the reasons for my trip is precisely because Taiwan is in the increasingly intensified frontline of international tensions. Therefore, we need to understand how to protect human rights in such a complex background. In the end, the people of Taiwan decide where they want to go. Therefore, from the perspective of international amnesty organizations, we will put forward a position based on international law and international conventions related to human rights.

So yes, everyone is paying attention to Taiwan now. We came here to safeguard human rights, because the people and authorities of Taiwan have made great progress in maintaining human rights. We really want to support them to continue to do so, including incorporating international conventions such as the "Torture Convention" into the domestic law. This is the basic principle of the international human rights system, but has not been well included in Taiwan's domestic system. Therefore, one of the key messages I want to bring in this trip is that (Taiwan) should not waste time. This is very important, which is part of Taiwan's commitment to international human rights.

Voice of Germany: As you mentioned, you encountered some death prisoners in Taiwan. According to your organization, China is the most active country in the world in the world ; In Taiwan, although the government has a gradual abolition of the death penalty, the public support rate of the public is actually as high as China. What's your opinion?

Karamal: I regret that the people of Taiwan have not opposed the death penalty. The death penalty is the ultimate form of punishment. It is inhumane and humiliated. In some cases, it may be equivalent to torture.

Before joining the International Amnesty Organization, I served as a special reporter who was arbitrarily executed by (the United Nations). The death penalty is part of the scope of my responsibility, and I have received a lot of information about the case of death penalty. I can assure you that none of the cases of death sentences are in line with the principles of fair trials from the United States to Saudi Arabia, Taiwan or China. In other words, when people are sentenced to death, they have become victims under infringement, such as the pipelines of the lawyer, and what I am talking about now is just the situation in the Western or democratic countries.

In 2020, the International Amnesty Organization protested by the French government through the Global Security Law, which plans to imitate China to use face recognition monitoring technology in the public field.

These people (referring to the death penalty) may have the opportunity to contact a lawyer after being sued for a long time; it may also vomit information or confession under torture or abuse; they may not speak the language or even communicate with the police because there are often there is often, there are often there is, there are often, there are often, there are often, there are often, there are often there is, there are often there is a way A large number of victims of the death penalty are migrant; many of them may be poor. Among the death penalty victims around the world, the largest number of people is extremely poor and the most vulnerable group.

There is really no fairness to say that the death penalty. In the end, it is just unacceptable that it is arbitrarily deprived of life. Therefore, regardless of the standpoint of the Taiwanese people, the position of our organization is that we will continue to advocate opposition to the death penalty; we will continue to educate people to understand the truth of the death penalty; we will also call on the authorities to decisively (abolishment) than the present.

Many people around the world believe that the death penalty is meaningful, not only Taiwanese and Chinese, but this belief is actually ubiquitous. Even in countries that have abolished the death penalty, especially those who have just been abolished, you will find that many people still think that the death penalty has its meaning -the fact is not the case, and the death penalty is the opposite of justice -but the governments of these countries are still brave Tell the people, you see, we will implement (abolition) operation, we will convince you and educate you, we will prove that the death penalty is a kind of violation of human rights.

We must continue this trend now. This trend is that the number of (countries) who have abolished the death penalty far more than those who have not been abolished. Every year, more countries abolish the death penalty, and more countries are de facto or legal to suspend the death penalty. Currently in Taiwan, (the death penalty) has been suspended in essence. We call on the authorities to continue this substantial suspension and turn to legal suspension, and eventually move towards abandonment. At the same time, in some cases, the president can take action through amnesty. We call on President Tsai to at least forgive Mr. Qiu and Mr. Wang (referring to Qiu Heshun and Wang Xinfu). Both of them should be released.

Voice of Germany: According to your experience in studying the death penalty around the world, do you think it is a feasible way to gradually abolish the death penalty?

Karamal: Listen, we don't know, you know, of course, international amnesty firmly advocates completely abolishing the death penalty. This is our ultimate goal. However, we are also pragmatic and realize the importance of gradually abolishing the death penalty and gradually performing human rights obligations. When we involve the death penalty, we are using a gradual method. For example, the first step is to be executed for children or disabled; the second step should not be performed in crimes related to drugs, or the death penalty of the death penalty according to international law should not lead to the death penalty. Therefore, we certainly support this pragmatic method against the death penalty, but our ultimate goal is to achieve a comprehensive abolition of the death penalty.Karamal: This is quite outstanding. As I said, Taiwan is on a good road in terms of human rights protection. This must continue and independent of what is happening (referring to the potential conflict of the Taiwan Strait). In this international background, the best response is to put attention to the full implementation of international human rights.

Taiwan's right to do in LGBTQI's rights is amazing Essence Of course, we must congratulate the Taiwan authorities through this legislation. Of course, you can do more. What else can you do?

At present, there is a problem with the equality bill, that is, it excludes one of the partners from Chinese nationality Essence We understand the sensitivity of (cross -strait) issues, but we insist that this has created a discriminatory aspect -frankly, this can even be said to be a bit ridiculous, because if you are a heterosexual couple, there will be no such way to have these question. Why are this regulation imposed between same -sex partners? This is completely unreasonable. This is to make discrimination, and it does violate basic human rights standards. Therefore, we call on the authorities to review this specific clause and ensure that their spouses including Chinese citizens should be recognized by the Taiwan government. This is an example that can be adopted and should be taken immediately.

524, we are married!

Another problem is that those who need to change their legal gender identity must be underplayed by surgery. The position of international amnesty is that the mandatoryness in this specification is very problematic, it violates people's autonomy and the right to retain physical integrity. Of course, if individuals want to do such surgery, we welcomes and agree with this. However, when the surgery becomes compulsory, it is actually authorized the state to make a decision for "things that should not be determined by the state". When it involves physical integrity, it should be determined by individuals. Therefore, on this issue, we also call on the authorities to cancel the provisions of gender identity through mandatory surgery.

Voice of Germany: What else do you want to add to this visit?

Karamal: The key information brought to me this time is that Taiwan is a vibrant civil society. It has vibrant intellectuals. People are also committed to ensuring that Taiwan's human rights issues in this region play a leading role. At present, Taiwan has also done this in specific fields, including integration and the implementation of the five major international human rights conventions in China to pass international and expert review. In terms of LGBTQI rights, Taiwan has also made great progress, and many public and politicians have a clear commitment to human rights.

However, there are still some issues and themes that have not received the attention. Some of my visiting parts are also to focus on these issues, such as refugee issues. I once said that the Taiwan government actually signed the Refugee Convention before the membership of the United Nations membership was transferred to China, but so far, this contract has not been implemented (in Taiwan). The refugees who are sheltered will live in a state of lack of human rights and uncertainty.

Therefore, one of the main goals of my task this week is to ensure that Taiwan has the necessary legal framework to protect these refugees, so as not to drive them back. This includes seeking from Hong Kong, China, and other places from Syria, Uganda and other places. Shelter. For me, this is a blind spot for the Taiwan authorities and must be resolved.

In addition, the Taiwan authorities must also find methods to balance climate justice, indigenous people's rights and migrant rights. 12% of Taiwan's labor is from outside Taiwan, and the proportion is quite high. These workers must be completely protected by labor law. I sincerely admire the achievements that (Taiwan) has achieved here. At the same time, the international amnesty is also willing to give more support, so that Taiwan will continue to move in the direction of comprehensive human rights protection.

Voice of Germany: Thank you again for your interview, and thank you for your answer.

Reading in one minute:

Recently, a Tesla president Elonmusk said that "the United States cannot defeat China, even elementary school students know" Chinese subtitles videos on Weibo, Twitter, YouTube, Bilibili (station) and other social media platforms The forwarder includes Jin Canrong, an official account of the "Communication Media" of Zhongtong News Agency, and the "experts of" international relations "in China.

After the Asian facts check the laboratory verification, the short video screen is a speech at the event of Musk's participation in the US Air Force Association in 2020, but the originally about an hour of conversation was compiled into 25 seconds. There are many errors and no mistakes in Chinese title and subtitles. The accurate translation, including the disclosure, did not ask the subtitles "how the United States defeated China", and Musk did not answer "the United States cannot defeat China."

Deep analysis:

Jin Canrong, a professor at the School of International Relations, who has 2.65 million fans on Weibo, shared a short video on June 13, titled "Musk: The United States cannot defeat China, even elementary school students know." As of the 26th, the video has been watched more than 330,000.

The time of Jin Canrong's post on Weibo was displayed at 11:02 on June 13. Immediately, the "General Media" of Zhongtong News Agency released the short video at Twitter at 11:33 on the same day. Jining Daily also released the same video at station B at 11:43.

Jin Canrong, a well -known international relations expert in China(right), "The Communication Media" under Zhongtong News Agency(left)On June 13th, he posted a post on a social media, saying that Tesla president Musk said that "the United States cannot defeat China." (Picture from Weibo, Twitter) The picture of this video was part of Musk's seminar hosted by the U.S. Air Force Association in February 2020 and talked with the U.S. Air Force Johnthomapson. This interview lasted for an hour, and the short video circulating on the social media cut a 25 -second picture from it. Musk's words were interrupted and stitched, and there were many translation errors with Chinese subtitles.

Asian facts search the laboratory searched in words such as "Musk" and "American Air Force Association", and found that since 2020, there have been many related reports and discussions. Jin Canrong and Tong Media did not explain why they shared the old information at this time, but as far as the post was published, it was related to Musk's visit to China at the end of May.

General U.S. military general asked Musk?

The Chinese subtitles below the video wrote, "The U.S. military convened a meeting to deal with China's increasing military threats. At the meeting, the U.S. General John Thompson asked Musk to ask Musk: How can the United States defeat China?"

In fact, this is the "Annual Air Battle Seminar" of the American Air Force Association, which is not a conference held in response to the threat of Chinese military. Thompson has stated at the beginning that the discussion on the same day focused on "innovation" and how to make the Air Force the most defense department the most. Innovative unit. As for Thompson's question about US -China relations, it is not "how the United States defeats China" written by subtitles.

At 47 minutes and 12 seconds in the full video, Thompson asked Musk that he had any ideas to share with the US -China or military competition between the United States and China.

The host of the conference and General U.S. Army Thompson explained that the theme of discussion on the day was innovation. (Figure cut from DVIDS website) [!\[\]!\(Images/rfamandarin/2023-07-04T10-19-00-04-00/000005.png\)](#) How did Musk answer?

The subtitle explanation below the video said: "Musk said in a calm and firm tone: 'the United States cannot defeat China '."

When Musk spoke, the Chinese translation in the video was: "If the United States wants to defeat China by military, the United States must overcome the huge gap between the Chinese and American economies. If the United States does not have innovative ways, the United States will lose. If the United States has always been unreasonable, the United States can only be the second child in the United States. This is the truth that even elementary school students understand. What surprised Americans is that China's economy is two or three times that of the United States, at least two have been two, at least two have been two, at least two have already been two. More than , I believe that people with common sense know that the foundation of war is economy. "

The bottom line and body in the previous quotation are added by the Laboratory of the Asian facts. This is two wrong translations. First, Musk did not say, "The Chinese economy is two or three times that of the United States, at least twice as much". What he said is the future tense, that is, "the Chinese economy will be two or three times that of the US economy. At least twice.

Secondly, Musk did not say, "If the United States wants to defeat China for military", he said: "In order to make the United States competitive in military." In addition, the translation of "if the United States has always been thinking for progress" is inaccurate, Musk's original text is: "If there is no fundamental innovation"

What's more important is that in this question and answer on the American and Chinese competition, Musk did not say that Chinese subtitles emphasized: "The United States cannot defeat China."

Musk called on the United States to maintain an innovative advantage in conclusion:

In this discussion on innovation, Musk is emphasizing the importance of scientific and technological innovation in comprehensive national strength and calling on the United States to maintain innovation advantages. The original intention of Ske and the talks misleads the audience.

Hong Kong Chief Executive Li Jiachao Agence France-Presse Picture Audio-Link: https://www.rfa.org/mandarin/yataibaodao/gangtai/gf-07042023074708.html/@@stream The Hong Kong Police National Security Department recently wanted eight democratic people overseas on the grounds of suspected violation of the National Security Law of the Hong Kong

District. Some comments believe that the authorities issue a wanted order with a high attitude.

Hong Kong rewards, wanted overseas dissidents, American criticism is a dangerous precedent The third anniversary of the National Security Law Hong Kong wanted 8 people in the name of "endangering national security" The eight Hong Kong people who have been fled overseas and are suspected of endangering national security include three former Legislative Council members Xu Zhifeng, Luo Guancong, and Guo Rongzheng. The eight were wanted by the Hong Kong Police State Security Department. Hong Kong Chief Executive Li Jiachao said on July 4 that the Hong Kong government will hunt for life. The wanted person to end the wanted career, there is only one way to surrender.

Tang Jiazen, a member of the Hong Kong Executive Council and a senior barrister, acknowledged that it was difficult for the Hong Kong government to request a foreign government to extradite people who were suspected of violating the National Security Law of the Hong Kong District to return to Hong Kong.

Tang Jiazheng: "All national security crimes, not only Hong Kong, China, and countries in the world are the same. They are political crimes. According to the guidelines of the United Nations and Hong Kong law, the transfer of suspects is not applicable. It is not applicable. Because the basic principles of our law have never changed, they cannot be required to be transferred to some politicians. Regardless of whether he committed a political crime or a political crime."

The legal profession and the time critic Samp believe that the eight -person wanted order of the National Security Department of the Hong Kong Police seemed to be very casual, in order to scare overseas Hong Kong people.

Sanpu: "It (Hong Kong Government) has not stated that the eight people are wanted for what specific reasons. The purpose of its (wanted order) is not aimed at those eight people, but for many surrounding people who engage in proposal human rights and community building work. People, both in Taiwan or the United Kingdom, the United States, Canada, Australia (Australia), "are there."

Time Critics Sanpu said that the eight -person wanted order of the Hong Kong Government was aimed at scaring people from foreign Hong Kong people. (Sanpu is exclusively provided, the shooting date is unknown) Several Congress of the United States sent a letter to the Secretary of State

Brill in last month, asking Washington not to invite Hong Kong Chief Executive Li Jiachao to attend the Asia -Pacific Economic Cooperation Organization (APEC) summit in November in San Francisco. Sanpu estimates that the Hong Kong government hopes to take the opportunity to test the bottom line of the United States.

Sanpu: "It is a difficult way to force the United States to express the attitude of the United States in a more tough way. It is critical to get the United States into a problem to invite Li Jiachao to the United States. It is critical to respond to this matter in the United States."

Eight wanted Hong Kong people are in the United States, Britain, Australia and other countries. Wang Xinli, a researcher at the Chinese Chinese Strategic Foreign Prospective Society, believes that once they leave the country, there will be variables in safety.

Wang Xinli: "The safety of eight people should be indifferent, but if they move abroad one day, they may ask for arrest when they move abroad to a country with criminal extradition with mainland China or Hong Kong."

Taiwanese scholar Wang Xinzhi (pictured) said that if the eight wanted Hong Kong people left their country, they would have a variable. (Wang Xinli is exclusively provided, the shooting date is unknown) The United States and Britain criticize the Hong Kong police wanted overseas Hong Kong people

The US State Department spokesman condemned the Hong Kong police to want eight overseas Hong Kong people, and believed that it was a precedent for threatening the human rights and basic freedom of the world. British Foreign Minister Clever also said that Britain strongly opposed China to suppress Hong Kong's freedom by the National Security Law. Among the eight people who were wanted, some people were in the UK, which was another example of the influence of legal authority in China.

Scholar Wang Xinzhi estimates that the Hong Kong Government has already taken into account the strong response of the international community's wanted order.

Wang Xinli: "Mainland China or the Hong Kong Government doesn't care about the so -called international sanctions. Their current thinking is 'national security is higher than everything'."

Time reviewers Sanpu said that China's "war wolf diplomacy" is gradually expanding. The Hong Kong government has taken off the packaging of "one country, two systems" and stood on the same line as Beijing. Essence

On the eve of the US Finance Minister Yellen's visit to China, the Chinese Ministry of Commerce announced export control on related substances involving semiconductor materials on the grounds of

"maintaining national security and interests". Some comments believe that China's move is a countermeasure for the US-China trade competition and trying to increase negotiation chips.

China Implementation Export Control of Correals Meiji Magazine to promote economic and trade cooperation, China hopes to withdraw tariffs on the United States

The Chinese Ministry of Commerce issued the "Announcement on Implementing Export Control of Related Items" on July 3rd that according to the relevant provisions of the People's Republic of China Export Control Law, Foreign Trade Law, Customs Law, etc., With the approval of the State Council, it was decided to implement export controls on the relevant items of 镍 and 钰. It will be implemented from August 1.

The announcement pointed out that export operators should go through export permit procedures in accordance with relevant regulations and apply to the Ministry of Commerce through provincial business authorities. The export of objects that have a significant impact on national security, and the Ministry of Commerce was approved by the relevant departments to the State Council. Administrative penalties are given in accordance with the law without permission. Constitute a crime, be held criminally responsible.

On July 3, the Ministry of Commerce of China issued the "Announcement on Implementing Export Control of Related Issues". (Official Website of the Ministry of Commerce) Liu Peizhen, director of the production and economic database of the Taiwan Institute of Economic Research, accepted an interview with Radio Free Asia that China's market proportion in mineral materials is very important, accounting for 83% of global exports.

Experts: US-China scientific and technological warfires affect the global semiconductor supply chain changes

Liu Peizhen said: "In 2022, the part of the cricket is mainly based on Taiwan, Japan, South Korea, the Netherlands, Germany, Malaysia. Carbonized and fourth category of oxidation. The first category is mainly impacted by the substrate industry, and the second category will be affected by related negatives. The second and third categories must be observed closely. The situation requires follow-up observation. At present, the US-China science and technology war still affects the changes in global semiconductor supply chain."

When the Chinese Ministry of Commerce set up a ban on export semiconductor-related materials, it coincided with the eve of the US Treasury

Minister's visit to China. Liu Peizhen analyzed that China began to adopt anti -countermeasures. After visiting the U.S. Secretary of State Brills and met Xi Jinping, the US -China scientific and technological war did not seem to stop.

Liu Peizhen said: "Previously, in July, I am afraid that in July, I am afraid that there will be a further expansion of the AI -related chips in China, which has led China to take stocks that can hold corresponding sanctions and chips related to the United States."

Liu Peizhen analyzed that, in addition to the so -called safety review of Micron's so -called safety review before, this stage has not passed the export control of 钨 and 钷 materials at this stage. The supply chain adds uncertain factors to the complex situation of the global semiconductor industry and the complex situation of competition in the second half of the year.

Taiwan diplomatic officials: improve the level of strategic autonomy

Li Chun, the second director of the Taiwan Foreign Ministry, was asked at a press conference on the 4th on the 4th that the incident may have a shortage in the short term, and the price may be higher. The source of supply, or cooperate with like -minded countries, should improve the situation. In terms of strategies and long -term goals, Taiwan should move towards the level of improvement of strategy.

Su Ziyun, director of the National Institute of Defense Strategy and Resources of Taiwan Defense Safety Research Institute, was interviewed by Radio Free Asia that there are currently some nitride chips of semiconductors. , But the amount is small, it is estimated that if the raw material increases by 10%to 15%, it will affect the total sales profit of less than 1%.

Su Ziyun analyzed: "The annual output value of 年 is only about 3.73 million yuan. Beijing also knows that this ban is symbolic, which has a small impact on the industry. It is only used as a political chip for the seller."

Su Ziyun said: "The amount of 蕪 China accounts for 95%, and the other 5%are distributed in Ukraine, Japan, South Korea, and the United States. Out directly from the mine, it is indeed a absolute majority of China, but why is it unattended? You can also produce by -products from aluminum. "

Rare earth war pre -war, countries have alternative plans

Su Ziyun mentioned that in 2014, China launched a rare earth war, and the industries of various countries were caught off guard. After nine years, it was prepared. Former US President Trump proposed to strengthen the security report of the defense industry chain at the time, and pointed out that some industrial products in China have safety problems, and similar metals such as rare earths, crickets, and 长 have also been monopolized by China, requiring the industry to provide solutions.

Su Ziyun said that there are many sources of alternatives to various countries, including by-products of re-mining, re-aluminum refining, redesigning products to reduce the demand for 长, and strengthen the recycling of rare metals. By.

Su Ziyun also pointed out that according to the statistics of Chinese customs, the export volume of 长 in 2022 was 92 metric tons, and the world's required amount was about 350 to 400 metric tons, of which about 200 metric tons were met from aluminum. China's crickets in the market account for about a quarter of the world's needs, and China has the largest number of underground storage in China, about 190,000 metric tons.

In order to prevent "overseas hostile forces" and online election gambling intervene in the 2024 Taiwan election, the Taiwan Ministry of Legal Affairs sacrificed a prize of up to 20 million yuan. Ministry of Legalism has recently launched a reward measure to prevent the "overseas hostile forces" and online election gambling involved in the 2024 election. Gu Lixiong, Secretary -General of the National Security Council of Taiwan, had previously issued a warning that the Beijing authorities may intervene in the Taiwan presidential election next year.

The Wall Street Journal: China tries to fight for the United States for the upcoming Taiwan election * Lai Qingde: Taiwan's 2024 election is the choice of democracy and autocracy What are the differences between the "peace" in the Taiwan presidential election candidate under the shadow of the war? * Taiwan MAC: China must intervene in 2024 Taiwan election

The Ministry of Legal Affairs in Taiwan revised the "Key Points of Encouraging Election Cases", and explicitly added to report overseas forces, gambling disks involved in the election of the "Case Betting Bonus", of which the maximum of 5 million yuan in the election gambling prize was 5 million yuan(About RMB 1.1 million), Overseas forces reporting bonuses is 20 million yuan(RMB 4.6 million)Essence

The Taiwan media "China Times" quoted officials that the so -called overseas forces were partly incorporated into the scope of the issuance of the "National Security Law" development organization that influenced the election of the National Security Law and the various obstacle elections regulated by the "Reverse Infiltration Law". Therefore, in the future, as long as the "National Security Law" is recognized by the CCP and other overseas hostile forces, the substantive control of the mainland and the Hong Kong and Macao regions, the organization and groups are developing organizations in Taiwan to affect the election in illegal ways; "Instructions, entrustment or funding for political contributions, assistance, bribery, etc., the public can receive bonuses once it breaks the case.

The Ministry of Legal Affairs in Taiwan (pictured) revised the "Protection of Encouraging Election Cases", and explicitly adds to report to the "Cases of Cases" to report overseas forces and intervene in the election.

The KMT legislator Hong Mengkai publicly questioned whether the DPP was manipulating the anti -Chinese insurance platform, and the policy should not be attached to the label. Hong Mengkai believes that the election in 2024 is a joint selection of 23 million people, instead of differentiation with policy tools.

Liu Shifang, the director of the Democratic Progressive Party's Legislative Yuan party, believes that Taiwan is a democratic and rule -of -law society, and the prize money is so high. It is nothing more than reminding that if there is a bribery selection, someone will prevent someone who will come to report. "National Security Law" and reverse osmosis method don't have to worry.

Regarding some media questioning this amendment may "have a chilling effect on Taiwanese businessmen", the Taiwan media "Liberty Times" reported that Taiwan's Supreme Procuratorate instead of the Ministry of Justice stated that normal Taiwanese businessmen on both sides of the strait are involved in the elections if there is no such incompetence. Behavior, it will not constitute a crime, and it will not cause the cicada effect.

Taiwan society follows China Intervention 2024 election

Gu Lixiong, Secretary -General of the National Security Council of Taiwan, warned in March of this March, "In recent years, the CCP's cognition and information control of Taiwan has become more intense. Taiwan will enter the stage of the president and legislators. Large -scale influence operations to interfere with our elections. "He said that in the face of this threat, the government was cautious. Taiwan 's strategic goal is to maintain the peaceful, free, and prosperous lifestyle that to maintain the peace and stability of the Taiwan Strait and ensure that the Chinese people have difficulty getting it.

Reuters disclosed last month that the National Security Report in Taiwan's internal in Taiwan found that one of the internal reports showed that in terms of objects that may receive Chinese benefits, the top positions in the list of high attention of the Taiwan government, including supporting unified uniforms, Small political parties, local people's generations, and temples that communicate with China, etc.; Another report pointed out that Beijing may also provide free Chinese tourism opportunities for Taiwanese participating in campaigns, which locked district chiefs and village chiefs.

The term "35 -year -old curse" has recently appeared in China Network, which has taken the public to express their dissatisfaction with the bottleneck of the workplace. And young people over 35 years of age have encountered age discrimination, not only cannot find a stable job, but it is also difficult to get married and have children. Information of the Associated Press Audio-Link: https://www.rfa.org/mandarin/yataibao/shehui/tj-06302023101959.html/@stream The term "35 -year -old spell" has recently appeared in China Network, and the public has expressed dissatisfaction with the bottleneck of the workplace. And young people over 35 years of age have encountered age discrimination, not only cannot find a stable job, but it is also difficult to get married and have children. Why is there a phenomenon of "35 - year -old spell"?

Chinese youth unemployment rate 20.8% hit a new high * Chinese youth chose to lie down in the third quarter of the third quarter, the number of weddings hit a new low  Chinese women's wedding child selection After the end of China's new crowns and control policies, the economic recovery and recovery of peaceful life have become the public's expectations. However, although the seal -control policy has been lifted, the economic situation has continued to weaken for more than half a year. Not only not only insufficient consumption demand, poor housing market prosperity, but local governments are trapped in debt crisis. At the same time, the unemployment rate of young people has reached a new high in 5 years. According to the official data released in April this year, as many as 20.4% of job seekers from 16 to 24 years old are unemployed.

On the other hand, the "35 -year -old spell" phenomenon in the Chinese job search market has also attracted public opinion. When many companies are recruited, they often stipulate that they only recruit applicants under 35 years old. "35 years old" seems to have become a curse number and become an invisible restrictions on their labor market. The situation of unstable employment has further made it difficult for young people in China to establish business. ****

When overtime becomes an older Chinese age discrimination, it is becoming increasingly deteriorating

Emma, a 39 -year -old youth who lives in China, told reporters in this interview: "In the past 10 years, the Internet industry in the mainland has developed rapidly. However, the Internet industry is often a heavy overtime industry, so they are very old to people. Very discrimination. Including companies that have become rich 10 years ago, like Huawei, I remember that when I just worked, Huawei would regularly cut off the older employees. "

A job seeker talked to a company's recruiters at the Beijing job fair. (Agence France -Presse) Emma said that since 2017 and 2018, China's economic development has stalled, and since then, there has been a "35 -year -old curse" phenomenon: "At that time, the age discrimination of the employment market has gradually begun to become very sharp, each of which Stepping discrimination, for example, you will consider whether you are going to get married and have children. "

Age discrimination makes Chinese young people dare not leave

Mr. Chen, 34, who worked in a Chinese -state -owned enterprise cultural unit in China, told reporters that because he was afraid of re -job hunting, he did not dare to leave even if he did not like his current job: "My job has been maintained for 5 years, this is 5 years, this is for 5 years. This is 5 years. In 5 years, I did not think about going jobs, but on the one hand, because of the epidemic, the employment situation was worse and dare not move easily; on the other hand, it gradually reached the threshold of 35 years old. Seeing that when the company recruits new employees, she basically likes those young people who graduate or just work for a few years. Many friends around me are similar. "

Mr. Chen also told reporters that at the age of 35, he was admitted to the age threshold of civil servants. Therefore, after this age, job seekers will quickly depreciate in the labor market: "Why is 35 years old? Because in China, before 35 years old, you can represent you before 35. Go to the civil servant and enter the system. As a employee, he may have a retreat that you can go to the compilation of ', although it may not be able to pass the test. He immediately lost its price in the employment market. The company also understood, so all kinds of prices. I have a friend who went out to interview outside at this age, and the salary was cut half. "

According to Mr. Chen's analysis, as for his cultural industry, companies prefer young people with good physical strength, instead of paying attention to the experience value of people in their 30s: "As far as my industry is concerned, it is still in the stage of labor -intensive. The 35 -year -old professional knowledge and management experience accumulated by mature talents are not valued at all. Most of the work only requires the accumulation of labor time. Therefore, of course, companies tend to use young people who have just entered the workplace. They can pay more Labor time. "Mr. Chen pointed out that the status of unstable work has also become a hindrance to the establishment of his family in his peers: "Unstable work represents the unstable income and unstable income, and the future expectations will become worse. ","

Worried about age to become a career hinders young people in the United States for job hunting in the United States

Ms. Wang, who was studying in Seattle, USA, also told reporters that because she was worried that Chinese age discrimination would affect her work development, she decided to retain the United States for job hunting: "When I graduated from college, although I was only 22 years old at that time, I have heard that There are many stories of (China) age discrimination. For example, in Internet companies, there will be a 'optimized' over 35 years old, that is, layoffs; and I originally wanted to apply for civil servants and government agencies at the time, but some positions would clearly explain age requirements For example, you cannot exceed 25 or 30 years old. Especially as a woman, I feel that age discrimination is even more serious. Because I do n't want to be bound by this age discrimination, I want to have a healthier workplace environment, so I choose to study in the United States and apply for job hunting. "

Ms. Wang believes that China's current weak economy has led to poor employment situation and the incomplete labor law, which has led to the emergence of age discrimination: "As a great population country, China's labor force is too required. Especially during the epidemic period, economic development is slow, and the labor force is for labor. Little demand is. This kind of supply and demand has led to the lack of basic respect for employment in employment. People over 35 years of age can also be added. In addition, I think the incomplete labor law in China has led to the lack of legal employees. To safeguard its own rights and interests, when discrimination is discriminated, it can often only swallow the voices and promote the atmosphere of age discrimination. "

Job Fair in Zhengzhou, Henan Province (Agence France -Presse) Chinese 35 -year -old youth was informed by the company "no age competitiveness"

Mr. Ge, who works in Hangzhou, Zhejiang, told the station that he was laid off in 2021. Because of his age, he experienced a difficult job search process at the time: "At the end of 21, I had an unemployment experience. At that time When the epidemic began to be closed. The problem I was facing in the job. The first is that my age is not competitive. HR (human capital) said directly that during the job search process, my age is too old. Second, HR does not shy away to ask me the economic situation directly. Will there be a mortgage and family life? "

Mr. Ge pointed out that because of the epidemic, Chinese companies generally do not hold offline recruitment, but there are many false information on the online job search platform, which makes it difficult to get job hunting: "In my job search process, many positions have actually recruited 2 and 3 It's actually a false job. In order to make a profit, these Internet platforms are about false recruitment and recruitment violence. The platform side has no human and energy to do it. There is a big problem with social integrity." *

Generally speaking, 35 -year -old young people often have more work experience, but why do Chinese companies prefer to hire "fresh people"? Hua Haifeng, an investigator of the China Labor Observation Organization, told reporters in an interview that Chinese companies preferred fresh people who had just leaned out of society because these people had low salary and better management.

A young man in a professional introduction in Shanghai. (Agence France - Presse) Hua Haifeng said that many 35 -year -old young people have become families as an example. The requirements for salary and living standards are higher: "(youth over 35 years old) may not be able to meet them, and young people are even more. It is easy to manage, because their experience in society is not so rich. Therefore, for manufacturing, ordinary positions are more inclined to hire young people. "

Hua Haifeng also said that the appearance of the "35 -year -old spell" is also related to China's current economic downturn: "Of course, there will be problems in this regard in the past few years, but not as obvious now, because there are more jobs before, The demand for manpower is also relatively large, and enterprises do not have much selection and restrictions on manpower. In recent years, the lack of positions in recent years will become more and more obvious. "

In response to the "35 -year -old spell" problem in the Chinese workplace, independent economist Qin Weiping also believes that after 35 years of age, many people have a family business and need more stable income guarantee. For Chinese enterprises, they are an increase in operating costs: "From the perspective of reducing operating costs by enterprises, they are open, semi -open, and default to recruit young people under 35 years old; on the other hand Young people are easier to manage because they lack social experience and are more likely to be forced to work overtime by enterprises. "

The New Zurich is called on the United States and China to reduce confrontation and strengthen cooperation, because economic prosperity is also part of national security. U.S. Treasury Secretary Yellen is about to visit China. Can they enhance mutual trust between the two countries?

(Voice of Germany) Switzerland "New Zurich" with "cooperation can also bring security -confrontation attitude is dangerous" As the title, US Treasury Secretary Yellen is about to visit China Publishing comments pointed out that Washington and Beijing now lead the "national security" to dominate US - China relations. Such a posture will only make the world more poorer and unsafe. The author calls on the two parties to adopt a practicalist strategy to carry out cooperation based on economic rationality.

"Since Trump has opened a trade war against China, the confrontation between the United States and China has been in danger. After the Bayeng government took office, he did not cancel the punishment tariff on China. And restricted direct investment. Both sides are talking about decoupling, and the army of the two countries has repeatedly passed by in the Taiwan Strait.

"China under the rule of Xi Jinping requires more and more nationalist voices. Xi Jinping hopes to independently stand independently in the economic and political aspects and strengthen military power. The Spy Act and the Data Security Act have further caused China to be closed. "

Expert: The opposition state "brings damage to the US -China economy"

"U.S. consumers and companies are paying a high price of trade protectionism in Washington. After the cancellation of epidemic control measures, Chinese companies still fail to be prosperous. China's economy is panting, and the unemployment rate of young people has climbed to 20% of the worry. Beijing's leadership must be interested in better economic and trade relations. "

The author believes that excessive emphasis on security theory does not make the world more secure, but is more tense. "The mutual implication of trade and investment is not enough to be a guarantee of peace-Russia. Russia is an example. However, it can at least increase the probability of mutual cooperation and the threshold and cost of mutual opposition. The Chinese government, which is a promise of getting rich and facing heavy pressure, will be more likely to provoke a military conflict than an economical successful Chinese government. "

"Over the past few decades, global division of labor is likely to be the most important prosperous helper. On the contrary, it is a very high -cost policy as much as possible. Moreover, global risks such as climate change cannot pass this method. Come to deal with. "

"Security not only covers the field of military and sovereignty. Security also needs cooperation. Economic rational and economic prosperity can not only make our lives more comfortable, but also make it safer. Of course, we should not face Beijing too well. More requires peers and more compromises in international occasions. However, US Treasury Secretary Yellen visit China. The outside world is looking forward to mutual concessions and specific results. Acknowledging differences, on the other hand, we are also committed to more cooperation and mutual trust. This can make the world more secure. "

Obviously, we Germany believes that China is also responsible for defending international law and further impacting influence on Russia. Change. There is no country and no land is the backyard of other countries. Of course, this principle is also applicable to the Taiwan Strait relations, which should be maintained in a peaceful Chinese policy framework. If the dispute is upgraded to a military conflict, it will change it will change everything."

String into the European Union's strategy to China

The common policy for China is also an important issue at the EU summit ended on June 30. Summit jointly stated that it will support the continued economic and trade relations with China while reducing Europe's economic dependence on China. "Risk of Risk" officially appeared in this statement and became a concept. In the future, the European Union will use it as a guidance policy to launch a strategy to China. However, some criticisms have stated that the "de -risk" currently expressed by the European Union still lacks specific plans and responsibilities.

"Although there are a lot of virtues differences , But in response to many challenges in the world today, it is inseparable from China's participation. This is also very clear, especially in terms of climate protection, arms control, 2030 sustainable development agenda. For Germany, China is the most important trading partner outside the European Union. For China, the European market is equally significant. Both sides are export -oriented economies, so the rules -based international trade is in line with the interests of European and China. "

"Especially exciting is the comprehensive transformation of climate neutrality. In the fields of solar energy, Chinese technology is far ahead. Without Chinese technology products, our energy transformation cannot be advanced enough. Therefore, Germany, Germany It is a good signal to establish a regular climate dialogue mechanism and continue to carry out environmental cooperation at the government level. "

"This trip to China makes us more convinced: China and Asia will play a key role in the future international order. And our German demands and contributions are still: continue to make constructive and critical dialogue."

At present, META is planning to sell its head -of -wear equipment in China, and has discussed the issue of returning to China with Chinese technology companies including Tencent and made progress.

However, sources believe that Chinese officials may still have doubts about Zackberg. Zuckerberg had previously accused China of stealing technology and criticized the parent company of Tiktok, a short video sharing platform.

In 1990, the Japanese economic bubble was shattered, and then fell into the "lost ten years" (the similar situation has lasted thirty years). Gu Chaoming, chief economist at the Institute of Ohuna Institute of Ohuna Institute in 2003, explained a unique "BALANCE-SHEETRECESSION" theory. What really made him famous is that over the years after the outbreak of the global financial crisis in 2008, the United States and Europe are still difficult to get rid of the economic downturn under the stimulus of the policy. Gu consciously found a key to understand the cause of great decline and depression, and has touched the "Holy Grail" in the Macroeconomics Hall.

Domestic publishing houses have translated and published three works of Gu Chaoming- "Big decline", "Big Recession" and "Repent". The writing is smooth and the viewers are consistent. Praise the public. Around the period of strict control of the epidemic, Gu's name and theory began to see the media frequently. Recently, he was invited to comment on China's economic difficulties and how to learn from Japanese experience.

In August last year, I criticized its theory with the requirements of the "Holy Grail" level (that is, high academic standards), but now when I think about it, the flaws are not covered. Gu's amendment can be regarded as a classic and widely recommended. But I read Gu's latest English book

"PURSUEEDECONOMY"(The economically chased economy is the update version of "Big Times"), I once again admire their writing and refining, and further realize the lack of their views, so I conceived this article, hoping to compare the different analysis of the decline of Japan and other celebrities, and strengthen our understanding of the root cause of the Japanese economy. , And see the economic difficulties of China, find the way to solve.

What is the "balance sheet decline theory"?

The Japanese stock market and real estate fell sharply after seeing the top in 1990 and 1991. The annual growth rate of Japan's GDP was not only significantly lower than the past, but also significantly lower than other developed economies at the same time. By early 2000, it was generally regarded as "losing the loss Ten years, then "Ten Years" became "twenty years" and "thirty years".

However, in the past two decades, the global economic experience has repeatedly hit the crisis, and the major economies have fallen into a low-growth environment. Therefore, the cause of why the first decade was lost is full of challenging. At present, the number one is widely accepted is that Japan's aging is serious. The proportion of population (15-64 years old) has fallen in 1992. It uses this group to calculate the per capita GDP performance. The number of hired people calculates the per capita GDP, and Japan is significantly behind. We must dig in depth why this more common indicator of labor productivity is not good in Japan?

The two major explanations are serious structural problems in the Japanese industry and the problem of serious loan mismatch in banks. Interestingly, Gu's opening chapters in the "Great Recession" assumes that readers are familiar with "structural theory" and "wrong accessories" (Chinese readers may not understand, later introduced in detail), and after quickly criticizing criticism, they put forward their own new explanations: Debtoverhang brought by the bubble burst, which caused the family and enterprises to be destroyed, and the family began to reduce food and shrink. The period ("Yin Economy") "minimizes debt", even if the bank interest rate drops to zero, the company only repay debts and does not borrow money from the bank (the "liquidity trap" envisaged by Kanes). The economic recession cannot rely on monetary policy to solve it. At this time, it can only be the government's borrowing of bonds to borrow the savings of the people to help everyone spend money. As a result, although Japan's GDP growth rate decreased after 1990, the total amount of GDP still increased most of the time.

Note: All entries are four-quarter moving averages. For the latest figures, four-quarter averages ending in 2022 Q4 are used.

In terms of data, the financial surplus of Japanese families (asset minus liabilities) accounted for GDP ratio to decline in 1993, while enterprises (including financial institutions) shifted from reducing financial deficit state to surplus status. The government's financial surplus has continued to this day after 1993 (see the figure below). Gu's performance of Japanese economic downturn from 1991-2006 was "decline in balance sheets", but after 2008, this form of decline appeared again in Japan, the United States and Europe.

For those who are familiar with macro analysis, as soon as they see the changes in these balance sheets, they will immediately think of changes in debt accounts for GDP ratio, which is almost consistent in essence (the enterprises in the figure below do not include financial institutions).

来源：BIS，其中政府债务为名义值，季度数据更新至2022年1季度

In other words, Japanese families, especially companies, began to deleveraging under the backlog of debt in the mid -1990s. The government's leverage has achieved macro -stabilization leverage. After 2008, the total leverage has been further raised. Similar phenomena also occurred in the United States (mainly family deleveraging) after 2008. Gu recently said that Chinese companies have gradually compressed to close to zero after 2016, which is obviously reflected in the drawing as a depending on. The "decline of the balance sheet" can be renamed "deleveraging decline".

It is particularly emphasized that Gu believes that Japan has experienced the cumulative loss of wealth in the stock market (80% withdrawn from high points) and real estate (87% of commercial real estate (87%). The fiscal policy is indispensable, and it can be called "Japanese miracle." In his initial and latest books, only three times mentioned "the decade of lost ten years" and made it clear that he disagreed. This is his most obvious difference (others usually develop from Japanese science Obtaining the Nobel Prize and other angles to demonstrate that there is no "30 years lost" in Japan).

This is the way to demonstrate the "Japanese miracle". If everyone consumes clothes and shrinks food, and spend more money and less consumption, it will lead to a synthesis fallacy that Kanes is called "frugal paradox". If the total income of everyone in the economy is 1,000 yuan, everyone has 10% of everyone, and no one borrows, GDP will fall into a declined spiral: from 900 yuan to 810 yuan, continuing to the end to stay at 500 yuan may be all 500 yuan. It can be seen that the government has spent great contributions to everyone.

Four key issues of Gu's theory First, refer to the stock price, house prices and GDP during the US Great Depression, the maximum retracement of 89%, 67%and 46%of the failure experience. Gu believes that Japan's GDP has not followed the loss of wealth to be a miracle. However, after Hong Kong fell 56%and 68%of the stock market and real estate from 1997 to 2003, the maximum retracement of GDP was only 9%. After the housing price stock price fell in 2008 in many countries in the United States and Europe, GDP was very limited. GDP decline is not a one -to -one relationship. From 1991-1997, the active performance of GDP in Japan (the largest decline in stock prices and housing prices also occurred in the same period) more thanks to corporate investment and family consumption boom, not government fiscal power Increasing, but it is generally regarded by Japanese economists as the effect of not obvious effects, see below). Because Gu rarely directly presents home consumption and enterprise investment data, readers cannot master these simple facts. In addition, Gu has never reviewed the formation of the foam of Japanese stock prices and housing prices, and its works are of lack of reference for other countries to prevent bubble lack of reference. On the contrary, other works (such as Mian and SUFI's "Housing Debt") repeatedly emphasized that the excessive increase of families and enterprises will almost cause economic recession. The higher the leverage, the longer the recession period, the deeper.

Second, Gu's "maximizing profit" from the "profit" of corporate preferences (targets) to the "minimization of debt" when the "profit" when the "yin economy" was shifted to the "yin economy" is the most original part of his discussion, but it is just right. It was the focus of my criticism last year. Although this description is conducive to the understanding and memory of ordinary readers, it is absolutely a way to explain the phenomenon of changing the preferences of the economic subject to explain the phenomenon. Not only that, one of the most widely known findings is that when the company faces the backlog of debt backlogs under the goal of maximizing profits, the optimal approach is to reduce borrowing and reduce investment (Myrs1977, and the reference rate is Nobel Prize level). Similarly, when the family faces the rise in uncertainty, it will increase the "preventive savings" (only once appeared once), reducing debt, which is also the result of maximizing profits (equivalent to utility). changed.

Economists' deep understanding of important phenomena is mainly reflected in the understanding of "constraints". For example, under the backlog of debt, as long as some people face the decrease in the amount of debt, it will trigger others to reduce consumption or investment, or increase prevention prevention Sexual savings, lowering total demand and economic growth In the case of the gap between the rich and the poor, the increase in liability demand will lower the interest rate. The adaptive loose monetary policy will bring debt -driven asset bubbles. In the end 2021). In addition, Huo and Rios-RULL(2013)It also gives the "frugal paradox" three approximately invalid conditions in the mainstream models of the macroeconomic model. These results come from the maximum preference of the economic subject, and the explanation of economic recession is deeper than Gu Gu's theory. Of course, the flaws are not covered. If it is a little modified by these works, it is still very valuable for us to understand the big decline in Japan. After all, Gu also vividly described the phenomenon of corporate reduction in debt, banks tolerance, and economists ignored the phenomenon of corporate "balance sheets" (see pp. 36-37 of "Big recession").

Third, Gu repeatedly emphasized that after the interest rate of the Bank of Japan, companies are still unwilling to borrow money as the strongest evidence of preference to become "minimized debt". In fact, a more likely causal relationship is that the company is more willing to save and pay debt to the reason why the interest rate is continuously lowered under the backlog of debt. Banks adopt interest rate cuts to adapt to this economic fundamental change. In fact, the core reason for Japan and the United States has not brought high growth and high inflation is the "Saveglut". Recently, the controversy of whether the central bank should cut interest rate cuts has also reflected that many economists still have fuzzy things about such causal relationships.

Fourth, if the above evaluation is too academic, ordinary readers do not need to care, then I must point out that Gu's analysis is too macro, regarding all enterprises (including financial institutions) as the same subject. It is the biggest disadvantage that hinders readers to understand the truth of Japan (I believe that Gu has a deep understanding of Japanese companies, but only gives macro scenes for simplified writing and convenience science). The policy suggestions given by the chaos analysis are likely to bring the consequences of "South Orange and North".

At the Tongji Science and Technology Annual Shareholders Conference held on June 28, 17 proposals such as the 2022 Annual Report and its abstracts and its summary of the "2022 annual report and its abstract" and the 2022 board work report were not passed. Previously, on May 17, 21 proposals of the Gorgeous Family did not be approved at the company's 2022 annual shareholders' meeting. The Jiaotong University Angli and Mengjie have also appeared in some voting proposals and other phenomena.

So, how do you think of the current frequent equity disputes in China's capital market?

First, the recent appearance of listed companies' equity disputes is the further manifestation of the internal logic of China's capital market that has entered the era of decentralized equity since 2015.

Beginning in 2015, the average shareholding ratio of the largest shareholders of Chinese listed companies has been lower than the logo "one -vote veto" and 1/3 of the relative controlling stake. What does this mean for the Chinese capital market? That is, from the perspective of trend, more and more equity disputes in China's capital market will occur, and even barbarians invade. In 2015, Vanke Baoneng's equity disputes and 2016 Nandu A board of directors were "blood washing" and other incidents were not accidental. These were the manifestations and reactions of the development of the capital market in the development of the capital market under the trend of equity decentralization. Therefore, I summarized this special change trend of the equity structure of China's capital market after 2015 into the era of decentralized equity in the Chinese capital market. Over the years, the governance meaning of a special company has brought about the different previous unique companies around the era of diversified equity in the era of diversified equity in the capital market. A degree of academic monographs in the "Different Equity Corporation: Theoretical and Evidence".

Therefore, in my opinion, the equity disputes between Tongji Technology and the Gorgeous Family today are just a few small waves under the trend.

One of the facts that I have to mention is that after 2016, the equity disputes in China's capital market did not have the fierceness of my initial expectations, and it came rapidly. The reason is complicated. Or it is related to the insufficient activity of the capital market, or it is related to regulatory specifications, and even related to the prevention and control of the epidemic and economic downturn.

However, as the general law of the development of the capital market, when a capital market enters the era of decentralized equity, there will be a large number of equity disputes, which does not seem to change. The only thing that can change is to delay this trend. A recent wave of new waves of equity disputes shows that this trend has begun to evolve in accordance with the laws of development inherent in the capital market. Of course, as I expected in the future, as I expected, the new wave of equity disputes has yet to be observed.

Secondly, in the case of coexistence of multiple shareholders with a low shareholding ratio of Chinese listed companies, there are differences between major shareholders around specific bills, and even the disputes are actually normal, and the collective voting mechanism of the existing shareholders' general meeting is also the collective voting mechanism. It provides a natural and legal way to solve the above disputes.

It should be noted that even in the company that has occurred in equity disputes, major shareholders and second shareholders, and even other small and medium shareholders, the interests conflict are commercial interests, which are easier to achieve consistent compared with political conflicts, cultural conflicts and religious conflicts. Because the fundamental business interests of the shareholders are consistent, if a proposal can make the company value and increase the return of shareholders, it must mean that the major shareholders can benefit large shareholders and other shareholders. Oppose, unless he is crazy.

In particular, the appearance of the largest shareholders and the second largest shareholder often helps to change the situation of a "one word" situation in the past, and avoid the wrong judgment and made by the wrong judgment of cognitive deviations and chaos. Mistake decision. Therefore, the equity structure of checks and balances often helps to form a commercial democratic situation, becoming an automatic error correction mechanism, which returns the company's decision -making to create more value for the company, and return to the correct decision to return more dividends for shareholders. Essence And equity disputes are just extreme reactions of different opinions of shareholders.

In addition to avoiding a word of words, automatic error correction is formed. Due to the checks and balances of the second largest shareholder, the main shareholders use tunnels to excavate and transfer corporate resources, and the behavior of damaging shareholders' interests will also be effectively suppressed.

Due to the two aspects of the above two aspects, we sometimes observe that when those companies that have equity disputes, when two major shareholders propose relevant proposals around their respective interests, the interests of small and medium shareholders will often get better and true. Protect. As the unreasonable bill proposed by the second largest shareholder will be rejected under the leadership of the largest shareholders, the unreasonable bill proposed by the largest shareholders may also be rejected under the leadership of the second largest shareholder. As a result, regardless of the largest shareholder or the second largest shareholder, the only proposal proposed by all shareholders will not be opposed to all shareholders. It can only start from the interests of all shareholders. In the theory and practice of corporate governance, we call it a compromised effect. In the above sense, for companies with the second largest shareholder of the largest shareholder, although there is a possibility of outbreak of equity disputes, such equity check -in companies have investment value. Although in the short term, equity disputes will convey a stagnant signal to the capital market into a stalemate business, and the stock price may fluctuate.

Therefore, if the second largest shareholders actively participate in corporate governance by proposing relevant proposals, the largest shareholders not only have no reason to refuse, but on the contrary, she should see her value. Internal shareholders hold acceptance and even encourage attitudes.

It is also important that the platform of Hyundai Co., Ltd. provides a natural and legal way for shareholders to resolve the conflict of commercial interests. That is to determine whether a proposal is finally approved by the majority of the shareholders at the shareholders' general meeting. Anyone has no right to unilaterally change the results of the shareholders' meeting resolution. The reason is that a shareholder holding a larger shareholder will suffer more losses because of supporting a wrong proposal, unless he is "spending other people's money and doing other people's affairs."

Maybe we should see the existence of equity disputes in the important role in the healthy development of a country's capital market. In the mature capital market, the threat of external taking over is precisely such a improvement of external forces of the corporate governance structure. For the protection of investors' rights and interests, to promote investors to invest more in the capital market, and then promote the prosperity of the capital market to play an irreplaceable role. However, for the operators of many companies, investors in many capital markets are still accustomed to step-by-step and calmness in the traditional "independent" governance model, and many of their concepts still stay at that historical stage. Therefore, what we need in the future is to change the concept and raise awareness. We realize that equity disputes will become the normal state of the capital market, which will be open, tolerant, and even welcome to equity disputes.

Third, if an innovative -oriented high -tech company believes that it is indeed necessary to dominate major decisions by the entrepreneurial team to avoid falling into equity disputes, and to misunderstand business opportunities, it can strengthen the company's control through moderate company governance system arrangements. In addition to the consistent action agreement, in order to achieve the purpose of strengthening corporate control in corporate governance practice, there are also some effective but controversial methods. For example, the major shareholders exceed the non-independent directors in the board of directors, increasing the influence and discourse rights of the company's board of directors, and even the chairman of the chairman assigned by the major shareholders as the CEO, etc. The shareholding plan, etc., bind the interests of employees and major shareholders through the employee shareholding plan; and so on.

For innovative -oriented high -tech companies that have not yet been listed, in order to avoid in the future, they can take the initiative to choose to issue AB dual-equity structure stocks directly, or form a "different rights" structure in disguise by launching a partnership system and limited partnership framework. Different rights of the same shares of the entrepreneurial team that the right to configure the voting right means that it is difficult for other shareholders to change the will of the entrepreneurial team of holding categories of stocks. After the establishment of the Innovation Board in 2019, the Chinese capital market also began to accept and the issue of the stock structure stocks of AB dual equity structure. In January 2020, China AB's first Youkodi Technology, which issued AB shares, was listed on the science and technology Banming Gong.

In the "Disposter Equity Age Company Governance Observation Trilogy" I wrote, the first part was "From Vanke to Ali: The Advent of Dispenseful Equity Age" published by Peking University in 2017. Why do I connect Vanke and Ali? Vanke issued traditional shares and equity. After entering the era of decentralized equity, in order to cope with Baoneng's cards, it was once burnt and tired. At the same time, Ali in the same period due to the stable control arrangement formed by the partnership system, for There is no need to worry about the invasion of barbarians, and you can concentrate on the innovation of business models.

From the previous discussion, it is not difficult for us to see that equity disputes and even taking over threats are not completely bad. The emergence of them will just make a wake up from time to time to our listed company: Is there any shortcomings in our business and management? Is it to be improved and improved?

If the structure of the same shares of the same stock is simply formed, the threat of external takeover is excluded, and at the same time, there is no internal error correction mechanism and culture similar to the Ali partnership system. It is the disaster on the top.

Warm reminder from FT Chinese website: If you are interested in the content of more FT Chinese website, please search for "FT Chinese Network" in Apple App Store or Google Application Market and download the official applications of FT Chinese website.

One day, the phone rang, and I took the phone to see, and was an old classmate who hadn't contacted for a long time. I remember when she contacted me last time, it was a great time for the last round of house prices to rise. She asked me if I should buy a house. Of course I suggest that she buy it, and she can do what she can. She also listened to my suggestions. She should have obtained it, and then there was no news.

As the saying goes, "Everything is on the Three Treasure Hall." After answering the phone, I knew that this time she was willing to report to the children of the college entrance examination and sought my opinion.

As educators, this time there will always be similar calls for relatives and friends every year, most of which want to get a relatively advantageous result on a relatively unsuccessful score. As usual, I carefully asked, "Which school is the child going to report?"

"Peking University", the familiar sound came from the phone was a little strange.

As soon as I encountered a super -out test question, I thought: What is the question that you can answer the children of other people at Peking University?

"I don't know what to report! This child likes chemistry and has won the Awards of the Olympic Chemistry, but I heard that this major is particularly difficult to employ. It is called one of the four major Tiankeng majors!"

I understand here. Poor parents in the world, no matter how high the child score is, filling in the college entrance examination volunteer is a world problem with a super high difficulty factor. And candidates with clear goals will inevitably form a very prominent advantage and clear intention. This is proud and doubtful.

Parents will inevitably worry that what he loves is a promising occupation. After all, most children will not naturally love actuarial and dentist and other unsuccessful high -paying majors. Moreover, the enthusiasm of niche majors such as archeology, meteorology, literature, and social work may make children look like the potential of being stuck.

Therefore, under such concerns of "a long time hate", candidates' parents have no time to avoid most of the liberal arts majors. Even "biochemical, chemistry, environment, materials" and other initial employment majors are also called "Tiankeng". What is even more embarrassing is that computers, information technology, finance, etc. seem to be very beautiful, and seem to be crisis. According to the "Research Report on Employment Difficulties" released by Zhilian Recruitment, the three majors of the most difficult employment situation during the reporting period are accounting, information technology and information systems, and computers. These majors are recognized as white horse stocks in everyone's minds, and some are also listed by Teacher Zhang Xuefeng, who became famous for the college entrance examination volunteer to fill in the consultation.

Fortunately, I have recently participated in a series of small and micro enterprises research and EMBA student interviews. I was fortunate to get some fresh information of some cases, but there was a certain persuasive information.

Among the companies participating in the survey, there are mainstream industries such as supply chain, the Internet, food and beverages, and health products, but the most impressive impression on me is a new material company in Guangzhou. The company is a startup that has been established for less than 10 years, and its products are used for daily chemical products, cosmetics, coatings, inks, etc. It was also uncomfortable within a few years after its establishment in 2016, but under the impact of trade war, epidemic, etc., it maintained a rapid growth of the trend and became a supplier of many well-known brands. And the most proud of the founders is that their independently developed products successfully achieved "domestic alternatives". In the past few years, the overseas supply chain was blocked, these breakthroughs won important market share for enterprises. Therefore, they have the confidence to contribute to employees' shares and send Mercedes-Benz cars. At the end of the hearts of layout, bankruptcy, etc., these performances are exciting and even jealous. The founder also specifically mentioned the chemistry he is called "Tiankeng". Because his alma mater was in Guangzhou, they often gathered in the same class in Sui. According to his understanding, everyone's life is still moist, and it will look more and more moisturizing.

Xu was accidental, but the later interview experience surprised me even more. Among the 7 EMBA interviewees I participated, one of the largest applicants in the enterprise is also an entrepreneur in the field of new materials. Unlike the previous one, the entrepreneur is engaged in "other non-metal products manufacturing". He did not seem to take the college entrance examination, but in practice, he was able to learn his talents. From the technicians of the power supply office and the electric stone factory, he obtained dozens of patents in terms of calcium carbonate. The Ministry is identified as a talent for science and technology entrepreneurship, and the "10,000 Plan" of the national high-level talents in high-level talents. This shows that the field of new materials not only does not necessarily bury talents, but there may be a greater probability that the unknown person stands out.

Although these above are all cases, it should not be the basis for the "night view of heaven", but it is enough to show that some of the fatal prejudice in the volunteer in the college entrance examination can be rest.

The reason is that the college entrance examination has changed its professional changes. On the surface, "Feng Shui turns", but the supply and demand relationship is basically changing. If the school's professional setting and candidates fill in the long-term pursuit of volunteer, and the social demand cannot keep up with the continuous supply supply, maybe the situation will be very different at the time of graduation. Samuelson, a master of contemporary neoclassical comprehensive factions and famous economists, said: As long as you teach a parrot to say "supply" and "demand", it can become economists. It shows how important the laws and laws of demand and supply are in economics. Therefore, people who chase high are often more likely to be harvested in the stock market. The reverse investment master, John Denpton, once said: "People always ask me where the situation will become better, but this is a wrong question. The correct question is: Where is the worst?"

Moreover, under the "unscrupulous change in the world", the impact and impact of various major factors such as globalization and geopolitics are endless. National economic and industrial policies also have significant strategic adjustments. These variables are deeply changing the relationship between supply and demand of various talents.

Therefore, in the professional choice, there is no eternal white horse, and there is no eternal pit. However, in people's actual judgment and decision-making, it is often easy to enter the main focus and be affected by the first impression. This is called anchoring effect in behavioral economics. It was originally proposed by the Nobel Prize winner Daniel Caniman that it was necessary to use certain value as a starting value when a quantitative estimate of a certain event was required. In reality, it is confirmed that people will unconsciously give excessive attention to the original information, and they will use this information as the benchmark to collect information that supports this information. Therefore, if there is a wrong fragmented information interference, it is likely that the later analysis and decision-making is to strengthen itself with a comprehensive self-enhancement. If based on this and deducting the long-term interest and advantages of the child, then it is really a pity and cruel thing. Caniman said well in the book "Noise": "Noise" is random, but it is fatal.

Moreover, the less you know the same thing, the more susceptible to the anchor point in the anchor effect. For example, the overestimation of financial majors may be because the children of the neighbor's house happened to be in a star fund company and the occupational aura brought by hundreds of thousands of annual salary. But in fact, this treatment does not represent the overall level of financial institutions. Moreover, finance itself is a periodic industry, and the momentum of "overcapacity" and salary reduction has currently appeared. If the child is not particularly keen on professionalism and preferences, then this decision is relatively simple, and there is still a process of choosing again later. If the college entrance examination candidates have a firm direction and have been clearly displayed, then in his future study career and career development, there is still uncertainty, giving up this choice will bring huge opportunity costs. And it is difficult to look back once you give up. There is another difficulty here -the losses that people feel after losing will be higher than their actual value, so it is difficult to give up what they own. This is called endowment effect in economics and psychology. Because of the existence of endowment effects, changing horses in the battlefield is often dragged by a horse that he is not good at, and it is likely to have a high probability that the stock exchange is high.

Taking 10,000 steps, for anyone, enthusiasm is precious, and love is scarce. To be honest, when I went to interview young people, the first thing that valued was: whether there was vitality, enthusiasm, and whether he loved his career and career. These traits fundamentally determine a person's long - term development potential and space.

And continuously doing what you like is conducive to planning your own lifestyle with a longer -term perspective, and often gradually gain greater control and freedom. Morgan Houzel's "Money Psychology" summarizes the factors of this economic decision -making as "invisible return". He wrote in the book, "The competition in an intelligence has been heated, and many old technologies have been replaced by automation technology. The competitive advantage has begun to turn to a more subtle software level, such as communication skills, empathy ability, and ability to empathize, and The most important point -personal flexibility ".

"The years are long, only love can reach." From the perspective of economics, the scarcity of the most scarce attention is constantly devoted in a longer -term and more love direction, in order to resist all kinds of impact and boring, always occupy initiative and flexibility, make yourself scarce, and can also be more scarce. Really possess a life of autonomy and richness.

The international atomic energy agency is called the Fukushima nuclear waste water discharge plan to meet the safety standards

The Japanese government said that emissions this summer will be performed as planned. The discharge plan has caused controversy at home and abroad, especially facing strong protests in China and South Korea. As one of the remaining steps before the Fukushima Nuclear Power Station's more than one million tons of radioactive treatment of the Fukushima Nuclear Power Station, the International Atomic Energy Agency announced on Tuesday that the Japanese government's emission plans meet the security standards of the agency.

The final report of the International Atomic Energy Agency concluded that once the treatment of water is discharged, "the influence on human and the environment can be ignored."

Japan's emissions plans are controversial at home and abroad. Chinese government officials and many people in South Korea protest that such emissions are not safe.

Raphael Gronci, Director -General of the International Atomic Energy Agency, said that if Japan continues to be discharged as planned, the agency will also open a monitoring station in Fukushima to continue to evaluate the safety of water body in the "next decades".

Japan announced the drainage of Fukushima Nuclear Power Station in 2019 Plan And the plan was approved two years later Essence Since then, a special working group of the International Atomic Energy Agency has made many assessments on the progress of Japanese water treatment.

For many years, Tokyo Electric Power Company, which is responsible for the operation of nuclear power stations and is currently closed, said that the processed wastewater -including allowing a powerful filter system to deal with wastewater and remove most radioactive substances -safety emissions can be performed.

On Tuesday, Gross, director of the International Atomic Energy Agency, met with Japanese Prime Minister Kishida Kishida in Tokyo to discuss the plan for radioactive water processed by the Japanese discharge of the Fukushima nuclear power plant. POOL Photo by Eugenehoshiko Critics said that the water treatment process and emission plans of the Japanese government and Tokyo Electric Power Company were not transparent.

Chinese Ambassador to Japan Wu Jianghao said at a press conference on Tuesday, "The Japanese side should stop the pushing programs to dispose of nuclear pollution water in a scientific, safe, and transparent way, and accept strict international supervision." Japan made a decision without "full research and argument".

Even in Japan, there are differences in opinions. A poll released by Japan News Network on weekends show that 45% of the respondents support the emission plan and 40% of the respondents have opposed it.

"Many outstanding scientists believe that the data provided by (Japan) to date is incomplete," the independent radiation monitoring organization Safecast Chief researcher Azbai Brown said.

advertise

Brown said that the discharged wastewater is "very low in danger for human health, thousands of times lower than the risk of radiation exposure daily."

"But the whole process is still not transparent enough," he said. "It is not wide enough and not comprehensive enough."

Brown said that the Japanese side has repeatedly ensured that the treatment of water is safe enough to discharge into the ocean, and it is said that most of the isotopes are filtered, but it still contains a small amount of 氚 (a kind of isotope that is difficult to separate from the water), and a small amount of a small amount Carbon-14 and iodine -129.

The water processed by the Fukushima Nuclear Power Station will be discharged into the Pacific Ocean through the underwater tunnel. Kyodo news, via associated presness Japanese Prime Minister Kishita Kishita said in a meeting with Gronci that Japan "does not approve emissions that may cause harm to the Japanese people, the people of the world, and the environment." He also said that the government will "continue to clarify the scientific basis based on highly transparent science" that will discharge the treated water into the sea.

Kanada's Cabinet Cabinet Chief Hakka Matsuno said on Tuesday that after the government reviewed security measures and considered the "damage caused by rumors" in other countries, this summer's emissions will still be performed as planned.

In South Korea, how to deal with Fukushima's water discharge has become a controversial topic of non -black or white, threatening to South Korea and Japan earlier this year fragile reconciliation Essence Recent surveys show that 80%to 85%of Koreans oppose Japan's plan to discharge Fukushima's processing water into the Pacific, fearing that this will affect seafood and marine environment.

Groos will visit Shou on Friday to discuss countermeasures on the increasing anxiety of South Korea. In recent weeks, because the people have risen before the discharge, the salt prices have risen sharply from the salt salt on the west coast of South Korea.

The protesters rally opposed the discharge of the Fukushima nuclear power plant last month. Fukushima's drainage problem has also become a serious problem of polarization outside Seoul. Anthony Wallace/Agefrance-Presse-Getty Images

Park Honggen, a senior Democratic Party of the South Korean opposition, said that the South Korean people are worried that the security review of the international atomic energy agencies is "politics rather than science" and is used to "cater to Japan."

The South Korean government has let go of it to increase its efforts to detect the content of radioactive substances in seawater, fishery and natural salt fields to try to eliminate people's fear.

advertise

Government officials assured the public on Monday that even if Japan began to discharge water, South Korea will continue to ban seafood from the waters near Fukushima. The ban was first implemented after the Fukushima nuclear accident in 2011.

Gronci said that the drainage method adopted in Japan has "reliable records" in many countries such as China, South Korea and the United States. According to the current plan, the treatment of water will be discharged in a controllable and gradual way in decades.

Japan's plan to be discharged into the Pacific Ocean is mainly used for the damaged reactor of the Fukushima nuclear power plant. The nuclear power plant was destroyed in the 2011 earthquake and tsunami. Japan claims that the current storage of water is discharged before the nuclear power plant is exhausted.

Warm reminder from FT Chinese website: If you are interested in the content of more FT Chinese website, please search for "FT Chinese Network" in Apple App Store or Google Application Market and download the official applications of FT Chinese website.

Two years before the outbreak of the epidemic, China's complete industrial chain effectively made up for the shortcomings of overseas production, China's exports increased sharply, and foreign trade share also increased rapidly. However, since the second half of 2022, the growth rate of exports has slowed, and May this year has decreased by 7.5% year-on-year. At the same time, foreign direct investment has declined significantly. According to the international revenue and expenditure data of the State Administration of Foreign Exchange, it has severely contracted in the second half of 2022, with a decrease of more than 70%. In the first quarter of this year, it fell by 80%. Even according to the data of the Ministry of Commerce, foreign businessmen in the second half of 2022 in the second half of 2022 Direct investment fell -7%, and from January to May this year fell 5.6% year-on-year. In addition, China's trade structure is quietly changing: the share of the United States, Europe, etc. has been declining, and the proportion of ASEAN, Russia and Africa has risen rapidly.

Signs since the second half of last year show that trade investment in European and American countries is accelerating to "de -China". For example, U.S. coalition allies have increased their trade -offs in China and science and technology; the United States and India have signed a series of protocols in the fields of semiconductors, high -tech to strengthen the diversification of the supply chain and reduce their dependence on China; the Dutch restricted part of the optical carvings machines in the Netherlands; Model exports to China and so on. Will these development exacerbate the migration of China's industrial chain? With the long -term trend of the industrial relocation of the United States and the "Friends Outsourcing", how should Chinese policies respond?

Since the outbreak of the epidemic, China's industrial chain shows strong toughness and elasticity, effectively making up for the lack of overseas production capacity, and China's exports have performed beyond expectations. This is due to the policy orientation of China's "main body of the market" after the epidemic and the policy orientation of the United States and Europe's implementation of modern currency theory (MMT) stimulus, and to make up for the non -matching of the US -Europe economy due to the obstruction of production. China's foreign trade share can be used to achieve the share of foreign trade shares. Raise rapidly. According to WTO data, China's global export share has increased significantly to 14.7%in 2020, reversing the decline in the Sino -US trade war, and exceeding the high point in 2015 (13.7%). In 2021, China's exports continued to reach a record high. While achieving a year -on -year growth of 29.6%, the share of global exports exceeded 15%. After the overseas epidemic in 2022, despite the steady recovery of the overseas industrial chain alternative to China, China's export share remained at a high level of 14.4%in 2022.

It is worth noting that China's trade structure has changed significantly since 2022. On the one hand, China's export share to the United States in 2023 fell rapidly. According to the data of Uncomtrade data, the proportion of imports from China 's products from China fell quickly from 21.9%in 2017 to 17.1%in 2022, and the decline was filled by ASEAN, Canada and the European Union. Although China is still the first source of imports in the United States in 2022, the decline will accelerate after entering 2023: In the first quarter of 2023, the proportion of Chinese goods in the United States' imports has fallen sharply to 13.6%, which is not only behind the EU 18.8 %, Also behind Mexico (15.1%) and Canada (13.8%), becoming the fourth source of imports in the United States.

On the other hand, developing countries such as ASEAN, Russia, and Africa have become increasingly prominent in China. Since 2010, China's exports to ASEAN have risen rapidly. At present, it has surpassed the United States and the European Union to become the largest destination of China exports, from 8.8% in 2010 to 12.2% in 2015, and 15.8% in 2022. Especially from January to May this year, China's export share to ASEAN has further increased to 16.2%, and the export share to the European Union, the United States, and Japan fell to 15.4%, 14.3% and 4.8% at the same time.

The industrial structure of ASEAN and China has natural synergy and complementarity. ASEAN not only undertakes the transfer of China's domestic industrial chain, but the United States trade contains a large number of Chinese goods to "bypass" Vietnam exports to the United States and promote the rapid rise in ASEAN's transfer trade. In addition, China's exports to Russia and Africa have also increased from 2.1% and 4.6% in 2022 to 3.1% and 5.3% in January-May this year.

In the short term, the European and American economy has fallen into a "stagnation" is the main reason why China's exports have fallen. However, with the increasingly complicated international situation and the external environment, the global industrial chain presents localization, regionalization, and anti-globalization characteristics. Western countries represented by the United States are accelerating the supply chain "de-Chineseization". Trend.

Rising costs and Sino-US trade frictions accelerate the layout of Southeast Asia. Prior to 2017, the rising costs of Chinese human resources and other elements and rigorous environmental protection supervision prompted some labor-intensive industrial chain to relocate. After 2017, Sino-US trade frictions occurred. In order to avoid high tariffs in the United States and the risk of decentralized industrial chain, we moved further acceleration. Among them, in addition to the low tariffs enjoyed by ASEAN members in Vietnam, Indonesia, the Philippines, and Cambodia, they also have the advantages of rich labor resources, low cost, and providing tax discounts for foreign investment to promote the rapid rise in the ASEAN transfer trade.

Correspondingly, China's share in the US imported bags (HS4202) decreased from 58.8% in 2017 to 25.5% in 2022, and the ASEAN share increased from 7.2% to 27% at the same time. The export share of China's clothing industry decreased from 36.7% in 2011 to 32.1% in 2021. In the same period, Bangladesh increased from 4.6% to 6.4%, and Vietnam rose from 3.1% to 5.7%.

After the epidemic, safety and toughness began to gradually replace efficiency and cost, which accelerated the diversified division of labor in the global industrial chain. During the new crown epidemic, benefited from the complete advantages of China's manufacturing categories and good infrastructure, the advantages of China's industrial chain are prominent. In the context of the overseas industrial chain, the overseas excess needs are highly connected, and China's export share is promoted. However, after the overseas epidemic is over, countries are becoming more and more aware of the importance of the diversification of the industrial chain. The focus of multinational enterprises should be considered by the global multi -point layout to cope with the risks of excessive concentration of the industrial chain. "China+N".

Enterprises represented by Samsung and Apple have accelerated their mobile phone business to Vietnam, India and other places, driving suppliers and supporting factories such as Foxconn, Heshuo, Lixun Precision. In June, Indian Prime Minister Modi visited the United States and signed the "United States and India Statement" with US President Biden Biden to reach a series of cooperation agreements in high -tech fields such as semiconductors, artificial intelligence, and space. Get rid of dependence on China. This not only exacerbates the risk of "decoupling" of the migration industry and China, but also directly affects the integrity and stability of the Chinese industrial system. The United States has accelerated the "near -shore outsourcing" and "Youkan Outsourcing" to create a "alliance to the China Industrial Chain". In April 2022, the House of Representatives of the United States launched the "Western Hemisphere Outsourcing Act" to encourage the relocation of the industry and provide low -interest loans and tax -free benefits to companies from China to Latin America. It is proposed that the concentrated force recovers the economy and restores the industrial chain, and implements the "Friends Outsourcing" strategy between the allies and partners.

Among them, Mexico is the biggest beneficiary of near -shore outsourcing. From the perspective of the product type imported from Mexico, the proportion of transportation equipment (cars) in the first quarter of this year is still at the top of the list, followed by computers and electronic products. Further increase. At the same time, medical machinery (15.6%), aerospace (15%), furniture (6.3%) and other industries have shown high -speed growth. Recently, Tesla is also mobilizing Chinese suppliers to go to sea and go to Mexico to copy the "Shanghai Factory".

Under the game of great powers, the trend of "decoupling" and "de - Chineseization" of global trade is inevitable. In the short term, the influence of Chinese -funded enterprises' investment and layout in Southeast Asia and the "re -export trade". The rapid growth of trade with ASEAN trade with ASEAN still supports China's exports, but the risk of relocation outside the industrial chain behind cannot be underestimated. For example, the author has mentioned that outside the industrial chain usually means that enterprises have departed, employment loss, and tax declines. As a result, residents' income declines and risk of unemployment of migrant workers need to be actively cope.

In addition, there are still problems such as key technical equipment and some basic materials in China's industrial chain. If China does not deepen the control of the key links of the industrial chain, it may be possibly caught in the vacuumization of the industry in the long run, which will lead to a decline in economic vitality, stagnation of income growth, and losing international competitiveness.

In order to cope with the problems of anti -globalization and Sino -US trade friction, on the one hand, try to delay the decoupling process of China and the United States, and to step up the time window for the upgrading of the industrial chain, and continue to increase regional integrated cooperation. Specific measures can: First, vigorously strengthen basic research and R & D expenditure, develop high -tech manufacturing and modern service industries, encourage digital transformation of industries, and promote the upgrading of industries to high value -added; , Accelerate the formation of open channels for South Asia and South Asia in Central Asia, and build a highland for inland reform and opening up; the third is to steadily expand the openness of rules, regulations, management, and standards to promote the high -quality development of the free trade pilot zone.

Recently, the State Council issued the "Several Measures on the Pilot of the International High Standards for the Pilot of the Pilot Control of the Pilot of the Pilot of the Free Trade Port" issued by the State Council. The system is open. In the next step, we should increase policy transparency, focus on creating a first -class business environment for marketization, rule of law, and internationalization, reduce the entry restrictions on foreign and private enterprises, and improve the quality and level of investment promotion.

On the other hand, the use of China's large -scale market volume and complete industrial chain advantages to actively implement the strategy of expanding domestic demand. Fiscal policy, especially central finance, will be an important starting point. For example, in the industry with strong employment capabilities to reduce social security and provident fund rates, increase residents' current disposable income, while driving consumer expenditure; it is recommended to issue about 3 trillion special government bonds, which are mainly used for new infrastructure investment and coordinated consumer coupons. , Pull the demand back to the normal track as soon as possible; the current local debt risks are high, the central government adds leverage, alleviates the existing debt of local governments, and drives local governments to stabilize the growth. In terms of monetary policy, further interest rate cuts (such as 50bp) are still necessary.

Considering that China's actual interest rate is high and the macro leverage is high, interest rate cuts will help reduce the cost of interest expenditure in the whole society and improve the balance sheet of various departments. In terms of real estate, we will increase loosening and cancel unreasonable measures such as purchase restrictions, sales, and price limits to meet rigid and improving housing demand, and promote market recovery as soon as possible.

Description: Jia Ming: In the short term, the central bank's digital currency (CBDC) has a limited marginal role in promoting the internationalization of the currency. The status of the country's CBDC in the international currency system can only be the mapping of traditional currency.

According to statistics from international clearing banks, at least 114 countries and regions around the world are actively paying attention to the central bank's digital currency (CBDC). A total of more than ten projects have started pilots or trial operations, but mainly concentrated in developing countries such as China, Bahamas and other developed countries, developed countries, developed countries. It is more cautious, mostly in the investigation and demonstration and internal testing stage. For example, the Fed only issued a digital US dollar report to comprehensively evaluate the pros and cons of CBDC, which is still at the stage of the case research; the European Central Bank is investigating and studying, and will decide whether to continue to advance after two years. The test has not been decided whether it was officially issued. Globally, China has taken the fastest and fastest in the distribution and application of CBDC, and the size of the project is the largest. It not only carries out small payment in the territory, but also conducts cross-border payment with Hong Kong, Thailand, and the UAE in Hong Kong, Hong Kong, Thailand, and the UAE.

The initial mission of CBDC was the erosion of cryptocurrencies such as Bitcoin. However, due to a series of defects currently in the international currency system dominated by the US dollar, CBDC seems to be given the expectation of promoting the reform of the international currency financial system. So, can CBDC really assume this historical mission?

1. The evolution of digital currency of the central bank

From the perspective of existing types, digital currencies have roughly experienced three stages: anchor -free private digital currency, anchor digital stable currency, and central bank digital currency.

First, there is no anchor -free private digital currency. Although it is called currency, it is usually considered a digital asset.

The cryptocurrency represented by Bitcoin is completely based on distributed ledger technology (DLT) and encryption algorithms. The underlying asset mortgage is not asset -free, and it does not represent the liabilities of institutions and individuals. It is a decentralized replacement. currency.

Second, there are anchored digital stablecoins. The centralized specific assets or legal currency are mortgaged and issued by the private sector.

Stable currency is actually born in the transaction demand of cryptocurrencies such as Bitcoin to avoid the restrictions on the direct exchange of cryptocurrencies and fiat currencies. USDT is the earliest stablecoin, issued by Tether, anchored the US dollar, and issued a 100%reserve arrangement. Due to a 100%reserve arrangement, it is actually similar to digital bank votes.

Third, the central bank's digital currency. Published by a central bank (or currency authorities) is a digital form of sovereign currency.

At the beginning of the birth of CBDC, the main mission was to avoid the erosion of private cryptocurrencies on sovereign currencies. Today, it mainly explores applications in improving payment efficiency.

Because CBDCs of various countries are still developing and evolving, in the technical structure (whether to use blockchain, distributed ledger technology), existence forms (main application scenarios, whether transfer and storage are limited, use accounts or tokens -based accounting accounts The operation framework (single layer or double layer), underlying assets (cash mortgage or anchor certain types of assets) are different designs. But at the present, first, countries generally adopt open ideas and attach importance to the potential application of distributed ledger technology and programmable; second, in order to prevent financial disconnects, most of them choose the "central bank-commercial bank" double-layer operation architecture Essence

According to the application scenario, CBDC can be divided into two types: retail type and who pasfuls. The former is limited to large transfer and remittance between banks and financial institutions, and the latter can be widely acquired by the public to meet the public's daily payment needs.

At present, retail CBDC has launched pilots or formally put into use in many countries including China. For example, Bahamas's Sand Dollar, Bakong in Cambodia, Chinese E-CNY and so on.

Most of the who pasfuls CBDC projects are at the preliminary theoretical demonstration or laboratory experimental stage. Including the Jasper project in Canada, the HELVETIA project in Switzerland, the UBIN project in Singapore, etc., as well as some cross -border cooperation projects, such as the Stella project in cooperation between Japan and the Central Bank of the European Union, the Dunbar project of multi -country cooperation. The People's Bank of China and the Hong Kong Financial Administration, the Central Bank of Thailand, and the Emirates Bank of China have jointly participated in the "M-Bridge" project, which are the fastest, and have been applied for application testing.

In general, the world's major economies continue to pay attention to the progress of CBDC. Due to the different motivations and strategies of developing CBDC in developing countries and developed countries, the initial enthusiasm of developing countries is higher. Developed countries are more prudent, the implementation of the ground is slow, and it is more inclined to explore the potential applications of CBDC in cross -border payment.

2. The impact of the central bank's digital currency on cross -border payment

2.1 Traditional proxy mode based on commercial bank network

In the traditional cross -border payment model, cross -border fund collection and payment between banks mainly adopt the agency bank.

The so -called agency bank model is that for cross -state and cross -currency payment activities, if the payment bank and the final receipt bank are not the relationship between account banks, then the payment bank can only be through other banks that exist in account banking with the final receipt bank (Agent) cooperation to settle the settlement of specific currency categories. In many cases, a cross -border payment may require a multi -layer agent bank.

The reason is that the payment and liquidation system between different countries and regions has its own proprietary technology and operating standards. There are also differences in accounting systems, regulatory rules, currency, and language. Therefore, the payment systems between countries often lack interoperable operations. sex. Furthermore, the establishment of an accounting relationship between the Bank of China and the Bank of China not only faces heavy technical costs, legal costs, financial costs, and credit risks, but also crowded the bank's liquidity. Therefore Acting relationship.

The multi -fund chain of the acting behavior nodes intertwined each other, forming the current cross -border payment system, and the only commonly used cross -border payment solution.

It should be noted that the transfer of cross -border funds is actually two layers of operation, one layer is the flow of funds, that is, the capital transfer depends on the account system of commercial banks; the other is the information flow, that is, the transmission of the payment instruction, which mainly depends on the main dependence of relying on the payment instructions. SWIFT System (Global Bank Financial Telecom Association).

It should be emphasized that Swift is a comprehensive financial information transmission system, not a payment clearing system. The transmitted information includes not only payment information, but also financial information such as guarantee and letter of credit. Even if the two banks want to communicate with general exchanges, they can also be performed through SWIFT. SWIFT also provides information transmission services for the liquidation of the US dollar single currency, but also provides information transmission services for all currencies' inter -bank payment liquidation. Swift is not the only payment information transmission system, but it is the most widely used system.

However, if the trading chain is long, the agency bank model will face obvious costs and efficiency issues. According to World Bank statistics, the average cost of retail remittances worldwide is 6.5% of the total remittance, and it may be as high as 12% in specific countries. Due to the differences in jet lag and institutional arrangements, every bank that flows through funds must conduct compliance review related to anti-money laundering/anti-terrorist financing. A cross-border payment usually takes 3-5 days.

2.2 Digital currency model based on distributed bookkeeping technology

From the current theoretical design, CBDC is used for cross -border payment, which seems to help improve cross -border payment efficiency.

First of all, CBDC based on a distributed cross -border payment network adopts a point -to -point transmission mode, which can attach value information and other information at the same time, realize the transfer of funds and information, and no longer need SWIFT to provide special message services to reduce intermediate links.

Secondly, through system and technology design, CBDC can improve the compatibility of data analysis and processing capabilities and system docking, realize 7*24 hours operation, solve the problem of non -matching time zone, and reduce the risk of trading opponents.

In terms of technical selection, for CBDC cross -border payment, central banks of various countries can choose to establish bilateral networks or use a single general platform. Bilateral networks need to consider information standards for cross -system coordination and transfer rate sharing. The advantage is that no coordinated compliance standards are required. A single universal platform adopts a single information standard, including the foreign exchange conversion design in the system, but needs to integrate the cross - system compliance solution.

Some institutions estimate that under the condition of particularly ideal, CBDC can shorten the length of cross -border payment to within one day (even a few seconds), and the transaction fee drops below 1%, which may break the economic and network effects due to cross -border payment. And the entry barriers.

2.3 Take M-Bridge as an example to compare the difference between the two

The predecessor of the M-Bridge is the Inthanon-LionRock project conducted by the Hong Kong Financial Administration and the Central Bank of the Thailand. Among them, Inthanon is a local CBDC network built by Thailand, and LionRock is the local CBDC network in Hong Kong. The initial purpose of the two is to explore and test payment transfer between domestic institutions.

In 2019, Hong Kong and Thailand cooperated to explore the possibility of using CBDC for bilateral cross -border payment.

In 2021, the People's Bank of China and the UAE Central Bank also joined in. With the support of the BIS Hong Kong Innovation Center, the project was renamed the "multilateral currency bridge" to study the feasibility of using CBDC for multilateral multi -currency cross -border payment.

From a technical point of view, the currency bridge is a corridor network (Corridor Network). All parties joining the platform can conduct cross -border payment through the DEPOSITORYRECEIPT (DR) without a intermediate account.

Traditional proxy Model:

Since the trade settlement between the four countries and regions participating in the M-Bridge is still mainly used other currencies such as the US dollar, the chain of the entire cross-border payment process is relatively long in the traditional agency bank model.

For example, when Chinese companies and Thai companies use US dollar settlement, the transfer of funds, in addition to the account opening banks of the two countries in their own country, the bank's account opening bank also needs to rely on its access to the United States Clear Institute's Bank's Alternative Payment System (CHIPS) (Sometimes it is necessary to pass the US dollar liquidation bank through Fedwire (FEDWIRE) to transfer the US dollar funds, but Chips has only more than forty direct participation. Other banks need to pass these forty banks through these forty banks Perform liquidation. Therefore, if the enterprise's account opening bank is small in the country, the payment process needs to increase the agent bank of the account opening bank, and sometimes even more than one agent bank. The transmission of information flow is mainly to use swift. The payment cost of the entire process includes at least telephone fees, handling fees, and transit fees, and exchange losses must be affected.

CHIPS is the world's largest private sector U.S. dollar capital transmission system. It is the center of the settlement and liquidation of the US dollar cross -border transaction. By connecting with the SWIFT system, it undertakes more than 95%of the world's interbank US dollar payment liquidation and more than 90%of foreign exchange transactions. Therefore, when the United States is undergoing financial sanctions, it can not only pressure SWIFT, kick the designated institution out of SWIFT, or use CHIPS to prohibit the use of CHIPS of related financial institutions of the sanctions enterprise to cut off its cross -border US dollar payment.

Multilateral currency bridge mode:

Suppose that the account opening banks of the two countries are connected to the M-Bridge project. Cross -border payment is actually divided into two layers. One layer is a "outside bridge" commercial bank process, and the other is the CBDC exchange and payment process of "inside the bridge".

According to China's official information, the minimum wage of 15 provinces is below 2,000 yuan. Reuters information. @stream On July 5th, the Ministry of Chinese and People's Social Affairs issued the minimum wage standards of 31 provinces and municipalities across the country, of which the minimum wages of employment in 15 provinces were less than 2,000 yuan. Some netizens believe that it is very fortunate to find a job, and some migrant workers can only take one day on vacation every month.

The "First Financial Daily" website reported on Wednesday that the Ministry of Human Resources and Social Security recently released the minimum wage standards of provinces, autonomous regions, and municipalities across the country (as of July 1, 2023). Among them, Shanghai still topped the list for 2690 yuan, and the minimum monthly wage standard of 15 provinces was 2,000 yuan or more. According to the minimum wage standard of this 31 provinces and cities, Shanghai employees' salary increased by 100 yuan over the previous year, and the minimum wage standard was adjusted from 23 yuan to 24 yuan. In addition, the lowest salary of Sichuan was 2,100 yuan, with a minimum of 20 yuan. The lowest salary was 1420 yuan in Liaoning Province, with a salary of 14.3 yuan per hour.

Mr. Xu, a resident of Chengdu, said that the local salary is generally not high, and the price of demand for life has risen, and the cost of living in residents is getting higher and higher. He said to this station: "It is still relatively low for more than 20 yuan for hours, because the price is high now. This salary level is much different from normal state-owned enterprises. The normal day does not exceed 8 hours, only 160 yuan. There are only 110, 120 yuan, 100 yuan a day a day. Some people can't find a job, and some people with older people don't want it. "Mr. Xu said that many development projects have stopped and many migrant workers cannot find jobs.

(Posted on Weibo/Guting) Half of the rivers and mountains, the minimum monthly salary of the industry is less than 2,000 yuan

According to reports, outside Shanghai, this year, Hebei, Shanxi, Guizhou, Qinghai, Anhui, Shaanxi and other places have raised their minimum wage standards. At present, China has a total monthly minimum wage standard of 15 provinces in 15 and above, which are Shanghai, Beijing, Guangdong, Zhejiang, Jiangsu, Hebei, Shaanxi, Tianjin, Shandong, Chongqing, Anhui, Fujian, Hubei, Henan, the rest are below 2,000 yuan.

In this regard, there are Weibo Shanxi netizens who wrote a message, what can be done even if the salary of 2,000 yuan is? Although the minimum is 1780 yuan, Shanxi is everywhere in Shanxi. The company has not bought official five insurances and one fund for employees, and the salary is only 1,500 yuan. Some netizens said that his monthly salary was 1,900 yuan, and other wages were paid, and enterprises could deduct at any time. There are also netizens ridiculed that the average salary is calculated, the total number of GDP calculations, and how should the birth rate be calculated in the future?

In 2020, then Chinese Prime Minister Li Keqiang acknowledged at the National Conference on the People's Congress that 600 million people had a monthly income of about 1,000 yuan. The above remarks caused heated discussion at home and abroad.

The minimum wage standard can only refer to unemployment than low wages

Mr. He, a commentator of Wuhan current affairs, told this station that the minimum wage announced by the official may not be accurate, but when many enterprises enroll in the contract to sign the contract, they give another lower monthly salary. He said: "At present, the local government has no money, and the landlord's house has no food. The official data can only be used as a reference, and the government has no ability to enforce it, so let's look at it."

Compared with the minimum wage, China's unemployment situation is even more shocking. On social platforms, many women have unable to find a job and maintain their livelihood by singing, showing bodybuilding or live broadcast.

The current affairs commentator thought to this station that what was more serious than the unemployment was that government officials did not really fulfill the guarantee clauses for employees: "Many companies have more than 12 hours of work now, from 8 o'clock in the morning to 11 pm , 12 o'clock, long time, low salary, very serious overtime overtime. Some have not rest for a month, only one day of vacation, many unemployed mortgages can not pay back, especially many college students are suspected of life now. " Essence

On Tuesday, the highest leader of Hong Kong said that eight disgraceful

On Monday, the police emphasized the external law of the Hong Kong National Security Law. The law set the activities that endanger China as a crime, even if these activities occurred outside Hong Kong and mainland China. Police claimed that eight wanted people were suspected of collusion with foreign countries and inciting split countries.

Eight activities wanted by the police are Luo Guancong, Guo Fengyi, and Liu Zudi. Former Legislative Councilors Guo Rongzheng, Xu Zhifeng, Lawyer Ren Jianfeng, Labor Leader Meng Zhanda, and Merchant and YouTube anchor Yuan Gongyi.

Guo Fengyi, executive director of the Hong Kong Democratic Commission in Washington, said that he would never bow his head. "This is to encourage me to act faster and stronger," she said in a telephone interview.

The Hong Kong government announced that the pursuit of the eight people has caused a problem: In order to hunt up the disgusting people, whether Hong Kong will seek help from the International Organization of Interpol, the International Interpol in Hong Kong. When asked if he would seek help from the Interpol Organization, the Hong Kong Police stated in a statement on Tuesday that "all necessary measures should be taken according to law to arrest personnel involved in the case."

What causes the reward to be wanted?

Legal scholars said that through the accusations and rewards of the eight people, the Hong Kong government wanted to create split among people in exile. When they encouraged the United States, Britain and Australia to formulate new laws to respond to Hong Kong's suppression, they were isolated and insulted.

"(Wanted) implies that they are dangerous criminals. In fact, they are peace critics who have transformed into autocracy to the Hong Kong government," said Tomas Kelogag, executive director of the Asian Law Center. He added that the wanted order may be counterproductive and put greater pressure on governments in various countries to allow them to take countermeasures against Hong Kong.

Intel, the largest semiconductor industry in the United States, said that he is evaluating the statement of the Chinese Ministry of Commerce and intends to diversify the supply chain.

(Voice of Germany Chinese) "Wall Street Journal" reported on Tuesday (July 4), China Restricted Semiconductor Key Metal Export The accelerated enterprise moved the supply chain out of China, and the current political and business circles of various countries are trying to reduce the impact of the "Sino -US trade war".

On the 3rd, the Ministry of Commerce of China announced that Export control will be implemented on the two metal minerals of 钇 and 锆 from August 1st The purpose is to protect national security. The next day. Mao Ning, a spokesman for the Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs, emphasized that the control is an international practice, "justice, reasonable, non -discrimination", "not targeting any specific country."

Nevertheless, the international community generally believes that this move is aimed at the science and technology of the United States and its allies. Reuters pointed out that the timing of Beijing's announcement of this regulation is just before the United States Independence Day, and it is also before the US Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen is about to visit China.

"China has hit the key to US trade restrictions," Peter Arches, chairman of the China International Mining Association (GMAC), told Reuters.

The two metal minerals of 金 and 银 are widely used in semiconductor materials, new energy and other fields. According to data from the European key raw material committees, China's output accounts for about 80% of the world's, and the output of the pupae is about 60%. It is mainly exported to the United States, the European Union, Japan, and South Korea.

The "Wall Street Journal" reported that industry experts said that it is unlikely that this move in China will immediately crack down on the output of the supply chain, because excessive export restrictions will also hurt Beijing's own industrial development. However, under the wrestling of China and the United States, this move has sounded the alarm to the countries that may be affected.

China is reported to be the largest producer in the world. The picture shows the data of the minerals.

The Dutch government called on the 4th that the European Union must respond to new regulations issued by China. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs stated that the measures will have a big impact on the European and Dutch economies, "depending on how China implements", which will "keep close connection with the European Commission and other EU member states.

Earlier on the same day, the European Commission also expressed concerns and stated that it was evaluating the potential impact of this move on the European industry, and at the same time urged China to restrict the content of the control in the scope of "clear security considerations".

Last week, new control measures were just sacrificed by the Netherlands It is required that the country's enterprises must apply for a license first when exporting some high-end chip manufacturing equipment. The restricted company includes the country's largest semiconductor equipment company ASML (ASML). Even though this move did not indicate China, it was still regarded as a move to block China to obtain high-end chip technologies.

Japan and South Korea worried about Taiwan to fade the impact?

According to Bloomberg, at a routine press conference on the 4th, the Minister of Economy and Industry Nishimura Kangji said that the Japanese side will pay attention to how China implements metal export control and confirm the intention behind it. He said: "If (China) takes unfair measures to Japan, Japan will take corresponding measures in accordance with the WTO rules."

Recently, the European Union has also announced that it will deepen the cooperation with Japan in the semiconductor industry, including joint supervision chip supply chain, promoting the exchange of researchers and engineers, and also considering providing subsidies for Japanese semiconductor companies that develop business in the European Union.

What is the future of the chip industry?

In May, Japan announced export control of 23 semiconductor equipment and materials And 42 "friendly countries and regions" are added to the list of simplified review procedures, including the United States, South Korea and Taiwan, which are not included in China. The control is expected to be officially implemented on July 23, so public opinion believes that this move in China is also a revenge on Japan.

The South Korean government also held an emergency meeting on the 4th to evaluate the potential consequences of China's implementation of export restrictions on export restrictions. Bloomberg reported that officials from the Ministry of Commerce of the Korean Industry Corporation stated that they did not rule out that China will further expand the export of other key semiconductor materials. Therefore, the Korean side "plans to further diversify the source of key materials" and be the materials that "highly depend on specific countries" materials. Find alternatives.

Analysis of Reuters, South Korea and Taiwan are the global chip manufacturing place, Try to "dilute" potential effects. Taiwan Economic Minister Wang Meihua told Taiwan media on the 4th that 镍 and 钯 are all primary raw materials. If they want to import to Taiwan, they must first pass through the United States and Japan. Long -term effect.

Li Chun, the secondary director of the Taiwan Ministry of Foreign Affairs, said in a media tea narrative that "China always adopts tooth to return to teeth" to counter the export restrictions of other countries This is expected to reduce dependence on Taiwan and other places.

How to deal with it?

Reuters reports that the restrictions on metal exports in the industry in the industry will interfere with the industrial chain, so many companies compete for supply.

AXT Inc, headquartered in the United States, said that the national subsidiary Tongmei Crystal will immediately apply for a license to continue exporting 鎝 and cymbal board products.

A spokesman for Intel said the company was evaluating the statement of the Ministry of Commerce of China, saying that the company's strategy was "having a diversified global supply chain" and "the risk of our local changes and (supply chain) interruptions dropped To the lowest".

German companies also responded to China's export control. The picture shows the factory of the German semiconductor manufacturer Yingfei Ling, which was taken in 2013.

A German chip manufacturer Infineon anonymous sources emphasized to Reuters that most of the company's supply comes from outside China and has recently started production in factories in Malaysia.(Comprehensive report)

"Japan Economic News" reported that the UN nuclear supervision agency turned on a green light. The Japanese government plans to discharge the nuclear waste water processed by the Fukushima first nuclear power plant into the sea as soon as August.

The International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) announced on Tuesday (July 4) to announce a comprehensive report of the Fukushima's processing of water, saying that Japan's plan "complies with international security standards." The report also evaluated that if it is discharged in stages according to the plan, the influence on the radiation of humans and the environment is "very small."

The Director -General of IAEA, Grones, said that it is safe to discharge Fukushima's treatment of water into the sea, but he also emphasized that discharge of Fukushima's treatment of water is the decision of the Japanese government. The IAEA report cannot be approved as the standard for approval of this policy.

Japanese Prime Minister Kishida said that with the IAEA review report, Japan hopes to fight for the decision to deal with the water in the water in the domestic and international support. This is an important milestone for the Fukushima first nuclear power plant accident caused by the 311 earthquake and tsunami in Japan in 2011.

Grone gave the report to Kishida Wenxiong in Tokyo on Tuesday. The IAEA investigation team inspected many times and completed the report for nearly two years. During Fukushima's processing water, IAEA will continue to evaluate safety.

Tokyo said in January this year that it is planned to deal with Fukushima in the "Spring to Summer", but it does not explain the specific discharge date. It is expected that the national nuclear regulatory agency will pass the week as soon as possible.

Fisheries trade unions such as Fukushima Prefecture, Japan have always opposed the treatment of Fukushima's processing of water, saying that many countries have banned imports of some foods in Japan because they are worried about nuclear radiation. The discharge of Fukushima's efforts to repair their reputation will be put into the east.

The opposition of the surrounding countries of Japan has not subsided. South Korean media reported that local people bought salt in panic due to worrying about the seawater pollution; Beijing publicly criticized the Paihai Plan, And protested by a press conference on Tuesday, the Chinese Embassy in Japan.

But with entering the Southeast Asian market, the name of Riqing seems to have fallen to the bottom. Its Vietnamese business is almost disappeared among the top ten local brands, which is in sharp contrast to its great success in the Mainland China and Hong Kong markets.

On April 12, the Democratic Progressive Party held a press conference and nominated the current vice president of Taiwan Lai Qingde to run for the 2024 presidential election.

(Voice of Germany Chinese website) Taiwan's current vice president and the Democratic Progressive Party presidential candidate Lai Qingde in 2024 Tuesday (July 4) took the title of "I Security of the Taiwan Strait Peace", and voted for the Wall Street Journal. Firmly defend Taiwan's peace and stability and democratic achievements And reiterate the current situation on both sides of the strait, but also "does not rule out a conversation with the other side under mutual benefit, dignity, and no prerequisites."

"The care of democracy must start with my own. As a doctor, I will never heal patients without the treatment plan." Lai Qingde, who was born in a doctor, proposed the "4 pillars" solution for the peace on both sides of the strait.

Resistance; strengthen supply chain security; establish partnership with democratic countries; promote pragmatic and consistent cross -strait policies.

Lai Qingde said: "No one is happy to see a threatening China, but this is the reality we face." He pointed out that Chinese military aircraft and warships still cross the sea and air near Taiwan every day. This reminds Taiwanese: "Democracy and freedom that you enjoy now must not be considered for granted."

Lai Qingde said that Facing Beijing's military and economic pressure , "Maintaining pragmatic and consistent cross -strait policies" is the first priority, and does not rule out dialogue with China, but the basis of the dialogue should be mutually beneficial, dignified, and no prerequisite.

For about eight years in the administration of Taiwan President Tsai Ing -wen, it has repeatedly stated that he is willing to seek "non -prerequisite for political premise" and constructive cross -strait peaceful dialogue.

A spokesman for the Taiwan Affairs Office of the State Council, Zhu Fenglian, said in 2020 that the root cause of the tension between cross -strait relations is the DPP "unilaterally destroying the common political foundation of cross - strait dialogue and negotiation": "denied the" 1992 consensus "and deviated from a China principle. Can't talk about it. "

Lai Qingde's investment book reviews his experience from a doctor to politics, and considers himself that "the role positioning is the same as the political predecessor who maintained the security of the Taiwan Strait that year." The picture shows a scene in Taipei City. (Data photo)

What do you think of Lai Qingde voted for all circles?

The claims in Lai Qingde's investment book largely continued Tsai Ing -wen's policy. Both emphasized the reform of national defense and believed that frequent exchanges with democratic allies Improve Taiwan's international status internationally Essence Taiwan Foreign Affairs Director Li Chun told foreign media reporters in Taiwan on Tuesday (4th) that [Summit of the Seventh Kingdom Group (G7) May) (<https://www.dw.com/zh/zh/分析 g7 對中更強硬-調停戰爭不單靠北京/a-65689524>)It shows that the international consensus has gradually appeared, and it is believed that the peace and stability of the Taiwan Strait is "indispensable" for international security and prosperity.

Li Chun pointed out that at least 40 foreign visits to Taiwan this year. According to the Presidential Palace of Taiwan, Cai Yingwen met with Kevinhern, Chairman of the Republican Research Committee (RSC) of the American House of Representatives on the 4th, to meet the Japanese "Constitution, Re -Recentrous Renewal, National Super Party sent Taiwan Visiting Group" on the 3rd; The cross -party visit to Taiwan is expected to stay until July 9.

Taiwan President Tsai Ing -wen met Mike Rogers, Chairman of the Military Commission of the United States Council on June 28. According to the Taiwan Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the delegation led by Rogers is the largest US Congress visit in recent years.

Bloomberg analyzed that Lai Qingde's investment book released a signal to the United States and his allies, showing that he agreed with the United States to one of the main positions of Taiwan. US Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin reiterated in June that the United States is still firmly committed to maintaining the status quo of the Taiwan Strait. According to reports, although Austin criticized China for "bullying" in the region, the United States also hopes to ensure that Taiwan will not "unnecessarily cause the hostility of Beijing." Instead, the United States will defend Taiwan.

According to the Taiwan Central News Agency, Bonnieglaser, a scholar of the Marshall Fund Association of Washington, believes that Lai Qingde said he was willing to talk to Beijing on the basis of mutual benefit and dignity. It will adhere to the core principles of Tsai Ing -wen to deal with cross -strait relations. Ge Laiyi said that this article "should only be the first step in the planning of Lai Qingde's policy agenda." Perhaps when he passed the United States in the future, he would put forward more vision such as cross -strait relations and international roles in Taiwan.

Reuters quoted sources as saying that Lai Qingde was expected to visit the United States in August; Taiwan's presidential candidates would visit the United States traditionally to discuss its foreign policy agenda.

Recently, mainstream polls in Taiwan show that 3 presidential candidates at this stage Among them, the Democratic Progressive Party's Lai Qingde and Ke Wenzhe of the People's Party have supported Hou Youyi, the Kuomintang. Compared to Lai Qingde, Hou Youyi lacks specific cross -strait policies
Essence However, Hou Youyi made a more clear statement on Monday (3rd), saying that "accepting the 1992 consensus that accepted the Constitution of

A Federal Court of Court of Federal Court issued an order to restrict the Bayeng government and social media companies to conduct dialogue, asking for review of social media content to suppress remarks and views of opposition.

This major decision may weaken the US government's efforts to crack down on wrong information about health and other issues.

According to the "New York Times" and Reuters, the Republican Chief Prosecutor of Louisiana and Missouri initiated a lawsuit, accusing the Bayeon government's attempt to suppress critic's voice too much. They claimed that government officials were worried that the posts that questioned the crown vaccine or subverted the election affected public opinion and encouraged social media companies to strictly review the contents of the post.

The Federal Judge of Louisiana ruled on Tuesday (July 4) to restrict the Bayeng government and social media platforms on a large number of online content.

Suppress or reduce content containing freedom of remarks "and talk to social media companies.

The order of the Federal Federal Federation on Tuesday may have a significant impact on the first amendment of the US Constitution, which is a major progress on the fierce legal struggle around the boundary of the online speech.

The decision of Luzhou Federal Judge is a victory for Republicans. They often blame social media websites such as Facebook, Twitter, and YouTube to delete the right content in proportion, and sometimes even cooperate with the Biden government.

Democrats believe that these platforms have failed to fully regulate error messages and hatred remarks, leading to dangerous consequences including violence.

Putin: Sanctions make Russia stronger

Russian President has appeared on the International Forum for the first time since the short rebellion of the Wagner Group last month.

He said at the summit that Russia would resist the West and his "provocation" of his "special military operations" in Ukraine.

He seemed to use this platform to send confrontation to the West. He said: "Russia resist all these external sanctions, pressures and provocations, and continue to develop unprecedentedly."

Putin's support of the local currency trade agreement between member states is also considered an attempt to weaken Western sanctions.

Modi has never criticized Russia for the Ukrainian war

Iranian naturalization

Indian Prime Minister Modi announced at the summit that Iran officially became a member of the SCO -this was regarded as a new step in international isolation at the time of strengthening relations with Iran and China and Russia.

Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi said: "The benefits of the Iranian Republic of the Islamic Republic will be historic."

The Iranian Republic News Agency (IRNA) quoted Laish's speech that he hoped that the identity of member states would pave the way for improving security, respect for the sovereignty of member states, sustainable development, and response to environmental threats.

UN Secretary -General Antonio Guterres said in a message that the summit is dealing with increasingly growing global challenges and risks.

The Associated Press quoted Gutres: "When the world needs to work together, the differences are intensifying, and the situation of geopolitical tensions is rising."

"These differences have been added to the drama due to various factors: different treatment methods for the global crisis; different views on non - traditional security threats; of course, there are the consequences of the new crown epidemic and Russian invasion of Ukraine."

However, India opposes this initiative because the infrastructure design in the initiative includes parts of Kashmir controlled by Pakistan, and New Delhi believes that the region should be part of its split territory.

India and Pakistan have been opposed for a long time on Kashmir's issue - this controversial Himalayan region has been divided by the two countries, but both countries claim that they have all sovereignty.

At the same time, thousands of soldiers were stationed on the disputed border between Delhi and Beijing in the Ladaka region of the East, and the state of stalemate confrontation has been in the state for several years.

In addition, the convening of the SCO Summit was just as the Ukraine War continued, and Moscow deepened China's diplomacy in this war.

Although New Delhi avoids criticizing Russia's invasion, the relationship between Moscow and China may provoke India in the long run and complicate its relationship with today's Russia.

The Indian Prime Minister Modi, who presided over the summit, called on member states to strengthen trade, interconnection and scientific and technological cooperation.

He did not mention the increasing existence of the Ukrainian war or China in the Indo -Pacific region -as India, which has never been united, because his relationship with the West has become increasingly close and he has to maintain a balance in diplomacy.

A few days ago, when the United States went to Washington for a state visit, the United States gave him a grand reception when he visited Washington for a state visit.

On the other hand, India has always refused to blame the Ukrainian war on Russia, and has greatly expanded bilateral trade by increasing the purchase of Russian oil, which angered the West.

Although Modi had a problem of regional security at the summit, it did not mention that China -China and India have long -term hostile relations. The two countries have erupted a fatal conflict on the long -term dispute between the two countries in 2020. It has continued to this day to a certain extent.

The West has increasingly regarded India as the power to check and balance China, even if the Delhi has never publicly recognized this.

At the Shanghai Cooperation Organization Summit, India avoided talking about this again.

Instead, the Indian Prime Minister urged member states to cooperate in cross -border terrorism.

"Some countries use cross -border terrorism as a policy tool to provide asylum for terrorists ... The SCO should not be polite when criticizing these countries," Modi said.

Such a statement is often considered to be targeted at neighboring Pakistan.

Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif said that the member states of SCO must take measures to "combat the three major crimes of terrorism, extremism and divisionism.

However, he also said that the efforts of the minority of religious factions should not be demonized by the "pursuit of the domestic political agenda" -s are considered to be considered by India, and Pakistan often accuses the latter of failing to protect Muslim rights.

The Modi government has always denied that India has not protected its domestic religious minority, India's population is mainly Hindus.

When the Shanghai Cooperation Organization was established in 2001, it includes four former Soviet Republics of Central Asia, including China -Russia and Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Gilgisan, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan. India and Pakistan joined in 2017.

After Iran joined this year, Belarus may also apply for joining next year.

Malaysia's two former leaders Mahathir and Muyudin met and discussed in cooperation in the "Malays Declaration" movement.

Xingzhou.com reported that the National Alliance Chairman Mu Yuding arrived at Mahathir's house on Tuesday (July 4), and the two met with a meeting of about two hours.

Muyudin became the Prime Minister after the Pakatan Harapan government led by Mahathir. The Chairman of the Malay Declaration Secretariat, Keludin, issued a statement saying that Muyudin and Mahathir's meeting will inject a new spirit into the efforts of consolidating and strengthening the Malays.

"These two Malay veterans are willing to put aside all the political differences in the past, in order to ensure the continuation of the struggle, and strengthen the national status on this sacred land."

"Mahathir and Muyadin's praise, will become a new support for all the Malays who are very 'eager' to comprehensively unify and unite."

Kaelin said that meeting with Muyudin was the hope of Mahathir's hope to realize the comprehensive and unified manifestation of the Malay people to implement the hope and dreams of all Malays.

He said: "In fact, the Malaysian Declaration Movement of the" No Party "opened the door to any Malay who eager to unite, no matter what their political ideology is."

"The Malay Declaration Secretariat will work hard to unite the entire Malay society in the" overall "method, and then find out all controversial issues to find solutions for each problem that has always troubled us."

The media reported last week that Mahathir revealed that he hoped to meet with Muyudin to explain the purpose of the "Malay Declaration". Mahathir is also willing to cooperate with Muyudin again. Mu Yuding then responded that he was ready to cooperate again for "race, religion and state" with Mahathir.

Chinese President Xi Jinping pointed out at the SCO Conference that it is necessary to highly be alert to inciting "New Cold War" in the region, opposing foreign motivation "color revolution", and cracking down on "East

"Turkistan" and other forces, and suggested expanding the share of "local currency settlement". Scholars analyzed that Xi Jinping intends to create a "two -o'clock version of Warsaw Treaty Organization".

Xi Jinping warns color revolutionary netizens: white is also a color On the eve of the 14th anniversary of the 7th Five -Year Plan incident in China, Xi Jinping stated at the director of the head of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization on July 4 that on July 4, it was highly alert to the "New Cold War" and manufacturing camp confrontation in the region, and resolutely opposed the opposition in the region. Any country interfere in the internal affairs and motivate the "color revolution" for any reason. We must continue to carry out joint operations and severely crack down on "three forces" such as "East Turkistan".

In an interview with Radio Asia, Tang Jingyuan, a commentator from the American current affairs, pointed out that the SCO established its sincerity to focus on security cooperation, which is the name of China and Russia to combat counter -terrorism. , Finance, currency, and even comprehensive alliances of military cooperation. Xi Jinping said that he did not engage in the Cold War, and was actually strengthening confrontation.

From the expansion of counter -terrorism to political and economic, diplomacy, consciousness, currency and other all -round alliances

Tang Jingyuan analyzed: "Xi Jinping has an abacus. He wants to make the SCO into a two -point version of Warsaw Treaty organization to fight the regional nature of the North Atlantic Convention. For the core, confront the United States Allied Group, and for the next step in China and the United States, competition may be intensified, wider, and stronger, and make some preparations. "

According to Xinhua News Agency, Xi Jinping said in terms of economic fields, saying that he opposes "building walls and setting up bases" and "decapting chain". It is necessary to strengthen the construction of the Belt and Road Initiative, it is recommended to expand the share of national national currency, expand the sovereign digital currency cooperation, and promote the establishment of the SCO Development Bank.

Xi promotes the "home currency settlement" to the US dollar and the internationalization of RMB

Tang Jingyuan said that Xi promoted the "home currency settlement" intended to confront the currency value. "Xi Jinping hopes to implement the US dollar and the internationalization of the RMB. The SCO is a very good platform and carrier. Then use his Belt and Road, that is, the Belt and Road is from the line, and the "face -shaped" is the international RMB international. The strategy of turning and going to the US dollar. This is a very important step in his strategic competition with the United States. "

Tang Jingyuan believes that Xi Jinping envisions the use of economic debt traps and political coercion, and binds these national interests with the above members of the members as the core, like a bond to form a very huge political force, and the free democratic camp led by the United States to form two to form two to form two. Big campus confrontation.

On July 4, 2023, Xi Jinping said at a meeting of the members of the members of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization through the video that it was highly alert to incite the "New Cold War" and manufacture camp confrontation in the region, and resolutely opposed any country to interfere with any reason for any reason. Internal affairs and "color revolution". We must continue to carry out joint operations and severely crack down on "three forces" such as "East Turkistan". (Reuters video screenshot/cctv) The members of the SCO include China, Russia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, Uzbekistan, Pakistan, India, and Iran. Mongolia, Belarus, and Afghanistan are observer states.

Terrorist tissue micro -high -quality organization disappears?

Shen Ming room, director of the National Security Research Institute of Taiwan National Defense Security Research Institute, accepted an interview with Radio Free Asia that the SCO was established in Shanghai in 2001. Now the power of terrorist organizations is scattered, and the Islamic State cannot produce effects. However, China is still very concerned about the so-called East Turkey Terrorist Organization in Xinjiang near Central Asia to emphasize joint operations to prevent radical organizations and their religious people.

This year, as the host country of the rotating chairman, India announced that Iran became a member country, and signed a memorandum of Belarus to join the obligations. According to Shen Ming's analysis, Indian President Modi can hold a grand entity meeting, but he just visited the United States and talked happily with Biden. It would not have to be "sent to us" with video to avoid opportunities with Putin and Xi Jinping. Essence

Shen Mingshu pointed out that most of the members of the SCO Organization opposed the United States, or that the United States was regarded as a so-called evil axis or challenging the national interests of the United States. Like India, it is a democratic election country. There is no external forces to intervene, and there is no need to worry about the color revolution. India has not advocated supporting the Belt and Road Initiative. The China -Pakistan Economic Corridor spans Kashmir and is a disputed territory in China and India.

The internal interests of the SCO Organizations have two positions in the United States

Shen Mingshi mentioned two different concepts within the SCO. "China and Russia hope to strengthen security cooperation and even cooperate with other countries to compete with the value of the United States and the West or military force. Holding a neutral attitude, not echoing China -Russia's claims, or maintaining a balance. Xi Jinping mentioned that he does not want the United States and other countries to influence the member states of the SCO's "de-risk, decoupling" strategy, and also calls on the Chinese side.

Russian President Putin said at the meeting that Russia was facing a mixed war and suffered unprecedented illegal sanctions. Putin mentioned that more than 80 % of the trade between China and Russia was carried out in local currency. Putin suggested to convert the counter-terrorism agencies in the organization from regional to global institutions. Chen Wenjia said: "From India as the host country, Iran joined the SCO to highlight Russia's dominance in the SCO. Especially in order to allow Russia to participate in, India has special vision news to avoid being arrested by Putin to India."

Russia has invaded Ukraine for more than a year, and the International Criminal Court issued a arrest warrant for Putin in March this year.

It is expected that she will have a major breakthrough in this trip, but Yellen will promote economic communication between the two parties. However, some analysts are not optimistic about this visit, called "one empty journey".

U.S. officials stated that Yellen will be "frank discussion" during a visit from July 6th to 9th.

U.S. officials stated that Yellen's visit from July 6th to 9th During the period, "frank discussion" will be carried out. On Monday (July 3), the Chinese Ministry of Commerce announced that from August 1st, the two metal minerals will be exported to the two metal minerals. It is expected to cause damage to American companies.

It is expected that Yellen will have a major breakthrough in this trip, but according to U.S. officials, Yellen will promote the consequences of providing key aid to Russia with key assistance to Russia.

Last month, U.S. Secretary of State Brills met with Chinese President Xi Jinping during his visit to China The two sides agreed that the competition between the two countries should not be conflict. A senior government official said: "There is no substitute for diplomacy. Telephone communication is not the same."

Wu Xinbo, a professor at the International Institute of International Issues of China Fudan University, described Yellen as the "sound of rationality" in the Biden government, and said that China hopes that Yellen's visit can "improve the atmosphere." According to Sina News. He said that China is mainly concerned about tariffs imposed by the Trump administration. "These tariffs have not been abolished until now, and Biden did not do anything to reduce these tariffs." Wu Xinbo said that China also pays attention to the suppression of China in the field of science and technology, but this problem is not within the scope of Yellen's responsibility Instead, the US Minister of Commerce Raymond Doro is responsible for it. I hope that Raymondo can also visit China as soon as possible. At that time, China and the United States may have more substantial discussions on this issue.

Expert: The opposition state "brings damage to the US -China economy"

But some critics are not optimistic about Yellen's trip to China. American Enterprise Research Institute (AEI) scholar Shi Kendao(Derekcissor)It is believed that, considering that China refused to consider recurrence of military dialogue, Yellen's interview was a "one -time journey." He said: "They look like beggars. In terms of security, the Chinese are unwilling to talk to us, so it seems that the economy is regarded as a substitute."

Some officials revealed that Yellen is expected to focus on economic issues, but she will also remind the Chinese side that any act of providing key assistance to Russia may cause Chinese companies to be sanctioned, which violates sanctions on Russia. The official said that the United States was uneasy about the rebellion of Wagner's mercenaries last month and the weakness of the Russian army, but Beijing relied on stable Russian food supply and fuel. The official said: "We often hear that China guarantees that they will not provide key aid to Russia. We are asking the other party to do this, and we will continue to observe."

The interviews between Brinken and Yellen are deemed to be in the Spy Solder Incident The key to improving communication between the two countries later. At the Asia -Pacific Economic Cooperation Summit held in San Francisco in November this year, US President Biden may meet with Xi Jinping. Gandeid(Scott Kennedy) It is said that the visit of Yellen's Treasury Secretary is not only preparing for possible worship at the Summit of the Asia -Pacific Economic Cooperation: "The highest economic supervisor of the two countries has been exchanged for more than three years, which is dangerous for the global economy."

Jake Colvin, president of the National Foreign Trade Association, believes that the interview may help the two parties establish a "new normal" and establish a foundation in bilateral relations. However, the tariff measures imposed by the former Trump administration will not be canceled, as well as export control issued by Biden. Despite the cooling relationship, data from the US Department of Commerce showed that the trade between China and the United States grew for the third consecutive year in 2022.

An official of the Ministry of Finance said that Yellen's trip will emphasize that it is necessary to cooperate with Beijing in many aspects such as climate change, cracking down on epidemic and debt issues, and even if Washington continues to take targeted actions on human rights or security issues. The official added that China and the United States accounted for 40% of the global economy output. Yellen will tell the other party that Washington does not seek to decide the two economies, while retaining human rights and US Guoan by targeted actions.

Some government officials revealed that Yellen will first meet with He Lifeng, the vice premier of China's new State Council. In January of this year, Yellen met with the then deputy prime minister Liu He at the time in Switzerland. The outside world is expected to have a different meeting with He Lifeng. His English ability is not good, and the background is not related to finance, but the planning field.(Reuters and other)

@stream 1. A problem reflected by a student's fight

Hello everyone, welcome everyone to listen to "History of the Great", I am the host Sun Cheng. Today, we will continue to carry out a series of historical programs of the Cultural Revolution to tell the rise of the Red Guards Movement.

In the previous content, we have introduced the entire social background of the Red Guards Movement. In this lecture, we will enter the topic. As we said before, the Red Guards Movement originated from the High School of Tsinghua University in Beijing. So, what kind of state is this school in the Cultural Revolution?

Before talking about this issue, let's take a look at what kind of school is the Tsinghua High School on the eve of the Cultural Revolution. According to the memories of Zheng Yi, a Chinese revolutionary attached to the Chinese Revolution, the state of this school at the time was:

"Wan Bangruo, the principal of Tsinghua University, is ambitious, and needs to run the school into a model of secondary education in the country. In addition to the influence of political education by the increasingly tense political atmosphere at the time, the school's own educational reform has expanded the knowledge. Every Monday movie lesson, screening technology and foreign language films, encourage various extracurricular groups and lectures), pay attention to teaching methods (emphasize less and fine, oppose full -length irrigation), reduce the burden on students (oppose extracurricular overtime), attach importance to strengthening students' physical fitness (Emphasizing the track and field movement to improve the basic physical fitness, and even even the work of working as an important indicator), there are still some efforts that still have reference value. Students are not good at academic performance. "

According to today's words, the Tsinghua University of Tsinghua University at that time was a school that emphasized "quality education". However, the problem is that there are many cadres and children in this school, which causes a very serious opposition between students. why? Zheng Yi's article wrote like this:

"From the perspective of the national situation, the years in Tsinghua Affiliated Middle School happened to be the most loose period before the Cultural Revolution after the Great Famine. The theory of only in the form is that the performance of the performance of the Tsinghua High School is a school with a lot of cadres and children. The education policy of the proletarian political services, the combination of education and production labor 'has been vigorously implemented, but from the school's own social functions, the school also makes articles on these four words as possible to improve the teaching level and avoid in the preparation of the teaching level and avoid in the way Students have caused fierce differentiation and struggle. "

In fact, in that era, the so -called "bad origin" students often had good reading and study traditions because their families often had good reading and studying traditions. Compared with this advantage. Therefore, although the school is trying to avoid the division of students, there is actually no way to stop them. Zheng Yi described this state as a "walking steel rope" and said:

"But the school's strategy of walking a steel rope finally loses a balance in an increasingly tight political atmosphere. The symbol is that the" Lou Xiong (Fighting) incident "that happened in our class 631 ... There is no "protecting" cadre children, and no "unwavering" implementation of the party's class line. The school leader learned that it was a child from a civilian background to hit the cadres and children, which was shocked and re -handled overnight. Tong'ti 'God', the Fourth Middle School has no trouble for the whole army. "

(The above quotes, see Zheng Yi: "Tsinghua Affiliated Middle School, Red Guards and Me")

The "Lou Xiong Incident" was a student fighting incident that occurred in the Affiliated High School in Tsinghua in 1964. At that time, the school's student, the son of the Chinese ambassador to Cuba Xiong Xianghui Xiong Gang, and the civilian student of the school, Lou Qi, had a fight. After the incident, the principal Wan Bangru obviously favored the cadres and children, saying that Lou Qi's fighting behavior was a "class struggle" behavior called 'cadre children'. The approach of the school's outline has aroused the anger of the school's civilians. As a result, the school was filled with a big poster with views. The students debated each other because of this incident and divided into two across opposites.

Second, cadre children and civilian children: divided into students who are opposed to the two factions

In the same year, another thing happened in the Tsinghua Affiliated High School. According to the memories of the parties, the situation of this incident is: Wang Ming, the son of Wang Zhongfang, deputy minister of the Ministry of Public Security, was in trouble because of his duties and difficulties on the issue of joining the Communist Youth League. Applying for the group. At this time, Wang Ming threatened to write a letter to the Central Committee of the Youth League and complained that the leaders of the Tsinghua Affiliated Middle School did not implement the class route. The group, and immediately let Wang Ming as the cadre of the Youth League Committee after joining the group. "

From the above two things, it can be seen that at that time, the school of Tsinghua University of Tsinghua had very special care for the CCP cadres and children. And such a kind of privilege to cadres and children has developed to the point of climbing the peak. In May 1966, the month of the outbreak of the Cultural Revolution. In the environment, most of the senior intellectuals are considered to be the bourgeois -class reaction authority. Although the student's family background is not black, it is not a red category."

However, from the perspective of cadres and children, although this student is not a "black five", the student's "origin" still seems so -called too "reactionary". At that time, the thoughts of Gao Qian's children in the school were: "The Communist Youth League should be a pure red group. To ensure the pure red of this group, the Communist Youth League members must be born from the red family of red five types. People who came from the category "mixed into the 'Communist Youth League, this organization will change color." So why did the school still have the phenomenon of reusing civilian children? In fact, although the school's policy at that time was very good for cadres and children. However, in the minds of the school teachers, those proud and proud cadre children are not attracting people, so teachers "Although they dare not offend them on the surface, on the specific issues, they also take care of those 'good performances' as much as possible. Students from ordinary origin. For example, on the issue of joining the Communist Youth League, they can't stop the cadres and children who have not performed well 'to enter (Communist Youth) group, so they pay attention to the development of "not good -looking" but 'good performance' civilian children entering. group."

(The above multiple quotes are from Chongxinyue and Best Peak: "Thirty Cultural Revolution Hanging")

In addition, from the perspective of the civilians of the Tsinghua University of High School at that time, everything happened in the school as the opposite state of showing the opposite of the perspective of cadre children. At that time, the situation was "starting in 1964, the school organized the 'cadre children's learning group' and military training team. The growth of cadre children has caused the resentment and dissatisfaction of civilians and Gao Zhizhi children."

(Xiao Ling: "Tsinghua Affiliated Middle School and the Red Guards Movement", in "Yan Huang Chunqiu", No. 10, 2011)

In this way, when students split into two factions, most members of the members of the cadres have launched a series of activities on the eve of the Cultural Revolution. The article "The End of the End of the establishment of the Tsinghua Affiliated Middle School Red Guards" of historians Bu Weihua listed their activities. Let me show you several of them:

"In July 1964, they had to debate with the school on the school's two questions about whether there is a class struggle in the school. There is no class struggle!" 'Family originally came out of a lot of anti -revolution.'

"In February 1965, they believed that the slogan of the school's" Xingwu Winfer, 100 % 'of Unity "was lifted to the right, and it was more right to implement in practice." May 1965 and 1966 in 1966 In April, they twice asked the school to request to carry out 'small rectifications' to engage in class education activities(Ru Qingming grave), Liang Yi and Three Cheers(That is: the hardship of the one -memory class, the hardships of recalling the rivers and mountains; the two memories of their own growth process, the party's hard work of the party; Check your own consciousness; check your own revolutionary fighting spirit and vitality; check your own work, find a gap, learn advanced), All were rejected by the school. A member of the party branch and the secretary of the Youth League committee of the school said, 'Where can't class education do? 'The two memories and three checks cannot be done. We should adhere to positive education, mainly praise. "

(Bu Weihua: "The Establishment of the Establishment of the Red Guards of the Tsinghua Affiliated High School", in the 70th of the Research on the History of the Communist Party of China, 1999)

Three, Tsinghua High School on the eve of the Cultural Revolution is a gunpowder barrel

Judging from their murderous attitude, although they seem to be opposing the authority of the school, they are actually resorting to a more terrifying totalitarian force, pursuing a more powerful and horrible campus atmosphere.

Essence The school who tried to restore the people did not want them to provoke fierce struggle in school, and they hoped that they would provoke more intense struggle as much as possible in the school and engage in a more stringent censorship system. These behaviors are all packaged under the crazy Maoist concept and slogan, but in fact, if you look at the context that I have sorted out before, they are actually trying to turn the privileges owned by the cadres and children more. More, bigger. It can be said that on the one hand, they did accept very serious political brainwashing. On the other hand, while being brainwashed, their behavior actually follows some basic principles of human behavior, and has the behavior logic behind it. As I have repeatedly said, when looking at the history of the Cultural Revolution, we cannot use simple "everyone is crazy" to explain the crazy behavior of people at that time.

All in all, when the Cultural Revolution broke out, in fact, students in the Tsinghua University High School had formed two sharp opposition factions. One of them is mostly cadres and children. They believe that the school's various policies are not radical enough. They hope to establish a more powerful and aggressive system in the school, and want to make the privileges of cadres and children greater and more. The other faction opposes the school's special care of cadres and children, representing a civilian voice. The two factions showed a sharp hatred opposition on the eve of the Cultural Revolution, and it can also be said to be an incompetent trend. At this time, only one Mars is needed to be a little bit. This gunpowder barrel that has already accumulated a very high energy will burst and release huge energy. It can be said that the reason why the Red Guards of the High School Affiliated to Tsinghua University were able to rise so quickly after the outbreak of the Cultural Revolution, and created various brutal atrocities and blood cases in the school. It was precisely because of the rapid detonation of hatred. What happened on the eve of the Cultural Revolution and the Cultural Revolutionary High School during the Cultural Revolution was actually a very typical epitome of what happened in a large number of schools at that time.

Well, thank you. This is here this week, we see you next week.

Wang Yi, director of the Office of the CPC Central Committee of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China Associated Press picture [@stream] Wang Yi, director of the Office of the Foreign Affairs Working Committee of the CPC Central Committee, appealed to China, Japan, and South Korea in the "China -Japan -Korea Cooperation International Forum" with the saying that "no matter the hair is dyed yellow and the nose repair is not pointed, and it can not become a Westerner." His statement immediately attracted great attention from the outside world, and some people claimed that it incited racism to win Japan and South Korea. Some scholars asked that Beijing also wanted to attract Africa and the Middle East, and how should they use race theory to be self -a theory of racial theory?

Wang Yi warns Japan and South Korea: Development of foreign relations cannot be used to curb the surrounding neighbors Wang Yi, director of the CPC Central Committee of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China, attended the "2023 China -Japan -Korea Cooperation International Forum (IFTC)" held in Qingdao on July 3rd. "In order to seek geopolitical and weaving the" exclusive circle ", trying to split and exacerbate opposition.

Wang Yi called for China, Japan and South Korea to practice multilateralism and open regionalism, oppose geopolitical conflicts and groups against the introduction of regions, and resolutely resist the decoupling disconnection chain implemented in various names to maintain a regional industrial system with complementary advantages. If the three countries of China, Japan and South Korea work together, meet the common interests of the Three Kingdoms, they can jointly prosper, revitalize East Asia, revitalize Asia, and benefit the world.

Wang Yi met with the forum on the 3rd and said: "Our friends of China, Japan, and South Korea, we go to the United States, and the United States thinks it is Asians, right? They can't tell China, Japan and South Korea. No matter if you dye your hair, you can repair it with a sharp nose, and you can't change the European and the Americans, and you can't become a Westerner. We must know where your roots are. "

Zhang Mengren, the convener of Foreign and International Affairs of Foreign and International Affairs of Taiwan, was interviewed by Radio Asia to interpret Wang Yi, saying that he was ironic and threatened.

Zhang Mengren said: "He (Wang Yi) does not really want to win, he is equal to warning! He means that no matter how close you are with the United States, you can't change your fact that today is in Asia. . I am your neighbor, you can't move me. So Japan and South Korea should get along well with me, instead of following the United States and coming from the United States."

Zhang Mengren analyzed that Yin Xiyue was completely beautiful after he came to power, subverted Wen Zaiyin's strategy, and reconciled with Japan. Tian Wenxiong also ran in South Korea recently and apologized. Coupled with the ban on the United States Micron Group in China, Biden said that Samsung and Hynix could not make up for that lack, and South Korea listened to it. The relationship between Japan and South Korea and the United States now is completely connected.

Zhang Mengren's assessment of Wang Yi could not work. "Recently, South Korea has a lot of movements, and he has been washed down, and he cannot change. Because Japan is afraid of China and Russia, South Korea is afraid of North Korea, and North Korea is now tough. Move) together. Now if China can't get involved in North Korea, he has to stick to the United States completely, and he has no choice."

Wang Zhisheng, Secretary -General of the Chinese Asia -Pacific Elite Exchange Association, was interviewed and analyzed by Radio Free Asia. China's highest diplomatic officials were brought together with "Asia is Asians", promoted regionalism in China, incite racism, and involved discrimination. The era of globalization laughed generously and could not resonate in Japan and South Korea.

Wang Zhisheng said: "China is obsessed with the situation, and also uses this so -called regionalist method to perform excerpt confrontation. In fact, the outside world is not based on races, but in the world of caution in China, but in the battle of unlimited expansion in China The influence of wolf diplomacy and external ambitions. Therefore, Xi Jinping and Wang Yi are the focus of the wrong focus and the direction of mistakes. This is not a confrontation of the so -called ethnic region, but the confrontation of value and system. "

China's diplomatic scorers can only talk about the racial theory of discrimination involved in discrimination?

Wang Zhisheng mentioned that there are blue eyes, white -skinned Uighurs, and non -Han Tibetans in more than fifty ethnic groups in China, as well as non -Han Tibetans. The CCP wants to assimilate with the great rejuvenation framework of the Chinese nation and maintains its mentality of the Han nationalist center and the great Chinese mentality. It will make Japan and South Korea think that Beijing will be self -sustaining with the heavenly dynasty. Then China has also attracted Grand Canada to Africans, Middle Eastern, and Central Asian countries that are not black -haired and yellow. This foreign strategic thinking is very outdated, and there is a big gap with the universal value. It is disgusted with the outside world, reflecting that the Beijing organs can not find it.

"Korean Daily" based on: "After the wind and rain, see the sun after the wind and rain '... What is the signs of gentle Wang Yi in China? After the wind and rain, China, Japan and South Korea need to seize the opportunity and move forward together. "The Korean Daily mentioned that the first time in China was the first overseer of China to attend this year. In the field of cooperation, Wang Yi mentioned artificial intelligence (AI), automobiles, numbers, etc., saying that he would "work together", and also mentioned the Korean -China Free Trade Agreement (FTA) in the negotiations.

Wang Yi also said at the meeting: "The promise of adhering to the Taiwan issue should be adhered to." The outside world believes that Yin Xiyue told Reuters in April that the issue of Taiwan is not just a problem between China and Taiwan, but the same relationship between the two Koreas Beyond the region and become a global issue, and that the current tension is caused by the intention of changing the status quo by force, including the international community, including South Korea, resolutely oppose the status quo by force by force.

The Chinese Ministry of Public Security recently announced the results of the so-called special rectification actions that combat online rumors, including shutdown or banned online accounts of more than 10,000 online accounts, and listed the cases of typical rumors. Some comments believe that the authorities have strictly hit online rumors that due to economic downturn and social instability, trying to use the net to maintain stability.

"Only happiness"? The "Clear Action" of the Online Information Office rectify the self -media Which network of online waters to rectify the online water army in China? The Ministry of Public Security of China announced the staged results of cracking down on online rumors since April. Public security in various places use different methods to cooperate with the strict operations of the Ministry of Public Security on the official Weibo and WeChat public account. In the face of various rumors, the police of the net security will never be tolerated, clean up the rumors tens of thousands of children, and investigate hundreds of cases. Severe crimes are criminal.

At the same time, the Ministry of Public Security of China also announced ten typical rumor cases, of which 6 were related to vicious social events. For example, the community serial killing case, the case of family contradictions, and the case of the teacher and the kindergarten of the teacher and the kindergarten of the teacher. However, according to the officially announced case data search, it is also found that the incident accused of rumors is similar to the content of news reports. For example, "major fires occurred in the Shaoxing Shangyuhua plant", Sina News had similar title reports at the end of May, and quoted the official response that there were no casualties in the incident.

In a cafe in Beijing, a woman browsed the Weibo platform. (Agence France - Presse) Comment: The official blockade is the root cause of the rumor

Du Feng said that the so -called rumors were indeed false news, but there were real events. Because China does not have the freedom of news and speech, people who care about the truth can only understand the incident in their own methods. The content does not match the official caliber, and it will become a rumor in the official mouth. Ji Feng said that during the epidemic period, the news of the city was repeatedly blocked, and some of them were officially accused of rumors, but in the end it was confirmed that it was a prophecy, and the Ministry of Public Security continued to crack down on rumors, which was related to the opaque system.

Miku: "After any malignant case appeared, what they did was to block the truth. If you announced the truth, where did the rumors come? The rumors are not self-breaking. Put aside the big V of the flowing flow. There are people who are in the truth of group incidents or public events and malignant incidents, but the authorities are afraid that the people will dig their roots and dig the system. Digging to the Communist Party is the root of the disaster, so it is very scared. Official action) is a need to maintain stability. "

"Only the government officials set fire, not allowed the people to light"

Fang Yuan, a current affairs commentator, said that both the China Cyberspace Office and the Ministry of Public Security both shot and strictly hit the network information. Special choosing events related to malignant social events as rumors were widely publicized. Maintain stability.

Fang Yuan: "The official cases are all sensational cases, which can cater to the pain points of the public's attention, so the references of these cases are very careful and selective. At the same time, so many departments are concerned about this. The management, including rumors, is actually essentially a control that needs to be released or regulated according to the wishes of the manager. If you understand this aspect, it is not true that it is really to govern the rumors, but it really wants to govern the rumors. The purpose of the purpose is to manage the network information. In fact, the most important thing to rectify is the large number of military army. "

Fang Yuan said that the official continuously hitting the online speech is the practice of "only the state officials set fire and the people are not allowed to light the lights." The ignorance of the official network water army is also the role of the rumor's main contributor, and there is no way to solve the fundamental problem.

Eight tourists in the United States were hung upside down for at least three hours on a roller coaster on Sunday (July 2), of which seven were children.

Although no one was injured in the accident, everyone was taken to the hospital after being rescued.

The CBS News (CBS News) reported that the roller coaster of a mechanical failure is located in Crandon, Wisconsin. The day was the last day of the Fresen County Festival.

Facebook user Bras uploaded a video, showing that the static roller cocktail car stopped at the top of the ring -shaped orbit. This amusement facility named "Fireball" runs along the ring -shaped track, and the tourists will be hung up in the air when passing through the top of the rail.

Brass said that one of the trapped little girls is worthy of praise. She told the firefighters to rescue the trapped elderly, "should be awarded to the courageous girl."

Recently, Niu Tengyu, who was sentenced to fourteen years in prison for the leakage of Xi Jinping's family information, he suspected that he had recurred due to bad prison conditions. Niu Tengyu's family still hopes to flip the case for him, but his mother was obstructed by the authorities.

The "Vulgar Wiki Foundation" parties have been transferred to the bad condition of the new supervision area for recurrence * Niu Tengyu's mother believes that Xi Jinping hopes to re-examine the "vulgar Wiki case"

The second trial of the vulgar Wiki case opened the court for fourteen years * "Vulgar Wiki Foundation" Agent lawyer sued the victim to be tortured

Niu Tengyu, the prisoner of the "Vulgar Wiki Case", currently serves his sentence in Sihui Prison in Zhaoqing, Guangdong. His mother, Coco, learned that when his son was transferred to the prison at the end of May, the right hand that had severely injured his right hand deteriorated after he was transferred to the supervision area, and otitis media recurred.

Coco: "I saw him (Niu Tengyu) thinner within a month, and I asked him what was going on. He said that one was particularly hot in the weather and could not sleep at night. Those torture has caused the ear problems. Recently, it is very painful. The hands are suspended and caused by injuries and numbness.

During the meeting, Niu Tengyu's words and deeds were closely monitored by the prison guards.

Coco: "Stand many policemen, seven or eight people watch. Sometimes Niu Tengyu said that he was wronged, or if he talked about the case, they stopped it, and said, 'This cannot be said'. He said (Niu Tengyu) I didn't dare to say it. "

Niu Tengyu's mother cocoa (pictured) believes that her son is innocent and is seeking appeal. (Exclusive provided by cocoa, the shooting date is unknown) In May 2019, the overseas website "Zhi Na Wiki" and the "Red Coast Foundation" successively released Xi Jinping's brother -in -law Deng Jiagui and his daughter Xi Mingze's profile. Since then, 24 members of the "vulgar vitamin" website arrested for the forwarding link of Maoming, Guangdong, were even suspected of forced confession with violence. In the end, they were all ruled. Niu Tengyu was convicted of provoking trouble, infringing citizen information, and illegal operations. He sentenced to 14 years in prison, and the original judgment was maintained in the second trial two years ago.

The lawyer's unbearable pressure refuses to assist Niu Tengyu to appeal

Niu Tengyu's mother Keke revealed that she had contacted more than ten lawyers and asked Niu Tengyu to appeal. However, under the pressure of the authorities, they refused to accept the case. According to Coco, who was in Jiaozuo, Henan, the authorities recently intimidated and harassed her again, and it was estimated that she had followed up the case in Guangdong to follow up.

Coco: "Anyway, the persecution has not been broken. In recent days, I started to avoid monitoring and knocking. I woke me up and not let me sleep. I also told the gas company to warn my gas. There was a problem with my kidneys. They snatched all my bank cards, and I had no money to heal. "

A legal person in China who demanded anonymous believes that the authorities obstruct the appeal of Niu Tengyu's family members who lack wisdom.

People in the legal community: "There may be general guidance (for the case), but it may not be allowed to appeal. This approach may be a decision made by the local government. This method is stupid, and it is impossible to turn the case over such a program."

The legal profession analyzed that Niu Tengyu was repeatedly sentenced, on the one hand, the authorities were scrupled by his computer technology; nor did he rule out that Niu Tengyu was tried to be tortured, and the authorities were worried that premature release of him will expose the incident.

Description: The three leaders appeared together, and they had different goals outside of implying unity. Putin hopes to show his strength after Wagner's soldiers change. Xi Jinping tries to take the opportunity to compete with the United States for influence, while Modi hopes to show that India's status will be improved. Tingshu Wang/Reuters On Tuesday, Xi Jinping and other participants on the big screen on the streets of Beijing participated in the Shanghai Cooperation Organization Virtual Summit.

The leaders of the three great powers held a virtual summit on Tuesday through a video, trying to reshape the global order dominated by the United States. But except for the unity implied by them, everyone seems to focus on their different goals.

For Russian President Putin, this meant that he showed his power after the Wagner's mercenary organization's mutiny and declared his internationally support for his war in Ukraine.

For Xi Jinping, the highest leader of China, this summit is an opportunity for the end of "hegemonism" and "power politics" to attack the United States.

Prime Minister India, the host of the meeting Modi In terms of, this is a signal that indicates that India's status is constantly improving -it can also be called on other countries to unite to "fight terrorism" and launch a sand -containing attack to its main competitors Pakistan.

In the speech of the leaders prepared in the Shanghai Cooperation Organization Annual Meeting, he did not see a significant statement on the changes of the alliance. But this forum -established by China and Russia in 2001, members include Pakistan and Central Asian countries Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, and Uzbekistan -Indeed, let us see a regional club established to fight against Western influences. How to deal with the priority of conflicting conflict.

The increasing friction between Beijing and New Delhi is not mentioned in the article, these frictions have prompted India, which is not aligned in history.

Going closer to the United States Essence

If Putin wants other leaders to issue loud support statements to alleviate his weakened position in China and defend his war in Ukraine, he can only be satisfied with conventional claims and gentle tone.

Russian President Putin attended the International Forum for the first time since the rebellion last month, with photos from the Russian official media. Alexander Kazakov/Sputnik, Via Reuters

More importantly, under the gaze of the Bayeng government and the other countries in many other countries in the world, the forum seems to be stating that the three leaders have controlled their domestic problems and are going to welcome the new "more" more "more" more "more" more "more" more Extremely "the world.

"They all have motivation to dilute things to make everything look normal," said Zhuang Jiaying, associate professor of political science at the National University of Singapore. "They show that the situation has been controlled without any cracks. Although Russia has problems, India also hopes to explore relations with the United States."

On Tuesday, no leader needs to reshape his image more than Putin. Last month, Wagner mercenary Trying to overthrow Russia's military leadership, Putin's more than 20 years of rule facing the biggest challenge.

Although Putin agreed to the mercenaries leader Parig to Belarus to resolve the crisis, the brief rebellion caused people to question his authority and future.

This is the first time Putin participated in the International Forum after the rebellion. He delivered a speech and thanked the member states to support it after the mutiny. He claimed that the mutiny had not received the support of the people in Russia.

Putin said, "The profound responsibility for the fate of the motherland united the Russian politics and the whole society, showing a united front against armed rebellion." He also tried to use the summit as a sign of the international community to support him to invade Ukraine.

Support from China is the only big country to provide diplomacy and economic cover for Russia. The reason why China does this is because it has made a long bet on Putin, thinking that he is a necessary partner to challenge the United States.

However, this bet is costly because Beijing is trying to repair the relationship with major European economic partners. China 's rejection of condemnation of the Ukrainian war has also attracted the world's increasingly concerned position on Beijing' s aggressive issue.

This virtual meeting provided Xi Jinping with the opportunity to promote the goal of China's influence from the United States. He praised the Shanghai Cooperation Organization as a way of "improving global governance" and promoting "Chinese -style modernization" -this vague wording expresses the world vision of Beijing and its partners in international rules and specifications. Essence

In this wish, India's positioning needs to be observed. As China's largest emerging strategic competitors, India joined the Shanghai Cooperation Organization in 2017. It considers the forum as a way to balance its own relationship with Western countries and relations with China and Russia.

Last month, Indian Prime Minister Modi and President Biden were in the White House. This meeting made Beijing more worried that India might be too close to the United States. Pete Marovich for the New Yorktimes India has maintained a stable relationship with Russia after refusing to condemn Ukraine, mainly economic relationship Essence However, its relationship with China has deteriorated due to border disputes and the addition of the four -way security dialogue mechanism including the United States. The dialogue focuses on security, and Beijing regards it as a tool to curb China.

Modi last month high -profile visit to Washington It exacerbated China's doubts, that is, India is closer to the United States to curb China's rise.

advertise

Despite these tensions, India still has sweets in the forum. It relies on Central Asian countries to provide energy and maintain its influence in Afghanistan, which has a spillover effect on Pakistan.

Modi praised the forum as a "important platform" of peace and prosperity, but urged the organization to condemn the country that "use terrorism as its policy tools". The remarks refer to Pakistan, and India has accused it of funding militants in the controversial Kashmir region.

On July 1st, it was the 26th anniversary of Hong Kong's return to China, and it was also the 3rd anniversary of the "National Security Law" that Hong Kong implemented the evil law of persecution of human rights. Today's Hong Kong has lost the past democracy, the rule of law and freedom of the past three years since the implementation of the National Security Law. According to statistics, at least there are now in Hong Kong prison 1500 political prisoners Half of them are under 25 years old. Hong Kong can be said to have become human rights depressions. From advocating the rule of law, economic prosperity, the people have a large degree of freedom to today. Of course, we must criticize the CCP's tyranny, but at the same time, when we look back at the road that Hong Kong has walked in the past decades, I think there are four lessons. Hong Kong people, as well as the free world, reflect on and reflect on: First of all, Hong Kong people, especially democratic schools, have been too trustworthy CCP's commitments since China and Britain began negotiating the future of Hong Kong in 1984. After 1997, the Victoria Garden Party was still held, and the freedom of the press was still maintained. Hong Kong people saw that the "one country, two systems" maintained the freedom of Hong Kong, but ignored the gradual media self-discipline, the infiltration of the CCP, and the dense recognition of the Chinese Communist Party. Knowing operations, etc., are actually changing things. The kind Hong Kong people always feel that things are not so important to today. Relaxing their vigilance can be said to be a major lesson. It turns out that for the CCP, everything is a problem of the system, and we must not forget the true nature of the totalitarian system because of the oral commitment of someone. Secondly, Hong Kong people are too confident to some extent. When hundreds of thousands, millions of people go to the street While maintaining the freedom of Hong Kong, many people have forgotten or despise two things: First, there are a lot of Hong Kong resistances, but there are many blue silk supporting the CCP. Without the support of the latter, it is difficult for the CCP to calm Hong Kong. Second, even if it is fighting, the internal cohesion is not enough. Before 2019, the younger generation had conflicts with the Fanmin. The college students in Hong Kong will host their own June 4th evening party and even oppose memorial to June 4th. The results of it? Now in Hong Kong, you can't do it anywhere. Later in 2019, I started to claim not to cut off, but it was too late. This is a painful lesson. Third, too much hope in the international community. It turns out that this is an unrealistic fantasy. In response to the situation in Hong Kong, the support and condemnation of the international community will certainly have it, but the use is not great. The Beijing Massacre in 1989 shocked the world. International sanctions and solidarity were stronger than today. At that time, it did not have much role. Besides, what about the Hong Kong issue? In the humanitarian nature, the international community must spare no effort, such as collecting refugees and giving political asylum, but it is almost impossible for other countries to break with the CCP for the interests of Hong Kong. To have the future in Hong Kong, it still depends on the efforts of Hong Kong people. The fourth lesson actually requires a free world, especially in Taiwan, which is how the CCP penetrates, and then takes down Hong Kong step by step. This is a planned method, including: 1) to promise a good first The conditions are maintained for a period of time, 2) Partially satisfied the governance of Hong Kong people to govern Hong Kong, so that local Hong Kong people should be chief executives; 3) deeply digging the soft soil, unknowingly penetrated: draw, temptation, let fear slowly, in society Middle proliferation; 4) Fighting democratic factions: discredit, differentiation, and let the opposition lose the right to speak; send people to play radicals, enter the democratic camp, jump out at a critical moment to fight themselves; 5) Through cognitive operations Let the society do not distinguish between right and wrong; 6) focus on cracking down on the most firm anti -communist forces, isolated each other, such as Lin Rongji's bookstore, etc.; 7) At the end, Tuju dagger, the implementation of the National Security Law, at this stage, everything is too late. This is worth thinking about.

Even the public welfare fund -raising dinner at the public welfare fundraising dinner will also wear a mask to cover the face.

"Everyone will not discuss it special, but there are counting in your heart. In fact, it is okay to be wanted. At least you know that they want to catch you, and the Japanese student case is even more worried about whether the immigration will happen. The technique is more scary. "

Emily (pseudonym), which establishes a Hong Kong -people community cultural group in the UK, also told BBC in Chinese that its organization has held a silent assembly to protest the Hong Kong government's infringement of human rights for two consecutive years, and this year's activities have been greatly affected.

"Participants will still come, and they also say that we are very supportive of our activities, but they are far away. Wherever the peripherals, there will be no exhibition cards. We respect and understand If you still need to return to Hong Kong, there will be a certain risk. "

Li Guihua, General Police Division of the National Security Department of the Hong Kong Police Department, emphasized at a press conference that the police hanging red and wanted overseas Hong Kong people was not "doing political shows" (as a political show), but "law enforcement", but he also acknowledged that he could not be overseas overseas In law enforcement, as long as the wanted persons do not return to Hong Kong, they cannot arrest them. However, even if the wanted person entered the above 10 countries, it does not mean that the local government will make people to the Hong Kong Government because according to Article 3 of the UN Except for Demonstration Treaty, if the criminal act is a political crime, the extradition shall not be performed.

Dr. Li Enzhen, a visiting researcher at the Law School of the University of London, British University, told BBC in Chinese that the exterior effect of the National Security Law is a myth. "If you cannot enforce the law, there is only a political effect and cause a cold effect." He pointed out that the Hong Kong government's political and courts for political instability will only further accelerate the cancellation of the extradition agreement with the Hong Kong countries.

Dr. Zhong Jianhua, a Hong Kong public administrative scholar who has moved to the United Kingdom, also pointed out that the Hong Kong government expanded the National Security Law Network, but it could not get the judicial mutual assistance of the international community, which was the same as "self -hee". "In order to have the addiction of power and show their own power, they do not look at the overall situation. As a result, they have harmed Hong Kong, and even other normal judicial mutual assistance links were affected."

He criticized that Hong Kong's approach is now more barbaric than mainland China. In the past 20 years, he has not heard of overseas Chinese including democracy. "Hong Kong is not just in line with the mainland, but is blue."

A Jing (a pseudonym), a Hong Kong person who has served as a leader in the Hong Kong citizen group, exiled to the UK after the implementation of the National Security Law and continued to engage in policy initiative. He said that he was not surprised by the people in the field of the National Security Law, but he would also worry about personal safety.

"There have been risk assessments, but once again reminded each other, what countries have extradition clauses with China and Hong Kong, and how each country responds after the wanted order."

The eight Hong Kong people who have been wanted by the red are located in the United Kingdom, the United States and Australia. Relevant countries have criticized the Hong Kong Government to quote the external governance of the National Security Law. However, Tang Jiazheng, a member of the Chief Executive Council and a senior barrister, stated on the radio program that the possibility of being transferred to Hong Kong by administrative means by administrative means to be able to pass through the friendly country in Hong Kong may not be ruled out.

Legal scholar Li Enzhen pointed out that in addition to paying attention to the regular fugitive extradition agreement, it is also necessary to prevent the authorities from intimidating overseas people in an informal way. "The behavior of TransnationAIReession is already an international issue. Many reports have revealed that the CCP has overseas police stations, and it is always a famous example that kidnapped overseas people to return home.

The human rights organization "Safeguard Defenders" issued a report last year that at least 102 overseas police stations are operating and distributed in 53 countries around the world, including the United Kingdom and the Netherlands.

The organization report also stated that the means of forcing people to escape to return home, including domestic family members as chips, overseas agents persuade threats and abduction. Among them, the abduction case mainly occurred in the authoritarian countries that have closely related to Beijing in Thailand. In some cases, the wanted target was arrested in the illegal or secret cooperation operation of the law enforcement department of the host country, and then handed over to the Chinese authorities.

In this regard, the Chinese government has always denied and stated that the so-called overseas police station is actually an overseas service station involved in overseas Chinese affairs.

Chen Jialuo, an associate professor at the Department of Political and International Relations at the Hong Kong Baptist University, told BBC in Chinese that the CCP's more common strategy is "people fighting the people" compared to "kidnapping" and launching overseas communities to attack overseas Hong Kong people.

In October last year, the Chinese Consulate General in Manchester beaten Hong Kong people who demonstrated outside the door. In June this year, some Hong Kong people were attacked by Chinese students after participating in the anti-repair motion commemorative rally in Southampton (Xiu Xianton) in Southampton, England.

Emily, who organizes Hong Kong people in the UK, said that in recent months, it was found that there were unknown history and suspected people from mainland China mixed the venue. "In the Hong Kong film screening, he walked around in the field, and his behavior was very abnormal. We asked him to leave. There was also a photo of the participants secretly. When I walked to stop him, he was dressed as South Korea as South Korea. People, but at first glance, they are from mainlanders, and some volunteers have heard him speak Mandarin. "

She said that everyone is in danger now, and she pays attention to security measures, and the local police must be notified beforehand. "The police here attaches great importance to Hatecrime, and will take the initiative to care about our situation and understand whether anyone is here to harass us."

Some overseas Hong Kong people said they would overcome their fear. The picture shows a participant in the commemorative assembly in London's "Counterfeit" commemorative assembly in June 2023.

Political scholar Chen Jialuo pointed out that the Beijing and Hong Kong Government's efficiency of psychological warfare is an important way to maintain Guoan and use intimidation to combat the morale of the opposition camp.

Public administrative scholar Zhong Jianhua also said that the Japanese student case was to let the people who would return to Hong Kong to speak, and the eight men wanted to let those who lived overseas and would not return to Hong Kong had to accept it. At the same time Human rights and political lobbying overseas.

A Jing, a policy proprietary in exile, said that the wanted events will make overseas Hong Kong people united, and even strengthen the connection with the eight people who have been wanted. "We do the initiative, there has always been stress, and the question is how to overcome fear. This time, the attitude of the people in the circle is that we must not shrink down because he creates fear. We must face unity and cooperate in the future."

Cao Jiachao, the host of the Internet politics program, also said that under pressure, he will still maintain two live broadcasts a day and criticize Hong Kong and mainland China. "When I left Hong Kong, I hope to have space to speak overseas. There is no reason to keep the Hong Kong National Security Law and self -examination when I come to the UK. On behalf of the Hong Kong people, I can't let them succeed. "

However, the cost of freedom is Yongbie's hometown. Cao admitted that there was still a hint of fantasies in the early days of immigration, thinking that in the future, it can go on both sides of the United Kingdom and Hong Kong, and now it has "completely died." "The liquidation of the Guoan Law will not be completed at once. It has become an implementation system. It has constant bureaucratic bureaucrats and budgets. It is necessary to continue to pay (hand in performance), which means that the national security nightmare will be endless."

Qi Ting, a reporter who still travels to Hong Kong and Taiwan, said that the risks they face are getting higher and higher. If they cannot bear one day, they will resign, but they will continue to "step on the steel line" to report the truth before that day. "Being a reporter is so annoying, you know that there is a risk, but you still feel a sense of mission. I want to record history with my ability and continue writing."

Bobsely, a member of the British House of Commons, who presided over a press conference, criticized the Hong Kong government's actions to pressure and intimidate his comrades in Hong Kong social movements, and intended to make the British government and politicians no longer pay attention to Hong Kong affairs. China's controlling measures are considered a revenge on Washington, and the United States has implemented a chip export ban.

(Voice of Germany Chinese) "The next round of the US-China trade dispute has begun. [Beijing announced on Monday night to implement export restrictions on rare metal 钷 and 镧(https://www.dw.com/zh/zh/中國管制鎵鑪出口-各國如何嚴防供應鏈中斷/a-66118831)] Essence "Berliner Zeitung" started this evaluation at the beginning of an article on Tuesday (July 4). This move is considered a revenge on Washington, and the United States has implemented a chip export ban.

The Ministry of Commerce of China announced export control on the related objects required by the manufacture of high-performance chips. The purpose is to protect national security. Controls have been implemented on August 1. The article pointed out that these two metal minerals are widely used in semiconductor materials, electric vehicles and other fields, and can also be used for military purposes. The author Simonzeise wrote: "At present, many electronic devices, such as mobile phones, are produced in China: Does the Chinese want to further expand their dominant position here?" The article believes that the West can use this opportunity to further reduce raw materials for Chinese raw materials Dependence: "If the Beijing side uses these new regulations to limit the supply of other countries, the price may rise, then mining rare metals elsewhere will be more economical. For example, China's previous restrictions on rare earth exports have been cut off. The country's market share. "

Many countries, including Germany, are trying to diversify their raw materials to reduce dependence on China. The German Industry Federation (BDI) pointed out that Beijing's export control measures highlight the urgency of "rapid reduction" in Europe and Germany to rely on key raw materials. Therefore, it is necessary to develop internal mining in Europe. The article pointed out that the export regulations of the latest rare metals introduced in Beijing are not the first time that China has implemented an export ban: "China has implemented export restrictions on rare earth in the 1990s. This has put pressure on Japanese companies that highly rely on China. The situation changed in 2010. As a response to a collision incident near the islands near the Chinese fishing vessels and the Japanese Coast Guard in both sides, China suspended the export of rare earths in Japan. Supply competitions. Subsequently, the increase in Australia and the United States has increased, which led to China's share in global mineral production from 98%in 2010 to 70%in 2022. "

The title is "The warning of the German economy: why China restricts the exit of rare metals?" About 94 %. Nevertheless, these metals are not particularly rare or difficult to obtain. But so far, the Chinese government has made production costs cheaper than other countries through subsidy policies. "

Interview: The United States is time to indicate the willingness to dialogue

An article published by Switzerland's "New Zurich" pointed out on Tuesday that China has been threatening for many years that it can use certain materials as chips. Now, this moment may have arrived. The title is "Don't say we don't warn you!": China uses rare earth export control to counterattack chip sanctions («Sagensie Nicht, WIR Hätten Sie Nicht Gewarnt!»: China Kontert Chip-Sanktionen Mitexportkontrolen Für SelteneerDen) The article wrote: "China The largest customers of these two materials include three countries that impose chip sanctions on Beijing, the United States, the Netherlands and Japan. Germany and France are also important customers. "

The reporter in China Matthias Sander wrote: "USA implemented export control to chips using cymbal oxides in 2022 Essence This material makes the chip tolerance high, so it is suitable for military applications. "

The article believes that Russia and Ukraine may be able to replace Chinese suppliers. It may be difficult to replace suppliers in the short term, especially for factors such as the Russian and Ukraine War. "

The content of the excerpt from other media does not represent the position or view of the Voice of Germany.

the actual situation of the Chinese market? On Wednesday, the American academic community discussed the credibility of China's official data.

It is generally analyzed that the emergence of the "35 -year -old curse" is highly related to China 's economic downturn. Because there are not so many jobs in the workplace, which leads to the oversupply of the labor market, enterprises can have more requirements for the age of the candidate.

Scholars: The credibility of China's economic data is worse than other developing countries

At the same time, the outside world is concerned, can the economic data released by the Chinese government really reflect China's economic situation? On Wednesday, on the eve of US Treasury Secretary Yellen, the Washington Think Tank Strategy and International Research Center (CSIS) in the United States held a seminar, and the participating scholars discussed the trustworthy level of Chinese economic data. SCOTKENEDY, a senior adviser to Strategic and International Research Center, said at the meeting that China's economic data generally cannot reflect the specific economic conditions.

"China is a large country, China's economy is very complicated, and the economic growth data often has political significance. These reasons have caused the China National Bureau of Statistics to be unable to produce real data. This is also a scholar suspect that Chinese data can The reason for the reliability Another factors that the outside world suspects that Chinese data is that local governments often falsely report economic data, so if you sum up the economic data of all provinces, you will find that this is a huge difference compared with the overall data of China, showing a huge difference in China. ","

Gan Side also pointed out that he visited many scholars, and most scholars suspected the credibility of Chinese official data: "(Some scholars said) No one trusts China's official data, whether it is China's GDP value, or China's GDP growth volume Both data is not worthy of trust. Some scholars told me that China's GDP data is very unwilling, it is just a political data. Some scholars say that the credibility of Chinese official data is worse than other developing countries. Chinese data is not even comparable to Russia or Pakistan."

Gan Side, a senior adviser to Washington Think Tank Strategy and International Research Center, said at the seminar that China's economic data generally cannot reflect the specific economic conditions. (Video screenshot/csis official website) Scholars: China adjusts economic data during the epidemic to achieve political interests

Gan Side analyzed that although the ability of the National Statistics Bureau of China has made great progress in the past 10 years, in order to achieve political purposes, the final data presented by the State Bureau of Statistics will still be different from reality: "Especially during the new crown epidemic, Since 2020, the Chinese government has a lot of incentives to hide specific data. During this period, there are fewer data that scholars can obtain. Everyone is worried that the data of 21 years and 22 years will be greatly falsely reported, especially investment data and housing market statistics. ","

Gan Side pointed out that the overall problem of Chinese economic data is not just the economic situation of the high newspaper. In fact, the Chinese government often tends to make the economic trend look smooth. The government will build economic values.Daniel H. Rosen, a senior researcher at the Center for Strategy and International Research Center, emphasized at the meeting that the importance of China's real economic data for commercial investment.

Rong Danie pointed out that China's economy has continued to grow in the past 30 years, so companies do not need to pay too much attention to specific economic trends, as long as they continue to invest. However, China's economic performance is no longer in the past, so companies need to pay close attention to China's specific economic performance: "China's economic growth has stagnated, and some industries even have negative growth, so we can no longer assume whether the Chinese economy will expand. Then continue to invest in. This approach may be effective in the past, but from now on, companies will not be able to do so. "

Indonesia President Zoko has become the latest national leader visiting Papua New Guinea. This Pacific island country, which is located in a strategic position, is now one of the consequences of the influence of great powers.

Reuters reports that Papua New Guinea has a population of 9 million. Although its resources are rich, the economy is generally not developed.

Zoko held bilateral talks with Mallape, the Port Prime Minister of Pakistan, to the Port of Pakistan, Pakistan, on Wednesday (July 5). Border and trade are the main discussions issues of the two.

A basic border agreement reached by the two countries was put on hold by the Pakistani Council for 10 years, and the Pakistani New Parliament was approved in March this year. Malape said before that he hoped to promote business connections and air travel between Indonesia and Pakistan.

Papua and Indonesia have a common border of 760 kilometers. Relations between the two countries have become complicated because of Melanesian in Papa, Indonesia.

In May of this year, Indian Prime Minister Modi and US Secretary of State Brosky visited the port of Moldby, and Brinken met with more than a dozen Pacific island leaders in Pakistan.

China is the main trading partner of Pakistan, and Broskere signed a defense cooperation agreement with Pakistan during the visit to allow the U.S. military to use the Pakistani Port and airports.

In April 2022, the "National Security Education Day" of the year in Hong Kong, Victoria Harbor was posted on a patriotic publicity billboard. Agence France -Presse information picture

Moderator: Chen Kuide

Talkman: Mr. Cheng Xiang , former senior media person in Hong Kong, Independent scholar

1. Background

What we want to review and discuss today is that in Hong Kong, the implementation of the National Security Law of the Hong Kong District three years in Hong Kong. She used to be one of the free ports and financial centers in the world, and was a great city of freedom, rule of law, civilization, and prosperity, especially in 1949, 1962 and 1978. How does it fall in the "National Security Law" for three years.

Three years ago, on June 30, 2020, the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress in Beijing passed the "Hong Kong National Security Law" in the applause and announced that the law was implemented in Hong Kong today.

From that day, Hong Kong, the Oriental Pearl in this world, Liberty Port, the third largest financial center in the world, quickly dimmed and entered the darkest period of its port for nearly 180 years.

Since then, the "one country, two systems" has disappeared, "Hong Kong people governing Hong Kong" has become a empty story, "highly autonomous" has become "Beijing control", and the "Basic Law" has become a piece of empty text.

2. Hong Kong was a fortress that promoted the progress of civilization in mainland China **

Three, "National Security Law" destroys and even destroys the rule of law and judicial independence of Hong Kong rule of law and judicial independence: apprenticeship has its name

The full text of the "National Security Law of the Port District" is publicly public after the implementation of the bill. This black box operation habit of the Communist Party of China cannot get rid of the secret underground party even after 70 years of power. The law covers extremely wide and severe punishment. The content includes crimes such as splitting the state, subverting the state power, organizing the implementation of terrorist activities and colluding with foreign forces.

Under the "National Security Law of the Hong Kong District", Hong Kong's judicial independence is damaged. The Hong Kong authorities have designated a number of judges according to the National Security Law, including judge Chen Guangchi, referee Su Huide, and judge Lin Wenhan. It is "virtual name". Analysis of Meimei and Taiwan scholars pointed out that there is no possibility of sanctioning judges. (On the first day of the "Hong Kong National Security Law", a 23 -year -old young man drove an iron cyclone with the banner of "Restoration of the Revolution of Hong Kong Times" and was accused of hurting three police officers as the first defendant of the National Security Law. , This case will not have a jury to break the jury system since the use of Hong Kong for 176 years. The incident allows the outside world to pay attention to it again. Under the "Hong Kong National Security Law", the judicial procedures and systems that Hong Kong consistently followed up have suffered a huge impact, and even even It becomes exactly the same as China.) The United States "US -China Economic and Security Review Committee" (USCC) reflects the "distrust of Hong Kong's rule of law" in its annual report, which will attract attention from foreign companies and seriously weaken Hong Kong's business position.

Recently, the Hong Kong Government has even reduced the election seats in the district council and revised the "Legal practitioners' regulations". Overseas lawyers who require the qualifications of local comprehensive practice must apply in advance and get the chief approval before they are qualified to participate in national security related cases, and the chief executives, and the chief executives The right to change the decision at any time.

The Hong Kong National Security Law was implemented for 3 years, and an anonymous research team formed by Hong Kong actors released recently: "After the National Security Law: Research Report on the Research on the Illegal Law Review of Law/illegal Law". The report proposes a clear analysis framework to explain how the review mechanism works.

The first key discovery of the report is that in the era of the post -National Security Law, the review mechanism in the post -National Security Law produced a role in three ways, namely "legal methods from the government", "illegal law from the government", and "from the non -governmental government's from the non -governmental government" Illegal method ".

"Legal and methods from the government" means that the Hong Kong government has achieved the purpose of review through legal means. In addition to the implementation of the national security law with great power, the authoritarian laws during the colonial periods such as "incitement", "public security regulations", and at the same time Further to maintain the national security reasons to promote the practice of all aspects. "

Properative persecution is getting intense

From June 30, 2020 to July 3, 2023, according to Li Guihua, from June 30, 2020 to July 3, 2023, a total of 260 people were arrested at the age of 15 to

90. 161 and 5 companies have been prosecuted, of which 79 have been convicted or waited for sentence. These cases that endanger the Guoan Law should be tried by a judge designated by the Chief Executive. In special circumstances such as national security facing major reality threats, the central government's maintenance of the National Security Agency in Hong Kong has the right to intervene in the investigation, and the case may be submitted to the mainland court for trial.

_ Hong Kong has now lost completely

On July 3, 2023, the terrorist black hands of the "National Security Law of the Hong Kong District" reached overseas. The Hong Kong Police National Security Department wanted eight people. And Luo Guancong, and the reward of HK $ 1 million in rewards provided by relevant persons or cases.

The "four crimes" listed in the "National Security Law", the extensive range of its scope, is dazzling:

The "National Security Law" lists out -of -the -territory jurisdiction. Even if anyone is not a permanent resident in Hong Kong, it may be pursued by suspected violation of the National Security Law outside Hong Kong. (On July 3rd, the Hong Kong police accused eight overseas activists committing serious harm to national security, including colluding with foreign countries and inciting split countries, and providing information providing information for their arrested.)

Earlier, the non-governmental initiative of the UK's "Hong Kong Supervision" was warned by the Police State Administration and the Security Bureau to warn suspected of collusion with foreign forces.

In addition to law enforcement of illegal acts, the International Amnesty Organization pointed out that the National Security Law has given the Chinese government and the extensive power of the Hong Kong Government to monitor Hong Kong schools, citizen organizations, media and the Internet.

Last year, one year after the implementation of the National Security Law, the organization issued a statement saying that "the" National Security Law "has accelerated Hong Kong on the road to become a police city within one year, causing local residents to fall into the human rights crisis."

Fourth, "National Security Law" destroy Hong Kong's speech publishing and community assembly freedom

Where is Liberty Port? _ _ 吧 _

Since the implementation of the National Security Law, the survival space of Hong Kong media has deteriorated, and the international organization "Protection Journalist Committee"(Committee to propetJournalist)The annual report was published, mentioning that after the implementation of the "National Security Law of the Hong Kong District", the first time that journalists were imprisoned, including Li Zhiying, the founder of One Media, 6 former "Apple Daily" high -rise, and the host of the D100 program, Jess, etc. Essence Teng Hong Kong has been published from the past of the past news books and published to hell that is free of freedom On the eve of the implementation of the National Security Law on June 30, 2020, many local and independent political parties and organizations have announced their dissolution, including Hong Kong's Zhi Zhi, Student Motivation and New Deal of Youth. Including the former Hong Kong Zhongzhi Party Chairman Luo Guancong, Liang Songheng, the former Youth New Deal convened, and so on.

寒寒寒吧

After the implementation of the "National Security Law of the Hong Kong District" passed by the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress of China, more than 50 Hong Kong civic social organizations were forced to dissolve or stop operation under the pressure of the National Security Law. The branch association, which has been held for more than 30 years, hosted a private human rights line with a 7-1 parade for nearly 20 years, and the Apple Daily, which has long-term anti-government opinions. Some scholars analyzed that after the departure of the Central Movement, Beijing used the National Security Law to conduct a thorough and systematic political cleaning in an attempt to make Hong Kong a dignified society.

In the past, in Hong Kong, organizations can be established to communicate and contact the same nature as foreign countries, or other political organizations or non -political organizations. After the National Security Law, the original legal behavior turned into a 'crime'. The government can accuse you at any time. Naturally, it is difficult for these organizations to continue to operate under the National Security Law. Some of them will even be turned over by the authorities. Under such intimidation, these organizations will only dissolve or stop operation. 'The crime of adding to add, how do you have nothing to do?" It 's not just for these other media, or individual journalists, or their ambitions or claims, all of them are a chilling effect.

The stability and prospects of work in Hong Kong are threatened; it is not just economic problems, not just market problems, but a strong political pressure.

The National Security Law is a generalized prosecution, which is completely different from the freedom of civic society and culture established in Hong Kong society in order to suppress speech and the freedom of civic society rally. It has caused the disintegration of civil society.

This is what a word is gradually caused.

Social consequences

_ Immigration wave_

Why do so many Hong Kong people immigrate, so many Hong Kong people are afraid? It is the current social environment and political environment that causes that social atmosphere to be very depressed, and it makes people feel more and more lost to Hong Kong society. The sense of fear and insecurity of this kind of life has made it difficult for this government to effectively govern and lead the society. Some important public opinion surveys have clearly reflected this social atmosphere. It has become a natural choice. The tide of immigration is a direct consequence of the National Security Law.

Beijing is not only targeted at the local civic social organizations in Hong Kong. Some international organizations may also be targeted, including the Foreign Press Conference FCC. After the implementation of the National Security Law, a work visa of a foreign journalist will not be renewed. It is also announced to withdraw from Hong Kong. The National Security Law will inevitably affect Hong Kong's international status.

5. Inside and outside Hong Kong, the struggle in the past three years

-- _ 吧 _

Dozens of rights groups around the world issued an open letter to the United States President Biden on July 1 this year. The US government is considering giving the US Governor of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, Li Jiachao, and allowing him to attend the Asia -Pacific economy held in San Francisco in November Cooperative organization(APEC)The report of the meeting expressed serious concerns.

Hong Kong Observation, Human Rights Observation, and Chinese Human Rights Defenders, including 53 rights organizations around the world, jointly issued an open letter to the US President Biden. Li Jiachao will not be allowed to attend the APEC summit. "

The open letter pointed out: In the past four years, Li Jiachao has been the main planner who has severely suppressed politics and the freedom of politics and citizens, and destroying Hong Kong's autonomy. During the Hong Kong Democratic Movement in 2019, Li Jiachao served as the director of the Hong Kong Security Bureau. He overemphasized the large -scale protests through force through the police and arrested more than 10,000 citizens. In 2020, the United States thus imposed sanctions on Li Jiachao.

The open letter also pointed out that since Li Jiachao was appointed as the Chief Executive in May 2022, he led a substantial restriction on remarks, associations and assembly freedom of Hong Kong, and had a ruthless attack on the rule of law, and the effective abolition of political participation. More than 1,500 Famous political prisoners suffering in Hong Kong prison. This number continues to rise, and the Hong Kong government's systematic strike continues. In this context, exemptional sanctions allow Li Jiachao to enter the United States to send a completely wrong signal, that is, infringement of human rights behavior will not have lasting consequences.

The open letter calls on the Bayeng government to reiterate its commitment to human rights and democratic values at this critical moment. "We expect you to do the right thing."

Indee called Beijing to abolish the National Security Law

The British Ministry of Foreign Affairs issued a Hong Kong report every 6 months to Congress in late May this year, calling on Beijing and the Hong Kong Government to implement the suggestion of the UN Human Rights Council in July to abolish the National Security Law.

After Hong Kong sovereignty was transferred to China on July 1, 1997, the British Ministry of Foreign Affairs issued a report to Congress every 6 months to explain the implementation of the "Sino -British Statement" in Hong Kong.

The report released today covers from July 1st to December 31st, 2022. Foreign Minister JamesCleverly mentioned that China continues to abide by the "Sino -British Joint Statement", and Britain will continue to firmly require China to comply with the statement and other China's voluntary international obligations.

Hong Kong people's soft confrontation

July 1 this year is the 26th anniversary of Hong Kong's sovereignty transfer. The Chief Executive Li Jiachao said at the 26th anniversary of the establishment of the SAR: It is necessary to be alert to Hong Kong's "soft confrontation".

As we all know, the Democrats of Hong Kong will be held on the "July 1st" on the "July 1st" in the past years, and the starting point is Victoria Park. The popularity of the epidemic interrupted this activity, and the first "July 1" after the abolition of the epidemic prevention restrictions was held for three days before and after the epidemic prevention restrictions. Essence

The Hong Kong Socialist Link to organize the "July 1st" demonstration.

Hang people in exile to countries around the world lift the banner of the revolutionary revolution

Hong Kong people who were exiled abroad due to the National Security Law continued the spirit of the Revolution of the Hong Kong Times. In the United Kingdom, Taiwan, the United States, Europe, Australia, Japan ... The national government and parliament support Hong Kong people to fight against Beijing's suppression, which has aroused sympathy, understanding and support of countries around the world.

6. The lifestyle of Hong Kong 180 has been destroyed by the years?

How can the CCP completely destroy a Freeton city in just 26 years of taking over Hong Kong? What is the lesson of history?

Since the opening of Hong Kong in 1843, the current Hong Kong is the most terrifying and dark period in its history. It seems that the rule of law, freedom and prosperity that Hong Kong people have always owned will disappear forever, and it is gone.

However, will this kind of terror and darkness beyond imagination really continue for generations?

Thinking of the Japanese occupation period in Hong Kong's history, the Hong Kong June 7 riots during the Chinese Cultural Revolution ... At that time, it was also the dark clouds that the city was destroyed and unbearable ,,,,,,,,. However, in the end, Hong Kong people came up.

Photo: RFA recently published an investigation report on the fate of the first generation of migrant workers' work "Thirty Years of Workers", which was reposted a lot by netizens, but was continuously blocked at the same time. This article tells that

30 years after working in the first generation of migrant workers in the city, the monthly pension was only RMB 100 and 200. It was unable to retire with a pain. "Thirty Years of Workers" is a study based on the associate professor of Anhui Normal University, Qiu Fengxian, and was published by the new media "Positive Connection". After the article was removed, some netizens replicated or changed their title to other other topics to other other. Platform, but many articles are still removed. The so -called first -generation migrant workers were roughly born before the 1970s. In the mid -1980s and the early 1990s, they worked in the city from rural areas with a scale of about 86 million people. The questionnaires and 200 people learned how they lived in their lives. As a result, 60 % of them said that on the issue of retirement, they said that they could only do it. The article said that most of the first -generation migrant workers could not care about their old age when they were young. They could only use their salary for the present. In 2009, the pension policy was announced. 35 % of them did not understand or believe this policy, so they did not participate in the insurance. Essence After they are 60 years old, they can only receive basic pensions, only more than 100 yuan per month. For the future, in order to repay the debt caused by their son's marriage, they do not intend to retire. Three -quarters of people said they would continue to work in the city after the age of 60. However, in the past two years, migrant workers over the age of 60 have been prohibited from entering the construction site, so they can only do greening, cleaning, warehousing management and other work, and their salary is less than one -third of the construction site. The first generation of migrant workers did not work hard, but the investigation found that efforts could not change their destiny. Qiu Fengxian said that this is a problem of the times. It is deeply influenced by social rejection policies, far from individuals who can decide. Responsible editor: Rao Yiming

Most of Germany and the Alps are expected to encounter heat waves this weekend, while lowering the water level of the Rhine, it has pushed Germany's demand for energy.

Bloomberg reported that MaxartEchnology, American Space Technology Corporation, said that Frankfurt's temperature will reach the peak of 35 degrees Celsius on Sunday (July 9), which is nearly 7 degrees Celsius higher than the normal temperature; the temperature next week will still be Higher than the average temperature.

Deutscher Wetterdienst warned that local nights may be like tropical.

In addition, high temperatures will also appear in some parts of the Netherlands and southwestern Spain, and British temperature will remain cooler than usual next week.

High -temperature weather has brought new challenges to the industry in Germany. Extreme weather will lead to a significant fluctuation of power and natural gas prices, and it will also affect the transportation of petroleum products and other products along the Rhine coast. Due to the decline in the water level, the transportation capacity of the Rhine has now dropped to about half of the normal level.

Last summer's drought and heat waves led to the dryness of the river in some parts of Europe and induced wildfires, which also put pressure on European infrastructure operations.

After Snapinc's advertising business is in trouble, the company has been working hard to diversify the source of income. Therefore, the growth figures of Snapchat+are very important for Snap Inc. (Agence France -Presse)

Snap Inc (New York Stock Exchange code: SNAP)

Snapchat's parent company Snap Inc's recent stock performance has been weak in the past, and the trend is very strong. SNAPINC's stock price rose 1.5 % on Monday (3rd). The closure of US $ 12.02 is the highest closing price since February 7 this year. According to the Dow Jones market data, this is also the eighth consecutive day of the stock, which is the longest continuous upward trend since June 2020.

SNAPINC announced last Thursday (June 29) that its Snapchat+-was launched one year later, the number of subscribers has exceeded 4 million. In the third quarter of the end of September 2022, Snapchat+already owned more than 1.5 million booking households. Snapchat+is a paid service that allows users to obtain "exclusive functions"; the monthly booking fee is $ 2.50, or $ 29.99 per year.

Since Apple implemented a privacy reform in 2021, Snapinc's advertising business has been severely challenged. Under the new privacy reform, each platform must solicit iPhone users' consent to track their online activities. In addition, rising market interest rates and concerns about economic prospects have also caused advertisers to gradually reduce expenses since last year.

After Snap Inc's advertising business is in trouble, the company has been working hard to diversify the source of income. Therefore, the growth figures of Snapchat+are very important for Snap Inc.

SNAP Inc is expected to release the performance report in the second quarter of this fiscal year on July 25. Although investors are satisfied with its growth in paid user service business, they also generally hope to see Snapinc in more obvious improvements in advertising, and how Snap Inc will further expand the source of income sources and stimulate income growth. After all, Snapinc's turnover in the first quarter of this year was only 989 million US dollars, which was much inferior to $ 160 million.

Canaccord Genuity analyst, Mariaripps, "holds rating" for the stock, with a target price of only $ 10. In the analysis report of her last Friday (June 30): "Snapinc has a lower consensus on the prediction of the second quarter of the second quarter than the market analyst. It has been completed, but advertisers may need some time to adapt to new solutions. "

On the whole, only five of the 25 analysts of Tipranks were rated "buy" to SNAPINC shares, 19 ratings were given to "holding", and one of them gave "sell" rating. The target price is $ 9.92. In other words, based on the closing market price of $ 12.02 on Monday, these analysts believe that the shares can fall by 17.47 %. It seems that at the next performance report press conference, Snapinc needs to get a better transcript to allow investors to continue to be confident, and this ups and dynamics can continue.

Comprehensive Agence France -Presse and Reuters reported that the Kremlin spokesman Peskov told reporters on Wednesday (July 5th) that the content of Russia's interests in the initiative has not yet been fulfilled, so Russia has not decided to extend the initiative again.

The "Black Sea Grain Export Initiative" was signed by Russia, Ukraine, Turkey and the United Nations in July last year. The initial period of the initiative was 120 days, and later extended three times, in November last year, March and May this year, respectively.

Russia also signed a parallel agreement with the United Nations, promising that the United Nations will ensure that Russia's grain and chemical products have entered the global market smoothly. However, Russia has repeatedly stated that this part has not been observed.

The Secretary -General of the United Nations Trade Fair, Rebecagrynspan, told the media on Wednesday that the United Nations was very concerned about the prospects of the above two agreements because they were very important for food security and global southern countries. "We need these two protocols to continue to reduce (grain) prices and have a stable food and chemical fertilizer market worldwide."

Grimpan said that the United Nations will do everything possible to ensure that these two agreements are postponed. She has negotiated with the Russian delegation in Geneva and considers to go to Moscow to continue discussing extension with Russian officials within a few days.

This year's "May 1st" holiday fire spread throughout the Internet in Zibo barbecue in the whole network. It gradually cools down after two months. The local barbecue shop has recently ushered in the "closure tide". Some scholars believe that supporting the development of the "stall economy" under the trend of China's overall economic downturn is a way out to solve employment and economic problems, but the government requires supporting services instead of strengthening administrative intervention.

Placing stalls become a pitch to save the Chinese economy? * May 1st holiday in Zibo Cheng's tourist hotspot holiday economy can sustain?

According to the "China News Weekly" report, this year's "May Day" Labor Day holidays, Zibo barbecue heat cooling throughout the network during the holidays of the Labor Day. New renovation, new equipment.

During the "May 1st" period, on Chinese social media, the relevant content of "Zibo Barbecue" was overwhelming, and it also attracted a large number of foreign travelers who were retaliated with retaliated travel at home for a long time. "China News Weekly" quoted Douyin data and found that the "Zibo Barbecue" keyword search volume reached the first peak of 2.4767 million on April 9, breaking the highest peak of 11.0579 million on April 29. But after the holiday, the data gradually fell, and it had fallen to 109,100 on June 30.

A local practitioner in Zibo told China News Weekly that most of the store transfer was due to the bleak business and serious losses. The current low - cost transfer is to stop loss in time before the heat is completely cooled.

The report also pointed out that due to the stability of local customers, the current impact on the original store is not so huge. Only foreign tourists have gradually reduced the popularity of "Zibo barbecue" to the normal state. The barbecue restaurant is heavier.

Shandong Zibo Barbecue Festival (Agence France -Presse), held on May 2, 2023 [Li Hengqing, an economist in the "Institute of Information and Strategy" in American civil institutions, said in an interview with this station that under the trend of China's overall economic downturn, the pursuit of high -end industrial transformation and development cannot quickly boost the economy. Therefore, he believes that supporting small The starting point of the scale of the "stall economy" is understandable.

"Destruction is to adapt to the current level of productivity development and whether the production relationship can be matched. The problem solved is the survival and employment of ordinary people." He analyzed that in the case of the general consumption of Chinese people, the local government used to induce consumption, and to barbecue to barbecue to barbecue to barbecue. The industry has conducted great supporting propaganda, and shaped the Internet celebrity economy with administrative intervention, which does not meet the market laws.

Li Hengqing went on to say, "How can it last? It is not realistic to solve the problem of consumer problems and economic upgrades through the government speculation. It is not realistic, and we must be guided by market demand."

It is reported that when the "Zibo Barbecue" fire spread throughout the network, the local government has formulated a series of preferential policies, including financial institutions with convenient measures such as "Golden Furnace Huixiang Loan" and "Zizi Loan" to promote the barbecue industry. The scale of income continues to increase. According to the company's investigation data, from March 1 to June 18, 694 new barbecue -related companies in Zibo were added. Some experts point out that the expansion of the local barbecue industry has quickly ignored the limited cycle of the Internet celebrity economy, leading to excess supply.

Li Hengqing believes that the development of the stall economy that can drive consumption and employment only requires the government to do a good job of supporting services instead of shaping foam and strengthening intervention.

Xie Tian, a professor at the University of South Carolina University of South Carolina, told this station that the Zibo barbecue industry lacks local supporting services, such as natural and human environmental governance, so that it does not have a competitive advantage, but it cannot continue to develop. It plays its positive role in the overall economy.

He said: "The Chinese economy is now seriously declining and developed in the direction of retreating for 20 years. All the power of all the dividends and all economic growth is gone. It is useless to rely on the stall economy and the street economy."

Wang Xiaoyu, a special expert of the World Tourism City Federation, also told "China News Weekly" that the supply side of the tourism market needs to be improved in two aspects, that is, the continuous improvement of public service levels, and the differentiated creation of tourism products, attractive reshaping, reshaping And continuous optimization to attract the continuous development of the return guests. He said that it was clear that Zibo only did the former.

Description: Pan Gongsheng, the former vice president of the People's Bank of China, was appointed as the party secretary of the bank on July 1, and the media passed on. He was expected to serve as the president and break the practice of the "double head" of the pedestrian. In this regard, observers say that Pan Gongsheng has a financial and foreign exchange major, and the financial and monetary policy under his dominance will be sustainable. However, they question that Pan Gongsheng may not be able to exercise his powers independently under the monopoly power of Chinese President Xi Jinping. Moreover, monetary policies such as China's current economic dilemma and reduction of interest rate cuts or standards are not a good recipe for stimulating the economy.
