On Sunday, U.S. President Joe Biden joined Ukraine to the North Atlantic Convention Organization (NATO) to end the Russian and Ukraine War. On the other hand, Moscow warned that the West continued to supply advanced weapons to Kiev's advanced weapons.

Biden said in an interview with the US "CNN" channel two days before the NATO Summit held in Lithuania that Ukraine has not yet prepared to join NATO, and emphasized that it has not yet joined NATO to reach a "consensus" for Kiev.

Biden emphasized his position, that is, Ukraine now joining NATO will cause the alliance to fall into a state of direct war with Russia.

The President of the United States emphasized that Washington and its NATO will continue to provide Ukraine with weapons needed to end with the Russian war.

On the other hand, US National Security Consultant Jack Shalvin said that NATO leaders will discuss Ukraine's joining NATO with Ukraine officials during the Lithuania Summit.

According to Bloomberg, the US President left Washington on Sunday and will meet with British Prime Minister Rich Sonak on Monday on Monday, and then go to Lithuania to participate in the NATO Summit began on Tuesday.

German and cluster bomb

In this context, German President Frank Walter Steinmier called for not to "stop" the United States to transport cluster bombs to the Ukrainian army at the same time, while defending Germany's official opposition to these controversial weapons.

In an interview with German television, Steinmore said, "Germany's position in opposition to cluster ammunition is still reasonable, but under the current circumstances, it is impossible to prevent the United States from transporting them to Ukraine."

Steinmier added that if Ukraine is no longer capable of defending himself, or those who help it to stop doing this, it will be the end of Ukraine.

The United States announced a new military assistance to Ukraine last Friday to support Ukraine against Russia, including cluster ammunition, which made the types of weapons provided by Kiev reached a new threshold. Washington's statement was strongly criticized by non-governmental organizations. It also embarrassed European countries.

These controversial weapons can launch as many as hundreds of small explosives, which may cause civilians to die.

This kind of weapon is a prohibited weapon in many countries, especially in Europe that signed the Oslo Agreement in 2008, and the United States, Ukraine or Russia did not sign the agreement.

Russian warning

On the other hand, Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov warned that continuously providing military supply to Kiev will cause destructive effects and negative consequences, and warn the consequences of Asuka leaders returning to Kiev, Ukraine from Istanbul.

Lavrov added that in the talks with Turkish Foreign Minister Hakan Fidan, the two sides discussed the cooperation between the two countries on global grain security issues in the case of his so -called Western countries' inability to implement the grain agreement.

On the other hand, Russia's Ministry of Foreign Affairs spokesman Maria Zaharava called on the leadership of NATO leaders to discuss the situation of the Ukraine Zapollo Nuclear Power Station at the summit held at the Lithuanian capital of Vernus on Tuesday.

Zaharova accused Ukraine of the so -called systemic damage to the Zapollo Nuclear Power Station, and added that the NATO Summit should pay attention to the matter.

Bark Matt Battle

A reporter from the Peninsula reported on the spot that violent conflicts and mutual shelling between Ukraine and Russia broke out near Bachomut, east of Donetsk.

According to local sources in the area, the Ukrainian army made significant progress on the southern axis of Bachurut.

Spoch Cievati, a spokesman for the Eastern Ukrainian combat commander, told Peninsula TV that Russia's statement on Ukraine's use of chemical weapons in Bachland was fabricated.

The Ukrainian military officials said that the Russian army promoted the losses of the column to regain in Bachomut, and emphasized that the Ukrainian army is protecting all the locations they control and defeated the attempts of the Russians to regain these places.

On the other hand, the Russian Ministry of Defense stated that its troops have repelled all offensive attempts on Ukraine in Donetsk, Zapollo and Lugusk's axis. The Russian troops destroyed the ammunition stores of Zapollo and Donetsk.

At the same time, Russian officials said that the air defense system shot down four missiles on Sunday, one of which flew over the Crimean Peninsula, which was a territory that Russia seized and annexes from Ukraine in 2014.

Russia's appointed Crimean governor Sergei Akkinov posted a text through a Telegram application that a cruise missile was shot down near the city of Crimea, which did not cause damage or casualties. Nov did not specifically explain the launch of the missile.

He warned Israel's civilians to "use self -defense as an excuse" to expand the consequences of killing Palestinians, and pointed out that legitimate immunity to kill the perpetrators who shoot Palestinians is equal to "legalizing the legitimacy of the Palestinian people."

Zarbarka pointed out that on both sides of the green line(The west bank of the Jordan River and the Mainland)The people of the Palestinian people are facing a key stage, and added that "all of us have the responsibility to protect our existence, our present and future is exempted from Israel's power faction and all its political, security and government departments. threaten."

1. Why are Chinese liberals more and more split

Recently, the US Federal Supreme Court, which has already completed conservatives, made a judgment, withdrawing the "correction" admitted by Harvard University and North Carolina State University to the new students. (affirmative action) Essence This problem was originally one of the "gunpowder barrels" that the United States had been arguing for a long time, and the popularity of judging in the United States can be imagined. It is also a "sensitive issue" that Asians, especially Chinese, are concerned, because they generally believe that the rectification of college enrollment is not good for Asians and white people. Starting at least in the 2020 presidential election, the US issue has always been the focus of Chinese people at home and abroad. Together with the previous abortion judgments, homosexual wedding cakes, and webpage customized judgments made by the Supreme Court, these issues have generated fierce and lasting controversy in the WeChat group. The argument itself is a good thing, and it is not so good to become mutual.

Yellen visit to China: Does the US Treasury Secretary China improved Sino -US relations?

Yellen (left) was held in a polite atmosphere with He Lifeng (right), the head of China New Cain and Gold.

U.S. Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen has just ended a four -day visit to China. The purpose of her trip was to rebuild the bridge between the two countries.

Is this trip to Beijing this time? If we only look at one most basic indicator, yes.

The United States and China have once again realized dialogue, face -to -face, even if they are not enthusiastic, they can be regarded as polite and respectful.

This is very different from that during the administration of Donald Trump, most of them rely on social media as a cross -Pacific communication, which is very different.

Both sides' tone and content are more positive and cautious than before.

Before Yellen's trip, there was still a major visit to the US Secretary of State Antony Blinken in June. Both countries promised to stabilize each other at the time Essence

At the end of Sunday (July 9), Yellen said that the establishment of "strong and constructive communication channels with China's new economic team" will help. This statement cannot be underestimated.

In March of this year, most people at the top of the Chinese government were replaced. The first condition of the newcomers was loyalty to the supreme leader Xi Jinping, and the key figures were He Lifeng, the new economic affairs executive of the country.

On Saturday (8th), Yellen spent most of the time on talks with He Lifeng. She said that the talks between the two were "direct, substantial and effective", but at the same time, they acknowledged that there were "significant differences" between the two sides.

Yellen's deep bow caused discussion

bbc Chinese

Yellen met with He Lifeng, who was the first to meet with the title of "Sino -US Economic and Trade Chinese Leader" in the Diaoyutai State Guest House on Saturday. When the two met, Yellen's limb language caused discussions on social media between China and the United States.

On Twitter, Asian commentators in the United States Ian Miles Cheong Describes Yellen "bowed deeply" to He Lifeng, and this is "never seen before." Newspaper "New York Post" Described that He Lifeng retreated a little back at the time and gave Yellen "more room for Kowtow."

Bonnie Glaser, the Director of the Asian Project of the Marshall Foundation (GMF) in the United States

(GMF)(<https://twitter.com/BonnieGlaser/status/1678091536842489856>) Said: "I hope anyone can tell U.S. officials that when they shake hands with Chinese officials, the station is straight."

The comments of Chinese netizens seem to show that Yellen's move is "not flattering on both sides." On the Shanghai left website Observer.com's Weibo post A Beijing netizen said: "The posture seems low, and the mentality is as arrogant as ever." A Chongqing netizen said: "This bow is in the eyes of the Chinese." A Shaanxi netizen said: "Japanese human style Bow, that's a weasel!"

Yellen reiterated in the opening of He Lifeng that the United States will take targeted measures to protect US national security, but at the same time, China and the United States should not let differences cause misunderstandings.

Throughout the trip, Yellen tried to lobby the host China. Under the governance of the president Joe Biden, the United States was not fundamentally hostile to China.

She said, "We do not regard our relationship as a conflict between the great powers." And "we don't seek decoupling" each other's economy.

The Biden government seems to be trying to prove that its Chinese policy is not simply continuing the Trump administration's open hostility to Beijing. Is she successful? We are still waiting for the Chinese side.

But the so -called behavior is better than that. From the vision of Beijing, some of the recent movements of Biden Politamental Regime are not friendly. The most critical of these is to apply export control for individual American computer chips for the development of artificial intelligence.

Beijing emphasizes the positive results of Yellen's visit

Image source, reuters

Image adding text,

Yellen emphasized that the Bayeng government had no intention of "decirring" the US -China economy.

The Chinese Ministry of Finance issued a news notice on Yellen's visit to China on Monday (10th), and summarized the positive results of the four -day itinerary from four aspects.

Report description from the Ministry of Finance "Strengthening cooperation between China and the United States is the actual demand and correct choice of the two countries", and said that the two countries agreed that "follow -up to maintain high -level exchanges and communication between high -level exchanges between the Sino -US economic sector."

However, the statement also mentioned: "China once again reiterated the concerns of canceling tariffs on China, stopping Chinese enterprises, treating two -way investment in the two countries, relaxing export controls in China, and canceling the ban on products related to Xinjiang. The United States really takes action to respond to China's significant concern in the economic relations between the two countries. "

Yellen Sunday said to reporters in Beijing to summarize its itinerary She expressed concerns about the United States' "unfair economic means" -such as market access and intellectual property issues -"pressure on China" and recently increased the Chinese company's compulsory actions.

The United States did not intend to relax this ban. Instead, it started to expand and regulate it to other exports to Huagao technology. At the same time, it was drawn from Japan to Germany to the Netherlands , Do not provide China to provide the technology and equipment of the most cut -off chip.

The motivation of the United States is very simple. It does not want China to easily obtain American science and technology, thus gaining advantages in the fields of artificial intelligence, and leading in military technology. One day can be used to counter the United States in conflict, such as in Taiwan.

All this means that although the conversation is restarted, it seems to be ready to accelerate in the next few months, which is still a process of thin ice.

Here is another "balloon incident", or the US -Chinese warships and military planes passing by, which is enough to easily make the progress made in the past few days returning to the original shape.

Even the most optimistic experts believe that this has become a very difficult relationship. It requires cautious and long -term management to maintain stability.

Ukrainian war: US military aid support bombs trigger human rights disputes

Their role is to explode when impacting with foreign objects, but a considerable part of them is "failed bomb", which means that they will not explode at first, especially when the artillery lands on a humid or soft land.

The United States has announced that in response to Ukraine's request, it agrees to provide controversial clusterbombs to the country. This move was criticized by the human rights organization because the weapon has been banned by more than 100 countries.

What is a bundle bomb?

The bundle bomb is a weapon that scattered a large number of small ammunition from rockets, missiles or shells, and ammunition is scattered in a vast area during flight. Their role is to explode when impacting with foreign objects, but a considerable part of them become "dumb bombs", which means that they will not explode at first, especially when the ammunition is falling on a humid or soft land.

They may then explode when they are picked or trampled, causing the victims to die or disabled. From a military perspective, when used to fight the bunker ground forces in the trench and fortress positions, they may have a terrible effect, make the large area extremely dangerous, and people cannot move around before carefully cleaning up.

Why are they prohibited?

More than 100 countries including the United Kingdom, France and Germany signed an international treaty "Convention on Clustermunition"; the convention prohibits the use or storage of these weapons because its use will cause the civilian population not Selective damage.

Because ammunition may be similar to small toys in the residential area or farmland area, it is often picked up because of curiosity, so children are particularly vulnerable to victims. Human rights organizations describe a bundle bomb as "disgust" and even war crimes.

According to reports, the probability of "failure" of Russian clustering ammunition is about 40 %, which means that a large number of ammunition still threatens the ground, and the average failure rate is believed to be close to 20 %.

What other countries are using them?

Since Russia invaded Ukraine in February 2022, Russia and Ukraine have been using cluster bombs. None of them signed related treaties. The United States has not, but it has criticized Russia to use the weapon extensively. According to reports, the probability of the "failure" of the Russian cluster bomb is about 40 %, which means that a large number of ammunition still threatens the ground, and the average failure rate is believed to be nearly 20 %.

The Pentagon is estimated to have a loss efficiency of its own bundle bomb.

Jet Bouncing ammunition is a terrible, without selective attack weapon

Why do you ask them?

The artillery and ammunition of the Ukrainian army is extremely scarce, mainly because they are the same as Russia. They use ammunition at a very fast speed, and Ukraine Western allies cannot supplement the ammunition at the required speed. On the almost quiet and difficult front of Waan and East, artillery has become the key.

Ukraine is now facing a difficult task, trying to expel them from the defense positions set by Russia's invaders along the 1,000 -kilometer front. However, due to the insufficient artillery and ammunition, Ukraine has asked the United States to re-supplement its conclusions of ammunition inventory to combat Russian infantry who served as these defensive trenches.

This is not an easy decision for the White House, and it is extremely popular among many Democratic and human rights advocates. The debate has been performed for at least 6 months.

What impact will the United States decide?

The impact of immediately is that the moral highland of the United States in this war will be greatly affected.

Russia has been accused of committing many war crimes, which has sufficient evidence; but the United States may attract accusations for hypocrisy of the United States. Because cluster ammunition is a terrible, non-selective attack weapon, for adequate reasons, it is prohibited in many parts of the world. The American actions will inevitably disagree with its Western ally, and any split between allies is hope and need for Putin.

Yellen visited China for 4 days and talked about 10 hours

(Voice of Germany) Yellen is the second cabinet member who visited China since the Bayeng government came to power. In the 4 -day trip to China, Yellen had a talks with senior Chinese officials for about 10 hours. Comments are generally believed that, like the Secretary of State Broin who visited China not long ago, the trip to China, the US Treasury Secretary Yellen, did not bring breakthroughs to bilateral relations. As she said "No visit can resolve our challenges overnight. But I hope that this trip will help build a flexible and effective communication channel."

The China Economic Expert SCOTKENNEDY, an expert in Chinese economic issues at the Center for Strategic and International Studies, said: "The meeting itself is achievement, not a consensus. Our focus is that the United States and China have been in the United States and China for three years in three years in three years. There is almost no communication in half, and the degree of unbelievable and taunting two sides has accumulated a deep level."

He said that there are many differences between the United States and China under the background of the epidemic, tariffs, national security, trade restrictions, and dilemma facing the predicament of Huamei Enterprises, and Yellen can still conduct civilized and substantial discussions with Chinese officials such as He Lifeng Significant.

"Global Times", which is quite nationalist in China through interview expert review "From the summary of Yelun, it can be seen that her understanding of Sino -US relations is generally pragmatic, objective and calm, and there is a unique insight and balance perspective as an economic expert."

](http://www.china.com.cn/opinion2020/2023-07/10/content_91766898.shtml) The summary of Yelun's visit to China has given the outside world a certain positive expectations, but this expectation is like a candlelight in the wind, not only weak but also uncertainty. The overall pessimistic expectations have not changed. It is believed that Yellen's visit will hardly change the trajectory of economic relations between the two countries, and it is difficult to promote the substantial improvement of Sino -US relations. "

Expert: The opposition state "brings damage to the US -China economy"

Friendly Three Bow

Reuters reported that a senior official of the US Treasury who accompanied Yellen's visit to China described the interview as "mutual respect, frankness and constructiveness", "she was warmly received."

The official revealed that Yelun met with Chinese Deputy Prime Minister He Lifeng for two hours on Saturday (July 8), but they talked for 5 hours, and then attended a "friendly" dinner.

At the beginning of the meeting with He Lifeng, a detail was widely concerned. Yellen bowed many times when He Lifeng shook hands with He Lifeng, while the host of the Chinese host stood straight there. Some media and social media said that Yellen gave a gift in Beijing, bowed to Chinese officials three, and let the United States embarrassed and so on.

Bonnieglaser, director of the Asian project of the Marshall Foundation in Germany, reposted relevant videos and said, "I hope someone can tell US officials that they should straighten their chests when they shake hands with Chinese officials."

See if Yellen can relax the tariff punishment for China

Trade experts said after the meeting that it is difficult to see how the Washington and the Chinese government will reach compromise at present. Two parties to hold a conversation are the best ways.

National Foreign Trade Council chairman JakeColvin said "I think Yellen's tone is correct, and the US government and enterprises should make efforts to reduce risks and achieve diversified supply chain. The two countries still need to maintain an important economic relationship, and Yellen has found a balance between the two. "

Hong Yan, chief economist of Grow InvestmentGroup in Hong Kong, said that a possible result is that the United States relaxes part of the punitive tariffs on some of the Chinese goods. Essence

However, Korvi believes that as the presidential election approaches the 2024 presidential election, if China does not take equal action, the Bayeng government unilaterally relax tariffs or other restrictions, which will be "politically difficult to promote."

Yellen, who plays the red face, succeeded

Germany 's judge Goerlach believes that under the current framework of the world pattern, Yellen's visit to China is a " comprehensive success ". " She has a Chinese talks with Chinese talks to make communication channels. "

He also believes that Yellen and the Secretary of State Brosky visited China in front of and in fact a red and white -faced double reed. "Brinton plays' white face ', Yellen plays the" red face', which means that Brinton is more difficult and must state issues such as Guoan in Beijing, while Yellen represents reasonable voices, advocating cooperation and joint trade. "

Germany claims to launch the "Most Advanced Immigration Law in the world" (data picture)

(Voice of Germany Chinese website) Germany currently has 2 million positions vacant shortage and no one asks Essence Nursing staff, IT experts, craftsmen, and logistics industry-all these types are facing talent shortages. According to data from the German Federal Employment Bureau, 400,000 technical workers need to be attracted to maintain the stability of the labor market every year. But in 2021, only 40,000 people were willing to apply for work in Germany. The German "baby tide" generation, that is, the high birth rate of the high birth rate in the 1960s is about to retire, and the problem of the shortage of German workers will increase.

In order to reverse this situation, the German government recently finally adopted a new draft of the reform of immigration law It aims to encourage more people outside the European Union to work in Germany. Nancy's Minister of the Social Democratic Party (SPD) NancyFaeser said at the end of June to introduce the federal parliament to the "most advanced immigration law in the world", "This draft law will ensure the prosperity of Germany." Essence

The Minister of the Interior Nancy Faeser introduced the Federal Parliament at the end of June that this department will become "the world's most advanced immigration law"

Regulations on family reunion

In the new bill, the most watched key content includes the rules of family reunion. So far, Germany cannot be regarded as a immigrant country, not only because of the lack of a clear rules. Unlike the United States, Canada, New Zealand, Australia and other hot Chinese immigration countries: even if immigrants can get permanent residence in Germany or apply for citizenship, they still cannot apply for family reunion for their parents.

However, for foreign immigrants who want to attract new technical immigrants in Germany and have long -term residence rights that have obtained long - term residence rights after employment or investment and operation after studying in Germany, how the German new immigration law stipulates that family reunion is important. It will add points to Germany for new immigrants when considering destination countries, or at least let Germany and other technology immigrants stand on the same starting line. For old immigrants who have lived in Germany, the new rules of family reunion will undoubtedly significantly shorten the distance between them and their families, improve the quality of life in Germany, and even retain those who cannot consider leaving Germany because they cannot reunite with their parents.

professional.

Therefore, it is not difficult to imagine where the New Immigration Law was passed by the Federal Parliament at the end of June, where the excitement of Chinese immigrants from Germany came from. Many Chinese self -media reports said that the New Immigration Law stipulates that parents can receive their parents' long -term life. "Heavy", "good", and "Xipa Pan" are commonly used words for many German Chinese self -media to pay attention to this matter. However, take a closer look at the specific content of the draft New Law, and you will find that for old immigrants who have lived in Germany for many years, they may be disappointed.

Many old immigrants who have worked in Germany for many years still cannot reunite with their parents (information pictures)

official announcement of the Ministry of the Interior

After many inquiries from the Voice of Germany, Mehmet ATA, spokesman for the German Federal Ministry of the Interior, confirmed that family reunion stipulated in the new law. After it is implemented on March 1, 2024, it is first immigrants who have obtained a German residence permit as a professional as a professional. Also with additional conditions, new immigrants must be able to continue to ensure the living expenses of accompanying family members.

In this regard, the draft of the New Immigration Law made clear supplementary regulations in Article 36. It is said that if a foreigner obtained the relevant residence permits including Blue Card on March 1, 2024, his parents can get a residence permit for family gatherings; if the spouse also lives in Germany, the above Regulations are also applicable to their parents. However, the prerequisite is that according to Article 5), paragraph 1, paragraph 1 of the existing residence law: The living expenses of family members must be guaranteed.

At the same time, the draft reform of the new immigration law did simplify some procedures for family reunion in terms of specific regulations. For example, when applying for family reunion before, it is necessary to prove that the applicant has enough living space for family members to use.

Applicable. At the same time, foreign citizens holding the EU Schengen visa into Germany do not need to return to the original country to re -apply for a work visa after finding a job. Instead, they can directly change their entry visa in Germany. This is supported by the German government, especially the Green Party. The party claimed that applicants had previously required applicants to leave Germany "ridiculous".

The problem of unresolved decision

Nevertheless, there are still some key issues related to family reunion. For example, after parents enter Germany with professional immigrants, social welfare insurance such as medical and health insurance is properly arranged. The current situation in Germany is that public medical insurance is overwhelmed, it needs to increase premiums for years, and discuss the expansion of the insured's self -funded payment amount. However, according to the current legal system in Germany, every citizen who owns a address in Germany has obliged to buy medical insurance. Public medical insurance is obliged to incorporate it without insurance without insurance.

In addition, the draft of the German New Immigration Law Reform has also caused fierce discussions in the Chinese community in Germany. Some Chinese are very dissatisfied with the regulations that allow new technology immigrants to handle family reunion in the bill. He said that he contributed to German society through work, business and other activities in Germany. After a few years of performance of taxpayers, the basic life demands of reunion with parents still could not be guaranteed. And new immigrants can have the right to immigrate to Germany before making any substantial contributions to German society. The new law will obviously divide the Chinese and foreigners living in Germany into multiple levels. At the same time, some Chinese said that Germany should currently solve the social and economic problems of a large number of immigrants. There are also some Chinese parents who are unwilling to live in Germany for a long time because of their language, culture, diet, and social environment. After entering Germany to visit relatives for a long time, they "began to count the days to return to China."

Although various digital payment technology is developed, today Chinese consumers have lost their willingness to pay (information picture)

(Voice of Germany Chinese) In the case of confrontation with stubborn high inflation in Western countries, China is now facing concerns about shrinking Essence In June, due to weak demand, Chinese manufacturers have reduced prices and have declined to the largest in the past seven and a half years. Producers' prices fell 5.4% compared with the same period last year, the ninth consecutive month, and the largest decline since December 2015. Among them, companies in the energy, metal and chemical industries have been forced to cut prices because domestic and foreign demand is weakening.

At the same time, China's consumer goods prices have also stopped rising for the first time in the past two and a half years. In June this year, consumer prices remained stable as the same period last year. In May, consumer prices still increased slightly. Economists have expected that this growth will continue, but this is not the case. One possible reason for slowing consumer price growth is the slow growth of demand. This change allows analysts to predict that government and central banks may introduce new economic stimulus policies to boost demand.

The risk and challenge of Chinese shrinkage

The approach to reduce prices in China's manufacturing industry reflects the weakness of domestic and foreign demand. As the Chinese economy resumed stagnation after the epidemic, and the western central bank's interest rate hikes suppressed consumer spending, the Chinese economy faced a double blow. If prices generally decline, it may further weaken China's fragile confidence, causing the economy into a vicious circle of demand and falling price.

"Red Gambling Disc" author Shen Dong: In Oxford Passover Fear

Although China has relaxed the control policy to stimulate the demand for house purchase, the momentum of recovery in the real estate market is still weakened. Shen Dong, a businessman who used to engage in real estate development business in China, said to Germany's voice: China's per capita residential ownership is the highest in the world, and about 80% of the people live in the house. Nowadays, these people have seen their wealth shrinking. In this case, "the consumer market cannot be mentioned." At the same time, he judged that the real estate industry in China "has come to an end without a rebound."

According to the data of the Financial Company Barclay, China's current economic environment is facing a "scalability environment." Tong contraction refers to the phenomenon of general decline in prices, which may trigger an economic environment of downlink spirals. Shining may cause consumer expenditure to decline, which may further drag economic growth. At the same time, if an enterprise lays out to lay off the demand for atrophy, it may cause social problems. Therefore, how to maintain social stability while avoiding excessive economic cooling will be a major challenge facing the Chinese government.

In the financial market, this concern is spreading. The exchange rate of the RMB is declining. China A shares have experienced the uncommon "four - company yin" in the past few months. Capitaleconomics economists predict that "considering weak credit demand and currency pressure, we believe that most support will come from the government's fiscal policy."

The Chinese stock market has gone down

How to make the next round of economic stimuli?

At the same time, China's exports to the United States such as the United States have also weakened. China does not have inflation after ending the epidemic sealing and restarting the economy like most countries, but instead shows a deflation trend, which reveals some structural problems of the Chinese economy after three years of epidemic prevention and control.

Including economists Shen Ling's unbalanced consumption and investment, and the imbalance in economic growth in state -owned and private Essence

The Chinese government's goal this year is to achieve an average inflation rate of 3%. However, last year, the inflation rate was only 2%due to the impact of the new crown epidemic. The economic recovery has stagnated at multiple levels. The unemployment rate has soared to more than 20%in May. The manufacturing activities have shrunk for the third consecutive month in June, and they also show weak exports to Western economies.

In addition, the automotive market as an important area for the end of China's strict epidemic control measures, boosting the economy, and showing a weak trend. According to the China Passenger Car Association(CPCA)Data released on Monday, in June this year, China's passenger cars sales fell by 2.9%year - on -year. At the same time, major independent brands and foreign brands in China are still in a state of price hot war.

In this regard, some economists have called for more measures to boost demand and reverse weak market emotions. However, so far, Chinese decision makers have not launched large -scale stimulus plans. Some reasons may be that the debt burden is worsened and the government -led investment returns decrease.

China 's Central Cyberspace Office issued a notice on Monday, asking various social media platforms and websites to strengthen the management of " self -media "to prevent counterfeiting and imitation behavior Reuters data chart Audio-Link: https://www.rfa.org/mandarin/yataibao/meiti/wy2-07102023140434.html/@@stream The China Central Cyberspace Office issued a notice on Monday, asking various social media platforms and websites to strengthen the management of "self -media" and strictly prevent counterfeiting and imitation behavior. Although the authorities tighten the control of public opinion is not news, what is the purpose of this new regulation? Who will affect?

"Only Happiness"? The "Clear Action" of the Internet Information Office rectifies the self -media Technician found: WeChat or record computer logs and uploaded Henan six netizens were punished for "rumoring" for sending related wheat videos

In recent years, the Chinese government's measures to control citizens' remarks and restrict self -media development have emerged endlessly. Netizens often lament on Twitter outside the firewall that Chinese speech space is constantly narrowing.

As soon as this new document came out, many netizens immediately felt that this had a direct relationship with the a few days ago that the website announced the offline anonymous function.

The China Central Cyberspace Office issued a notice on Monday, asking various social media platforms and websites to strengthen the management of "self -media" and strictly prevent counterfeiting and imitation behavior. (Screenshot of China Network Information Network) Just to fight fake "Ding Zhen"?

The file stipulates that the platform platforms should strengthen registration and plan to change account information to prevent counterfeiting and counterfeiting behaviors of "self -media". This provision seems to be a common phenomenon in the current Chinese social media, that is, speaking from the media from the media, causing many disputes.

China's network technology enthusiast Kawaii thought of the fake account of many pseudonym "Ding Zhen" on the station B. He believes that this approach should be condemned, but if all real names are really realized and anonymous, it may not bring to bring it, it may not bring to bring What great benefits: "Just like the real -name system of the current telephone ten years ago, the real -name system was originally implemented to combat telephone fraud. As a result, information was leaked due to the implementation of the policy. In China Instead, phone fraud has become even more rampant. "

The regulations of the Internet Information Office also specifically emphasized that if the account information contains the names or signs or signs of the party, government and military agencies, news media, and administrative divisions, it is necessary to manually review and find that counterfeiting and counterfeiting shall not provide relevant services.

Such similar regulations seem to have known each other in China and are not new. Liu Lipeng, a former Sina Weibo content reviewer who lives in the United States, analyzed that this regulation has only further strengthened the restrictions of the past: "You can't imitate news agencies to send information about China before, but now control this diameter controlled by controlling this diameter management Even more strict, you just have the meaning of counterfeiting. "

In recent years, as the highest institution of China's Internet content management law enforcement, the Central Cyberspace Office has issued regulations one after another to restrict the content of the Internet platform, and on the other hand, it has continuously remedied the online remarks in the name of combating the news of Internet violations and named them as the "Clear Action". The latest one is the special operation of "Clear · Summer 2023 Summer of 2023 Summer" announced by the end of June. The Internet Information Office claims that the purpose of action is to comprehensively comprehensively reduce the survival space of hidden mutation of harmful information and create a network environment that is conducive to the healthy and safe growth of minors.

In the above provisions issued on Monday, the Internet Information Office also stipulates that the online platform shall require "self -media" not to gather negative information, stir -fry the old things, stir -fry the hot event, and consumer disaster accidents. Liu Lipeng believes that this regulation is confirmed with each other: "Like the regulations such as not stir -fried old news, this time may be clearer. The content is not written into the regulations. "

China Central Cyberspace Office has launched a special action of "clear and strictly rectified 'self -media' chaos" from March 12, 2023 (network screenshot)

Prevent the second "Teacher Li"?

"Teacher Li is not your teacher" who has more than 1.1 million fans on Twitter reposted the new regulations issued by the Internet Information Office on Monday, which attracted many netizens' attention and hot discussion. He said to the analysis of this station that the latest provisions of the authorities may have a great impact: "Do not go to hot events, do not go to consumer disaster accidents. . Almost nothing can be talked about, because this framework is too big. Only if you don't talk, you can be regarded as 'not 蹤'. "

"Teacher Li is not your teacher" is currently in Italy. During the "White Paper Movement" in China at the end of last year, he forwarded the contributions of netizens from all over the country to reflect the pictures and videos of the epidemic sealing and rally. This has attracted the attention of overseas public opinion.

Although most of the "Teacher Li is your teacher" is not traditionally considered by the Chinese government's political sensitivity, but involves the daily life and reasonable demands of the Chinese people, according to his own introduction, his family in the country has also received the police from the police. Habits. Liu Lipeng analyzed that one of the intentions of the new regulations of the Internet Information Office may be to prevent the second "teacher Li" in China: "Like the prohibition of anonymous release of such regulations, it is actually to prevent the appearance of the wall from the wall. 'This account. It is to accept contributions to netizens, and then publish it to expose some less sensitive social events. "

Liu Lipeng believes that in the past, some ordinary incidents, such as mice, such as the meals in the cafeteria of Jiangxi School, were likely to cause uproar through the Internet transmission, and now it may be restricted. Social grass -roots levels are not sensitive to the Internet, and may be strangled now. "

From the above new regulations, it can be seen that the online information office requires the online platform to strengthen the authenticity management of information, and requires that "self -media" is responsible for the authenticity of the information released by it. When the "self -media" releases information, the website platform shall display the "self -media" account name on the information release page, and shall not be replaced by anonymous users.

"Teacher Li is not your teacher" believes that this kind of regulation will constitute an obstacle to the truth of the netizen's mining incident: "We know that many events are turned on after reversal, so it requires the media to be responsible for the authenticity of the information. In fact, it is actually in fact. Just ask the media to shut up. "

Possible impact

The above -mentioned new regulations of the Internet Information Office's information on China's self -media seem to have reached a new height. However, what the actual impact will have the new rules, it seems that there are divergent parties. Network technology enthusiast KAWAII has long been a technical consultant for network security for some websites. He believes that the new rules may not be able to get a good execution: "(network platform) workload is too large, and the platform will not hire so many reviews member."

Liu Lipeng believes that it depends on whether the government will punish some big v: "In the end, you must shut down some big accounts or catch people, maybe it may have some impact on the network. Like this There are several seasons that can be produced in a quarter, so it is unclear what impact will eventually have. "

"Teacher Li is not your teacher" analyzed that the authorities restricted to this extent for self -media, which may affect some people's livelihood: "Many people around me, including many people on the Internet I know, because of the (authorities) to crack down on teaching or training or Back to other industries, and then I have to switch to self -media, but now I want to rectify the self -media concentratedly. I think this is a sad thing. "" Teacher Li is not your teacher "said, just like it was similar to before The incident processing method is the same. Netizens believe that the authorities do so are very outrageous, but the authorities will still do so.

The reporter asked again that the measures taken by the United States have hindered the collection and transmission information of balloons, or can it collect but just cannot be passed back? The proposal announced by Michael Barr, vice chairman of the Fed, covers a series of extensive issues today, with a purpose of strengthening banks with total supervision of more than $ 100 billion.

Balt said at a meeting held in Washington this morning: "The threshold of $ 100 billion is compared to the current structure that will allow more banks to be limited by our most risky sensitivity capital regulations."

This regulation is currently only applicable to companies that are internationally active, or assets with more than $ 700 billion.

Chairman of the American Bankers Association stated in a statement that the proposal to increase capital requirements may have a negative impact on the banking industry.

Balt said that his proposal was equivalent to "2 percentage points that required large banks to add additional capital."

The primary topic of the Southeast Asian National Association Foreign Minister Meeting is the Myanmar crisis

Description: (Agence France -Presse Jakarta, 11th) The Southern Asian National Association Foreign Minister gathered in Indonesia today and will have a two -day talks with the theme of Myanmar crisis. ASEAN, who has always been considered to be a clear talk but no realistic performance, still has a lot of disgusting in how or not to re -contact with Myanmar's military government.

After these two days of the Southeast Asian National Association (ASEAN) Foreign Minister meeting, foreign ministers of various countries will talk to China and the United States with other powers. Arbitrarily.

ASEAN has been accused of empty talk groups that have not been actual. This time, there are still differences in resolving diplomatic efforts to resolve the Myanmar crisis.

Since the military coup has overturned Wengshan Su Ji's regime more than two years ago, Myanmar has been suffering from fatal violence, and the newly on stage has bloody suppression of disgraceful parties.

A diplomat in Southeast Asia told AFP that the ASEAN Foreign Minister's meeting was carrying out "additional efforts" a few days ago, hoping to integrate this organization on the Myanmar issue.

However, given that "a few members have different views on how to solve (Myanmar)", the official is "not very optimistic" in the prospects.

Myanmar is still a member of the ASEAN, but is banned from attending a high -level meeting because the military government fails to implement the 5 -point plan agreed 2 years ago. The plan is designed to end violence and restart negotiations to resolve crisis.

ASEAN attempts to restart the implementation plan but has no results because the military government ignores international criticism and refuses to contact the opposition.

After the ASEAN Foreign Minister's Meeting, the next step on the 13th "ASEAN Canada 3" ministerial meeting, that is, 10 ASEAN countries plus Japan, South Korea, and China; then the East AsiaSummit Foreign Minister Conference on the 14th, This will participate in 18 countries, including the United States and China.

Russian Foreign Minister Sergeilavrov is expected to attend the East Asian Summit Foreign Minister Conference. As Moscow continued to invade Ukraine in March this year, Raffrov talked with Broncolph a brief talk. This time, the two will live in a room at the Foreign Minister of the East Asian Summit.

Daniel Kritenbrink, in charge of East Asian affairs, told reporters on the 8th that Beijing's controversy in the South China Sea will become the focus of the East Asian Summit Foreign Minister Conference.

Selling weapons to Taiwan

The United States has no formal diplomatic relations with Taiwan, but it is the main military supporter of Taiwan. For decades, Washington has sold "defensive" weapons to Taiwan based on the "Relations with Taiwan". After August last August, after the Speaker of the House of Representatives in the United States House, Plogsi visited Taiwan, the Chinese PLA launched the largest real -scale military exercise in the surrounding waters around Taiwan for decades. Then in September, the Bayeng government announced the 6th degree of Taiwan military sales case worth 1.16 billion US dollars. The US Ginseng Institute also passed the "National Defense Authorization Act" at the end of last year. The law plans to send US government officials to Taiwan to strengthen the bilateral cooperation of the United States and Taiwan.

The Solomon Islands is about 2,000 kilometers from Australia, and it has become China 's expansion forces here The most successful example. Last April, China announced the signing of a security agreement with Solomon ; Outside worried that China might build a naval base in the country, but Solomon has repeatedly denied it.

About one week before Sogovre's visit to China, Australia's Minister of Defense Richard Marles came to the Solomon Islands. The Australian Broadcasting Corporation (ABC) pointed out on June 29 that Mars is promoting the Australian troops and police forces to continue to deploy in Solomon, saying that its military and police can assist Solomon's maintenance work next year. Earlier, the Solomon administration stated that it was re-examined with Australia's maintenance of defense agreements, while the Chinese police were expanding police training cooperation projects with Solomon.

Australia is the biggest assistant country of the Solomon Islands; Sogovre told AFP before the visit to the AFP that reviewing the defense agreement does not mean reducing the level of relations with Australia, and Solomon still hopes strengthening the relationship between the two countries .

When it comes to Sino -European relations, the first country in most people's minds is usually France or Germany, or Britain and Italy. Few people think of the Nordic countries, and few people think of Sweden directly. Sino -Swiss relations seem to be an extremely rare topic. If we look back at history, we will find that Sweden in 1950 was the second Western country that established diplomatic relations with the People's Republic of China after the United Kingdom, 14 years earlier than France, which has established diplomatic relations with China in 1964.

Many people may strange the Swedes in that environment at that time to break through various ideological constraints and build diplomatic relations with China? In fact, a large part of the reason is that the essence of Swedish culture is actually the pragmatism of the merchants. This kind of recreational pragmatism can be traced back to the Hansha Alliance with the Rubak as the core of northern Germany in the 12th century. The strong business culture is inherently born to be a supporter of trade liberalism.

On July 5th, the British Think Tank Paddy Ashdown Forum (Padi Ash Ashidang) held a "Global Dialogue". The first interviewed guest was the former chief secretary of the British Ministry of Finance. Sir Dannyalexander. The AIIB is a controversial agency in the UK. I heard rumors several times that "the AIIB is serving the 'Belt and Road'." Not long ago, Canada suspended its contact with the AIIB because the bank's global communication director and a Canadian said that the bank was "led by the Communist Party" and resigned. Therefore, I have a high curiosity about the Asian Investment Bank and the former British politician Alexander Alexander who served the AIIB. Bypassing the AIIB, the founder of the British Liberal Democratic Party, Merleneemerson (Du Shuzhen) directly invited my interview to Sir Alexander, and quickly received consent. 45 minutes before the beginning of the "Global Dialogue" of Padi Ash, I interviewed him.

Du Shuzhen (first from left) delivered a speech in the first "global dialogue" in the Padi Ash as the forum. The first one was the Alexander Sir.

Question: You return to Europe this time to participate in the new Global Financing Contract Summit held in Paris. What information do you get?

Alexander: The timing of dealing with the climate crisis is very urgent, and there is not much time.

 Question: How are the urgent? Because the British media did not report this summit.

Alexander: This is a pity. The information I feel at the Paris Summit is: Unless we can raise the number of funds required to deal with climate crisis in the financial circle in the financial circle, especially in the financial circle, especially in developing countries (funds required), otherwise we will The goal established by the Paris Agreement (climate agreement passed at the UN Climate Summit in 2015) -strive to limit the increase in temperature to 1.5 ° C above the level before industrialization. Governments, financial institutions (such as the Asian Investment Bank) and private institutions need to do more to provide more than a trillion US dollar investment scale required for each year.

Question: When you hear the Sunak government wants to abandon Britain's leadership in climate change (because the British media recently reported that "Britain plans to abandon the promise of governance climate change for £ 11.6 billion"), how do you feel?

Alexander: I haven't heard related reports yet. But in the past few years, Britain has been a leading country for climate change. I hope that Britain can continue to lead this.

Q: What is the most important mission when you work in the AIIB?

Alexander: There are two: (1) I believe that multilateral cooperation mechanism is the best way to achieve common goals. The AIIB has set up a good goal, that is, providing financial infrastructure for the Asian economy. (2) Provide financial services for green infrastructure and climate transformation.

Question: Do you say that supporting multilateral cooperation mechanisms? Does this concept come from the Liberal Democratic Party?

Alexander: I think this is one of my personal values, which drives me to join the Liberal Democratic Party many years ago, because in British politics, the Liberal Democratic Party has always advocated Internationalism. , So this is the way I practice internationalism.

Q: Do you have pressure on this work? Because I heard that your Canadian colleague resigned recently, the Canadian government has cut off the relationship with the AIIB. Does this affect you?

Alexander: Oh, that guy ... LOOK, he does not have the actual evidence to support him, uh, we don't need to pay too much attention to the former staff, but at the same time we are waiting for the relevant investigation report -we Welcome to the Canadian government's Review (retrospective, review), they have not cut off relationships with the AIIB, but just say that it takes time to investigate, and we fully respect their decision. The AIIB is an independent organization that pursues multilateralism. We have nothing to hide. We confident that the Canadian said is not the fact.

Q: You said that the AIIB is an independent organization, which is very interesting. Because in Western media reports, this is a Beijing -led bank.

Alexander: This statement (that is, the AIIB is a bank led by Beijing).

 Question: Are there any misunderstandings about this?

Alexander: Asian Investment Bank is an independent organization, consisting of 106 member states, such as the United Kingdom, France, China, Indonesia, Canada, etc. The proposal of the establishment of the AIIB is initiated by China. The organizational structure is established according to the international treaty. There are different shares holding countries, such as the World Bank, the United Nations, or the IMF (International Monetary Fund). Make a decision, so this is not an institution owned by the government, nor is it the property of the government, it is an international institution. Just as you do n't because the United Nations is in New York, it is said that the United Nations is a US agency, right?

Q: The governor of the AIIB is Gionee Group. Can that position be only held by the Chinese?

 Sir Alexander: President by Board OFGOversors (Council, consisting of financial ministers of member states) elected. The regulations stipulate that this position must be held by the Asian member states, so this (who is the president) is determined by the council. Gionee group served as president twice, and both voted for elections. The first time was January 2016, and the second was 2020. He can only do up to two sessions.

Question: Why is the president's position limited to Asians?

Alexander: Because this is the Asian Investment Bank (that is, a bank with Asia as the investment target), the Asian member states have 75% of the Asian Investment Bank's equity, which is agreed by all member states after consultation, and they have received the parliament of member states. Acknowledge. Just like any international treaty, it is recognized by the member states.

Question: You just said that the Canadian government did not cancel its contact with the AIIB, but it was suspended. It seems that the news I read is wrong. This is a misunderstanding.

Alexander: There are too many misunderstandings in the world, don't worry.

Q: between Sino -British relations, in addition to the two options of black and white, there are also intermediate positions. You are the person in the middle.

Alexander: I don't understand, can you say it again?

Question: I mean -I do n't support Britain, or China, you look like standing in the middle.

Alexander: From the perspective of the AIIB, China and the United Kingdom are important member states. They are positive for the work of the AIIB. I think both countries have done a good job. position). As for Britain's political discussion on China, I will not do specific discussions. Even if there are bilateral differences, of course, this (bilateral difference) is very obvious, but the joint cooperation of all parties is still very valuable. We face emergency climate problems, and countries must cooperate to solve this problem together, otherwise we will have a terrible consequences together. Alexander:  No. The British government Fully Engaged (full investment) cooperation with the AIIB.

Q: This is very interesting. Britain has two paths in political and economic relationships with China.

Alexander: Yes, but Britain follows bilateral international relations, and Britain has a high reputation in practice and bilateral relations. This is a good thing for the AIIB.

Q: When you enter the AIIB, Sino -British relations are still in the golden age. Do you feel any pressure in the current environment?

Alexander: In my personal, no. For the AIIB, of course. Stress is in all aspects. But it mainly comes from how to achieve our goals, not geopolitics. My personal pressure is: how to make the AIIB influence and how to make investment support our global goals, such as the Paris Agreement, which is the pressure that consumes time to think, not the questions you ask.

Q: This is why I always want to chat with you, because you seem to live in another world (compared with the British media environment). You don't have the kind of anxiety in our imagination, you look very comfortable. There must be misunderstandings -when someone thinks that you should resign, you actually enjoy your work, with a sense of mission of climate change, you have been moving forward. However, how do you deal with in the era of "de - globalization"? Because it is no longer as smooth as you expect.

Alexander: You are right. In many ways, global cooperation is no longer as strong as before. The AIIB is the Developmentbank (Development Bank, which provides risk -based financial institutions for economic development projects on non -commercial basis). The role is to use capital invested by governments to support projects, especially to support middle -income countries in Asia. This job is difficult, but it is very important.

Question: Do you think the AIIB is indeed operated in accordance with market rules. No political factors are involved?

Alexander: We are similar to other banks that implement multilateral cooperation mechanisms, such as World Bank and Asian Development Bank. We are not commercial banks, not a bank like Goldman Sachs or HSBC. We are owned by members/governments, the government is endorsed by the council, and the direction of the organization is guided. Compared with the same type of banks, our Well-Run, Well-Govern is a high-quality system, which has a positive impact on the financial projects we support.

Q: Maybe it is a stereotype, but I have always heard that the AIIB supports the “Belt and Road”?

Alexander: This is also a mistake.

Question: Why are so many similar reports?

Alexander: You are going to ask reporters. I can only answer the truth I know. The AIIB has its own strategy and direction. We decide the investment direction based on our own goals, and the investment strategy is agreed by all member states. Member states will also apply for projects, such as India. India is the largest BORROROER (borrowing country) in the AIIB. When choosing a project, we will investigate the financial health of the project. Whether it can monitor social issues safely, we will also look at anti - corruption status, debt repayment ability, and so on.

Q: The purpose of the bank is to be profitable. Do you have profit?

Alexander: The purpose of Asian Investment Bank is to support development, not for profit.

Question: But you can't let the member states lose money?

Alexander: No no. We are indeed profitable, but the profit will be put into the project again.

Q: Really? Will your projects in developing countries make a profit?

Alexander: We invest in good projects. We have contributed to their development. We invest in public and private projects. Each profit is increasing our investment capabilities.

Q: How many years will you work at the AIIB according to your contract?

Alexander: Vice President a term of office is three years, and I am already in the third term.

 Question: How many terms can you serve?

Alexander: There is no restriction. This depends on the decision of the council.

Question: Do you still have two years of term?

Alexander: yes, one and a half years.

Question: If the council wants you to stay, would you?

Alexander: Maybe you have already seen it. I like to work in financial institutions in Asia's multilateral mechanism. If they want me to stay, I will keep an open attitude towards this. But this first depends on the council, and you mention a future issue.

Question: So no matter which bank in the future, you will use finance as a means to solve climate problems, right?

Alexander: Yes.

advertisements, and the "prohibited areas" of bus body advertisements are set up at the intersection of Wangfujing intersection from Wangfu Street in Chang'an Street. Why do you introduce such regulations? In this regard, scholars give their own interpretation.

Beijing to formulate the service personnel of the government window to regulate the style from the head tube to the foot? In China, the business activities of the enterprise are about ideological. On the Chang'an Street in front of Tiananmen Gate in Beijing, the buses will not be advertised. The Beijing Daily Client reported on Monday that the "Beijing Public Automobile Tram's Outdoor Advertising Specification (Draft for Consultation)" recently publicly solicited opinions on the website of the Beijing Municipal Management Committee. Soliciting opinions clearly stipulate that the "prohibited area" of buses' body advertisements, of which the operating line passes through the road section section west of Wangfujing intersection to the east of Xidan intersection and bus vehicles from Tiananmen Square. In addition, advertisements shall not be used to use the front of the front, the windows of the rear, and the escape glass on both sides of the body.

The citizens can't touch the brain scholars calling them "exclude business" **

Mr. Zhang, a resident who lives near Tiananmen Square, said in an interview with Radio Free Asia on Tuesday that in the past two decades, the alert in Tiananmen Square has become more and more stricter, but it is not possible to stipulate why advertise. He said: "There are not a few cars on Chang'an Street (in front of Tiananmen), which is 1, 5, there are no roads, there are no roads, 22 do not take this side, especially 'clean', I really don't know why they (official) why . Now when I go to the Forbidden City, I will go to Xihua Gate and Nanchi (Donghua Gate) exports. I have to check my ID card when I go to the square. I start to check the ID card from the entrance of Fuyou Street (to Tiananmen). , I have to make an appointment now. "

Police talk to a man on a street near Tiananmen Square, Beijing. (Associated Press) The "Regulations on the Management of Beijing Municipal Outdoor Advertising Facilities, Plastic Makes and Signs Propaganda Settings" implemented in September 2021 did not restrict the advertisements outside the bus. After about 20 months, the authorities revised the Regulations again. What was the reason?

One of the co -founders of the Yirenping Center of Beijing Public Welfare Organization told this station that the model for prohibiting advertising outside the buses is similar to Pyongyang, the capital of North Korea. Observation, such as shooting TV and watching news, all the screens that come into the camera lens must control the Communist Party, become very clean and pure, without business atmosphere and information. This is completely ideological idea. "

The Army believes that the authorities are turning back in the period of the "Cultural Revolution" period, which is dazzling.

The discussion draft also proposes that those who have the appearance of dirt, damage, severe fading, etc. on the appearance of the bus vehicles affect the appearance of the city, and should be repaired and updated in a timely manner.

1949 Demolition of Tiananmen Square Jianjian Guanzai

Mr. Ma, a Beijing media person, told this station that Chinese leaders at all look down on such commercial advertisements. The new regulations are obviously pleased by the leaders of superiors and highlight the characteristics of "socialism in the new era": "Leaders don't look at advertisements. They basically reject the so-called free economy. When the PLA entered Beijing that year, when the PLA entered Beijing, they entered Beijing. On both sides of Tiananmen, the location of the viewing platform is once a relatively large commercial street. It is called Household Street. Many old names are opened there. The business is particularly good. After the CCP established the government, the street soon dismantled the street. So after the buses of Tiananmen Square are not allowed to swipe their body advertisements, I think it is in line with their consistent thinking. "

It is reported that the setting specifications of the public opinion of this public opinion have also put forward specific requirements for some operating lines passing through a specific area. For example, bus vehicles that are operating lines through the core areas of Beijing and administrative office areas in the urban sub-center, and the overall body advertisement is set up by the car paint part of the single-layer car with the car paint below the windows of the body. Window) and the rear of the car are set up on the body advertisement.

The Zhengzhou government officially responded after 3 days (July 10), saying that the project was established as early as July 2021. Among the 3.4 billion launch, 2.5 billion yuan was used to improve the improvement of river channels and ecological landscapes, etc., and refuted in the river channel The saying of a stamped of muddy indicates that the granite stone is affixed, with a total cost of only about 6.5 million yuan, accounting for 0.2%of the total investment. However, Ms. Jia, a local resident, told this station that the incident caused widespread discussion and attention in Zhengzhou, and the official explanation could not lift the public's doubts.

Ms. Jia: "The renovation of Jinshuihe is to prevent floods and floods. Everyone has no opinion. But you do this kind of project, whether it is marble or granite, it is equivalent to saying that it is thrown in water and drift in the water, and even the sound is sounded. No one can be heard. The key to the incident is that after your project is established, have you ever held a hearing, and whether most of the recruiters make suggestions. If a project costs so much money, there is no hearing, and most of the Zhengzhou people are allowed to let most of the Zhengzhou people. Suggestions? If a project spends so much money, but your city government makes a decision by itself, your government is equivalent to putting the opinions of the people aside. This is the labor and the people hurt money. Anyway Money does not hurt. "

After the official response incident, on Tuesday (July 11), the keywords and posts on "Internet passing Zhengzhou Paste 3.4 billion" on the Internet, and disappeared on Weibo simultaneously. Only Zhengzhou official notification was found. Online public opinion also turned to criticize the self -media. Blind contexts, but some bloggers support private supervision.

Blog: "The official response gave this oolong farce, but from 3.4 billion to 6.5 million huge price differences, reflecting the difference and opaque information between the local authorities and the people, and where the money is from. Where can I go, and whether it can be implemented is the most concerned about netizens from beginning to end. "

 Comment: When the economy shrinks, it is difficult to get public opinion on the government when the economic contraction is difficult to get public opinion.

Zhang Jianping, a commentator from Yixing current affairs in Jiangsu, said that in the name of infrastructure and local environment, it is actually a project that drives local governments. When the economic environment is good, the official approach will not cause people's grievances. It will be very different.

Zhang Jianping: "This picture and the truth are definitely not a fake news. The authorities must cover up this matter and cannot hide it. The root of this image engineering is still the lubricant with corruption as the economic development. Now the economy has entered a shrinkage stage. The high - speed development has stalled, and a short -term short -term behavior that uses this kind of pursuit of GDP and the pursuit of image engineering will definitely cause the people's resentment, because the people's lives are already decreasing. "

Zhang Jianping said that the public also hopes that the government can increase the launch of education and medical care, rather than face -to -face projects. The incident has been discussed and widely discussed, and it is difficult for officials to wipe out the question buried in the hearts of the people.

The party media wants youth to the place where the motherland needs to play light and heat Agence France-Presse information picture Audio-Link: <https://www.rfa.org/mandarin/yataibao/shehui/hcm2-07112023062601.html/@stream> The Communist Party of China published a special manuscript on July 10, "People's Daily", "Establishing the Correct Employment Outlook", and called on young people to "play light and heat in the most needed places that the motherland and the people need. As the poor and poor in China and serious unemployment, party media's move has led to public opinion.

China's youth unemployment rate 20.8% hit a record high Xi Jinping encourages Chinese youth to enter the countryside "to find hard food" *

* "Slow employment" non -derogatory term? Economist: youth unemployment or political problem fuse  * This "Establishment of the Correct Employment" mentioned that the appearance of youth was originally ideal, dare to take responsibility, be able to endure hardships, and be willing to struggle. Establish a positive concept of employment. In all aspects of various aspects of rural revitalization, green development, social services, and the sidelines of the Wei Guo, you can act as the vanguard and life forces. It can also realize the value of youth, and can lay the cornerstone for the struggle of a lifetime. The article states that in the Western Plan of the Volunteer Services of University Students, some young people have established their merits in winning the battle of poverty alleviation, and some young people have grown into provincial "outstanding Communist Youth League members" and have been sharpened and grew up. The "new farmer" of college students brings modern agricultural knowledge and skills to the countryside, which not only helps the Chinese rice bowls, but also expand their professional track.

At the end of the article, young people in China also called on young people in China to play light and heat to the most needed places that the motherland and the people need, not only can leave the memories of no regrets, but they will also obtain the spiritual wealth of life in the grassroots level. Career provides a steady stream of nourishment."

The content of "Establishing the Correct Employment Outlook" has a big rollover in the message under Weibo or Douyin video. (Network screenshot) "Party media published this article, and the language used is the replica of the language of the Cultural Revolution." Political commentators Chen Po Kong told this station that the reason why Mao Zedong was "going up the mountain and going to the countryside" at that time. Liu Shaoqi; but on the other hand, if the Red Guards do not disperse, they also constitute a political threat to Mao Zedong. In addition, the city has no employment opportunities, and the Red Guards will be sent to the countryside.

Chen Po Kong: "Now Xi Jinping has two reasons for the face of" going up the mountain and going to the countryside ". First of all, it is economical. Now that college students graduate, they are unemployed. The Chinese economy has fallen to the worst degree of reform and opening up. Employment is difficult, everyone is flattened. Fa finds employment opportunities and sent them to do the hard work of nobody, so call through the People's Daily."

Chen Po Kong believes that the "white paper movement" that happened in many places last year scared Xi Jinping and found that young people participated after the "00". Lying flat is unstable factor, so these youths must be sent to difficult places.

The unemployment rate is not the most severe state since the reform and opening up

The special manuscript of "People's Daily" is like a match, which ignites the anger of netizens on Chinese social media. Netizens have left messages, "Fantastic young people go to rural rejuvenation, green development, social services, and Wei Guo. Regional civil servants are glowing and hot "; there are also people ridiculed," decoupling inside and outside, and the biggest risk of up and down. "

Chen Poong pointed out that young Chinese people are angry with their stomachs. Those officials and nobles transfer their children and family assets to the West, but they do not want young Chinese to read English. After China's reform and opening up, people all realized that the privileged class enjoys all kinds of special treatment: "When they released the article, everyone immediately realized inequality. As a result, public opinion turned over. This is the real public opinion."

At the same time, an article circulating in the China Network about employment is removed from NetEase. The article pointed out that "the next few years will be the most severe employment situation since my country's reform and opening up."Reporter: Huang Chunmei Responsible: Xu Shuting Chen Meihua He Ping.com Edited: Ruizhe

It is reported that Hungary Prime Minister Victor Olban guarantees that Hungary will not become the last country to approve this protocol, and hints that this step will be completed soon.

U.S. President Joe Biden arrived on the 10th to participate in the NATO summit, and he also welcomed Turkey's latest position.

Biden pointed out in a statement that "I am going to cooperate with President Erdogan and Turkey to strengthen the defense and deterrent power in the European-Atlantic region." He also pointed out that he "expects" Sweden to join NATO in order The 32nd member states of the military alliance.

The US Department of Foreign Affairs, Anthony Brillon, welcomed Turkey's decision and stated that he welcomed Turkey to promise to approve Sweden to join NATO and believe that this will "strengthen European security."

Before the above statement was issued on the 10th, Turkey has been preventing Sweden from joining NATO, and accusing Sturgolmo hid by Akara as a "terrorist" Kurdish activist. In addition, Turkey has also criticized and condemned some positions in the Swedish government, of which the most.

What is important is that the Swedish government has allowed extremists to hold the Burning of the Gulang Classics in the past few months.

Erdogan said on the 10th that if the European Union restarts negotiations about Turkey's joining the European Union, he will support Sweden to join NATO.

However, a statement issued after the talks of the three parties pointed out that Turkey and Sweden will work closely to "coordinate the crackdown on terrorism" and strengthen bilateral trade.

This statement pointed out that "Sweden will support the activation of Turkey's process of joining the EU, including updating the tariff alliance between the European Union and Turkey, and visa liberalization."

Erdogan suspended his talks with Stoltenberg and Christensen, holding an additional meeting with the President of the European Council Michel, and then reached the above agreement.

In his tweet, Michel praised the "good talks" and added that the two "discussed the prospects of re-cooperation between the European Union and Turkey and restored bilateral relations."

On the other hand, Bloomberg quoted a Turkish official as saying that EU officials had agreed to accelerate Turkey's negotiations in the EU, and negotiations include Turkish joining tariffs alliances and allowing Turkish citizens to travel without visa travel within the EU.

NATO Summit(news agency)Since 2005, Turkey has been a formal candidate for the European Union. Before that, Turkey was eager to join the EU, but related negotiations have been stagnating for many years.

However, a statement issued on the 10th shows that Turkey and the European Union can further strengthen bilateral trade and update the tariff agreement, and relax visa restriction measures implemented by interruptions due to the interruption of the alliance.

Türkiye submitted in 1987 to join the European economic community(EU predecessor)The application document, and in 1999, obtained a candidate status to join the European Union, and also officially launched the qualification negotiation with the members of the alliance in 2005.

In 2016, related negotiations were interrupted due to Europe's concerns about human rights in Turkey.

German Chancellor Schultz emphasized yesterday (10th) that there is no connection between Sweden joining NATO and Turkey to join the European Union.

Schultz said at a press conference held in Berlin that Sweden met all the requirements for joining NATO.

Schultz added that "the two should not be regarded as a question of interrelated", and he also pointed out that there is nothing to prevent Sweden from joining NATO.

Ukraine Foreign Minister Coleba said the solution will shorten the path of the country's qualification to obtain NATO member states, and Moscow has warned it on the serious consequences of European security.

Coleba welcomed the move on Twitter and believed that this was "the long - awaited decision to shorten the path we joined NATO."

He also added, "This is also the best time to clearly clarify the call for NATO's appeal to be a member of NATO."

This Western military alliance is holding a two -day summit in Lithuania. Although Ukraine obviously cannot join this alliance with war with Russia - because this may trigger the Third World War, as Ukrainian officials say, once peaceful, Ukraine can quickly join NATO to NATO EssenceAt the NATO Summit held by Vernis, the leaders of the alliance had different opinions on the line of Ukraine to join the alliance.

Some member states of the alliance demanded a clear commitment to the date when Ukraine joined NATO. However, the United States and Germany did not show high enthusiasm for this. They just promised to allow Ukraine to join NATO without giving specific specifics. Date.

At the same time, Maria, deputy minister of the Ministry of National Defense of Ukraine, announced on the 10th that the Ukraine forces liberated the main highlands around Bachurut in the eastern city.

From the 11th, the Southeast Asian National Alliance will hold an annual safety conference (schematic diagram) in Indonesia.

(Voice of Germany Chinese) Southeast Asian National Alliance (ASEAN) from Jakarta, Indonesia to Jakarta, Indonesia on Tuesday (July 11) to hold an annual security conference "ASEAN Regional Forum" (ARF), US Secretary of State Antonyblinden, Russian Foreign Minister Raf Sergeylavrov will also attend the meeting as a "dialogue partner". The South China Sea dispute, concerns about the expansion of military reserve in the Asia -Pacific region, and Myanmar civil strife is expected to become the main agenda, while the Russian and Ukraine War and US -China confrontation It will also become the focus of public attention.

It was rumored that Chinese Foreign Minister Qin Gang would attend the meeting. However, according to Reuters reported on the 11th, two sources pointed out that China will send Wang Yi, director of the CPC Central Committee to attend the meeting. This news has caused Chinese foreign ministers Qin Gang to disappear from the public view of many days and continue to pay attention. In addition, the Indonesian Ministry of Foreign Affairs said at a press conference on the 10th that North Korean Foreign Minister Cui Shanji would not attend the meeting.

ASEAN was established in 1967 by New ASEAN, Malaysia, Thailand, the Philippines, and Indonesia. There are currently 10 member states. The Associated Press pointed out that the group has been doing basic principles such as non-interference in internal affairs and making decisions based on consensus for decades, but this approach has also hindered the group's response to the cross-border crisis.

South China Sea problem will be the key point

The Associated Press will be published after the ASEAN Federation will be published. The content is called for the South China Sea conflict, "If it may cause the dispute to complicate or upgrade or affect peace and stability, it should be restrained." The report states that this sentence reiterates the words of the group's other previous statements; the past statements have not been named China.

ASEAN member leader participated in the summit in Indonesia in May.

For decades, Brunei, Malaysia, the Philippines and Vietnam and China have a sovereign conflict in the South China Sea. In order to prevent disputes from upgrading, ASEAN has continued to discuss with China and not violate each other, but the negotiations have been unreasonable for many years.

Today, South China Sea has become a subtle front for competition between China and the United States From time to time, warships and fighters in the United States and other Western countries sail this busy waterway to carry out "free navigation" and "flying cross patrols"; and China's military and sea patrol behavior in this area are also increasingly aggressive, prompting the surrounding around State strengthening territorial defense.

The Associated Press reported that Foreign Ministers of ASEAN countries stated in the draft bulletin: "We expressed concerns about the increasingly fierce arms competition and naval deployment in this region, which may lead to the fire of guns and tensions. Stability. "The report states that the final communique wording may still change due to negotiations.

Dewi Fortunaanwar, director of the Habibie Center, said that there is no solution at the South China Sea dispute at present, and ASEAN can only take measures to prevent comprehensive conflicts: "We hope China will give up this claim (Guidelines related to the sovereignty of the sea sovereignty Proficiency), but don't look forward to this. "

Myanmar turmoil attracted attention

Another major focus that this ASEAN regional meeting is expected to pay attention to is the long -term turmoil in Myanmar.

According to the statistics of the Assistance Association for PoliticalPrisoners, since the Myanmar military seized power from the Election of Aung San Suiki in February 2021, it has gained more than 3,750 civilian and democratic movements since the country has fallen into a fatal chaos. People were killed by the security forces, and nearly 24,000 people were arrested.

The Myanmar group located in the Philippines condemned the Burmese military government to execute four democratic sportsmen in July 2022.

Earlier, the heads of state of ASEAN countries proposed the "five -point plan", including immediately ending the violence and calling for the conflict to make a conversation. The atrocities of the Myanmar military government are regarded as a five -point plan that ignores ASEAN, which prompts the group to take punishment measures unprecedentedly to prohibit the Myanmar military leaders from participating in its senior meetings, including the Minister -level meeting hosted by Indonesia.

Indonesia Foreign Minister Retnomarsudi said that since the country has been the ASEAN rotating chairman this year, it has been contacted several times in Myanmar and provided humanitarian assistance. Reitino said he will continue to focus on the five -point plan of ASEAN leaders.

The Associated Press reported that although ASEAN faces international pressure and has been required to effectively resolve the Myanmar crisis, the group does not seem to obtain consensus on specific measures. Summit. According to reports, in the draft of the post -announcement of ASEAN's upcoming meeting, the relevant measures of Myanmar's relevant measures are still blank, showing that it is difficult to reach a consensus on the issue.

Anwar's analysis, due to the limited ability of ASEAN to solve problems, Myanmar's situation may become a long -term issue like the South China Sea dispute.

Stoltenberg said at a press conference after the meeting that Erdogan agreed to submit the Swedish appointment as soon as possible to the Turkish Parliament and will work closely with the Turkish Council to ensure that the appointment is approved.

He said: "Joining NATO in Sweden is a historic step, which is conducive to the security of all allies in NATO at the next critical moment."

Cui Zhongjun told the BBC that according to many years of clinical observation, maintaining the image is very important for some patients with depression. Therefore, they are also good at hiding emotions, and it is difficult to be found by others to find that their mental health has problems, because patients may feel guilty because they have their own emotions: "Just like children who need to please in the abuse family to survive. They are good at hiding their emotions and pleasing their parents to avoid danger, but not that all patients with sunny depression come from abused families, but children who have difficulties will also be sensible, hide their emotions, and do not want their parents to worry about it. . Or some children who are not caring can only get friendship through funny, so I have been mocking myself, funny, and hiding their emotions. Many comedians are like this. "

He said: "This is an unusual combination of personality characteristics ... Perhaps the extroverted personality characteristics of comedians are the way to solve inner depression. Of course, not all comedians adopt this way."

The "Healthy Online" website also emphasizes that people with sunny depression may look at it, like an active, strong individual, or a stable work, healthy social and family life. A happy person, but when they are experiencing depression, they continue to smile because they may feel that depression is a weak behavior, or they think that expressing their true feelings will have a burden on others. It's worse than you, what else can you complain. " how to respond?

A YouTuber "That Master" in Taiwan invited Li Yan to sing in 2019. As a senior fan of Li Yan, the master said at the time that Li Yan had a clear personality, like a "sun", warm fans and staff. A Taiwanese music industry who has worked with Li Yan also told the BBC reporter that Li Yan was diligent in work and was generous and kind to others. It was difficult to imagine that she would suffer from depression.

Cui Zhongjun told the BBC that if there are such patients around, what others can do are to treat them kindly: "Because they are good at covering up their feelings, we only need to be more sensitive and supported by our friends."

She added that it is important to see professional help if she realized that she might suffer from sunny depression. In addition, you can start learning and share feelings with friends, feel and pay attention to your needs, and learn to set up the boundary between yourself (including parents or partners) for yourself, treat yourself well: "You can also do some mindfulness exercises (Mindfulpractices), or yoga, Tai Chi and other outdoor activities. These are physical activity that can soothe the nervous system and improve emotions. "

Cherish life, suicide cannot solve the problem, and life can definitely find a way out.

NATO Summit: Turkey and Hungary expressed support, Sweden is about to become the 32nd member states

Image adding text,

Turkish President Erdogan and Swedish Prime Minister Christensen shook hands under the gaze of NATO Secretary -General Stoltenberg.

NATO Secretary -General Stoltenberg said Turkish President Erdogan has agreed to support Sweden to join NATO.

He said that Turkish leaders will submit applications from Sweden to their Chinese parliament and "ensure approval."

At the same time, Swedish Prime Minister Ulf Kristerson said: "I'm very happy, this is a good day in Sweden."

Turkey has previously accused Sweden accusing Sweden Kurdish militants and spent several months from applying for Sweden.

As one of the 31 member states in NATO, Turkey can reject the new countries that join NATO (the country that applies for joining NATO requires the approval of all member states).

US President Biden said he welcomed President Erdogan to "quickly approve" the commitment of the application.

"I am ready to cooperate with President Erdogan and Turkey to strengthen the defense and deterrence in the European-Atlantic region. I look forward to welcome Prime Minister Christen Song and Sweden to become our 32nd NATO allies," the White House issued a statement.

The German Foreign Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Annalena Baerbock, wrote on Twitter: "32 are, we are more secure together." RishiSunak, British Prime Minister, said that Sweden's joining will "" Let us be safer. "

After Turkish and Swedish leaders held talks in the capital of Lithuania, Stoltenberg announced the news on Monday night.

The Secretary -General of NATO claims that this is a "historic step", but emphasized that it is impossible to give a clear date for Sweden to join NATO because it depends on the Turkish Parliament.

In May last year, a few months after Russia invaded Ukraine, Sweden and its east neighbor Finland announced their intention to join NATO. Both countries have long -term neutral history. Finland officially joined in April this year.

Ukraine War: What did NATO do? How to join Sweden and Finland? * Finland and Sweden will be safer or more dangerous if you join NATO Europe?

Stoltenberg said that Turkey and Sweden have resolved "reasonable and safe concerns of Turkey". To this end, Sweden amended the Constitution and Law, expanded the Kurdish Workers' Party(PKK)The counter -terrorism operation and restored the export of weapons to Türkiye.

Turkey and Hungary are the only two NATO members who have not yet approved the Swedish alliance.

Hungarian Foreign Minister Peter Szijjarto said on Tuesday that the approved application for Sweden is now just a technical issue.

Earlier on Monday, President Erdogan also seemed to linked Turkey's support for Sweden to NATO, and the European Union and Akara restarted to join the EU negotiations.

EU officials quickly rejected the request, saying that these were two different issues.

NATO issued a statement later stated that Sweden will actively support the "revitalization of Turkey to join the EU process", which includes "EU-Turkish Tariffs Federation Modernization and Visa Liberation."

Turkey applied for the first time to join the European Union as early as 1987, but under the leadership of Erdogan, Turkey gradually moved towards authoritarianism, causing the process of entering the alliance to stop.

However, since Russia invaded Ukraine, Erdogan has also played a unique role -an influential NATO national leader in Moscow.

Last year, he helped promote the "Black Sea Grain Plan", which enabled Ukraine to export agricultural products from its port.

Although Russia has frequently threatened to withdraw, Turkey has been helping to maintain the plan.

But Turkey also angered the Kremlin because of providing armed drones to Ukraine.

Ukrainian President Zelenski hopes that NATO will issue a "clear signal" on the application of Ukraine at the Vilnius Summit.

On the weekend, after the visit of Ukrainian President Zeleki, Turkey unexpectedly allowed five former Ukraine to fly back to Kiev, which also made Russian officials angry.

According to last year's prisoner exchange agreement, Russia hoped that these people would stay in Turkey until the end of the war.

The two -day NATO Peak opened on Tuesday in Vilnius in Lithuania. The application of Ukraine's enrollment will be an important issue on the agenda.

All NATO member states agreed that Ukraine could not join NATO during the war because it was worried that it would lead to a direct conflict with Russia with nuclear weapons.

Ukrainian President Zelei himself also said that he did not want to become a member state before the end of the war, but he hoped that the summit would send a "clear signal" to Ukraine's application.

Several NATO member states in Eastern Europe are urging their neighbors to join NATO, but other member states, including the United States and Germany, seem to be hesitant.

Russian President Putin spokesman Dmitry Peskov warned on Monday that Ukraine's joining NATO will "have a negative impact on the entire security architecture, as if it was destroyed in Europe."

Peskov said that Ukraine's joining the European Union will "absolute danger and threat to our country, which requires us to make a very firm and clear response."

NATO Summit: The prospect of Ukraine is attracted attention

NATO leaders gathered Lithuania to participate in the NATO Summit. The summit may determine the direction of the Ukrainian war and the future of this Western league.

31 member states hope to show Russia that they are determined to support Ukraine for a long time.

After giving up against Sweden to join NATO, they were welcomed. However, there are still differences in all parties for Ukraine's ambition to join the EU in the future.

Some allies are believed to promise new security to Kiev to prevent Russia from invasion in the future. They will also discuss the issues of providing more weapons and ammunition. At a two -day meeting, NATO leaders are expected to reach a new plan to protect NATO member states from Russian aggression by strengthening NATO's troops in Eastern Europe.

After China ended the Qing zero policy, the property market did not move towards the recovery.

(Voice of Germany in Chinese network) Data from various aspects show that the downward trend of the Chinese real estate market is still continuing. According to the surging news report, the data of the sales of real estate companies released by the Krier Real Estate Research Center at the end of last month showed that in June 2023, less than 30 % of the top 100 housing companies increased year -on -year. Only half of the enterprises. Nearly 60%of the top 60%of the real estate companies decreased by more than 30%year -on -year, of which 27 companies' performance decreased by more than 50%.

The report believes that real estate sales continued to be dull in June. Although the supply of 30 cities has rebounded, it has increased by 34%month -on -month. However, from the absolute scale, it still has a new low in the same period in the past five years. The overall transactions of first, second and third -tier cities have been decreased year -on -year, and Shenzhen alone is an exception.

The report of the Institute of Perspective Index also pointed out that the total sales amount of the total equity of the 100 housing companies in June was 363.6 billion yuan, a year -on -year decrease of 34.4%, which was basically the same as the month.

The slump of the housing market is also reflected in the construction industry. According to data released by the National Bureau of Statistics of China, in the first five months of this year, the newly started construction area of houses decreased by 22.6%year-on-year, and the decrease of 1.4 percentage points from January-April. At present, the scale of houses is decreased. From January to May, the construction area of houses decreased by 6.2%year-on-year, and the decrease was expanded from the previous 4 months. From January to May, real estate development investment decreased by 7.2%year-on-year, and the decrease was expanded by 1 percentage point from January-April.

Where to adjust the housing price through tax collection?

Cool down after rebound

The "Securities Times" reported that one of the keys one of the key to new project development of real estate development enterprises and insufficient willingness to start construction is that the sales are not bad.

Since 2023, the Chinese property market has appeared in a wave of obvious [rebound] in February and March rebound However, with the release of the depressed housing demand during the epidemic sealing period, since April, the property market quickly cools down Essence In June, which is particularly important for semi -annual performance, in the past, housing companies will increase supply to promote sales, but this year is obviously insufficient. Guoxin Securities Research Report shows that in June this year, the supply of housing enterprises reached a new low in the past five years.

The China Real Estate Market Report released in the first half of the 2023 Chinese real estate market released last week that in the short term, when the sales repayment and financing have not significantly improved, the cash flow of real estate companies still face a large challenge, which directly restricts the start of the company's construction. , Investment enthusiasm, the difficulty of new construction and real estate development investment has now changed significantly.

The report pointed out that the current emotions of home buyers are still affected by multiple factors. Among them, residents' income is expected to be weak, housing prices are expected to be strong, and buyers' concerns about the end of the house. The report believes that with the continuous weakening of the market in the second quarter, the policy of policy in the second half of the year is expected to increase. If the economy has exceeded expectations in the second half of the year, real estate as an economic "stabilizer", and the policy policy may accelerate the landing.

The Kerry Real Estate Research Center also believes that if there is no strong rescue policy in July, the overall new house transaction scale will still be stable at a low level.

Henan Rotten Tail House Project Endogenesis is difficult to collect

The central bank extends "16 Finance"

On Monday (July 10), the People's Bank of China and the State Financial Supervision and Administration Administration issued a notice to "related policies for the stable and healthy development of the financial support in the real estate market" (also known as 16 Finance) The period is extended to the end of 2024. In November 2022, the Central Bank and the former Bank of China Insurance Regulatory Commission jointly issued a notice to keep real estate financing steadily and orderly, actively do a good job in financial services for insurance, cooperate with the risk disposal of housing companies, increase housing leasing financial support, etc. It clarified 16 support policies, and two of them stipulated the applicable period.

Market analysis believes that the extension of the policy will help further alleviate the pressure of housing enterprises, reduce the risk of financial institutions on loans of housing enterprises, promote the "preserved property", and boost confidence in the property market. The China Securities News reported that it was called "the benefits of real estate".

However, before, the Ehresearch analysis pointed out that it is not easy because the underlying layer of support demand, that is, the recovery of the macroeconomic economy, is difficult to show stable recovery in 2023. "Under the comprehensive effects of many factors such as saving savings, housing enterprises, and promotion of policies, it will be repaired within a period of time, and then re-enter the downlink range."

The report of the middle finger research institute also concluded that under the current situation, the "old model" of Chinese housing companies' development is not sustainable. Dominic Barton, chairman of the board of directors of the transnational mining giant Rio Tinto, talked about the challenges faced by the Chinese economy in an interview with Bloomberg. The real estate industry "is a big problem."

Shen Dong, a former member of the Beijing CPPCC, who has published memoirs and former Beijing CPPCC members in exile, believes that China's real estate industry has come to an end and has no possibility of rebound, which will also affect the trend of consumption. He recently accepted Voice of Germany. It is pointed out that about 87% of Chinese people live in the house. If the real estate is going down now, the effect of wealth drama will be reduced. "87% of people see their wealth shrink. In this case, the consumer market cannot be mentioned."

From the trauma to the freshman: enter the South Korean Unified House, which welcomes the North Korea from North Korea

The facilities of the South Korean Uniform Institute provide Korean refugees with various courses including cooking

A drive about two hours from the South Korean capital Seoul, in a village full of jungle hills and paddy fields, there is a building complex that looks incompatible.

This multi -story building complex overlooking the surrounding rural areas, surrounded by high walls and door guards guarded by guards. This place is isolated, safe and secret.

It is both a training base and a medical facility, but also a re -education center. This is the place where North Korea was sent to South Korea for three months after arriving in South Korea.

Its name is "HANAWON", which is called "North Korea from the residents of the Settlement SUPPPORTRTREFORTHKOREAN Refugees".

In recent years, the number of North Koreans who fled to South Korea through a difficult journey decreased significantly, and they risked the risk of death to escape to get rid of poverty and suppression.

Ten years ago, about 3,000 North Koreans arrived in South Korea each year. In that year, this number dropped to about 1,000 people, and during the new crown epidemic, as North Korea closed the border, it fell to less than 100.

Nevertheless, South Korea has reiterated not only to continue to open the unified house, but also expand facilities.

Image adding text,

This isolated place has a area where technology products are displayed.

The Seoul government believes that as the North Korean side relaxes the control of the new crown epidemic, more North Koreans can escape. In that case, the unified home will be full again.

South Korea's unified minister, Quan Ningshi, said that South Korea needs to prepare to welcome these newcomers.

"Don't think of the northern people as aliens, but we must think of them as neighbors from the northern hometown," he said.

Those hedges, flowers and trimmed trees were very popular under the summer sun on Monday. The Korean government rarely allowed reporters to visit the facilities on this day.

We visited a training center that provided 22 courses for the northern people, including hairdressing, beauty, baking and clothing production, and so on.

A room is arranged as a nail shop, and the northern person is here to learn fine nail art. They use the model hand to practice coats, light and trimming.

The support center provides training courses such as manicure and beauty

There is also the aroma of baking, which floats from the cooking class next door.

Other courses are designed to help North Koreans adapt to the lives of this country. The technology here has decades than their country.

One of the classrooms is arranged as a small shop selling high -tech products. Tablet computers, smartphones and computers are placed on the booth.

The floor of another building looks like a modern hospital. There is a small ward, a clinic, and a doctor wearing a white robe.

Not only to take care of these North Korean people's physical needs, many people also have serious psychological problems when they come here, and need emergency assistance.

BBC

Dr. Quan Zhenyong is a psychiatrist working in a unified hospital. He listened to the North Korean people in the facilities about some terrible trauma experiences.

He said that they had to deal with the pressure brought by the escape, as well as the continuous fear of being arrested and repatriated before arriving in South Korea.

Many people are difficult to overcome guilt. They leave their loved ones in North Korea and may never see each other again.

Some people suffer prejudice in South Korea, so they chose to conceal the facts from North Korea.

"My patient had lunch in a restaurant. At that time, the news of playing North Korea's launching missiles on TV," said the doctor.

"He was very uncomfortable, so he quickly left the restaurant after eating. He was worried that people would think if people know what he came from North Korea."

Image adding text,

In the facility surrounded by the fence, there is a vocational training center.

In an interview with reporters, the three women who are now in the Unified Academy have revealed what difficulties they are trying to overcome.

They are afraid of their names, and they are referred to only A, B, and C. One of the women also hid behind a barrier to talk to us.

All three fled to China first, and then arrived in South Korea. They live better in China than in North Korea, but they are still full of anxiety and danger.

Ms. B said she failed to obtain a Chinese ID card, which means that she could not go to the hospital, cannot apply for a bank card, or even take a train.

Ms. C said her salary was only half of Chinese workers, because her situation made her unable to fight for more.

They also told that China's increasingly close monitoring network forced them to go to South Korea to seek asylum.

"When I decided to defect, I was not afraid of anything, because I was alone," Ms. A said, "but then I gave birth to a child in China, so I realized that I had no legal status."

All three women talked about their hopes for the future -and anxiety. One of them also said that she was even worried about paying taxes.

BBC

"It wasn't until I graduated from the unified hospital that I really realized that I was safe," she said.

Ms. Jin said that the real education started after leaving the unified hospital.

"For all the people from the north, the first night outside was unforgettable. Finally, I came to Korea to make me feel relieved. I held my daughter and started crying -not because of my sadness or loneliness, but because of us Survive," said the 49 -year -old lady.

Ms. Kim remembers how many Korean volunteers are treating her and helping her adapt to a new life in the first few weeks outside.

When she walked into her new home, they greeted her there, took her to see the surrounding shops, and helped her pay for the first taxi. She still keeps in touch with some of them.

Those who are still in the unified hospital will hope that they will have such a good ending.

Ukrainian President Zelei said on the eve of the NATO Summit that Ukraine would become a member of NATO and expect the summit to provide Ukraine with the "algorithm" to officially join NATO.

Reuters reported that Zelei Sky Monday (July 10) said in a routine video speech every night: "We are still studying words, that is, to confirm the specific wording, but we have understood the fact that Ukraine will join NATO's facts ... We are trying to make the algorithm (algorithm) that obtains member qualifications as clear and fast as possible. "

The NATO Summit will be held in the capital of Lithuania from Tuesday (11th). The leaders of NATO member states will seek to overcome the differences in Ukraine to join the NATO issue at the meeting.

Foreign officials said that the above differences are shrinking. Although the NATO member states agreed that Kiev could not join NATO during the war, they were different from the speed and conditions of NATO after the war in Ukraine.

A diplomat in Europe told Reuters that NATO is still formulating a joint framework to pave the road for the long -term security guarantee of Kiev, and may announce the relevant news at the end of the NATO summit this week. The report also said that the focus on negotiations also includes what conditions to meet Ukraine to join NATO and how to track progress.

However, the United States and Germany have been cautious about joining Ukraine to join NATO. They are worried that any might be involved in NATO in a direct conflict with Russia, which has triggered global war.

A U.S. official revealed that U.S. President Biden will talk one -on -one talks with Zerrenzki at the NATO summit.

Don't spread red carpet, just give the red line

The trip to Beijing was the first visit to China in five years in the United States Secretary of State, and it was also the highest -level official to visit China after the Bayeng government came to power. However, when Brintken arrived at the Beijing Capital International Airport, there were no red carpets, no one presented flowers, and the Chinese officials who were present at the scene were Yang Tao, the director of the North American Oceania, which was relatively low -level. Interestingly, there are still a few red lines on the ground floor, and the photos on the scene just captured the moment when Brincayan stepped on the "red line". As Sino -US relations are in a historic trough, all of this seems to be symbolic. However, some experts pointed out that except for Hillary Clinton as a Secretary of State's visit to China in 2012, when the Chinese side paved the red carpet for her, when the U.S. Secretary of State Cry, Tillerson, and Pompeo arrived in China, there was no red carpet in the apron, and there was no red carpet. Blingken arrived in Beijing on the morning of June 18, arrived at the Diaoyutai State Guest House in the afternoon to talk with Chinese State Councilor and Foreign Minister Qin Gang. However, "News Network" broadcast by CCTV on the 18th did not report the matter. Regarding Brillin and Qin Gang's 6 or 7 hours of talks, the Chinese official media Xinhua News Agency and others only reported the Chinese position that Qin Gang expressed with his teachings, but did not say anything. Xinhua News Agency said that Qin Gang said, "At present, Sino -US relations are at the lowest valley since the establishment of diplomatic relations", and emphasized that "the issue of Taiwan is the core of China's core interests", "it is also the most prominent risk."

After talking with Qin Gang, Brinken wrote in Twitter that the two sides discussed how to manage the relationship between the two countries in charge through open communication channels. The U.S. State Department issued a statement stating that Brinken emphasized the importance of maintaining smooth communication channels on both sides and proposed to cooperate with China on some issues, but at the same time, the United States will continue to protect the interests of Americans and safeguard the rules -based international order. The Wall Street Journal had previously analyzed that one of the driving force for the recent recovery of dialogue in the United States and China was the Asia -Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) summit scheduled to be held in San Francisco in November. Beijing hopes that Chinese President Xi Jinping will attend the meeting and pave the way with US President Biden.

Blinger to complete the main goal of this trip

According to usual, the US Secretary of State visits China, and Chinese leaders will meet with it. However, there are exceptions, such as when Plingken's former Pompeo visited China in October 2018, Xi Jinping did not see him. At that time, the Sino -US trade war had debuted, and US Vice President Pence had just delivered a tough speech on China. The relationship between the two sides was very tense. Today, Xi Jinping's visit to China after the Chinese balloon invaded the US led in the Great Hall of the People, which means that China and the United States will maintain high - level communication, and Brinken also reaches the "frankness, direct and direct, and directly, and directly announced by China to visit China. The main goal of constructive "discussion. During the talks, Xi Jinping was sitting in the middle, and the long tables on the left and right hands were sitting on Sino - US officials. Neither Xi Jinping and Brinken were wearing masks, and Qin Gang and Wang Yi, who had not wearing a mask during the meeting with Brinken, wore masks like other officials.

Prior to this, many provinces across the country have lowered the salary of civil servants. Among them, Zhejiang salary reduction was 25%, Jiangsu salary reduction was 15%, and Fujian salary reduction was 20%. With the recent collective salary reduction of civil servants in Guangdong, the curtain of salary reduction of civil servants in other provinces will be opened one after another.

News from Netease said that Guangdong civil servants have a collective salary reduction by 25%. (Network picture/ancient pavilion provided) Many netizens commented on the above news and called on the government to publicize whether the salary of civil servants would be reduced by 25%, but the official never responded.

The government's land selling is difficult to cause land fiscal revenue to be affected

John, a resident of Qingdao, Shandong, told this station on Tuesday (11th) that the salaries of civil servants in the early years of economic active areas are very high. Now the economic downturn, salary reduction is an inevitable trend: "Shandong, the salary itself has not risen. Zhejiang and Fujian, the salary of civil servants there has been rising. In Shandong, many of my classmates are civil servants. They have been complaining. They have not risen in seven or eight years, or even eight or nine years. "

Public opinion believes that the salary reduction of civil servants is because the government has relying on land -selling income to support the fiscal policy, so that it has no money to pay for salary. According to the preliminary estimation of the news circulated on the Internet and the documents that have been introduced in some areas, the monthly salary of civil servants with a monthly salary of approximately 12,000 yuan, including basic salary, performance salary, bonus, etc., Decrease about 25%.

In the Pearl River Delta region, civil servants' monthly salary and bonuses have been welfare of about 15,000 yuan, and about 11,000 yuan after salary reduction, a decrease of about 27%. Shenzhen civil servants earn about 18,000 yuan per month, and about 13,000 yuan after salary reduction, a decrease of about 28%.

In this regard, many netizens pointed out that the salary of civil servants is too high, even if the salary reduction is still higher than the non -civil servant. Netizens wrote that even if the salary was reduced by 50 %, it was higher than ordinary people, and civil servants had "5 insurances and 2 gold", and it would be better than ordinary people.

Weibo netizens hotly discussed the salary reduction of civil servants, and some people believe that the salary of civil servants is too high. (Posted on Weibo/Guting) Civil servants in some areas in Shandong have not paid for several months

John said that civil servants in some areas in Shandong have not received a salary for several months: "Many counties in Weifang have bankruptcy. Our local civil servants have my relatives at the grassroots level. From the Spring Festival to now, there is almost no salary.

John said that civil servants have gray income and are not worried that they will not receive wages for the time being, so there will be no resignation of civil servants.

Sun Qian, a resident of Nanjing, Jiangsu, told this station that Jiangsu civil servants decreased by 15%to 20%according to different departments: "Jiangsu salary reduction was also said to be 20%, but the opposition sound was relatively large. It is the composition of wages. The collective salary reduction of civil servants starts from 2020. The sound of opposition to salary reduction is relatively large and the resistance is relatively strong, so our local civil servants are not salary."

In fact, civil servants in Shanghai, Zhejiang, Jiangsu, Fujian, and Guangdong began to reduce their salary from the middle of last year, with different declines. Some public opinion believes that compared with non-civil servants, employees in the system have no impact on life if the salary reduction is not large, because civil servants have the benefits such as cheap meals and benefits from medical insurance, but companies do not have these treatments. Some netizens said that if they can be a civil servant, they can even make less money.

statement against China -Russia relations. Some scholars pointed out that because China did not support Putin for the first time, it was necessary to repair bilateral relations.

The friendly social foundation and public opinion foundation of generations is stronger. He also mentioned that when he went to Russia in March this year for a state visit, he reached a new important consensus with Russian President Putin on deepening the comprehensive strategic cooperation between the two countries and pragmatic cooperation in various fields.

Xi Jinping said, "Developing Sino -Russian relations is a strategic choice based on the fundamental interests of the two countries and the people." "China is willing to continue with Russia to develop a new era of watching and helping, deep integration, pioneering innovation, and win -win results. Strategic Cooperation Partnership ".

Last month, Wagner, Russia(WagnerGroup)The group launched a mutiny, the Chinese side until the next day(June 25th)It was only for the first time in the evening that "this is Russia's internal affairs. As a friendly neighbor and a comprehensive strategic collaborative partner in the new era, China supports Russia to maintain stability of the country and achieve development and prosperity."

In an interview with current affairs commentators, Cai Shenkun said in an interview with this station that China 's attitude was more ambiguous at the time and did not support Putin. Putin may be a little dissatisfied with China. Especially after seeing Putin's quickly controlling the situation and controlling military power, China 's invitation to the Russian Speaker to visit China intends to repair the relationship with Putin.

"He must have a statement, invite this speaker, and put forward many praise languages to Russia, and it shows that he should stand with Russia. From this perspective, he cannot do without Russia." Cai Shenkun said.

"it(China)It was not surprising that it was not for the first time to support Russia. However, there is no mandatory obligation between each other to insert a knife for each other, or similar to collective security constraints.

Liu Xiaoxiang pointed out that Sino -Russian relations are the axis of authority. At present, this relationship is beneficial to both parties, but it is difficult to support each other to support each other: "They believe that the relationship between the two sides is surpassing the military alliance during the Cold War, but It will support the statement depending on the situation. As long as you do not have a burden on yourself, have no negative effects, do not spend the cost and do not drag yourself, you will make your statement, that is, LipService(Monaldo is not true)"".

Pass to Xi Jinping Putin Scholars: Russia still seek to be in China

According to the Russian satellite news agency, Mattoyo told Xi Jinping that "Russia has reached an absolute consensus on the development of Russian - China relations." She also said that Russia -China cooperation is in line with the interests of the two countries and is getting more and more society and people. support. It is reported that "During the meeting, Matvitano conveyed the message of Russian President Putin to Xi Jinping."

Cai Shenkun pointed out that it is now Russia's demand in China, rather than China. "In this case, he only needs to show that he will continue to support Russia and maintain friendly relations with Russia. At least Russia will not turn his face at this stage." Cai Shenkun believes that the Russian and Ukraine War was in a glitched situation and how the ending was still unclear. However, even if Russia lost the Wudong war, it was difficult to conclude that Putin's fate was still concluded.

Studies have shown that last year's summer heat waves killed more than 61,000 people. Researchers have called for more measures to prevent more fatal heat waves expected in the next few years.

Agence France -Presse reported that the international academic journal "Natural Medicine" published the above research report on Monday (July 10).

Studies estimate that from May 30 to September 4 last year, the cause of death of about 6,672 people in Europe is related to high temperature. Among them, a particularly serious heat wave appeared from July 18th to 24th last year, causing more than 1,600 people to die. This study took advantage of the temperature and mortality data of 35 countries in Europe from 2015 to 2022, covering 543 million people.

The results of the study show that the efforts made by Europe in order to adapt to a hot world over the past decades cannot keep up with the pace of global warming.

Studies also show that France's temperature last summer was the same as the previous summer average temperature increased, an increase of 2.43 degrees Celsius; Italy had the largest number of people due to high temperature deaths at more than 18,000. Most of the died in the heat wave are elderly over 80 years old.

The main author of the research and research professor of the Barcelona Global Health Research Institute Palest said: "In an ideal society, no one should die at high temperature."

It is reported that the situation this summer is expected to be worse, because in addition to climate change, the first four years in the world will transition to the El Nino phenomenon for the first time, which will bring high temperature weather to many places around the world.

Studies estimate that unless effective measures are taken to protect people from the impact of rising temperatures, in 2030, more than 68,000 people in Europe will die due to high temperature due to high temperature.

The World Meteorological Organization said that preliminary data shows that the first week of July was the hottest week since the world's records. The land and ocean temperatures set a new high record, which has a potential impact on the ecosystem and the environment.

The World Meteorological Organization Climate Services Director Huiut said that the El Niopy phenomenon is expected to further exacerbate the heat waves of land and ocean, resulting in more extreme temperature and ocean heat waves. These effects will last until 2024. information.

On July 11, the Ministry of National Defense in Taiwan held a press conference to explain the planning plan of Hanguang No. 39 exercise. The Taiwan military said that related exercises are mainly based on the experience of the Russian and Ukraine War and strengthen the military threats of countermeasures.

Taiwan "Hanguang Exercise" anti -airborne first move Taoyuan Airport for the first time Taiwan Hanguang Exercise will perform for the first time at Taoyuan Airport for a ban on navigation on July 26 Taiwan's annual Hanguang No. 39 actual soldiers will be held from July 24th to 28th. The three army real soldiers will cover subjects, electronics, network and cognitive operations. The 22 counties and cities in Taiwan will also conduct drills such as Wan'an No. 46 air defense exercises, evacuation shelters, and victims.

Lin Wenhua, Director of the Joint Combat Office of the Ministry of Defense in Taiwan, said at a press conference on the 11th: "It is mainly based on strengthening the military threat of the Communist Party of China and taking the experience of the Russian and Ukraine War. The combat scene. According to the threat of the enemy's criminal, the Ministry of United Ministry designed to determine, the release status and setting up imaginary enemies, induced the three military forces to save the drills by the Three Army forces, overall air defense, joint intercepting, land defense operations, and implementing them. Integrate the total power of the whole people, and then walk the operation of the combat plan as the main axis. "

Screenshot of the Ministry of Defense Hanguang 39 Exercise. (Provided by the Ministry of Defense in Taiwan) The Hanguang exercise will also be requisitioned for the first time, including the C-130H transport aircraft and F-16V fighter aircraft at Taitung Fengnian Airport on the 25th to verify the emergency take-off and landing, hanging, joint air defense, combat power and other combat tasks. The PLA invaded from the eastern and bus strokes; on the 26th, anti -aircraft landing was implemented at Taoyuan International Airport on the 26th; on the 27th, anti -landing operations, UN local defense operations and central defense were conducted in the Tamsui River, Bali Beach and Taipei Port.

Shu Xiaohuang, an associate researcher at the Institute of Political and Army and combat concepts of the National Defense Security Research Institute in Taiwan, accepted an interview and analysis of the Taiwan. Strategic places are quite close. It is not ruled out that the CCP may try to land on the beach of Zhuwei Beach in the future, and use the aircraft to reduce the Taoyuan Airport with aircraft. Shipping. Therefore, Taoyuan Airport has become very important. "

Shu Xiaohuang mentioned that in the past, it was trained at military airports. Military airports were stationed in troops and access control, which was familiar and convenient to soldiers. However, with the recent sexual harassment of the PLA in the eastern part of Taiwan, the outside world is worried that China will "turn back to the front" and implement stalls and landing in the east. The recruitment of civil airport combat airports, as well as more form of exercise at the Eastern Airport, should conduct relevant drills such as defense, reinforcement, reinforcement, and anti -force blockade in advance.

Screenshot of the Ministry of Defense Hanguang 39 Exercise. (Provided by the Ministry of Defense in Taiwan) Taiwan's Minister of Transportation Wang Guogu recently pointed out that the time affected by the Hanguang exercise at Taoyuan International Airport is from 9 am to 11 am on July 26th. There are about 65 off -landing flights for 2 hours. The international flight report will also be issued to control the surrounding airspace.

Taiwan's military expert Chen Guoming accepted an interview with this station that the past exercises focused on the Army. In fact, the Air Force had repeatedly simulated anti -aircraft deductions at all civil aviation airports, but they were not held because they were afraid of disturbing the people and interfere.

Chen Guoming: "This is the long -term laziness of the government and the military. Taking Singapore Changi Airport as an example, every two years and occasions, such as 2022 Air exhibitions, control the airspace for 2 hours, allow the exhibitors to perform performances. The quantity must be greater than Taoyuan. In the past, anti -aircraft downshift performances moved to the Qingquan Air Force Base for training. This assumption is wrong. The Communist Army may also airborne Taoyuan Airport. The guarantee of Quanyuan. "

 Simulation refinery has attacked the key facilities for the protection of Hanguang exercise.

Chen Guoming pointed out that this year's exercise is relatively different. Since March, the Marine Corps has been conducted in Jinshan, Yilan County, Yilan County, and Bali Bamboo Wait. Landing from the last time on the Lumu Beach Bank was the Hanguang exercise fifteen years ago. This time, the Marine Corps moved the landing field from Galu Hall to the north. This is a good thing. Taiwan media reported that the Taoyuan Refinery implemented a preview on the morning of the 10th to simulate the attacker to seize the oil source, and the defense formed multiple protective line confrontation. It is reported that President Tsai Ing -wen will be visually visited the "Key Infrastructure Safety" subjects such as the China Oil Refinery. But the military has not confirmed it.

Chen Guoming said: "It is expected that the three army of land, sea and air can no longer repeat the same subjects last year in the Hanguang exercise, otherwise it will be annoying. Encourage the military. "

As for the questions about the experience of the Russian and Uchia warfare exercises in the Hanguang exercise, Lin Wenhua only said: "Under any situation, as long as it helps the national army's defense combat tasks, it will be included in . "When asked if the Hanguang exercise was included in the drone training, the Taiwan military said that there is usually a drone related training.

Military experts urges to include the drone project with the exercise of the Russian and UAVs.

Shu Xiaohuang believes that the Russian and Ukraine war involved drones, counter -drone, long -range weapons strikes, etc., which has a reference significance for Chinese threats, especially drones are a new threat to Taiwan.

Shu Xiaohuang appealed that the army should be familiar with how to increase the combat capabilities of drone defense on the battlefield: "If the CCP uses drones in force in force, such as large drones threatened to fight against Taiwan, what is the significance? Login against Taiwan? What is the significance of the troops with a small drone? How to counter the prevention? How to resolve the threat of the drone against Taiwan? Future exercises must be included. "

Major General Sun Langfang, spokesman for the Ministry of National Defense in Taiwan. (Reporter Xia Xiaohua) Sun Langfang, a spokesman for the Ministry of National Defense in Taiwan, said that during the in the past, there were often many errors related to exercises and false information. For example, the sport's head of state escape, information that does not match the truth, etc., is to combat morale and differentiation of the people's unity. Sun Langfang called on the people of Taiwan to focus on the information of the national army or third -party checking platform.

(Peninsula TV)

On June 24, when the armored vehicle of the Vagna Group rebelled the mercenaries to Moscow, Russia was nervous and the world was shocked.

Led by the person in charge of the Wagner Group and the catering tycoon Yavagan Pleigo, thousands of soldiers resisted the Supreme Commander of Russia and worked hard to occupy a major city in the southwest of the country, and then began to advance quickly to the capital.

President Vladimir Putin described the rebels as "traitors" on the national television station. At the same time, Pleigo denied that he was launching a military coup and claimed that his rebellion was a "justice parade". Stop the rebels, they shot down several military planes. Will Putin be overturned by the rebels he made? Will there be a gun battle on the red field?

In the evening, the direct threat to Putin had disappeared. Previously, under the mediation of Belarusian President Alexander Lukashenko, the Kremlin and Perigo reached an agreement. Agree to exile to Belarus.

However, on July 6, Lukashenko announced that Pleigo returned to St. Petersburg, Russia. Although the details of the agreement between Putin and Wagner's leaders are unclear, Pricigen and his rebels seem to -seem to- At least at present -to escape any punishment, this fact may in turn affect the Russian leadership. The Kremlin said on July 10 that in fact, Putin even met Pleigen even after the mutiny.

So, to what extent the rebellion has weakened Putin's iron fist rule against Russia? Can he regain his cruel authority for more than 20 years? Or does the Britigen rebellion lays the foundation for the exemption of the former KGB? What would Russia look like in Putin era?

A brief answer: Analysts said that Putin is likely to be irregularly weakened due to attempted rebellion and his mild response. Although he may not face an imminent armed rebellion, early evidence shows that the rebellion may might be As a result, he lost the support of the Russian elite that has been supporting him so far. However, those who may replace the Russian president are unlikely to provide a candidate who is fundamentally freed to replace Putin.

"Putin is not so powerful"

Historians pointed out that the rebellion of Russian officers accelerated the collapse of the system before. In 1917, in the last few days of the first World War, General Lavel Cornlov entered the then capital St. Petersburg. Bolshevik seized the regime. Another attempted coup in 1991 followed, and the Soviet Union disintegrated.

Of course, modern Russia is already a very different place compared to a century ago, or even 32 years ago, but it can be said that it is still fragile.

Until recently, on the one hand, Putin can maintain a subtle balance between the rule of military, commercial tycoon, intelligence officials and other interest groups, and on the other hand, allowing them to have a certain degree of autonomy -just like the king and his lord Same.

The rebellion of Porigan broke this balance.

Constantor, a professor at the University of Chicago and a professor at the University of Chicago, said, "The rebellion shows that Putin's control of power is not as powerful as people generally think," and added, "Other political participants talk to Vagna and speak with Putin. The response is very slow. If Purigor is more decisive, the elites may change to Putin. "

Since the invasion of Ukraine last year, the guess of the Russian elite will have been circulating. This may be the wishful wish of some people in the West. The severe sanctions in the West will exclude Russia from most of the global economy. A leaked call meeting showed that many people were dissatisfied with the losses caused by Putin's war in private.

As Russia's suspected war in Ukraine has continued to increase, and Putin was sued by the Hague International Criminal Court (ICC), others would worry about being considered to be the same.

Analysts said that the rebellion of Pryigo showed that participants with sufficient influence can and are willing to come forward for themselves. The armed rebellion has not been completely suppressed, but has reached a solution through negotiations. This fact is others for others. Try to provide the possibility in the same approach.

"The elites don't understand what measures are taking this situation in the future," said So far, his response to the crisis looks weak. "

On Monday, August 1, 2022, Russian Prime Minister Mikhail Mishustin kept silent on the phone (Associated Press)

cracks appear

After the attempted coup, many local leaders across Russia immediately recorded the news and reiterated their support for Putin, while the president himself praised the army to avoid the civil war -although it was unclear what the army did.

However, the Kremlin insisted on the unity of Russia's leadership to support Putin, but the evidence revealed the loopholes of this statement.

Politicians Alexander Djelic said: "I believe that when Putin needs support, the laziness of the elites can explain the problem." He also added, "Among the 83 regions of Russia, public speeches support Putin to support Putin. There are no more than 10 governors."

Djokic pointed out that Moscow Governor Sergey Sobyanin and Russian Prime Minister Mikhail Mishustin were completely silent during the mutiny.

"We see oligarchs such as Vladimir Potanin and Alkadi Rottenberg, which are closely related to Putin, like Vladimir Potanin and Alkadi Rottenberg, and immediately leave the country." Potanin is Russia. The second richest person reached $ 23 billion, while Rotberg, who rely on the construction industry, is Putin's front judo partner.

"We must understand that the Putin Elite's rational and technical bureaucracy parts have not been dislocated because of Russia's lack of democracy, infringement of human rights or Ukrainian warfare -they are worried that they will no longer have Putin to own A safe future, "he also added," Porigo's move will only deepen this feeling."

In this context, historians Andrev, a recent interview with the Vetska website, predicts that Moscow is about to change power and may occur within a few months or even weeks.

However, other analysts believe that the potential challengers among Russian elites need to consider a more complicated plan before risky risks with Putin.

Another coup will happen?

Among the rich and influential Russians, the frustration of Putin and the concerns of whether he can still protect their interests is true.

Safety expert Mark Galetti wrote in the magazine of "Viewers" that most of them were composed of Putin's core circle -most of them were composed of former KGB officials. The relationship with Putinism is not because of any ideology, but because it is the easiest way to succeed. Now they are failed.

Ignatov said, "Putin tried to describe the rebellion as an isolated incident, which was explained by Porigen's own personality rather than a systematic problem."

Ignatov added that, although few people believed this narrative, "this does not mean that his power is threatened."

As a political scientist Illia Mattivayev pointed out in "The Mystery of Russia", many people have not been sanctioned by personal sanctions. For those who are facing Western sanctions, there is no clear way. Delete in the blacklist, which suppresses discord.

Analysts said that, like the attempted rebellion itself, Putin worried is that the Wagner militants easily control the Rostov military headquarters because this may indicate that Pricigen has sympathy in the army, and the New York Times quotes American intelligence. According to officials, at least some Russian security departments knew the conspiracy of the rebellion. The Russian Air Heavenly Army Commander Sergei Surovin had not appeared in public for several days, and it was reported that it was detained.

Ignatov said, "Some people seem to know but do nothing, and (and) some people do not know, observe, but do not take any action." He also added that "Porigen has a wide range of extensive ones in the elite class. Human connections, he can discuss his dissatisfaction and his plans with many people. I think that some military and federal security bureau's leadership cannot know this. "

Nevertheless, no one defected to Wagner, Wagner was the most important armed organization in addition to the Kremlin's direct control at the time. Galei said that although there were other quasi -military forces, even the Russian Aerospace Agency, there was one Can't compare.

He told Peninsula TV, "Putin has not faced any imminent armed threats -the only power that has the required quantity and freedom of action is (Chechen leader Ramzan) Cadrov's army. This is what Chechen people are generally worried. They will not run into Moscow as easily as Wagner, "he also added." The real threat to Putin is not that the military will oppose him, but that they will not support him in the future crisis. "

The division between this elite is a common factor behind the so -called "color revolution" of other former Soviet countries. This is also the way protesters can resist national security suppression.

But what is Putin's attractiveness among the masses?

"In the cities that Wagner's control or entering Moscow," said, people's silence said, which shows that Wagner's career has been acquired, "he added," maybe, this also shows his dissatisfaction with Putin's leadership. "

Although Putin has been in power for nearly a quarter of a century, the struggle between the Ukraine War and Russia may become a turning point for many Putin supporters.

Ignatov said, "Russian society needs a powerful, attractive and dictatorship leader. He can solve the war and restore Russian citizens' pride in the army and the country," he added. "This is Putin now The request that cannot be met, and for him, this will become a bigger and bigger problem. "

Russian President Vladimir Putin attended the ceremony of commemorating the 82nd anniversary of the Nazi Germany in Moscow, Russia in Moscow, Russia on Thursday, 2023, standing at Crimean (Crimea (Crimea (Crimea (Crimean Cities) Previous Institute (Associated Press)

Russia in Putin era?

The increasingly frequent cross -border invasion of Ukraine, including the invasion of the Russian Right Militia, which fought for Kiev, disrupted the sense of security of the Russians under Putin's leadership. And order authority.

Because the Ukrainian war was regarded by his supporters as a war about life and death, what would happen if the Russian army was defeated on the battlefield?

"If Putin obviously does not sign a new Minsk agreement to get rid of the war, if Putin obviously does not sign a new Minsk agreement. Consequences.

"The Minsk Agreement was signed in 2014 to end the war between Ukraine and the militia supported by Ukraine and Russia.

Djokic added that "this will be the perfect turning point of the elites to prevent the upgrades of another factional and war upgrades," this may exacerbate Putin's efforts to "find a true peaceful negotiation".

Djakch said that the economic collapse may also force the extensive Russian elite to make such a reaction.

It is not clear whether Putin's rule will end, and it will fundamentally change Russia's political direction at any time.

Zubafu and others predict that once the elite class will oppose Putin, it will lead to the end of the war, and it may also lead to Russia's liberalization.

Others do not believe those who can take power just waiting for the secret pigeons that show high wings. Pricig is positioned as a more eagle than Putin, complaining that the war is not fierce enough. Will the factions be in power?

Ignatov said, "The liberals mostly come from Russia. They have chaotic organizations and have a limited influence on the country's incidents," he added. "Those people in the country will win. We can imagine a security force. The new alliance of technical bureaucrats, or the alliance of security forces and radical war supporters. "

Nevertheless, the next group of Russian leaders may take a more pragmatic attitude towards Ukraine and confrontation with the West.

Soning said, "I don't think Liberals can win alone," he said and added.

"However, any new leader may need to build a wide range of alliance dependence. Therefore, it is necessary to The power to make a major concession. "

Matsuna Matsuna Matsuna, the official house of Japanese cabinet, said on the 7th that Kishida will take this opportunity to emphasize that "the security of the Indo-Pacific region and Europe is inseparable." NATO must strengthen the participation in India and deepen Japan. However, there are still differences in NATO in how to cope with China in Indo-Pacific influence.

Bloomberg quoted a European senior diplomat that reported that the NATO allies are discussing that they may issue a statement with 4 Indo-Pacific countries to deepen the cooperation between the two sides.

However, whether NATO should leave the scope of its activities in the area where "extending from Northern Europe to Southern Europe and extended from the Atlantic coastline to eastern Turkey", there are some conceptual differences among member states. The diplomat who did not want to disclose his name stated that some members wanted NATO to take a wider and non-targeted approach to such issues that affect the security of the alliance.

Since the beginning of the war of the Russian and Ukraine War of Chinese President Xi Jinping, it has not condemned Russian President Vladimir Putin. (<https://www.dw.com/zh/zh/北約警告中國勿援俄-北京要求反躬自省/a-65245521>) It was an insult to international order and said that China constituted a "systemic challenge" to the alliance. NATO has continued to deepen relations with the closest allies in the region in the near future; Washington has also continued to seek to establish various multilateral mechanisms in the Indo-Pacific region to care about the expansion of China's influence.

Jens Stoltenberg, Secretary-General of NATO, also stated in June: "What happened in Asia is important to Europe and what happened in Europe is also important to Asia." In order to strengthen the connection between NATO and Asia, Stock Ertenberg visited Japan and South Korea in January, and said that Japan was the most "close and powerful partner" in NATO.

However, in May this year, NATO will open the first Asian office in Japan At that time, French President Emmanuel Macron had raised objections It is considered a big mistake to expand any attempt to expand NATO.

The possibility of NATO eastward expansion and activity in the Indo -Pacific region also expressed opposition, saying that the western move is intended to curb the rise of China. In June, a spokesman for the Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Wang Wenbin, once said that most countries in the Indo - Pacific region are not welcome to the east of NATO to Asia.

China: Lithuania exposes NATO's "disaster" to ChinaOn the 7th of this month, the Chinese official media "Global Times" said that Lithuania's move was "imitation of the United States", and said that NATO's provocative malice against China was exposed before the Lithuania Summit. Keep a vigilance.

The comment states that this is the representative office of the establishment of Litai After leading the sharp deterioration of the relationship between Lihong, Lithuania once again showed "mouth hard" and "arrogance", and there must be someone behind it. Lithuania faced Russia's "scaring bold". wood".

The comment also said that this year's NATO Summit is the "public performance" of the "anti -China small group Washington Washington" in Washington, which also indicates that while NATO has increased pressure on Russia while accelerating the expansion of the Asia -Pacific region, In one step, the Vilnius summit may become a "watershed" moment.

According to the comments, Japan, South Korea, Australia, and New Zealand, as NATO's "global partners", will attend the summit for the second consecutive year. The plan for strengthening cooperation with the four countries in NATO will obviously "come to China"; On the same day when Lithuania announced the Indo -Pacific strategy, the United Kingdom and Poland also signed the "2030 Strategic Partner Joint Declaration", which also mentioned "the importance of peace and stability in the Taiwan Strait, and announced that the status quo of one -sided changes will be announced and will be free to open the Indo -Pacific region. The Global Times believes that these signs show that NATO member states have coordinated their positions in Taiwan's issues, trying to "form a siege for China" in international public opinion.

Sudan is the world's largest Arab gel producer (Reuters)

In 2007, when Sudan faced western pressure and sanctions due to the bloody conflict of Darfur, the country's ambassador to the United States raised the Coca-Cola bottle at a press conference and claimed that "I can stop Arabic gum, and all of us will lose this."

John Youcock Lux Youcock refers to one of the main export agricultural products of Sudan. Arabic gum is a natural emulsifier extracted from the Jinhe Huan tree, which has countless uses in history -from ancient Egyptians Relying on it to make mummy, it is recently used in various purposes such as shoe oil, candy, medicine and cosmetics.

The soft beverage industry is seriously dependent on this stabilizer. It is essentially a edible glue, which can prevent sugar from falling to the bottom of carbonated beverages and crystallize.

Sudan is the world's largest Arab gel producer, accounting for about 70% of the total exports of the world. Millions of people in the country earn income from the industry directly or indirectly.

E414

In the 1990s and the 1990s, the Sudan government tried to use Arabic gum as a bargaining chip against the US government's sanctions. Washington lobbyists worked hard to ensure that the substance (also known as E414) was exempted.

Cameron Hudson, a senior researcher at the African project of Strategy and International Research Center, told Peninsula TV that "During the Sudan's past war and crisis, the Sudan government and international companies were quite successful in preventing the production and exports of Sudan Arabic gum. ","

"They were born under the influence of US sanctions, and the output never declined significantly. Therefore, never let the production of consumer goods relying on the ingredients face major risks."

SUDAN CONFLICT INJURED FLEE DARFUR

Darfur's fighting intensified, the injured Sudan fled to Chad

However, 15 years have passed since the press conference, the Sudan Arabic glue production is threatened by the outbreak of vicious conflicts between the Sudan army and the powerful quasi -military organization "Quick Support Force" on April 15.

The war caused thousands of people to die, and millions of people were displaced, which exacerbated a serious humanitarian crisis, which led to nearly half of the population of international food assistance. Sudan producers reported that in the turbulent, the price growers of Arab gels were treated with local buyers. Demand has dropped by more than 60%.

South Sudan writer and journalist Akor Miyan Kur, who has been focusing on the development of the industry, told Peninsula TV that the war "has no doubt that it has a negative impact on the Arab tree gum trade."

Akor Miyan Kur said that the main production areas -Koldorfán, Darfur, and Gadrif -"direct or indirect" are hit by conflict.

Kur added, "If the battle does not stop as soon as possible, the production of Arabic gum will completely collapse, because the two major production areas -Darfur and Cerdou -cannot continue to collect work due to the safety of workers."

inventory is about to be exhausted

Sudan violence has made it dangerous to transport Arabic gum to the country's main Harbor Sudan Harbor. Breakthrough News Sahele regional analyst Eugene Payers said that even those who are willing to risk travel in the current environment are facing Such a factual challenge: Since the outbreak of the battle in mid -April, many trucks have been destroyed or hijacked.

Payor told the Peninsula TV that "as long as people are willing to drive, it is difficult to find transportation. Of course, for farmers themselves, just like truck drivers, they must face such a fact: you are not accurate. Know what you see on the road. "

"The convenience of transportation has been greatly reduced. In the end, the price of the product has fallen to the degree of pushing it to the market -all these have greatly affected the trade flow."

Arabic gum is a natural edible tree glue (Reuters) taken from Jinhehuan tree

Mustafa Said Haller, Chairman of Sudan(Mustafa Al -Sayed Khalil)Sudan exported 60,000 tons of natural emulsifiers last year.

It is difficult to obtain reliable statistics, because most of the production of Arabic gum occur in some areas of Sudan, which exceeds the control scope of the central government, including areas occupied by various non -state actors.

Nevertheless, it is reported that large beverage companies have reserved Arabic gum supply for three to six months and have not yet faced any major issues, but analysts said that if the Sudan crisis can not see the signs of the end, they may face Severe problems and problems may occur soon.

William Lawrence, a professor of international affairs at the University of the University of Washington, told the Peninsula TV that "the price plunge seriously threatened the future of this industry led by Sudan since the 1950s, because it is used to the production of Arab gel production that is relatively cheap in supply. Business will eventually seek the diversity of the source and ingredients used in production. "

With the decline in supply, observers warn that the capabilities of soda manufacturers and pharmaceutical companies around the world may be severely restricted. Although it may be possible to find alternatives of Arabic gum (such as starch -based stabilizers), this is not It will happen overnight.

Puile said that the longer the conflict lasted, the greater the pressure on the affected enterprises.

The question is not just war

In the broader background of the country's socioeconomic challenges, the recent development of political affairs, and the danger of climate change, the impact of conflicts on Sultan Arabic gum trade has gradually appeared.

Sudan farmers even faced huge challenges before the outbreak of the war. Many people's wages were very low, so that they could not make a living.

How do I rescue people who fell into the Sudan War

In recent years, young people have begun to work in gold mines, where opportunities there are more beneficial, just as Jinhehuan tree is cut off to obtain building materials, firewood and charcoal.

Poyer said, "The exploitation of farmers has had a negative impact on trade. Unfortunately, this has accelerated this trend as far as the Arab gum that we see."

There are other factors.

In Darfur and other parts of the country, as the climate pressure facing the earth is getting greater, violent incidents caused by the conflict between water resources, limited land and natural resources are also increasing.

At the same time, increasingly worse desertification means that more Sudan people will go to urban areas that are not easy to find.

Puile said, "Some climate change factor may have a huge chain reaction, and in the case of trade, there is less discussion about this, but this is an important aspect of it."

Puile explained that "In the end, it may exacerbate the extent of people's poverty and the environment caused by the environment, increase slums, and increase the unemployment rate -all other major challenges that are more difficult to face in the background of Sudan's development. "Multiple issues that triggered large -scale demonstrations involved issues such as agricultural resources, land, infrastructure, and foreign companies control the country's resources.

Poyer said, "Now conflicts are intensifying the decline of the industry, and the industry is one of the main industries of Sudan, and it is also the center of the country's controversy about income inequality, how resources are allocated, and how the country should develop."

"You see ... about how Sudan develops ... It is deeply rooted in the basic issues such as how trade such as (Arabic tree gum) should be built, how to operate, and who should benefit from the huge amounts of funds in Sudan."

Selling weapons to Taiwan

The United States has no formal diplomatic relations with Taiwan, but it is the main military supporter of Taiwan. For decades, Washington has sold "defensive" weapons to Taiwan based on the "Relations with Taiwan". After August last August, after the Speaker of the House of Representatives in the United States House, Plogsi visited Taiwan, the Chinese PLA launched the largest real -scale military exercise in the surrounding waters around Taiwan for decades. Then in September, the Bayeng government announced the 6th degree of Taiwan military sales case worth 1.16 billion US dollars. The US Ginseng Institute also passed the "National Defense Authorization Act" at the end of last year. The law plans to send US government officials to Taiwan to strengthen the bilateral cooperation of the United States and Taiwan. In recent weeks, Japan and the European Union have reached a number of agreements, including a memorandum of understanding of the information of rare metals and mineral supply and demand information signed earlier this month. The agreement also proposed to cooperate in the supply chain of rare earth ore mining and refining, and improve the supply chain of such resources.

Robert Dujarric, co-director of the Institute of Contemporary Asia, the University of Tiaopu University, said: "We have seen this implicit threat for some time, and this situation is still continuing."

"The United States and Japan have restricted the implementation of China's high-tech equipment and semiconductor exports, so this can be regarded as revenge on the policy." He said, "Japan is trying to reduce the opening of China and the risks brought about by it, so with it, and therefore, with the therefore Establishing closer relationships in European countries is very meaningful. The two sides have signed a similar memorandum of understanding for semiconductors, including the establishment of a mechanism for fast sharing information to avoid supply chain interruptions when natural disasters or political issues occur.

According to the agreement, Japan and the European Union will jointly develop the next-generation chips and train future engineers.

The two sides also reached an agreement on strengthening cooperation in the digital field, including regular discussion of artificial intelligence rules.

Biden (right) told Erdogan that he hoped to welcome Sweden to join NATO as soon as possible (Anadolu News Agency)

NATO Secretary -General, Yanz Stoltenberg, confirmed that Turkey agreed to support Sweden to join the military alliance for a few minutes. U.S. President Joe Bedden issued a statement, welcome the position of Turkish President Erdogan.

"I welcomes the statement issued by Turkey, Sweden, and NATO, including the statement of Turkey, and NATO, including the President Erdogan promised to submit the Swedish to the alliance to the Turkish National Assembly (parliament) for rapid approval. I would like President Erdogan and Turkey work together to strengthen the defense and deterrence in the European-Atlantic region. "

When Washington expressed happiness, the change in Turkey's decision did not show any surprise. It is worth noting that in an interview with the United States Cable TV News Network on Sunday that he quickly joined Sweden to join NATO with optimism to hold NATO to hold optimism to hold NATO to hold NATO. At that time, most experts and observers expressed pessimism to the NATO summit because Turkey obstructed the Swedish alliance documents.

Biden said, "I have met the Swedish Prime Minister recently. Sweden has the same values as us in NATO. It is a small country, but it has the ability to defend themselves. They know how to fight. I think they should become a member of NATO," He also added that the delay was Turkey.

President of the United States added, "Turkey is seeking a modern transformation of the F-16, and Mizetakis (Greek Prime Minister) is also seeking some help. In view of this, what I want to express is coordination, so that we can then we can To strengthen the military capabilities of NATO Greece and Turkey, we allow Sweden to join. I am an optimist. In fact, I am an optimist. "

President Biden and President Erdogan communicated by the phone on Sunday evening. The White House stated in a brief description of the call that Biden told Erdogan that he "hope to welcome Sweden to join NATO as soon as possible."

Stephen Cook, an international affairs expert of the US Foreign Relations Commission, said in an interview with the Peninsula TV station that "Bayon was very confident before calling with Erdo, but he was no longer so confident after the phone call."

Türkiye Join the European Union

Prior to the development of the above situation, Turkey announced that he hopes to associate Sweden to NATO issue with the EU's request. The White House National Security Council spokesman's office confirmed that Turkey's joining the EU issue is two issues. Our current focus is to join the Sweden of NATO.

On the other hand, the US State Department spokesman Matthew Miller said: "Over the years, the United States has always supported the desire of Turkey to join the European Union, and we will continue to support them," he will continue to support them, "he also adds to them." But we think that this should not be a Sweden in Sweden Join NATO obstacles. "

Bloomberg quoted Turkish officials as saying that EU officials had agreed to speed up Ankara's joining the European Union. The content of the negotiations included Turkey's joining the tariff alliance and allowed its citizens to travel with visa -free travel.

Erdogan associated Sweden to join NATO and Turkey to join the EU, and said, "First of all, let us pave the way for Turkey to join the EU, and then let us pave the way for Sweden Same."

Erdogan also emphasized that "Turkey has been waiting for more than 50 years at the entrance of the European Union", and "almost all NATO member states are members of the European Union." High understanding.

On the eve of the NATO Summit hosted by the Lithuanian capital Vernis, Erdogan associated these two issues to face Russia's war on Ukraine, NATO leaders hope to be united.

On the other hand, Germany quickly rejected Turkey's conditions and emphasized that there was no connection between these two issues.

German Prime Minister Tsurtz said at a press conference held in Berlin: "They should not be regarded as two related themes," he also emphasized. "Nothing can prevent Sweden from joining NATO, and Turkish president has been Stop Sweden to join NATO. "

But Tsutz saw "a positive information" from Erdogan's statement, that is, in the near future, it is possible to add green lights to Sweden in the near future.

Turkey applied to join the European Union in 1987, but since 2016, it has made little progress. At that time, the European Parliament voted for the suspension of the Turkish government's comprehensive suppression of the attempted military coup.

In this context, Stephen Cook pointed out that "there are always many dramatic things before the NATO Summit, but few people expect that President Erdogan will ask Turkey to join the EU."

Cook added: "I strongly doubt that he exaggerate his position, and once things become clear, by trying to connect with Turkish EU members with Sweden to NATO, it will endanger Turkey and NATO, the European Union and the United States. relation."

Türkiye's importance is increasing

This crisis began last year. At that time, Sweden applied to join NATO, which required all NATO countries for approval, and this rule gave Erdogan a huge influence, so as to ask Europe to make concessions.

In recent months, Sweden has worked hard to meet the requirements of Turkey, revise the constitution and pass the new counter -terrorism legislation, and agrees to extradite several Turks accused of crime in Turkey, but the Swedish court prevented further extradition.

Hungary is still the only NATO member country that has not yet agreed to Sweden, but Hungarian officials said that if the Turkish position changes, they will not stop this process. The month joined NATO.

Since Russia launched the war against Ukraine last year, Turkey has increased the importance of the "geopolitical strategy" of NATO and Europe's security. Although Turkey is a member of NATO, it plays an important role in mediation and communication between Moscow and Kiev. This does not prevent Turkey from establishing a solid relationship with Russia, so that it can mediate an agreement to export Ukrainian grain.

76% of the Chinese Australians said that they use WeChat every day

(Voice of Germany) Chinese social media application -WeChat is widely used in Australian Chinese. In the complex relations between the two countries, what role WeChat play has attracted widespread attention. WeChat has repeatedly rejected a hearing of the Australian Senate on interference in domestic political affairs through social media. The timing of the Australian official on Tuesday's hearings on Tuesday continued to increase by the Australian official's suspicion of WeChat.

Australian Liberal Senator Jamespaterson issued a letter claiming that WeChat has repeatedly rejected a hearing at the Australian Senate's foreign interference social media special committee. He told the Tencent's leadership to Shenzhen's headquarters in Shenzhen that if WeChat continued to refuse to publicize its position to Parliament, the committee may have a negative perception of it. In the letter, he wrote: "Some experts who testify in front of the committee believe that WeChat should be considered to protect the freedom of Australian users. If WeChat continues to refuse to attend the committee, we will inevitably be willing to be with Australia. Legal cooperation draws conclusions and makes corresponding suggestions. "

"I know in Australia, there are about one million users in Australia. I admit that it is a necessary communication tool for Australians with Chinese ancestry. However, the committee has received convincing evidence. [WeChat is the "narrative machine 'of the Communist Party of China]](<https://www.dw.com/zh/zh/智库中共通过微信控制澳洲中文媒体/a-55984361>)We heard some disturbing allegations, that is, WeChat has been used to intimidate and harass Chinese Australian human rights activists and their families overseas to suppress their freedom of speech. "

WeChat and TIKTOK have become the target of government inspections in the United States

WeChat in Australia: Controversy and influence

Hong Kong's "South China Morning Post" reported that WeChat does not have a resident employee in Australia, so the Australian Parliament cannot force executives from Shenzhen, where Tencent Headquarters is located to attend the hearing. However, WeChat said, "WeChat strictly abides by all markets. We look forward to continuing to talk to those related to Australian interests."

"South China Morning Post" pointed out in the report: WeChat's influence and role in Australia attracted people's attention. A survey by the Lowy Institute of Sydney shows that WeChat is the third largest social media platform used by Australians daily, second only to YouTube and Facebook. 76% of Chinese Australians said they use WeChat every day, which has become the main source of news from Chinese Australians.

However, WeChat, as a platform for news and perspectives, has caused alertness in Australia's politics. During Morrison's ruling, the relationship between Beijing and Canberra was deteriorated, and WeChat faced the call for banning due to national security issues. In addition, WeChat is not the only Chinese application in Australia. In April this year, Australia announced that Tiktok will be removed from all federal governments. Today, social media companies, which have been interfered by domestic media in Australia through social media in Australia, also include Twitter and Lingying.

Kapland, a lecturer at Johns Hopkins University(Seth Kaplan)In April, I told relevant committees in Australia that although everyone is paying attention to video sharing application TIKTOK , But WeChat's threat to Australia's national security is more profound.

WeChat can't stand the refutation of the feet

According to the Sydney Pioneer Morning News, WeChat argued to this that the application was designed for users outside China and was not under the jurisdiction of Chinese law. Tencent refers to the WeChat overseas version "WeChat". Tencent previously said that WeChat allows users to conduct private communication and will not push any content to users. Tencent has no editing control over the content of the users.

But this is not the case. WeChat has been able to accurately control what kind of users can send or accept. For example, if you use WeChat to send the banned book that the Chinese authorities are unwilling to see, users can see the PDF documentation smoothly, but the receiver cannot see any document. Both sides will not receive any wrong prompts. At the same time, if you publish some include Four Tongqiao ", "Eighty -ninety -sixth" chat messages or multimedia content, will also face similar problems. The scope of sensitive words will continue to change according to the current demand of the current publicity and censorship system in China.

However, "Sydney Pioneer Morning News" also pointed out that two Australian scholars stated in a document submitted to the investigation committee that it is forbidden to WeChat to prevent the country's huge and increasingly increasing Chinese community "emotion, psychology and actual actual Chinese community. harm".

In general, WeChat has attracted 1.25 billion monthly active users worldwide, most of which are located in China, and WeChat's influence in the global Chinese community cannot be ignored. On August 1st this year, Australia's relevant committees will submit policy recommendations to the government. ("South China Morning Post", "Sydney Pioneer Morning News", etc.)

World Population Day: What will the world look like in 2050?

(Peninsula TV)

People from all over the world set July 11 as the World Population Day. The United Nations designated that day aims to focus on the urgency and importance of population issues, including the relationship between population problems and environment and human development.

In the past 12 months, the world has witnessed two important population milestones. First of all, in November 2022, the global population officially reached 8 billion. Secondly, in April this year, according to the estimation of the United Nations, India surpassed China and became the world's most populous population in the world's most populated population. s country.

Although the world's population continues to grow, its growth rate is actually slowing down. Earlier this year, South Korea once again broke the record of the world's lowest fertility rate, and the birth rate of Asian countries including Japan and China also reached the lowest. level.

In the following information chart series, Peninsula TV analyzes the number of world population in detail and explains what the decline in population means to other parts of the world.

How to increase the population in the world within 70 years

In 1955, there were 2.8 billion people on the earth. Today, this number is only the population of India and China.

The figure below shows how the world's population increases from 2.5 billion in 1950 to 8 billion in 2022, which has doubled. According to the estimation of the United Nations Division, by 2050, the world's population will reach about 9.7 billion.

By 2050, the world's population will reach about 9.7 billion

By 2050, Nigeria is expected to be the third largest country in the world after India and China, followed by the United States, Pakistan, Indonesia, Brazil, the Democratic Republic of Democratic Republic, Ethiopia and Bangladesh.

@AJLabs ALJAZEERA

According to the United Nations prediction, the world's most populous population is in 2050. By 2050, the world population is expected to reach 9.7 billion (Peninsula TV Station)

Is the population of your country growing or decreased?

In simple terms, the population of a country can be determined by four factors: birth, death, immigration (those who enter the country) and immigrants (those who leave the country).

If the number of births and the number of immigrants exceeds the number of deaths and the number of immigrants, the country's population will increase. On the contrary, if the opposite occurs, the population will decrease.

In 2022, nearly 134 million babies in the world were born, with an average of 367,000 newborn births per day. Although this may sound a lot, in fact, this is the lowest year since 2001.

The number of deaths in the world has gradually increased, from less than 50 million before the 1990s to 58 million in 2019. However, during the new crown period, the number of deaths increased sharply. In 2020, the number of deaths was 63 million, and the number of deaths in 2021 reached a record 69 million. It is estimated that about 67 million people died in 2022.

The end result was that the global population increased by 0.8%.

The figure below highlights the population growth rate of countries around the world in 2022.

Is your country's population growing or shrinking?

■ Population growing by 2 to 4 percent ■ Population growing by 0.01 to 1.99 percent ■ Population decreasing

Is the population of your country growing or decreased?

Africa is the fastest -growing mainland in the world. The annual growth rate of Niger, Uganda, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Angola, Chad, Maria, and Somalia all exceeded 3%.

On the other hand, most of the regions with the fastest population in the world are located in Europe and East Asia, and the low birth rate has prompted governments to launch extensive economic incentives and support to new mothers.

For example, in South Korea, novice parents can get $ 10,500 cash subsidies to cope with the imminent population and economic disaster.

Decreased population and aging bring huge challenges to the labor market and the entire economy.

With the decline in the number of labor age population, major reforms need to be made to adjust social services and medical care systems to adapt to an aging population.

What is the average age of your country?

A useful indicator of a country's population is to view the median age. It represents the age of half of the elderly and the age of half a year of light.

The global average age has now been recorded for the first time since 30 years.

The following table is arranged in the median age in the order from the oldest to the youngest.

The world population exceeds one billion milestones

Since 1800, the global population has increased by eight times, and the estimation of 1 billion in 1804 has increased to 8 billion in 2022. This growth has largely attributed to the development of modern medicine and agricultural industrialization to promote global food supply.

Reuters announced an exclusive news that when the Russian mercenary organization Wagner's troops launched a mutiny on June 24, a team had escaped from the army to the north of Moscow and revolved in a rigid nuclear military base in eastern Russia.

Reuters Kyrylobudanov, the head of Ukraine's military intelligence on Tuesday (July 11), quoted that the team has arrived at the nuclear military base in an attempt to seize the small nuclear weapons of the Soviet era to improve the bargaining chips that launch a mutiny.

Budhov said that the only obstacle of the Wagner forces is that nuclear military storage facilities have a multi -closed anti -theft door, making them unable to enter the technical department. It is reported that this kind of small nuclear bomb is very light. One person is enough to pick up, which is a weapon left over during the Cold War.

Reuters could not confirm the news. It said that Budanov did not provide evidence on this statement, and also refused to explain whether he had discussed this incident with the United States and other allies, and did not explain why the soldiers chose to retreat in the end.

However, an insider who had military contact with the Kremlin confirmed some of Budnov. A person familiar with the matter said that a special team of Wagner "managed to enter a special concern area, but the Americans were very excited because there were nuclear ammunition there."

The insiders in the Udon Russia -controlled area said that the Kremlin paid attention to it, and on the night of the 24th, the mediation of President Luchenko was arranged quickly with the Wagner rebels.

Both Kediya and Wagner have not responded.

U.S. officials expressed doubts about this statement. Hodg, a spokesman for the White House National Security Council, responded: "We cannot confirm this report, and there are no signs at any time that (Russia's) nuclear weapons or nuclear materials are dangerous."

Reading in one minute:

The United States announced that it provided ammunition to Ukraine, causing disputes that may cause civilian casualties. Many Chinese official media reported that Colinkahl, deputy Minister of Defense, said that it was more important than defeating Russia than civilian casualties.

However, at a press conference on the 7th of the US Department of Defense, Carl did not say that "more important to defeat Russia than civilian casualties". The original meaning is: For the Ukrainian civilians, the worst situation is that Russia has won war. So what is important is that they cannot win. Moreover, Carl also explained the premise of the United States aid and Ukraine Bidth, including Ukraine's commitment to use these ammunition in civilian residential areas. A number of Chinese official media distorted Carl's original intention to spread misleading information.

Deep analysis:

The United States announced on July 7th a new batch of military aid Ukrainian plans, Aid weapons contain controversial bundle ammunition, US President Bayeng said in an interview a few days ago This is "very difficult decision" because Ukraine's ammunition is almost used up. The United States has not signed the Convention on the Bomb, but this move has been opposed by the signed by the United Kingdom, Canada, and the criticism of human rights organizations.

China has not signed the "Convention on the Bomb Bomb" and China has not explicitly opposed it, but Ministry of Foreign Affairs's statement It is said that "irresponsible transfer cluster ammunition is easy to cause humanitarian issues." Official media reported a lot of related news. On the evening of July 9, Global Network used "" US Deputy Deputy Defense Ministers said more important than civilian casualties and defeat Russia

"](<https://world.huanqiu.com/article/4Deljb7kSHG>)It is reported to the title; followed by, CCTV also used "The United States will provide Ukraine with the deputy defense of the American Deputy Defense: more important to defeat Russia than civilian casualties" TV news broadcasts were conducted on the topic. Many media have successively quoted official media reports, and then produced graphic cards or editing into short videos. It spreads the remarks that "defeating Russia is more important than civilian casualties than civilian casualties" on the major social media platforms.

Chinanews and China News Agency released short videos and map cards on social media, saying that the Deputy Minister of Defense of the United States said that it is more important to defeat Russia than civilian casualties. The picture is taken from Weibo, Twitter

What did Carl say?

Whether it is reported by Chinese official media or the discussion of netizens in social media, the words of Calle are highly similar. People focus and condemn the phrase "more important than civilian casualties to defeat Russia".

Calle, Deputy Minister of Defense, who is responsible for formulating national defense policies On the 7th in a press conference The original speech above is: "I'm as Concerned About the Humanitarian Circumstance As Anybody But the Worst Thing For Civilians in Ukraine is for Russia to Win the War. "tant that they don't." (I care about humanitarianism as much as everyone The situation, but for Ukraine civilians, the worst thing is that Russia has won war, so it is important that they cannot win.)

In the Chinese subtitles of CCTV's words, CCTV's "IT'SIMPORTANT" without comparative levels is not accurately translated as "more important". "Russia is more important".

In addition, the report also omitted the important explanation of Carl before this passage. Karl said at a press conference that the United States will use these weapons to be cautious in Ukraine guarantee, including the use of cluster ammunition in areas where civilians gather, and will carefully record the location of the use of use to clear the work and other work in the future.

in conclusion:

The United States with a bundle ammunition to Ukraine has indeed triggered international disputes. Officials from the Ministry of Defense did not deny the existence of humanitarian risks, but they did not say that "more important than Russia is more important than civilian casualties." Reports from Chinese official media such as Global Network and CCTV not only disconnected the context, but also interpreted the speech of the US Department of Defense officials, creating the "irresponsible" image of the United States that only cares about defeating Russia and does not care about Ukrainian civilians. "Introduction" misleads the audience.

The demonstrators who reject the judicial amendment conflict with the Israeli police (Anadoru News Agency)

On Tuesday, tens of thousands of Israeli demonstrators blocked the main crossroads of Tel Aviv and the occupied Jerusalem to protest the draft judicial amendments.

The opponent announced that on Tuesday, it was a mobilization and assembly demonstrators' opposition to the day of the Parliament on Monday night.

A reporter from the Peninsula reported that the demonstrators conflicted with the Israeli police, which prompted the cavalry forces and border police forces to suppress the protests after arriving at the headquarters of the Supreme Court of Israel and prevent protesters from going to the city's main axis.

The organizers of protests called their activities as "National Paralyzing Day", and these activities were spread all over cities and continued until night.

The demonstrators ignited empty tires in several cities and blocked the streets with small tents. Hundreds of people wielded the Israeli national flag parade.

arrest

The Israeli police said they arrested 66 demonstrators and emphasized that they would not allow violations of public order, disturb traffic rules, and close the road of emergency rescue vehicle.

A reporter from the Peninsula TV also reported that after thousands of protesters arrived at the airport, the Director of the Israeli Police Department Director Yakov Shabette arrived at the Ben Gurian Airport to supervise the progress of security measures.

Israeli media reports, including Channel 12, said that the police forces appeared at the airport and tried to transfer the demonstrators from the main travel hall to the affiliated hall, but it was not available.

The Director of the Police Department, Yakov Shabeta, confirmed on Monday that the police were a non -political entity. The basis of operation was equal to demonstration, and a zero tolerance was admitted to disturbing public order and violent behavior against the police.

At the same time, former Prime Minister and leaders of security agencies have also called on citizens to obey to curb their so -called coup plans for judicial institutions.

指

Against this background, Israeli Minister Amy Jue Hickley has accused U.S. President Joe Bayeng "play an important role" in the protests of the judicial amendment plan.

According to the Israeli newspaper "Land News" and a local religious radio station, Hickley said on Tuesday that "the Bayeng government has a close relationship with the Israel opposition leader Ail Lapd, and there is a deep relationship between them."

Hickley added that it is interesting that whenever the protests need to be suppressed, Biden's remarks about Israel are consistent.

In an interview with the US network "CNN" on Sunday, Bayeng criticized the Israeli government led by Benjamin Neganya, calling it the "most extreme government."

Biden has called on the Israeli government and the opposition more than once to reach a consensus on the draft judicial amendments.

Hickley said, "Biden's remarks seem to be premeditated and planned." He also added, "Therefore, the United States has played an important role in inciting protests."

Hickley is a member of the Lepad Group led by Prime Minister Neitanahu.

The Biden government did not comment immediately on Hickley's remarks, but had previously denied similar allegations proposed by Israeli officials in the past few weeks.

Social division

On Monday night, the Israeli Parliament voted to support a legal amendment to reduce the power to reduce the power of the Supreme Court with 64 votes and 56 votes.

The bill still requires a second and third -reading voting before becoming the law, but the voting date has not been determined.

Some members of the Likardia Group led by Neitanahu said that the bill will be diluted before entering the final vote, and they hope to complete the work before the parliament will be completed on July 30th.

The amendment proposed by the Neitana government aims to reduce the power of the Supreme Court judge to overthrow the government's decision and appointment of the government's decision and appointment if the court believes that the government believes that the government decides and appoints is unreasonable, violates the Basic Law or contradicts the judicial decision.

The differences in the differential amendments have caused cracks in Israeli society. Neitaniahu, which has been tried due to corruption allegations, has suspended the approved amendment plan. Last month, I was deadlocked.

Opponents said that judicial supervision can help prevent corruption and abuse of power, while supporters said that this change will promote effective governance by restricting court intervention, and judges have other legal means to supervise.

China has a sequential line in the South China Sea Sound of the territory; there are nine interruption lines, called the "nine sections" According to Bloomberg, Wikipedia, the Vietnamese government requested the streaming media platform Netflix on Monday (July 10) and the Vietnamese telecommunications operator FPTTELECOM. China is used to mark the "Nine Section Line" map of the south of China Sea. Wang Kai, a famous Chinese actor Wang Kai, served as the actor of the play. The Ministry of Culture of Vietnam also posted on the official website that although FPT Telecom made vaguely on the map, the improper content in the play violated

The national flag of the United States and China Associated Press Picture

When the virtual capital (finance)+technology creation income is N times larger than the real economy and the profit cycle is greatly shortened, all countries with conditions want to be a strong science and technology country, and they have moved traditional industries such as machinery manufacturing to other countries. However, a Russian -Ukraine War was hit, and even the world 's power of the world' s status in NO.1 also found that industry cannot be lost and it must be picked up, otherwise the status of the world 's first military power may be threatened. On the contrary, Xi Jinping once again emphasized the development of the "real economy" in Suzhou's speech during his inspection of Jiangsu, but encountered a spoof of netizens, fabricated a legend of 86 pages of speeches, and compiled ten sentences about China according to Xi Liannian speech. The "news" of self-reliance and closing the country, several overseas Chinese media are widely spread.

The spoof is fun, but the true value of the above two news is obliterated: under the demonstration effect of the United States and China, the international global division of labor systems will have important changes.

American enlightenment: war needs industry

"The Wall Street Journal" published "The U.S. Defense Industrial Base is Not Prepared For Conflict With China" on July 10th. In the event of a consuming war, the most important experience will be discussed at the upcoming summit. "The most important experience comes from the Russian and Ukraine War:" A battle that is about life and death in order to ensure the supply of weapons and ammunition for troops. The party's party will lose this war. This is a lesson that Washington is re-recognizing. The Russian and Ukraine War exposes the huge deficiencies of the West in national defense industry and organization. "The United States and its allies have not yet done well in the Pacific region, if the United States has a positive conflict with Russia or China, the precision weapon inventory may be used for several hours or days. Other important materials will be exhausted quickly. The United States general who attended the meeting said that in the future, the United States to develop the defense industry needs more support for the private sector.

This article is really sighing, because "the soldiers and horses are not moving, the grain and grass first" (the grain and grass here refers to logistics supply) is the basic truth that soldiers must know since ancient times. Western countries mainly focus on consumer supply in the peaceful age, and many of the time of war have been forgotten by politicians. Therefore, General Robbauer, a senior military officer in NATO, said that "each war will become a logistical competition after each war is about five days or six days."

The content of the WSJ article next is to care about the situation of the Russian and Ukraine war (not referring to the person who calls a certain party every day).

This war first made the Western governments realize that it is not enough for national fiscal revenue to supply social welfare only. Love things: The security of our Western countries has the "leader" in the United States. We focus on the development of welfare and love cause. We must not only meet the growing welfare needs of the people in the country, but also meet the benefits of external illegal immigrants. After the start of the Russian and Ukraine War, the two major European countries knew that the war was supported by military strength, and had to make a statement: French President Macron promised to implement the "war economy" to increase the production of military materials. German Prime Minister Tsurtz said it would increase national defense costs and military expenditures.

In the past 30 years, the United States has focused on cracking down on terrorism and protecting land safety, and there are a large number of weapon inventory. But on April 14, 2022, Bloomberg published an article "Ukrainewar Is DEPLETINGARICA's Arserica's Artmocracy" in Bloomberg. The article said that the United States adopted the "Democratic Army Fire in the Ukraine." The strategy of the library is to avoid direct intervention in Russia's military operations, but to provide funds and weapons to the Kiev government by cooperating with the allies. This conflict has become high and long -lasting, consumes a lot of ammunition and important military assets. This article quotes officials of the Pentagon that Kiev consumes "anti -tank ammunition that takes a week to transport" every day. The author analyzed that this brought a serious choice to Western countries: whether to choose to provide more materials to Ukraine, or save its limited military capabilities for its own defense. At that time, the senior officers of the Pentagon pointed out that the United States now has production weapons technology, but it lacks corresponding production capacity in China.

Xi Jinping has always emphasized the development of the real economy after taking over

China is a post -development country. In the globalized international division of labor system, it is at a low end. The formation of this division of labor system is as follows: The third major transfer of the world industry in the end of the 1970s began in the late 1970s. In the early 1990s, the Soviet -Eastern European socialist countries collapsed one after another. After a few years, the globalization officially started. Finally, a world industrial pyramid structure was formed: the top is the financial industry, and the three major financial rating institutions are all in the United States; the second level is science and technology and education. This Of course, it is also the United States; the third level is high -end manufacturing. Germany and Japan monopolize most markets. Some old -fashioned industries have their own advantages in special industries that are good at; the fourth level is the low - end manufacturing industry. , Shoes and caps, luggage, toys and other consumer goods markets. However, in this process, China has gradually transformed industrial transformation in various ways including infringement of intellectual property rights. Two years after Xi Jinping took over as the head of the Communist Party of China, "Made in China 2025" came out. The original focus was to develop mechanical manufacturing and heavy industries, and also included other new industries. That is to say, the Chinese economic structure has been adjusted. Although the results may not be like the Chinese authorities, the Chinese authorities may not It is expected to be so good.

It is worth noting that China's manufacturing industry includes the military industry. Taking the "2021 World Defense Top 100 World Defense List" released by the United States Defense News Network as an example, US military companies occupy six places. The remaining three are from China, ranking sixth, eighth, and ten respectively. They are: China Aviation Industry Group, China Weapon Industry Group, China Shipbuilding Heavy Industry Group. In December 2022, the Stockholm Institute of International Peace (SIPRI), Sweden, released the military fire industry data, saying that the world's 100 military firemen, the United States accounted for 40 seats and 8 seats in China; 4 seats. The international division of labor system will be major adjustment

Knowing the world must start with the facts of cognition. The United States is a global promoter and the biggest profitable person in globalization (the price is the decline of the manufacturing industry in the country); China is the largest net profit of globalization. However, Xi Jinping, the leader of the Communist Party of China, is different from the first two to enjoy the advantages of globalization. When he took over, the Chinese economy had passed the heyday. He had his own ideas for the adjustment of China's economic structure and future development. » In 2015, he began to launch a stronger state -owned enterprise reform plan (this plan was criticized), and at the same time emphasized the development of the real economy and made the Chinese economy from reality; Importance and necessity. In 2019, the Sino -US trade war was launched, and the CCP made a lot of preparations to reduce the "US dependence". All this was continuously explained by the outside world as "closing the country" and "restoring the planned economy". This explanation is an intentional misunderstanding.

This time Xi Jinping's Suzhou speech did say, "It is necessary to take adherence to the real economy and build a modern industrial system as the essential of a strong province." Coupled with the two sessions in 2022, he said that "a big country like us must rely on ourselves", and the "to bring the rice bowl in your own hands" that he said earlier, so he was spoofed by netizens into 10 sentences that were closed to lock the country. In the case, many overseas Chinese media reposted -in fact, if there are 86 pages of the 86 -page lecture on the leader, if there is such a secretary, it will have been fried.

Recently at the NATO conference, the US military representatives said that the war needs to rely on the industry's industry. In Western popularity, it is to reduce economic dependence on external (especially to enemy countries); in words that Chinese people are well known, it is, it is, it is well -known Chinese. Began to talk about American industry self -reliance. Following China, the United States emphasizes the need to develop the entity (industrial) economy, which will definitely bring changes to the global division of labor system and industrial layout. Of course, this change does not happen overnight, it takes time.

Meta Platforms (Nasdaq Stock Exchange code: Meta)

Compared with the previously popular OpenAI chat robot ChatGPT, Threads has also reached a milestone of 100 million users. At that time, ChatGPT reached 100 million users in two months. (Reuters)

Since Facebook's parent company Meta Platforms launched MicroBLOGGINGICE named Threads last Wednesday (5th), the competitive social media Twitter has slowed down. Threads has more than 100 million registered users.

On the same day of THREADS, Instagram CEO of Instagram, which belongs to Meta PlatForms, Adam Mosseri and multiple Metaplatforms executives, they shouted one after another, saying that Threads is a community that "never really embrace Twitter" More suitable "social places". So far, from the perspective of the number of users, these communities seem to agree with this statement.

Starting from Threads to launch, the basic trend of Meta Platforms' stock price has also been high. In the past month, the standard and the Pur 500 index rose by 1.63 %, while the stock price of Metaplatforms had 8.50 % during this period.

Meta Platforms CEO Mark Zuckerberg said in a post overnight: "The registration volume in the first weekend has reached 100 million households. We still have many promotional activities. Only five days!".

Compared with the previously popular OpenAI chat robot ChatGPT, Threads has also reached a milestone of 100 million users. At that time, ChatGPT reached 100 million users in two months.

Of course, Threads still has a lot of room for development, and the most basic is that it has not yet launched in the European market. Mesyli once said that there are still some complex regulatory problems in the European market that need to be resolved. However, if Threads can continue to retain its user group, it is likely to be Twitter's real competitors. According to Twitter's last quarter performance report before being fully acquired by the world's richest man Musk, daily active users who can make money by Twitter are nearly 238 million households.

In fact, Twitter seems to have felt pressure at this stage. According to the data company Similarweb, which specializes in network analysis, compared with one week ago, the two days before Threads launched, Twitter's overnight network traffic has fallen by 5 %. Compared with the same period in 2022, Twitter's Network traffic has dropped by 11 %.

Maybe this is why Twitter Musk broke through 100 million users, and wrote to MetaplatForms through his long -term lawyer Alex Spiro, accusing Threads of one of the reasons for "illegal theft" business secrets.

In Tipranks's 39 analysts, it also seems to be very optimistic about the MetaplatForms of Threads. Among them, 35 of them gave the stock "buy" rating, and four gave "holding" rating, and the average target price of the one -year period was $ 304.21.

Bloomberg reported on Tuesday (July 11) that OECD recently conducted a survey to 2,000 employers and 5,300 employees of seven member states. The interviewees mainly came from the manufacturing and financial industry.

OECD Secretary -General Mathiascormann said: "Development and tools related to generation AI have recently developed at a rapid development, which has marked a technological watershed and will have a substantial impact on many workplace."

OECD said that in response to the development trend of AI technology, international organizations and regulators must strengthen and improve the cooperation framework of people and AI.

OECD calls on wealthy countries around the world to do a good job in the impact of the AI revolution

Description: (Agence France -Presse, Paris, 11th) The Economic Cooperation and Development Organization said today that global wealthy countries must be quickly prepared to deal with the upcoming "artificial intelligence (AI) revolution" impact. Employment opportunities cause other tasks to disappear.

AI tools can generate papers, create images, and even pass the qualification examination of practicing physicians. Therefore, the rapid development of AI has triggered concerns that AI may replace the entire labor department through automation.

Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) said in the "2023 Employment Outlook Report" (2023 Employmentoutlooklooklook) that "so far" has almost no evidence that AI has a significant negative impact on employment.

The report pointed out: "Although the AI adoption rate is still relatively low, the rapid progress, decline in cost, and increased labor with AI skills show that the OECD economy may be on the edge of the AI revolution."

OECD said: "Although AI has many potential benefits, there are also major risks to urgently need to be resolved."

OECD member countries include 38 countries including Australia, Britain, Canada, Germany, Japan, Mexico, and the United States.

OECD said that the collection of information about the acceptance and use of AI in the workplace is "important".

OECD Employment, Labor and Social Affairs Director Stefanoscarpetta said that the use of AI is roughly concentrated in a large company that is still experimenting with this new technology, and many companies seem to be unwilling to replace employees.

The OECD report pointed out that AI has the potential to improve the safety of the workplace by reducing the "tedious or dangerous task", and even helps workers with complementary techniques of AI to increase wages.

However, AI may also "accelerate the rhythm of the working environment of the workers," so that those who "discover the reduction of their workload because of automation" find that the salary has also shrunk.
