The World Health Statistics report released by the World Health Organization pointed out that the progress of key health indicators in recent years has stagnated, and the report also reminds people to pay attention to the increasingly serious threat of non -infectious diseases and climate change.

The report released by the World Health Organization on Friday (May 19) has emphasized that as of 2022, compared with the trend from 2000 to 2015, the progress of key health indicators in recent years has stagnated. The report calls on countries to coordinate and strengthen response measures.

The United Nations News Center reported that the report records the latest data of the crown disease epidemic on global health. These losses have led to the continuous decline in the progress of sustainable development goals. From 2020 to 2021, crown diseases have caused 336.8 billion years of life losses worldwide, which is equivalent to a 22 -year life of a person's average loss per person.

Since 2000, the number of mothers and children has decreased by one -third and one -half, respectively. The incidence of infectious diseases such as love, tuberculosis, and malaria also decreased, and the risk of premature death due to non -infectious diseases and injuries was also reduced. These progress has increased the life expectancy worldwide from 67 in 2000 to 73 in 2019.

The Director -General of the WHO Tan Desai said: "The report issued severe information about the threat of non -infectious diseases. These diseases have caused huge and increasingly serious losses to life, livelihood, health systems, communities, economy and society. The report calls on countries to greatly increase investment in health and health systems in order to return to the orbit of achieving sustainable development goals. "

Data show that although the overall health status has improved, the percentage of deaths caused by non -infectious diseases each year has been increasing. At present, nearly three -quarters of people who die due to diseases are caused by non -infectious diseases.

If this trend continues, it is expected that in the middle of this century, non -infectious diseases will account for about 86%of the annual number of deaths, that is, 77 million deaths will be attributed to non -infectious diseases. Since 2019, absolute numbers have increased by nearly 90%.

Although the health risks of smoking, drinking, violence, unsafe water and sanitary facilities, and children's development are reduced, the progress is still insufficient, and the risks of air pollution and other issues are still high. The prevalence of rising obesity shows no signs of reversal.

After India buys a discount crude oil, Russia watched a lot of rupees and worried about it

Russia has become India's largest crude oil supply country

(Voice of Germany) caused Western sanctions in Moscow's invasion of Ukraine in Moscow, forcing Russia to sell crude oil at a discount, India has become the main buyer of Russia's oil in the past year. According to data from Vortexa, a ship tracking company, the oil imported from Russia in South Asian countries exceeded its historical record in April.

In fact, Russia became India's largest crude oil supply last month, and its supply exceeded the sum of Iraq and Saudi Arabia. Before the outbreak of the Ukrainian war in February last year, India had rarely purchased from Russia.

However, as the sanctions cut off the connection between Russia's major banks and most Western payment systems, finding the way to pay Russian crude oil became a challenge. In the past year, Indian importers have been buying Russian oil and other products with India's rupee, but the restrictions on the currency initiated by the West means that Russian companies cannot convert rupees into currencies in Western countries such as US dollars or euros.

Russia is worried about a lot of rupees **

At the same time, the opportunity to buy discount crude oil has expanded India's huge trade deficit in Russia.

According to data from the Ministry of Commerce and Industry of India, in the first 11 months of fiscal 2022-23, India's imports from Russia were close to $ 4.1.5 billion, while exports were only $ 2.8 billion. This led Russian Petroleum Corporation and Banks to leaving billions of Rice in their Indian bank accounts-they are worrying about using this pile of cash.

"I think this situation will not last long," the New Delhi Observer Research Foundation(ORF)Researchers and Russian experts, NandanunniKrishnan, told Germany, "If the two sides cannot solve this problem, it will not only affect the purchase of oil, but also affect all problems."

Russian Foreign Minister Lavrov recently commented on the Shanghai Cooperation Organization Conference in Guoa, India. Bloomberg reported his speech: "We need to use this money. For this reason, these rupees must be transferred with another currency. Now we are discussing this issue."

The close relationship between India and Russia makes the West worry

According to Bloomberg, the uncertainty of the payment mechanism also hinders India's weapons imports. New Delhi and Moscow have a long -term political and military connection.

India is the main buyer of Russian weapons. Although it has been working hard to make its military equipment diversified, in recent years, it has shifted more and more to the United States and France to buy it. According to Stockholm International Institute of International Peace, Russia has accounted for $ 8.5 billion among New Delhi's $ 18.3 billion in weapons imports. The two parties are also negotiating on a free trade agreement.

So far, Essence New Delhi has repeatedly voted for the United Nations' resolution on Moscow. However, it calls for a conflict through dialogue.

At the same time, Western countries are worried about strengthening the trade relations between India and Russia, because they are worried that this will destroy the severe sanctions effect on Moscow.

The Russians are sorrowing how to use a lot of Indian rupees

Is RMB a solution?

In addition to India's rupee, the UAE currency Diram and RMB are regarded as potential currency options to resolve the trade between India and Russia.

"Russia wants to have a currency that can be used to buy the goods needed for its economy ... The question is how to find this currency." UNINECIINANA said, "Russians will be happy to use RMB." He also pointed out that the bilateral trade volume of Russia and China is calculated by 100 billion US dollars.

In 2022, Russia and China trade reached a record high of 190 billion US dollars.

But Unikrigan pointed out that New Delhi will not be willing to allow trade settlement with RMB. Reuters also quoted Indian officials in March this year that the Indian government has demanded that domestic banks and enterprises avoid using RMB to pay Russia imported goods.

Another choice is to use the UAE currency Diram to pay India imported from Russia, but experts said that this may not be a practical long -term solution due to the sensitivity of the currency on Western sanctions.

Unikriganan emphasized that India and Russia can propose alternative solutions, such as effectively investing in rupees in joint ventures, and producing products that are useful or exported to other parts of the world in Russia. "There are many ways to use these huge sums of money, and the two parties only need to show the political will that can reach the agreement."

India's appetite for Russian oil is getting bigger and bigger

Children usually start to learn English when they are 4 years old (Voice of Germany) According to the recent research, South Korea is a country raising a child in the world with the highest cost in the world. This discovery explains the country's fertility rate and an imminent population crisis.

According to the Korean "Korean Daily", the annual research report of the nursery and population research think tank in Beijing has listed South Korea as a country with the highest cost of childcare. Its cost is 7.79 times that per capita domestic production value (GDP). This is equivalent to 365 million won (equivalent to 251,562 euros or $ 271,957).

Followed by Germany (3.64 times) and France (2.24 times).

At the same time as parenting expenses rose, South Korea, as the 10th largest economy in the world, was born in another direction. Data released in March show that the country's fertility rate is 0.78, which means that only 78 babies were born in the lifetime of every 100 women. This is the world's lowest fertility rate. Compared with South Korea's fertility rate in 2000, 1.48 decreased significantly. In 1980, South Korea's fertility rate was 2.82 and 5.95 in 1960. Experts warn that South Korea needs to maintain 2.1 fertility to maintain population stability without relying on immigrants.

South Korea's fertility rate is the lowest worldwide

The biggest cost is extracurricular tuition class

For Koreans, the biggest cost of a child comes from educational costs other than conventional public school education. "Korean Daily" pointed out that in 2022, It is equivalent to 524,000 won (361.53 euros) per child.

Han Yejing, a lawyer of a 31-month-old daughter, said: "South Korea is a society that pays attention to education. For most families normal."

Han Yejing told Germany that the tuition class was called "Hagwon" in South Korea. Children usually started to go to such schools at the age of 4 and usually learn English during playing.

She said: "This is currently a major trend of Parenting in Seoul. People spend a lot of money for these English kindergartens every month, because they think that children are easier to learn language when they are young, and this is a very important skill."

Han Yejing admits that when she meets with her friends or family, she often talks about the choice of education. Her cousin's daughter has just entered an English kindergarten recently.

Another factor decided to send their children to the extra -curricular tuition class was that there were a large number of mothers in South Korea, and the tuition class also provided the children with a place to take care of.

Although private kindergartens also provide sports, music or other art courses, they pay more attention to English and mathematics. Han Yejing believes that most courses are English and mathematics-the study of these subjects is to ensure that children enter good middle schools, and then they are good universities so that they can find good jobs in the future.

"A good private education outside the conventional public school is to ensure that the child gets good results and can enter the best university." Han Yejing said, "Entering a top university is important, it means a good job, ensuring that it is a good job to ensure that The success of life. "

Dr Park Sain-in, an economist at the National University of Seoul, also believes that a large part of Korean family income is used for education, but he does not believe that the impact of this "competition" on young people is positive.

"In my opinion, Korean education is too competitive, especially in college entrance examinations." He told the Voice of Germany, "Obviously, the more children learn, the greater the opportunity to enter a good university, although the younger age is young Children may learn some sports, music and other content in extra -curricular class, but will eventually reduce the subjects they need to enter the university. "

The century -old history of German elementary school

Class digitalization

This is a primary school in Potsdam. Children take a frame of frames with electronic equipment, and then make them into videos quickly. Digitalization in elementary school has also caused controversy. Some people think that electronic equipment should be excluded from the campus, and some people think these are meaningful supplements.

Insufficient teachers

One of the major problems facing elementary school today is insufficient teachers. It is estimated that by 2025, there are about 26,000 teachers. One of the reasons is: Compared to other school forms, elementary school teachers have low paid. Therefore, the attraction of choosing primary school education majors is not great. Others want to transfer to this industry and lack corresponding qualifications.

German elementary school is very good

Despite this: According to a survey of the German Parent Council, most parents are satisfied with their children's primary schools. In terms of academic performance, German primary schools are also good. Although they are not top, they are in the upper reaches.

plunder of parents

A Social Pioneer of the "Korean Daily" also accused the operators of the tuition class "using (parents) anxiety to plunder" and encouraged them to pay huge costs to keep up with the expectations of society.

The newspaper stated that parents have to pay for many years of additional tuition fees, "no wonder South Korea's birth rate is so low." Dr. Park Chengren has no children. He hopes that Korean society will gradually change, and no longer emphasize school learning, so that children have a more relaxed childhood.

"This will not happen soon, but I hope this is a change that may be seen one day in the future." He said, "I believe that good education is important, so that children can go to college and find good jobs, but many Koreans-including myself-I think the cost of private education has gone too far, and we need a better balance. "

How can the US debt limit affect the global economy?

Description: Biden's economic adviser warned that even the "short -term" default will cause US economic losses to lose 500,000 jobs. The "long -term" default will cause the US GDP to plummet 6%, which may seriously weaken global trade and cause deep recession in other parts of the world.

The US government's breach of contract may seriously weaken global trade and put in a deep decline in other parts of the world.

(Voice of Germany) If the US Congress fails to raise the debt limit before the end of the month, the US Ministry of Finance may not be able to pay government bills. What if this happens, how will the global economy be affected?

What is the upper limit of the US federal debt?

The U.S. Congress first introduced the debt limit in 1917-refers to the national debt amount that the US Finance can bear. This measure means that the government no longer needs Congress to approve the issuance of each debt. The public debt bill was passed in 1939 and 1941.

Over the past 70 years, the upper limit of debt has been increased by 78 times, including 2011, when the United States failed to reach an agreement on the new upper limit at that time, the S & P lowered US sovereign credit rating and triggered an increase in loan costs.

In January of this year, the US government encountered the current debt limit of $ 314 trillion, but the Ministry of Finance took great measures to allow it to continue to provide funds for government activities.

The next critical period is the upcoming June 1st, and Congress must increase the upper limit again, otherwise the US government may start exhausted funds and arrears debt.

The Democratic Party and the Republican Party are conducting fierce confrontation. The Republican Party hopes that the White House agrees to comprehensively reduce public expenses and carry out other reforms.

Republican senior leaders met with US President Biden at the White House last Tuesday (May 9) and tried to resolve the dispute, but the talks did not make major breakthroughs.

What are the consequences of the US government's default?

US Finance Minister Yellen warned last Sunday that the deadlock was actually "a gun pointed at the heads of the US and the US economy."

She said that if the debt limit cannot be increased, "financial and economic confusion will follow."

-This move will have a profound impact on the United States and the global economy.

The shortage of funds will force the US Treasury to save expenses in order to first pay debts and interest.

This may mean the salary of delay payments including tens of millions of public sectors, including teachers.

Social security and medical subsidies for older and disadvantaged Americans, including veterans, may also be suspended.

Although any non-repayment debt may be temporary, Biden's economic adviser warned that even the "brief" breach of contract would cause US economic losses to 500,000 jobs.

They believe that the "long-term" default will cause GDP to plummet 6% and cause tens of thousands of enterprises and about 8.3 million jobs to lose-almost as much as during the financial crisis in 2008.

In the worst case, the United States will have to completely stop lending before July or August, which will further impact the global financial market.

Investors will subsequently question the value of US bonds. For a long time, US bonds have been regarded as one of the safest investments and the cornerstone of the world financial system.

The US government's breach of contract may seriously weaken global trade and cause deep decline in other parts of the world.

More serious default will lead to a sharp depreciation of the US dollar, the chaos of exchange rates fluctuates, and pushes the price of oil and other commodities.

Global inflation is likely to rise again. Due to the lack of trust in the financial system, the supply chain problem that has been affected by the epidemic may be worse.

What is the progress of the U.S. Party negotiations?

The Speaker of the House of Representatives McCarthy and the Republican Party refused to reduce the budget in an incomplete reduction Essence Republican's House of Representatives voted in late April to decide to reduce the proposed budget bill worth about $ 4.8 trillion. The bill will cancel the tax reduction and exemption of clean energy investment and overthrow Biden's plan to remove student loan debt.

However, the bill cannot be passed in the Democratic Senate.

Bynden has refused to negotiate so far, saying , Then he cut out the possible budget.

Biden hopes that Republicans will publicly promise that the United States will not breach contracts and be able to pay all the bills by continuous borrowing.

During Biden's tenure as Vice President in 2011, the Obama administration was forced to make pain to the Republicans to avoid breach of contract, and Biden hoped to avoid repeating the same mistakes.

Biden's budget plan will be reduced by nearly $ 3 trillion in ten years, mainly by increasing taxes to the rich-Republican Party is unlikely to agree with this.

After the talks between Bayeng and the senior leaders of the Republican and Democratic Party last Tuesday, McCarthy estimated that the two sides had only two weeks to reach an agreement that could be passed by Congress.

However, some analysts still believe that the expiration of the debt limit should be postponed to September 30 to avoid the risk of breach of contract immediately.

Can Biden quoted 14 amendments to the Constitution?

Theoretically, the president can quote Article 14 amendments to the US Constitution. The amendment stipulates that "the effectiveness of the US public debt authorized by law ... must not be questioned."

Some analysts believe that Biden can argue that he has the constitutional obligation to avoid breach of contract, so he can break through the upper limit of debt and continue the expenditure that Congress has approved.

However, this move almost definitely leads to long -term legal disputes, which may disrupt the financial market.

Republicans warned that Biden could not act unilaterally and the solution must pass through Congress.

This week, a public sector worked and workers' unions sued the Minister of Finance Yellen and Biden, asking them to ignore the debt limit in accordance with the constitutional obligations.

The lawsuit tries to ensure that the income of workers' income will not be punished because of breach of contract and preferential repayment of debt.

The Russian Ministry of Defense said: "Wagner's offensive operation under the southern army artillery and aviation support has liberated Artemovsk." Atmomusk was the name of Bakhmut in the Soviet era.

Ukraine President Volodymyr ZELENSKYY is participating in the seven major industrial group (G7) leader summit in Japan.

Bacht is a salt ore town with a population of 70,000. This is the oldest and bloodiest piece of battle in the Ukrainian offensive for more than a year in Moscow.

Bacht is occupied by Russia and will be a major victory of Russia who has experienced a series of shameful failures.

Kiev has been preparing a large -scale counterattack for a few months. Zeroski previously stated that the fall of Bachst will open a road for the Russian army to occupy more regions of Donbas.

The head of the Wagner Group, Yevgenyprigozhin, released a film on the social platform Telegram, claiming that Bacht has fell into the hand of his organizational, and the soldiers in the film raised the Russian flag in the context of the ruins.

In the film, Porigzin said: "At noon on May 20 today, Bacht has been completely occupied." He also said that the Wagner Warrior would search for the occupied city and handed it over to the Russian government forces.

However, Ukraine, which claimed earlier this month, said that the war was successful in the success of Bacht and its surrounding areas that the war was not over.

Ganna Malayar, deputy minister of the Ministry of Defense of Ukraine, said: "Bachtter's battle is fierce and the situation is critical. As of now, our guardians have controlled certain industries and infrastructure in the region."

South Africa Cape Town Theewaterskloof Reservoir

(Voice of Germany) based on a study published on Thursday (May 18), more than half of the world's lakes are shrinking due to dryness. A international research team published their research results in Science magazine and found that the main reason was global warming and human activities.

Only about 3% of the water sources on the earth are freshwater. Among them, the freshwater of natural lakes and reservoirs accounted for 87%. The report emphasizes the demand for water resources management solutions.

According to the research led by Fangfang Yao, a water writer at the University of Colorado, since the early 1990s, large lakes and reservoirs in the world have been reduced. The expert group said that in the past three decades, some important freshwater resources in the world have been lost at a cumulative rate of about 22 a year.

"More than half of the loss is mainly due to human consumption or climate warming." Yao Fangfang said that he pointed out that climate warming contributed "a larger share."

Researchers have also found that the changes in rainfall and runoff, the effect of deposits and temperatures have led to a decline in global lake water levels.

The fourth largest lake in the world is now like this

Lake change data for the years of 30 Years

The research team measured the water level of nearly 2,000 lakes and other water bodies in the world, and made a report based on satellite data collected from 1992 to 2020.

In the United States, Made Lake lost two -thirds of water storage during the 28 years.

The study also found that unsustainable human consumption caused the lake to dry up, including the salty sea of Central Asia and the Dead Sea in the Middle East. Afghan, Egypt, and Mongolia lakes were affected by rising temperatures, resulting in an increase in surface evaporation rate.

Scientists say it is necessary to control global warming within 1.5 ° C to avoid the serious consequences of climate change. The world is currently warming at a speed of about 1.1 ° C.

In early March, Lac Duchambon Reservoir's water level in the Alps in France was seriously insufficient, so that the hydropower station was no longer able to run normally. Hydropower accounted for 15% of French power supply, and people began to worry about the situation of power shortage. In 2022, France was forced to turn off some nuclear power plants because the low water level caused the nuclear power plant to be unable to get enough cooling water.

The White House said that Biden was about to end the seven major industrial group (G7) meetings in Hiroshima, Japan, and he will immediately call the Federal House Speaker Kevin McCarthy after the summit.

White House officials said that President Biden continued to pay close attention to the negotiations of the cross-party budget framework and the urgent need for Congress to take action to avoid breach of contract. President Biden had the latest news from the negotiation status notified by the team last morning and this morning. The president instructed the team to coordinate the arrangement with Speaker McCarthy.

Biden originally scheduled to go from Japan to Papua New Guinea and Australia next week, but shortened the Asian itinerary due to the national debt crisis.

The Ministry of Finance stated that unless Congress voted to increase the debt limit, the US government's debt on June 1 may be breach of contract as soon as June 1. Washington's all night's discussion was obviously deadlocked, and the two sides accused each other.

Zelenski arrived in Japan with a special French government plane to attract all media attention.

(Voice of Germany) The Seventh Kingdom Group (G7) Summit will be closed on Sunday (May 21). On the last day of the agenda, Ukraine President Zelenski is expected to attend the summit in person and meet the US President Biden.

The US White House national security adviser Jake Sullivan said that Biden "expects" to sit down and talk with Zelenski face to face. A U.S. government official revealed to AFP that the two are expected to meet at 2 pm local time (5 o'clock in the Standard time of Greenwich), "the president will reiterate the United States' firmness and resolute support for Ukraine in the future."

Earlier, the White House announced that it would agree to the Western allies with the US-made F-16 fighter to Ukraine and support operation training including F-16 fighters, which is expected to be one of the two-person talks.

Ukraine has always hoped to obtain these advanced fighters to replace its aging and the Soviet era fleet that has been destroyed by the war, but the United States has been worried that it may be angry with Moscow and more directly involved in war. Biden said that the United States would not approve the transfer.

After finally turning on the green light, Shalvin emphasized that Washington hopes to "avoid the Third World War" to support Ukraine. The transfer of the F-16 fighter will not damage such a key balance. He said that these fighters will be used only for defense, "the United States has not promoted or supported attacks on Russian territory."

In addition to meeting Zessky, Reuters reports that Bayon will also hold a joint meeting with Japanese and South Korean leaders on the 21st. A senior U.S. government officials who are unknown to the United States revealed that the United States and South Korea and Japan will discuss how to deepen the relationship between the Three Kingdoms, including military "mutual exercise" and "economic stress" from China.

The official also said that Washington That is -China should use its influence to prevent Russia from war in Ukraine.

This year's G7 summit was held in Hiroshima, Japan. The summit focused on how to weaken Russia and respond to China.

Zelei See Modi

Zediski arrived in Japan on the 20th with a French government plane, [] Essence After arriving in Hiroshima, he said through Twitter: "Japan, G7, and important meetings of partners and friends in Ukraine, for our victory, we need to cooperate further and security. Today, we will be closer to peace."

After the landing, Zelezzky met with Indian Prime Minister Modi in the G7 field. Zelei said on Telegram that in the talks with Modi, the two discussed the needs of Ukraine in mobile hospitals and clearing mines. He also invited India to join Ukraine's peace plan; Modi released it through Twitter. The two shook hands and pointed out that he had told Zelei Sky that India was willing to continue to provide humanitarian assistance to the Ukraine people and support "dialogue and diplomacy" to seek peace.

India, Brazil, China and Russia are also "BRICs". Since the Russia -Ukraine War, India has not kept a distance from Russia. Its oil transactions with Russia have been considered to be able to destroy Western sanctions by allowing Russia to continue to benefit from energy sources.

In addition to Modi, Zeelianzki has also met with French President Mark Hong and British Prime Minister Socner. Reuters reports that Zeleiski may also meet with Brazilian President Lula and other "Global Southern" leaders in Hiroshima to win their support for Ukraine.

In addition to the G7 member states this year, the summit also invited South Korea, Brazil, India, Indonesia, Australia, Vietnam, Cookislands and Comoros.

Russia and China dissatisfaction

Russian Foreign Minister Lavrov said on the 20th that the decision made by the G7 shows that they are willing to "double curb" China and Russia. Lavrov accused that the G7 not only intends to defeat Russia on the battlefield, but also destroy it as a geopolitical competitor.

Russian official media Tas Society quoted a speech by Russia's Deputy Foreign Foreign Minister Alexander Viktorovichgrushko that Western countries will face [] if Western countries provide F-16 fighters to Ukraine, they will face [].(<https://www.dw.com/zh/zh/莫斯科向乌克兰提供f-16战机将给西方带来巨大风险/a-65685682>)Essence

"We see Western countries still insisting on upgrading. This has brought them huge risks," said Gruhko.

At the same time, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of China issued a statement on the 20th to condemn the G7 interference in internal affairs including Taiwan, and stated that it had filed severe negotiations to Japan, the host of the summit.

The Chinese Embassy in Japan subsequently issued a statement saying that the G7 manipulated the issues related to China in the joint statement and introduced the economic security documents that inspired China. Strong dissatisfaction and resolute objection have been proposed to the Japanese side with a serious negotiation.

The statement criticized that the G7 summit encouraged the group's political and camp confrontation, and once again exposed the hypocritical nature of the G7 mechanism.

US President Biden attended the G7 summit held in Hiroshima, Japan on May 20, 2023 to participate in the relevant activities of global infrastructure and investment partnerships.

(Voice of Germany Chinese website) American President Biden arrived at Hiroshima early, but did not appear in front of the public before Saturday (May 20), and the G7 leader dinner on Friday also left in advance. The Associated Press reported that he has been in the hotel room through video conferences and is busy understanding the latest progress of US debt negotiations.

The total amount of debt issuance in the US federal government has touched the upper limit of 31.4 trillion US dollars. If Congress does not increase the debt limit, the government may break the contract in June. Biden negotiated with the Republican House of Representatives Kevin McCarthy, but still stuck how much negotiations such as government expenditure cuts.

Although therefore, it is impossible to follow the original plan, attending next week The "Quad" National Conference, Biden still met with Japan, India and Australia leaders in G7, the purpose was to hope not to be regarded by allies as partners who had lost their appointments, which affected the status of the United States' global leadership.

As for the plan to visit the Pacific Island country after the summit and triggered controversy after the summit, it was renamed the signing ceremony of the State Secretary of State Antony Blinken.

Washington first reached this treaty with Palau, Micronesia and the Marshall Islands for the first time in the 1980s. According to the terms, Washington retains defense responsibilities for these countries and provides economic assistance. Exclusive channels in the area.

Joseph Yun, a special envoy of the US President's Pacific Island, told Reuters that on the 22nd, Palau and the United States will renew their visa in New Guinea in Papua. The ceremony will be in Blinken and President Surangel Whipps Jr. The testimony was held, and on the 23rd, the United States continued to renew its contract with Micronesia.

Yin Rushang said last month that this agreement will provide a total of about $ 6.5 billion in funds for the three countries in 20 years. Update these agreements have become the key to the United States' efforts to fight back in China to expand their influence in the Pacific region. China has also strengthened its offensive in diplomacy, and Chinese buildings and mining companies have also expanded their business in this area.

The US Secretary of State Brills participated in the signing ceremony of the "Freedom Joint Agreement" (COFA) renewal and signing ceremony with the Pacific Island Country.

The Marshall Islands Renewal?

To fight from The United States sent a special envoy Yin Rushang to strengthen cooperation with the Pacific Island country. He said: "We have implemented 2 of 3 items. This agreement is very important for the United States and defines our relationship with the northern half of the Pacific Ocean."

In the past week, he visited the area and finalized the draft Palau and Micronesia Agreement, but the agreement on the Marshall Islands was still updated, but there was still no consensus.

The terms of the Marshall Islands will expire this year. Yin Rushang did not explain why he did not renew his visa. He only said: "In my three days when I visited the Marshall Islands, some progress has been made. ","

The Marshall Islands is expected to hold parliamentary elections in November. Yin Rushang said that renewal with the United States has "strategic significance."

The residents of the Marshall Islands are still plagued by the health and environmental impact of the 67 nuclear bomb trials in the United States from 1946 to 1958. Among them, the "Castlebravo" nuclear test in the "Castlebravo" in the "Castle Action" in the bikini reef was the largest bomb in the history of the United States.

Last year, more than 100 arms control, environment and other activity groups urged the Bayeng government to officially apologize to the Marshall Islands on the influence of the United States on the Marshall Islands and provide fair compensation.

Following Russia's Wagner mercenaries on Saturday (May 20) [] Later, Russian President Putin later publicly congratulated the "victory" of the Russian army.

According to a comprehensive US media report, the Tas Society quoted the Kremlin statement that President Putin congratulated the Russian forces to seize Bachmut in the evening on Saturday, saying that he would provide rewards to the outstanding Russian army.

The statement said: "Putin congratulates the Wagner Commando and all the soldiers of the Russian armed forces who provide them with the necessary support and wing -side cover, and congratulate them to complete the action of liberating 'Artyomovsk'. "

The founder of the Russian mercenary mercenaries, Porigo, held the Russian flag and announced that Russia had captured the news of Bachmat.
(Agence France -Presse)

Russia calls Bachmat as the name of the Soviet era "Altoohvsk".

Kiev denied the statement of Wagner's leader of the mercenaries for the leader of the Wagner's mercenaries.

Ukrainian military spokesman Serhiy Cherevatyi responded: "This is not true, our troops are fighting in Bachmat."

It is reported that regardless of whether the Ukrainian army has left Bachmat, the Ukraine has been slowly withdrawn to the city and evacuated into the edge buildings in the west of the city. On the other hand, the Ukrainian army also recaptured a large loss in northern and southern Bachs.

After participating in the seven major industrial group (G7) summit held in Hiroshima, Japan, Emmanuel Macron went to the Mongolian capital Ulanba to stop.

Elysee, France, said that President Mark Hong only stayed in Ulan Bato for one night and had dinner with Mongolian President KHURELSUKH Ukhnaa.

Mark Hong will also visit the Genghis Khan Museum. This museum will borrow some collections to the Nantes History Museum in western France and display it in October this year.

Mark Hong is expected to return to Paris that night.

A source of the Palace of Eric said: "In fact, the return of President's return to China passed Mongolia, allowing us to conduct a historic first visit and give this trip special significance."

Sources said: "Mongolia is located in the inland, between Russia and China, and is a country with a free government ... Mongolia is trying to make partnership diversify in order to grow themselves. Strong neighbors. "

Sources also said that Mark Hong is seeking to relax the restrictions on Russia's neighboring countries, open to them, and give them choices.

In terms of bilateral relations, France has always believed that there is a "very important possibility of cooperation" with Mongolia, especially in the energy field, because Mongolia is trying to get rid of the economy's dependence on coal.

In recent years, the United States has become increasingly interested in the vast Mongolia, thinking that Mongolia can be used as a strategy of observing China's rise.

Gruhko, deputy minister of Russia's Ministry of Foreign Affairs, stated that if Western countries provide F-16 fighters to Ukraine, they will face "huge risks."

Reuters reported that Tas Club quoted Gruhko on Saturday (May 21): "We see that Western countries are still insisting on upgrading (conflict). This has brought them a huge risk."

"In any case, this is considered in all our plans. We have all necessary means to achieve the goals we set."

The Ukrainian Air Force spokesman Yuri Ignat said that once Kiev won the F-16 fighter, Ukraine would win the war because the Ukraine could provide defensive cover in areas outside the air defense missile.

"We need F-16 fighters to become a component of our air defense," said Ignat. These fighters can strike the air target from high and low altitude. "

"By using the F-16 fighter, our ground forces will be able to quickly liberate the occupied Ukrainian territory by targeting the enemy's command post, military group and logistics supply chain."

Some Ukrainian athletes oppose the government's position for resistance to international sports events (information pictures)

(Voice of Germany Chinese), a Ukrainian member who participated in the two Olympic Games made a call to support Ukraine athletes asking the Ukraine government to re -consider their positions to resist international sports events.

Saradhaha(Olga's secret)It was a three -level bronze medalist at the three - level long jump of the London Olympic Games in 2012. She described the current situation as "difficult", but it said that the Ukrainian parliament will "do everything possible" to allow Ukrainian athletes to participate in the Paris Olympic Games next year.

"I think Ukrainian athletes should and have to participate in the Olympic Games," said the peaceful and free athlete rally held in Tallinn, the capital of Estonia last weekend, "they need the competition, they need to show our strength."

Last month, the Ukrainian administration passed a decree to prohibit national athletes from participating in the competitions with Russia and Belarusians. The decree actually canceled the qualifications of Ukrainian athletes to participate in some competitions for the Paris Olympics.

Saradha said that the Ukraine Parliament is calling on its European counterparts to "strive to achieve the prohibition of Russian athletes from participating in international competitions" and say that they are also continuing to lobby the International Olympic Committee (IOC).

"The leaders of our sports organization said that they are trying to educate people at the international level (chairman of the International Olympic Committee) Bach." She said, "But as we see, Bach's decision and statement change a day. "

Ukraine calls for banning Russia to participate in the Paris Olympics

Saradha's opinion echoed the Ukrainian steel frame snow car player Vladyslav helaskevych. At the Beijing Winter Olympics last year, Herraskovic played the poster "No War in Ukraine". He said resistance is not a goal.

"The Olympic Games and International Sports (provided) have a very large media platform." In an interview with the Voice of Germany, Herraskovic said, "We should not give this platform to the propaganda narrative of Russia and Belarus. In that case, they will increase soft power, and more and more Russians will take the front line. "

International Olympic member criticized Ukraine: political intervention in sports

The Ukrainian government's decree is to respond to the advice of the International Olympic Committee, The International Olympic Committee quoted some UN human rights experts to defend themselves, arguing that the comprehensive ban on nationality is discriminatory. It also criticized Ukraine's political intervention and reiterated its point of view "which athletes can participate in which international competitions cannot be determined by the government."

However, Ukraine Councilor Saradha believes that sports beyond politics is wrong.

"This war is so terrible that thousands of people are dying. We are talking about a war criminal that threatens the world with nuclear weapons." She said, "We know that in Russia, any athlete is essentially part of the propaganda agenda. . Russian athletes are still talking about the greatness of Russia and the Russian Empire. "

Ukrainian athletes fled to Berlin

Anatol Kotau, former secretary -general of the Belarusian Olympic Committee in exile, believes that Essence

He said at a conference convened by the Belarusian Sports Unity Foundation organized by an objection athlete: "The International Olympic Committee accused Ukraine for being unacceptable to interfere with sports, because the entire foundation of sports in Russia and Belarus is a state institution."

The articles of association of the International Olympic Committee prohibit political intervention on sports, and call on the Olympic Committee of all countries to "maintain autonomy and resist any form of pressure, including but not limited to politics, law, religion or economic pressure."

When asked if it would suspend the authority of the Ukrainian Olympic Committee in accordance with its charter, the International Olympic Committee only allowed the Voice of Germany to refer to its previous statement and said: "There is nothing to add at present."

"Bach allows terrorists to participate in international activities"

Although some sports have retained the ban on Russians and Belarusians, other projects, such as fencing, judo, and weightlifting -have decided to follow the advice of the International Olympic Committee.

As a result, because of Judo athletes from Russia and Belarus attended, the Ukraine Judo Federation resisted the World Judo Championships held in Qatarha this month, claiming that the "most" Russians participating in the competition were "active soldiers."

Many sports organizations in Russia are related to the Russian Ministry of Defense, including the Moscow Central Army Club (CSKA MOSCOW). After verification of the Associated Press, 5 of the 18 Russians on the Entry list of Doha are members of the club. Daria Bilodid, a well-known Ukrainian athlete and two world champions, questioned this.

"This is Hu, isn't it?" She wrote on social media. "I think it is unacceptable to allow military personnel to allow a terrorist country to kill Ukrainians every day to participate in international competitions. This does not conform to sports values at all."

The Ukraine Olympic champion Nataliya Dobrynska said at the Tarin conference that the Olympic Committee led by Bach (picture) failed to adhere to its principles

The International Judo Federation stated that after the "independent background investigation", it has banned eight members of the Russian delegation to attend the competition, but these people are not athletes. It said that the person who was allowed to enter the list "was employed (Russia) Federal Training Sports Center", which belongs to state -owned enterprises, not military companies.

The International Olympic Committee has given the right to the Paris Olympic Games to each movement, and emphasizes that it has not made any decisions on the event itself. However, another Ukrainian Olympic player Nataliyadobrynska said at the Tarin conference that Bach's organization failed to adhere to its principles.

"The goal of the Olympic Games is to ensure world unity." The 2008 Beijing Olympic Games seven all -around gold medalist Doblinska said, "But see where to talk about Russia's aggression war?"

She said: "Bach allows terrorists to participate in international activities. We need to continue to put pressure on him to let him take it back."

The BBC Georgia cargo ship is anchoring at the port of City, Schtliison, Germany, and is repaired by the Strela Shipyard (Voice of Germany Chinese) The Baltic International Shipping Association (BIMCO), headquarters headquarters in Bagoswed, headquarters near Copenhagen, reported on Wednesday (May 17): "From 2023 to 2032 More than 15,000 ships with more than 600 million tons are recycled. "According to BIMCO analysts Nielsrasmussen, this is more than double the recovery volume in the previous decade.

According to BIMCO, in the past ten years, 7,780 ships with 285 million tons in the world have been recovered, most of which were built in the 1990s. The association reports: "In the next ten years, the ships built in the 2000 will become the main source of recycling." And pointed out: "Compared with the 1990s, the ship's loaded tonnage built in the 1990s was more than twice that of the time at the time. It is expected that this will promote the growth of recycling and utilization. " stricter carbon emissions regulations

BIMCO believes that the current shipping industry is more stringent Regulations are also one of the reasons for increasing recycling demand. According to the association, the vast majority of ships are scrapped and re - processed in Bangladesh, India and Pakistan in Asia. The international non - governmental organization's "Shipbreaking Platform" has condemned this approach to repeated cases such as environmental destruction, infringement of human rights, child labor, and death.

In fact, the harmless and safe demolition work of the environment should have been regulated globally. According to records, since 2009, there is an international agreement related to this, and Germany has approved the agreement in 2019. However, this so-called Hong Kong Convention (also named Hong Kong International Security and Harmful Environment Demolition Convention) will only be approved in at least 15 countries to join, and the total tonnage of the total commercial ships of the contracting parties will be effective. BIMCO also announced that it would be optimistic after signing the convention in Bangladesh, saying that the effective date of the convention may soon come.

On the eve of G7's debut, the first China -Central Asian Summit was held in Xi'an.

(Voice of Germany Chinese), the three -day seven -way Group (G7) summit will end on Sunday (May 21). During the meeting, the leaders of the seven major industrial countries — From the militaryization of the South China Sea to "economic coercion" — has issued strong criticism.

The G7 oath should jointly respond to the challenges brought by China's "non -market -oriented policy and actions", including mandatory technology transfer and data disclosure. They warned that China has distorted the global economy, and the G7 leaders realize the importance of cultivating the resistance of "economic stress".

In the initiative document against "economic coercion", the G7 leader acknowledged the incident related to "economic coercion" "increasingly increasing" and promised to establish an agreement platform to improve the collective evaluation, preparation, and preparation of "economic coercion", and to prepare for "economic stress". Strategy and response.

Experts believe that although the document is not directly named, it indirectly mentioned the challenges brought by China's "economic stress", which are "powerful and detailed." DEXTERROBERTS, a senior researcher at the Atlantic Society, told DW that, given that these countries have different benefits and economic exchanges with different degrees of economic exchanges, the coordination and solidarity reflected by the statement is a "big event."

Some experts believe that G7's response to China's challenge is "powerful."

g7 sword refers to China

In addition to cracking down on "economic stress" initiative documents, A severe warning of Beijing tried to condense the policy consensus on China. However, the communiqué still refers to "cooperation with China in areas where China is challenging and interested together" and "prepares to establish a constructive and stable relationship with China."

The G7 leaders emphasized that the world's major democratic countries directly express their concerns to China. The policy policy is not to harm China, nor to obstruct its economic progress and development. "We are not describing or turning inward", but "de -risk."

Experts said that this shows that the G7 leaders have reached a consensus on adopting a "positive geographical strategy policy" in China, but they believe that cooperation with Beijing to respond to global challenges is "indispensable."

"This is actually promoted by European countries in recent years, so it can be said that Europe has played a leading role in shaping democratic countries' policies for China, as shown in the so -called" de -risk "integration." Professor Zsuzsaanna Fernczy said to DW.

In response to G7's criticism, the Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs said "strong dissatisfaction" to the communiqué, saying that the group's approach "has no international reputation." Beijing has accused G7 verbally claiming to cultivate a world of peace, stability, and prosperity, but in fact, "hindering international peace, damage to regional stability, and suppressing the development of other countries."

Roberts of the Atlantic Council told DW that Beijing's anger response showed that the G7 communiqué "touched the Chinese nerves" because "the text, specific content and field scope of" (the communiqué involved) "has been challenged by Beijing.

to India not only rely on China?

Another attractive occasion during the G7 summit is Essence This was the first time that the two met in the first face of Russia in February last year. Prior to this, India had been reluctant to criticize Russia's invasion, and its continued economic relations with Russia also attracted the attention of the international community.

This is two leaders of India and Ukraine. It has met in person since the Russia and Ukraine War.

Zeelianzki and Modi met on the 20th. Modi promised that India would do their best to help the conflict. He said that the war had a deep impact on the world, not just economic or political issues, but "human issues"; Zerrenceki invited Modi to work together to urge the end of the war.

Some experts believe that Modi is willing to meet with Zellezki that India may be "re-adjusting" its position on the current geopolitical conflict. Dr. Chongja Ian, a assistant professor at the National University of Singapore, pointed out: "This is India trying to rethink its relationship with Moscow."

As for Zellenki, through contact with Modi, he hopes to enable Ukraine to evaluate different choices on the negotiating table. "Ukraine does not intend to rely on China as a bridge (between itself and Russia), because India can also play this role." Zhuang Jiaying told DW that Modi and Zeleneski reminded China that Beijing is not a peace talks about Russia and Ukraine. "The only choice on the table".

G7 leaders hope to meet the challenges brought by Chinese and Russia and other autocratic countries to reach consensus. Zhuang Jiaying believes that the summit has largely achieved this goal, but in the future, more importantly, how G7 member states will transform these consensus into action, "how these different countries implement their commitments, and the efforts of implementing these commitments to implement these commitments Is it really condensed together? "

And announced the latest wave of military assistance for Kiev, including ammunition, cannons, and armored vehicles. Earlier, the United States decided to open an ally to transfer the F-16 jet machine to Ukraine.

Biden said: "We are the backing of Ukraine. This will not change." Zelei Sky expressed his gratitude to Biden: "We are very grateful. We will never forget. Thank you."

However, this meeting was covered in the shadow of the defeat of the war, [] The battle for this city is the longest and most bloody battle since the Russia and Ukraine War.

Although Ukraine first denied the loss. According to the Associated Press, Zeelianzki said that he believed that the Russian army "destroyed everything" after several months of siege and had captured the city.

With the strong support of the Seven Kingdoms, Zeelianzki visited Hiroshima in person, and British Prime Minister Sonak said that Japanese Prime Minister Kishita Kishita invited Zelei Sky to attend the G7 conference.

Sunak also said on the 21st that Britain will start training Ukraine pilots this summer to support them against the Russian army. He said that no one hopes to be peaceful than Zediski, but the peace conditions should be based on the principles of Ukraine.

German Prime Minister Shelz emphasized that if Russia thinks the longer the war is consumed, the less support for Ukraine, it will "bet wrong." He said the message given by Germany is that Russia must withdraw troops.

So far, although Germany has not yet expressed his willingness to participate in the Ukrainian military training plan, Germany is still the second largest supporter in Ukraine, second only to the United States. Shawrtz emphasized that Germany has done a lot of things for Ukraine in terms of financial, humanitarian and military assistance, and provided tanks and artillery to Ukraine.

French President Mark Hong said that the appearance of Zessicia will help countries such as Brazil and India to understand the situation of Ukraine. He said that the French would send Zelei to Hiroshima to build peace and seek solutions.

He mentioned the upcoming BRICS conference, including Brazil, Russia, India, China, and South Africa, and said: "Let Zeelianzki" in front of a few world powers in the world that only come into contact with one discourse "Speaking" is in line with the interests of France, and it is also in line with its role as a permanent member of the UN Security Council.

Brazilian Standage Swing

On the 20th, Zerrenzki held the first meeting with Indian Prime Minister Modi on the sidelines on the sidelines. Essence

As for another key country in Brazil, the German New News Agency quoted Brazilian media reports that Brazilian delegations were worried about the sudden visit of President Ukraine, thinking that Brazil and India had been under pressure, and felt that Ukraine's views needed for war.

Bloomberg also quoted Brazilian officials as reports that Zeelianzki's interviews made the Brazilian delegation feel uneasy, as if he had to accept Jestonzki's suggestion to talk to Lula on the opposite side of the Japanese G7 field.

The Brazilian news website "G1" quoted its sources of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs on the 20th that Brazilian President Lula did not know if he would accept the request of the Ukrainian President Zellezki.

On the 20th, Zelei appeared on the 20th and met with several heads of state and government, including Indian Prime Minister Modi during the Seventh National Group Summit.

India and Brazil are partnerships of major democratic industrialization national conferences. Brazil took the position of the G20 chairman country from India on December 1 last year and will be this key international role for a year.

In a video call with Zessky in March, Lula reiterated his idea of taking international mediation measures to resolve the Ukrainian war. After a controversial statement was issued in the role of the United States and the European Union in the Ukraine War, Lula recently tried to calm the storm.

At the end of Portugal's state visit, Lula criticized Russia to attack Ukraine. Nevertheless, he hoped that he would play the mediation person with China still not called for Russia to withdraw troops from Ukraine.

Agence France -Presse reported that a senior US government official said that US President Bynden invited Japanese and South Korean leaders to Washington to hold a formal trilogy talk on the 21st. The official said that the meeting time will be determined quickly, and no further details are yet.

Japanese and Korean leaders had a brief meeting during the Summit of the Seventh Kingdom Group. Both countries were important allies in the United States. There are long -term differences in related issues such as labor. Over the past few months, the relationship between the long -term soldiers between the two countries has gradually thawed.

Seoul announced a plan in March that people who were affected by forced labor during the compensation war. Although this plan did not participate in Japan directly, it was still regarded as the relationship between South Korean President Yin Xiyue and the Japanese Prime Minister Kishita. The positive efforts made.

In a statement, the US President Byden praised Japan and South Korea's "brave work to improve its bilateral relations." He also said that the three leaders are also conducting new negotiations on North Korea's "illegal nuclear weapons and missile threats". Essence Earlier on the 21st, Yin Xiyue and Kishida Wenxiong conducted historic interviews with the Korean Memorial Hall of the Hiroshima atomic bomb explosion. This is the first time that the leaders of the two countries have visited the memorial together and the second time the Japanese Prime Minister did.

Yin Xiyue said at a bilateral meeting after his visit: "The brave action of the Prime Minister Kishida will be remembered, which paved the way for future peace, and at the same time expressed condolences to South Korean victims exploded by the atomic bomb."

House, a talk show actor, who performed in Beijing, said that the scene of the two wild dogs he adopted by the two wild dogs that he adopted reminded him of "excellent style and can win the battle". This paragraph was accused of offending the PLA.

(Voice of Germany) in Singapore's "Duan Media" published an article "Talking Show Industry Storm:" Chinese "offense, national violence, and" review outsourcing "", the author Shen Du pointed out that in In the performance of the public opinion caused by "excellent style and victory", a terrible signal is that in a considerable scale of the defense of the army of the army, the concept of the national state, the absolute order and the absolutely obedient condition, Among the language habits that can immediately trigger sensational mechanisms, when the PLA is not blasphemy as if it is in line with the system, we can clearly see that the momentum is becoming increasingly big, no doubt or even unable to cooperate. The unconditional recognition of national machinery as a compression system and the unconditional recognition of national violence, especially military violence.

The article says that it is precisely because of the continuous accumulation of depression, anxiety, and anger in daily life and have nowhere to vent. At the same time, there is almost no effective public discussion that makes people understand where the oppression comes, where the anger should be directed, and the dignified life What does it mean and what we can strive to resist as citizens, and the stories that are pervasive and dependent on the propaganda machines have almost blocked the possibility of recognizing the world from another angle -so depression and ourselves The anger was seamlessly transferred to the enemy needed by the country, and anxiety achieved the charm of power. Regarding the unconditional trust and rationalization of the official notification, it is discriminated against the non - dead corner of drug abuse, or the Kao Kao has become a trend, the "departments of the department" become a new preference for the marriage market, and they are different fruits on the same tree.

Political trauma left by "Cultural Revolution"

"New York Times" published an article "China Can't Wipe the Cultural Revolution Ten Years", author Pamela Paul said that in the new book "Red Memory -the Later of the Cultural Revolution" in the reporter Blannigen(Red Memory:The Afterlives of China's CulturalRevolution)Among them, he noticed that under Xi Jinping's rule, China's cover of the history of the "Cultural Revolution" became stricter -as China showed unprecedented strength on the world stage, this sign made people feel deeply worried about its political health. Essence

The article said that the endless "Cultural Revolution" left political trauma. "No work unit can be spared," Blannigen wrote. "No family is innocent. Using" Tongzhi "to describe is too lightweight -between comrades, friends, husband and wife, and parent -child betrayal. After changing the direction again, the former victims began to fight back. This intimate relationship and the sudden reversal of policies to tear all the texture of Chinese culture, overturning Confucian filial piety ethics and updated communist blog love commitments. "

The article pointed out that when Americans talk about the Cultural Revolution, the discussion content is often about the rise of collective thinking and Wuhezhong, as well as performance -type anger in Twitter's upper and university campuses. Of course, the similarities exist: political leaders are inciting cultural wars, and polarized thinking narrows the category of different opinions to allies and heresy fingers. The media is more willing to shout slogan instead of driving deep discussions. But Blannigen's work provides equally important warnings: ignoring or distorting history will lead to danger.

"Seeing Xinjiang behind Seattle"

Taiwan's "Wind Media" published an article "Seeing Xinjiang behind Seattle and Seeing Taiwan behind Xinjiang". The author Yan Jiyu said that Xinjiang issues have always been international news hotspots in recent years. The ultimate care of universal value is more important; the manipulation of geopolpolitik should not be sold out of the painful struggle of flesh and blood, especially the flesh and blood of the vulnerable groups. What's more, Xinjiang issues also involve many faces that surpass geopolitics, the game of great powers, and have a profound significance.

Following Japan and South Korea's tension for many years, the G7 summit hosted the country, Japan, invited South Korea to attend the meeting.

Japan and South Korea are important allies in the United States, but the two countries have long been disagreeable for Japan's comfort women under the brutal colonial rule of the Korean Peninsula from 1910 to 1945.

However, in March of the Seoul authorities in March this year, since the participation of the Tokyo authorities and the victims of the forced labor during compensation, South Korean President Yin Xiyue and the Japanese Prime Minister Kishida have been actively renovating the cracks between the two countries.

The White House issued a statement today pointed out that Bayeng praised Kishida Wenxiong and Yin Xiyue to "do the brave behavior to improve the relationship between the two countries." The statement said that the leaders of the United States, Japan and South Korea also discussed the "new collaboration" for North Korea's "illegal nuclear threats and missile threats".

The official said that it is expected that the formal talks of the three sides of the United States, Japan and South Korea will be finalized, and more details will not be provided at present.

Description: (Agence France -Presse Berlin, 21st) The German "Sunday World News" reported that a Russian journalist and an exile Russian civil rights attended the situation before and after the Russian disagreement meeting at Berlin last month. It may be poisoning, and the German police have launched an investigation.

A spokesman for the Berlin police told the Sunday World News (Welt Am Sonntag): "(Police) has been filed for investigation based on existing information." Agence France -Presse could not immediately obtain a Berlin police response.

The Russian independent news website Agentstvo announced this week's survey stating that the former Russian power and the critics of the Kremlin, Mikhail Khodorkovsky, hosted a meeting of Russian objections on April 29th and 30th. The two participants had a healthy problem.

One of them is a reporter who has just left Russia recently. This person has some symptoms during the event, and also said that the symptoms may appear earlier.

According to Agentstvo, the reporter went to Charite University Hospital for medical treatment. Russian President Vladimir Putin critic, Alexei Navalny, was poisoned in August 2020 and went to this hospital for treatment.

Another healthy person named Natalia Arno, the head of the non-governmental organization "Free Russia foundation", who has lived in the United States for 10 years after being forced to leave Russia.

Agentstvo reported that Arnold visited Berlin at the end of April and then went to Prague, Czech, and appeared in the local area; she also found that her hotel room door was opened.

The next day Arnold went to the United States and contacted a local hospital and authorities.

Arnold pointed out on Facebook this week that her symptoms include "tingling" and "paralysis", and also said that these "strange symptoms" first appeared before she arrived in Prague.

Arnold said he still had symptoms, but it felt much better.

In recent years, there have been cases in Russia who have criticized the Kremlin at home and abroad. The Moscow government denies the hands under their own agents.

The European laboratory has confirmed that the poison in Navani is Noveichok, a neurotoxic agent developed by the Soviet Union.

On May 14th, Turkey conducted Congress and presidential elections. The secular leader Kilicdaroglu played the most beautiful battle against the camp since Recep Tayyip Erdogan.

Retired officer Kiridauru is the Kurdish Alevi, who breaks the racial barriers with clear barriers, and also breaks the restraint of the media and public agencies, and has won nearly 45% of the votes.

However, El section is not fuel-saving lamp. He can only reach a threshold for 50 % of the voting rate in the first round of voting.

Although Turkey is facing the worst economic crisis since the 1990s, and the polls show that the 69 -year -old EI section may be lost for the first time in the national election, but he can still have such a strong performance.

Political Risk Consultation Company Eurasia Group evaluated that the probability of EI section was as high as 80 % on the 28th.

The risk consultation company Hamishkinnear, an analyst at Verisk Maplecroft, agreed with such a prediction. He said, "In the second round of decision, Kiridaou will face a hard battle. "

The implementation of China by the Sunak government to maintain contact and cooperation in the fields of trade and climate change, but at the same time strives to restrict China's threat to British national security.

(Voice of Germany Chinese) British Prime Minister Sonak Sundar (May 21) said to the media after the G7 Hiroshima Summit ended: "China has constituted the biggest challenge of global security and prosperity. Come more dictatorship and get more and more tough abroad. "

He said, , Reduce China's challenge.

He said: "All of this is about risks, not decoupled." He added: "We (...) It is taking measures to prevent China from using economic coercion to interfere with sovereignty in other countries. "

This week, Sonak's former Prime Minister Tras visited Taiwan. She was regarded as the most well -known British politician who visited Taiwan after Mrs. Sachel. Tellas said in Taiwan that the West should not "appease and accommodate" China.

Beijing has always claimed that it has sovereignty over Taiwan, and its attitude is becoming more and more tough. China emphasizes "peace reunification, one country, two systems" as the basic policy of Taiwan, but has never promised to abandon the use of force.

The implementation of China by the Sunak government to maintain contact and cooperation in the fields of trade and climate change, but at the same time strives to restrict China's threat to British national security. Tellas represents the eagle in the British Conservative Party and does not agree with Sunak's policy to China.

Sunak has also been criticized too loose to China in the United Kingdom. Last summer, Sonak said during his campaign that he would close 30 Confucius Institutes in the UK. However, a spokesman for the recent official residence of the British Prime Minister said: "We are taking action to cancel the government's funding of the Confucius Institute in the UK, but the current judgment is that it is inappropriate to close the Confucius Institute."

In an interview with a British media in Hiroshima, Sonak warned again that China was "the only country that needs to be both needed to reshape global order." He also said that London has prevented China from investing in sensitive industries in the UK, including semiconductors.

The joint communiqué issued by the G7 Summit stated that the policy of the Seven Kingdoms Group was not to harm China, nor to obstruct its economic progress and development.

G7 Joint Bulletin: We are ready to establish a constructive and stable relationship with China

The joint bulletin issued by the G7 Summit yesterday pointed out: "The peace and stability of the Taiwan Strait are indispensable for the safety and prosperity of the international community. The basic position of members of the Seventh Kingdom Group on the issue of Taiwan has not changed, including a Chinese policy that declared. We call for peace to solve cross - strait issues. "

The communiqué also mentioned: "In view of China's role in the international community and its economic scale, it is necessary to cooperate with China in areas that China challenges and interested together", "[]," Aware of the importance of being frank with China and expressing our concern directly to China. "

The communiqué also emphasized that the policy policy of the Seventh -way Group is not to harm China, nor to obstruct its economic progress and development. "We are not decoupled or inward."

On Friday, Feng Delin, the chairman of the European Commission, also emphasized again that he opposed decoustration with China. She said that in order to protect the European economy, they must discuss security benefits, so they must also discuss export control and foreign investment, especially in sensitive high -tech technology fields. At the same time, in the fields of climate change, major epidemic prevention, financial stability, or cracking down on nuclear diffusion, it must cooperate with China.

However, she also said that the trade deficit between the European Union and China increased to double in ten years to 400 billion euros. She said that this imbalanced trade relationship is caused by non -market behavior, such as hidden subsidies, discrimination in public tendering, and the national capitalist system. She pointed out that these distorted phenomena must be resolved.

To prevent potential crisis EU formulating plans to promote the diversification of rare earth supply chain

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of China issued a statement on Saturday to protest the "hype -related issues involved in China." According to the statement, China expressed strong dissatisfaction and resolute opposition to the "Seven -Kingdoms Group's serious concern for China, insisted on manipulating the issue of China, discrediting China, and interfering with China's internal affairs."

German Prime Minister Tsurtz said that Western allies or Ukraine pilots provide F-16 fighter training to send a message to Russia. Even if Moscow launched long-term warfare, do not expect to win in the Ukrainian war.

Reuters reported that Sunday (May 21) said at a press conference: "The training of Ukrainian pilots is a very long -term project, and the United States has not made a final decision."

Western countries have not yet promised Essence However, US officials revealed that President Byden attended Hiroshima, Japan During the summit, he stated to other G7 leaders that he would allow Black pilots to receive F-16 fighter training and plan to approve other countries to transfer the US-made F-16 fighter to Ukraine.

U.S. officials said that the F-16 fighter joint training plan will be launched within a few weeks and is carried out at European locations outside Ukraine. The fastest time for training and delivery of the F-16 fighter is 18 months.

In response to China's or threatening the global supply chain and economic security, Shuerz stated that even if the G7 member states agreed to reduce dependence on China through "de-risk", countries will still ensure that large-scale investment in China will continue to invest in China and and and and of. Continue to maintain trade such as supply chain and exports.

Shuerz pointed out that although countries hope to limit China's threat to global economic security, "no one is interested in curbing China's (economic) growth."

The US White House National Security Consultant Shalv recently revealed that the G7 leader intends to issue a joint statement on China at the Hiroshima Summit, saying that the G7 seek to reduce risks, rather than decoupling with China.

Kody Frederick, a Julien's Auctions, told AFP earlier this month that the smashed black FENDER STRATOCASTER guitar has been repaired, but it can no longer be played.

The Super Orchestra is an American oil -stained rock orchestra. It was formed in Abing, Washington in 1987. This guitar has a signature of all three members.

The auction house said that the guitar was auctioned at the Hard Rock Cafe in New York City. It was originally estimated at $ 60,000 before the auction, but finally sold at a high price of $ 595,000.

Freuderik told AFP earlier in May: "You can see where he fell back to the guitar and cause the guitar to crack. It is where the neck is connected. There is also the place where he fell back to the guitar."

The popular songs of the Super Orchestra are mostly created by Cutkoben, including Come as you are, Lithium, and 1991 famous song SMELLS Like Teen Spirit.

Cutkoben suffers from drug addiction and depression, and has a bad relationship with his wife Courtney Love.

He ended his life in April 1994.

According to the surging news network, on May 20th, the number of marriage registrations in China, the number of weddings registered in many places declined sharply.

The number of marriage registrations of the Jiangsu Civil Affairs Department was 11156 pairs on the same day, a decrease of 3,500 pairs from the same day last year; 12,450 pairs of 12,450 pairs on the day of Guangdong Province, a decrease of more than 8,000 pairs from the same day last year.

The report emphasized that the number of marriage registration has gradually decreased in recent years, and the number of registrations in Sichuan, Fujian and Guizhou has also declined significantly on May 20. The number of registrations in Sichuan decreased from 25,000 pairs on May 20 last year to 16,000 pairs this year, and Fujian decreased from 10159 last year to 6270 pairs this year.

In recent years, the trend of decline in the decline in the willingness of Chinese youth marriage and childbirth has become increasingly obvious. At the beginning of this year, the civil affairs department of many places in China has announced that the average age of first marriage in various places is nearly 30 years old, and late marriage has become a common trend. The populationist Yi Fuxian has analyzed that the delay of the age of marriage and childbirth also means that the fertility ability will further affect China's fertility rate over time.

密聊猫、纸飞机（Telegram）、蝙蝠、事密达、海鸥……近日，这几款加密通讯软件频繁出现在各地警方公开发布的通知中，各地家长被要求检查孩子手机中是否装有上述软件——这些软件被指为犯罪分子销毁犯罪证据提供了便利。

比如，南京市公安局官方微信公众号5月16日发布消息称，密聊软件因其加密通讯的私密性强，尤其是“阅后即焚”的功能，为犯罪分子销毁犯罪证据提供了便利，使密聊软件成为“灰色地带”。

Police in many places in China have requested that children's mobile phones cannot install encrypted communication software. Network screenshot /cctv.com

According to the surging news network, the police in many places in China have recently issued a notice asking parents to check whether the child's mobile phone includes a paper aircraft (telegraph Telegram), a close -up cat, a bat, a secret Dada, and a seagulls. Uninstall immediately. These softwares are accused of facilitating criminal destruction of criminal evidence.

The Nanjing Public Security Bureau issued a notice on the WeChat public account on May 16, saying that these encrypted chat software provides convenience for criminals to destroy criminal evidence, making secret chat software a "gray area". Minors are easily coaxed to provide personal information and other contents on these software, becoming the "accomplices" of illegal crimes, and violated the crime of "help." Police in Fuzhou, Lanzhou, Guangxi, Shanxi and other places in Fujian also issued similar notices.

But this news caused different reactions outside the Chinese network firewall. In the comments below Twitter, some people criticized that this is "controlling the air and the air", and some people say that this is fearing that the children will know the truth. However, some people say that a large amount of violent pornographic content has harmed children.

Representatives of the White House and the Republican Parliament have not yet reached a consensus on raising the upper limit of debt. President Biden, who is attending the Hiroshima Summit in Japan, plans to talk to McCarthy, Speaker of the House of Representatives on Sunday (May 21) to promote the negotiation as soon as possible.

According to Bloomberg and Reuters, a White House official revealed that after the negotiations of Bayeng's report on the report of the White House did not make progress, they planned to be After the summit, I talked to McCarthy on the morning of Sunday time Washington.

McCarthy on Saturday (20th) shows that when the president is still overseas, Unlikely to be resolved.

In response to the current deadlock in negotiations, McCarthy pointed out that the White House representatives were "changed again" and refused to make concessions to cutting expenses. He said: "They actually want to spend more money than we spend this year ... We must reduce this year's expenses."

The two insiders revealed that Republican representatives rejected a proposal for the White House, which will make the 2024 non-national defense and national defense disposable expenditure in the 2023 fiscal year. McCarthy has repeatedly stated that he hopes to reduce non-defense expenses, but Democrats believe that maintaining funding is equivalent to effective reduction under inflation.

The White House spokesman Jean-Pierre said that Republicans provided their own proposals on Friday (19th), but this plan contains "a set of extremist party requirements and cannot be passed in the two courts of Congress." Although the negotiation process is not smooth, she still maintains a "optimistic" attitude towards the negotiation process.

Now the distance from June 1 With only 12 days left, the US Ministry of Finance has warned many times that the federal government's cash will trigger the US debt defaults for the first time, then affect the global economy, and weaken the US global economic leadership.

The U.S. government's long-term finances cannot be eaten up, and bonds are issued on bonds. As of October 2022, U.S. debt has accumulated to US $ 31 trillion (41 trillion yuan), and it is about to touch 31.4 trillion US dollars with the ceiling of the debt. The Ministry of Finance can no longer sell more US debt and get daily operations.

Description: The small town in the small town in Donetsk, eastern Ukraine, had a population of 70,000 to 80,000 before the war began. In the past few months, the two military and Russia forces have been fighting fiercely here. Why is this small town so important? Once Ukraine is lost, what does it mean for both parties?

Russia claims that its troops and Wagner Group have completely controlled Bachurut, but Ukraine officials have denied this.

(Voice of Germany Chinese) Bachurut is located in Ahwatz, Ukrandon, and is part of Donbas, the industrial area. Residents of local living are mainly Russian. Before the war, the population of Bachmut was about 70,000 to 80,000.

From February 24, 2022, Russia invaded Ukraine and occurred [] in the city of Bachomut Have never paused. The fierce battle there is reminiscent of the First World War. The battlefield was covered with mines, and the trenches were shot ruthlessly and the rocket attack. The commanders of both sides of the battle are called [] Essence

During World War II, the Nazi Germans drove 3,000 Jews into a mine near Bachmut and sealed the mines, causing everyone to suffocate and die.

Polish military expert Muzka(Konrad Music)In March of this year, the Bachurut area was inspected. After leaving, he said that he believed that the Ukrainian military continued to keep the city no longer military significance.

In an interview with Reuters, he said: "Defending Bach Murut is now a political decision, not a military decision." He said that from a military perspective, the scale and price of Ukrainian losses have surpassed the city that keeps holding the city. income.

The competition against Bachmut is considered to be the longest and bloodpiectable battle in the Russian and Ukraine War, and both sides have suffered heavy casualties.

However, for the Russian army, Bach Mutt is very important as a transportation supply center. But more importantly, Bachurut can become the Russian army's stepping stone, helping the Russian army to advance to the long -awaited Kramatorsk and Sloviansk.

Clarmatsk and Slovejansk are within the range of Russian cannons. Moscow needs to control these two cities to complete its so -called mission of "the People's Republic of the People's Republic of China".

March this year, In an interview with CNN, he was worried that if the Russian army won the Bachurut, he would have a "tank" to Clarmatosk and Slovejansk, so he made a tactical decision or ordering the tactics to keep Bachomut.

Reuters pointed out that if Bachurut is captured, it is also an important victory of morale after the Russian army has experienced a series of failures.

Although the loss of Bachmut will not have much strategic impact, the control of the losing the city is likely to hit the morale of the Ukrainian army.

In an interview with the Associated Press in March, Zelei said that he was worried that Russia's victory in Bachurut would trigger voices in the international community and Ukraine's internal demands of peace. This was what he didn't want.

However, even if Bakhmut really fell, Ukraine can still be comforted from the fact that Russia has been resisting the Russian army for so long and let Russia pay a heavy price, because this shows that Russia's attempts to seize more Ukrainian territory will pay the same heavy heavier. cost.

German Prime Minister and his wife visited the Blue Camp at the Non - Military Region Border (Voice of Germany) German Chancellor Savz ends on Sunday Later, go to South Korea for a brief visit. Schildez and his wife Brittaernstst first came to the non -military zone (DMZ) on the Korean Peninsula, and called on North Korea to stop the ballistic missile test. Since the Korean War has ended 70 years since the STDs have ended, the Korean Peninsula has been split into the north controlled by the Communist regime and the southern part of the democratic regime.

The German Prime Minister and his wife visited the blue barracks of the non - military region border. It was a place to reach a suspension agreement in July 1953 after the three -year war. On both sides of Line 38, more than one million soldiers confronted, because North Korea and South Korea are still in a state of war according to international law. The peace treaty has not been signed so far.

The United States resident in South Korea reached 28,500. Nearly 52 million people in South Korea live in metropolitan areas around Seoul near the border. Shawtz then met with South Korean President Yin Xiyue in the capital. This is the first time that German leaders have conducted bilateral visits to South Korea in 30 years.

KN-24 Type short-range ballistic missile

On January 17, North Korea launched two short-range ballistic missiles (SRBM) suspected to be KN-24 from a airport in Pyongyang, the capital. According to Korean official media reports, the two missiles "accurately hit an island target on the east coast of the country." Analysts said that the last test of these missiles was in March 2020, and it seems to have entered the deployment of large -scale production and military units. The KN-24 missile is similar to the American MGM-140 Army Tactical Missile System (ATACMS), and can avoid the missile defense system with a more flat ballistic flight than a traditional ballistic missile.

The South Korean government officially dispatched a group of nuclear sewage expert inspection teams on Sunday (May 21) to Japan to investigate Fukushima nuclear sewage treatment.

The Yonhap News Agency reported that there were 21 experts in this group of inspection teams, including 19 experts such as nuclear power and radiation protection experts from the Korean Atomic Safety Technology Institute (KINS), and experts such as radioactive pollution monitoring of marine environment of the Korean Marine Science and Technology (KIOST).

The South Korean delegation will set off on Sunday to Japan for a six -day inspection. Experts will focus on reviewing the filtering function of the "multi - nuclein removal device" (ALPS) to ensure that the sewage after filtration is in line with emissions safety.

Liu Guoxi, chairman of the Korean Atomic Safety Committee, also serves as the head of the delegation. Before set off, he told the media that the members of the delegation were senior experts in the fields of radiation and nuclear power equipment, with on-site experience for more than 10 to 20 years.

They will inspect and confirm the Japanese nuclear sewage discharge plan from various fields based on sample data recorded in August 2021.

The delegation will also directly confirm whether the Japanese nuclear sewage discharge plan is appropriate.

In addition to showing a "careful and thorough" inspection, Liu Guoxi also emphasized that it will maintain neutrality and verify the safety of sewage discharge based on scientific basis and standards.

Biden told reporters before the Hiroshima Summit of the Seven Industrial State Group (G7) returned to Washington that Republicans regarded the deletion expenditure as a condition that the US government borrowed permissions. "The other party should get rid of their extreme stance."

Biden said that today he took the Air Force One on his way back to Washington and would negotiate directly with Kevin McCarthy, the Speaker of the Federal House of Republican House as the Republican leader, "we can reach an agreement."

But Biden also said that he was studying a dramatic approach, that is, to quote a vague constitutional clause to avoid Congress and increase the upper limit of debt.

The 4th amendment of the US Constitution, paragraph 4 of the 14th amendment, made "the effectiveness must not be doubted for the legal debt approved by the law, including the annuity and the debt generated by the annuity and bonuses of the person who reaches the meritorious personnel.

"I can't guarantee that they (referring to Republicans) will not do some shameless things to force the breach of contract. I am studying the 14th Amendment of the Constitution."

"I think we have this power. The question is whether we can act in time and quote."

(Voice of Germany Chinese) U.S. President Biden said at the end of the G7 Hiroshima Summit that the Ukrainian President Zeleius made a "clear guarantee" that Ukraine would not use [] provided by Western countries Attack Russia.

Biden said that these fighters were "impossible" for the offensive of Ukraine in the next few weeks. But the Ukrainian army may need this weapon to resist the Russian troops outside where they are currently.

On the last day of the G7 Summit, Biden announced that it provided Ukraine with a value of $ 375 million in Cannon and armored vehicles [] Essence At the same time, he also provided the allies with the F-16 fighter aircraft to the allies to clear the road.

Washington also supports allies to provide joint training programs for Ukraine pilots to drive F-16 fighters. However, Kiev has not been temporarily obtained the public commitment of the F-16 fighter aircraft.

Zelei said on Sunday that after several months of lobbying, he firmly believed that Ukraine would obtain an F-16 fighter from Western countries.

Biden told the media that he discussed the issue in a private meeting with Zellezki. He said that if Ukraine made progress, they may need to master weapons farther than existing weapons. In addition, he also believes that in the future, these fighters can also allow Ukraine to ensure that they are confident to resist the Russians when they are attacked again.

More reading: British Prime Minister Sonak also announced during the summit that the British will help Ukraine to train F-16 pilots this summer. But the United Kingdom, like Germany, does not have a large number of available F-16 fighters. German Chancellor Savz said in Hiroshima that he believes that some Western countries have promised to train Ukraine F-16 pilots to send political signals to Russia, indicating that Western countries will support Ukraine for a long time.

According to the Washington Post, the Ukrainian Ministry of Defense, a consultant, said on Friday: "We estimate that at the end of September and early October and early October, we can see the first batch of F-16 fighters flying in Ukraine."

A new study in Japan found that if the breast -lactating mouse is intake in Propanoic Acid, it will help mice to inhibit bronchial asthma symptoms.

Xinhua News Agency reported that this research results published in the international journal "Intestinal Microorganisms" will help develop a new method of treating allergic diseases such as intestinal bacteria and short - chain fatty acids as targets, and intervene in intervention The lifestyle of women during the siege prevents the symptoms of asthma in newborns. The perinatal period refers to the important period before and after the birth of 28 weeks of pregnancy to the week after giving birth.

It is reported that the researchers have prepared drinking water (SCFAS), which contain three short -chain fatty acids (SCFAS) including ethyl, as well as ordinary drinking water. They first let the pregnant female rats drink ordinary drinking water. After the birth of the mouse was born, the breastfeeding mouse was paid to one of the four types of drinking water. After weaning at the age of three, the mouse re -feeds ordinary drinking water to the mice and mice, and released dust mites in the trachea of the six -year -old mouse.

The experimental results show that the proportion of inflammatory immune cells such as acidic cells in the bronchial inflammatory fluid in the bronchial inflammatory cells such as obedrom acid drinking water during breastfeeding period is lower than the sons of other mice, indicating that The ingestion of propionic acid in breastfeeding can inhibit the allergic airway inflammation of the mice.

Propine is the main metabolites produced by microorganisms in many animal intestines including humans.

Earlier studies have shown that short -chain fatty acids have played an important role in maintaining intestinal steady state by maintaining the intestinal stability by the G protein coupling Antida and GPR43 expressed in immune cells. Researchers also specially cultivated female rats that cannot synthesize the receptors of GPR41 and GPR43, and they are grouping them with wild mouse according to whether they consume propionic acid.

It was found that if the mice and wild mice of the GPR43 were not synthesized, the allergic airway inflammation of the sub -generation would be suppressed.

The mouse of the GPR41 cannot be synthesized. Even if the propionic acid is ingested, the proportion of eosinophils in the bronchial alveolia irrigation fluid of the subcultisions will not change. Ensure for allergic tract inflammation.

The relationship between the two parties does deteriorate.

In February, Washington decided to shoot down suspected Chinese spy balloon, which caused diplomacy between the two countries. Antony Blinken, US Secretary of State, visited Beijing's trip to Beijing, and he was originally regarded as an opportunity to improve the relationship between the two sides.

At a press conference in Hiroshima, a reporter asked why the hotline proposed in the middle of the United States failed to operate. Biden replied, "You are right, we should have a smooth hotline. During the island meeting of qq, President Xi and I agree with us."

He also said, "But then this stupid balloon with a considerable two trucks flew over the United States. After it was shot down, everything changed in terms of bilateral relations. ;"

The Biden government restricted the trade with China's advanced chip trade on the grounds of transferring military risks, which also caused China to be dissatisfied.

Biden defended the United States today; "They are committed to the establishment of the army, so I stated that they are not ready to trade with some project products with China. Now we have obtained all allies promises that they will not do this and provide (China) that (China). Class material. "

He pointed out: "But this is not a hostile action. What this action is to say:" We must ensure that we can do our best to maintain the status quo. "" warn.

According to the website of the Communist Party of China Henan Discipline
Inspection Commission's website on Friday (May 19), Wang Jianfu, Secretary of the Party Committee and Chairman of Luoyang Bank of Henan Province, was investigated for suspected serious disciplinary violations.

According to public information, Wang Jianfu worked in Bank of China for a long time. He entered the Bank of Luoyang in 1999 and was promoted to the chairman and secretary of the party committee. In 2022, Luoyang Bank was merged into the Central Plains Bank.

In an interview with the China Fund in 2020, Wang Jianfu revealed that Luoyang Bank issued a total of over 100 billion yuan in three years in three years, supporting the economic development of Luoyang; Luoyang Bank entered the top 100 list of the Bank of China in 2019.

However, many cadres in the Central Plains Bank have been investigated in recent years, including Wei Jie, the former vice chairman of the Central Plains Bank, Zhao Weihua, the former vice president of Central Plains Bank, and Dou Rongxing, former chairman.

In addition, the incidents of the four villages and towns in Henan, which occurred in April last year, have not been resolved, and a large number of storeders have not been compensated. In March of this year, some victims released large balloons in Zhengzhou, and sued that deposits have been illegally frozen by officials.

British Prime Minister Sonak in the Seventh Kingdom Group (G7) Hiroshima Summit Reuters pictures

According to Reuters, British Prime Minister Sonak said to the media after the Sunday (May 21) at the Summit of the Seventh National Group that China constituted the biggest challenge of global security and prosperity in this era, but major economies should not be with China. Comprehensive decoupling.

Sunak pointed out that China is becoming more and more dictatorship, but it is more and more aggressive to foreign countries. The countries of the United Kingdom and the Seven Groups should adopt common methods to reduce China's challenges, but this is "risk" rather than decoupling.

Some reporters asked Sonak's question that the Seven Kingdoms did not seem to take any specific actions to deal with Beijing's growing good emotions against Taiwan. Sunak responded that he didn't think there was no substantial action.

He also added that the United Kingdom is taking measures with the Seven Kingdoms Group to prevent China from using economic coercion to interfere with sovereign affairs in other countries. The Seventh Kingdom Group Summit is also ensuring that important technologies related to security are not leaked to China.

The report emphasized that some people in the Conservative Party of Sunak had a strong criticism of China, including the former Conservative leader Iain Duncansmith and former Prime Minister Tras. Tellas just visited Taiwan and called on Sonak to strengthen his attitude towards China.

Australian Prime Minister Albanis also expressed a similar attitude on Sunday. He expressed his support for the joint statement of the Seven Kingdoms Group (G7), which emphasized that it needs to reduce dependence on Chinese trade.

E-commerce giant Alibaba's financial report last Thursday (May 18), the increase was lower than previous expectations. Reuters pictures

According to the Wall Street Journal, a financial report from several major technology giants in China shows that although economic activities are accelerating, consumer expenditure is still weak.

E-commerce giant Alibaba's financial report last Thursday (May 18) showed that the revenue of the previous fiscal quarter only increased by 2% compared with the same period of the previous year, and the increase was lower than the previous expectations. Alibaba's stock in New York also fell on the same day. 5%. Jingdong Group also disclosed earlier that although the income increased slightly in the first quarter, the sales business was still affected by the lack of confidence in consumers, especially the sales of large-scale commodities such as household appliances were weak.

On the other hand, the revenue of Tencent and Baidu's first quarter of the first quarter achieved a double-digit increase, of which Tencent's online advertising revenue growth rate was 17%.

However, the report emphasized that although the consumption expenditure began to recover after the epidemic was closed, the search had not yet returned to the level before the epidemic.

The "Caixin" website published a comment article on Sunday to analyze China's investment opportunities, which pointed out that the pressure of manufacturing inventory in March and April in China was obvious, and the production and sales rate fell to the lowest level of 20 years. Weak, so the traffic industry is better, but the gross profit margin of the product generally declines, and the operators are more confused.

Reuters reported that Bayeng Sunday (May 21) was [] [] During the Hiroshima Summit, a meeting with Ukraine President Zelei Sky, reiterating the full support of Ukraine by the United States, and announced a new round of military assistance plans for Ukraine.

According to Biden, the new plans for the U -military aid include providing support from ammunition, artillery shells, armored vehicles and training. Biden said that the United States is doing its best to strengthen Ukraine's defense capabilities to help it fight against Russia.

According to the news of the Kyodo News Agency, Biden said directly to Zelei that it agreed to provide European F-16 fighters against Ukraine.

Ukraine has repeatedly called on Western allies to provide F-16 fighter support, but it has not been clearly promised before that. Germany and Britain have recently stated that whether the F-16 fighter aid can be provided depends on the White House.

Bayeng told other G7 leaders during the G7 summit on Friday (19th) that he would allow Ukraine pilots to receive F-16 fighter training and plan to approve other countries to transfer the F-16 fighter made from the United States to Ukraine.

China said that the product produced by the US storage chip manufacturer Micron Technology (MU.O) has not passed its network security censorship and will prohibit important infrastructure operators from purchasing the company's products. Reuters pictures

China Network Information Office on Sunday (May 21) announced on its official website. Web News Network announced that the products produced by the US storage chip manufacturer Micron Technology (MU.O) have not passed its network security censorship, which will prohibit important infrastructure operators from purchasing The company's products.

According to Reuters, Micron stated that it had received a notice of conclusion on the company's product review and "looking forward to continuing to discuss with relevant Chinese departments." However, the Internet Information Office has not provided the risks of the discovery, nor does it indicate which Mei Guang products will be affected.

China announced the review of Micron's products in March, and Micron stated that it would cooperate. About 10%of Micron's income comes from China, but it is unclear whether this decision will affect the company's sales of non -Chinese customers in China. A large part of Micron's products flowed to China were purchased by non -Chinese companies and used in products made in China.

The report explained the background of this incident: there are controversy on the technical problems of chip technology in the United States and China. Washington has adopted the output restrictions on advanced process chips to China, and prevented Micron's competitors from Yangzijiang Storage Technology to purchase certain American parts.

A football game in the evening of Ipoh, the capital of Perak, Malaysia, riots in the evening of Saturday (May 20). The supporters of the two teams fought against each other before the police involved, and the scene was chaotic. Fortunately, the police quickly controlled the scene and arrested four people to stop the expansion of the situation in a timely manner. The incident did not cause injuries to be admitted to hospital or died.

The Director of the Ipoh Police District, Yehaya, issued a statement saying that the Malaysian Super Football League Perak played for Selangor on Saturday evening at the Perak Stadium in Ipoh. On the way, riots occurred around 9:17 that night.

He said the police found a video of social media WhatsApp circulated about riots, and pointed out that the police arrested four people at the scene and quickly controlled the scene.

Yehaya revealed that the police had quoted the case of the 147th (caused by riots) to investigate the case. The four arrested people are 18 to 26 years old, and one of them believes that he has taken cannabis after urine testing.

According to relevant videos, police officers were stationed at the scene at the time of the incident, but a group of supporters who believed that the Perak team suddenly rushed from the left side of the camera to the supporters of the Selangor team on the right side of the camera. The two sides immediately shouted, throwing items and beating. After the police quickly separated the two sides, the two teams still confronted each other and humiliated each other, and the scene was noisy and noisy.

After the police intervened in time, the riots were not long and stopped soon. However, related videos are crazy about social media and caused discussions.

The biography of Malaysian Prime Minister Anhua "Anwar: Unknown Story" on the first day of its release was RM1 million (about S $ 300,000) box office, becoming one of Malaysia's recent seller movies.

"Anwar: Unknown Story" is produced by the well-known political cartoonist of Malaysia, directed by Indonesian director Viva, and starring Malaysian actor Fali Camille. The movie was officially released on 120 theaters in Malaysia on Thursday (May 18), with more than 1,000 screenings.

According to the "Sunshine Daily" report, Mohamad Yusov, chairman of the film official release company, said that the schedule of this film is similar to the Hollywood blockbuster "Fast X FAST & Furious 10", but the box office performance is still excellent. It surprised him.

He believes that the audience's enthusiastic response proves that they can accept biographical movies adapted from the real story of Malaysia in the world, which will encourage more filmmakers to shoot such films.

Zhana told the media earlier this year that he wanted to shoot movies about Anwar in 2012, but it was not officially started until September 2021. He said that the biggest challenge before the shooting was that Malaysia had no actors dared to take over the protagonist. He revealed that at that time, in order to avoid intervention from the National Film Development Bureau of Malaysia, the film was finally selected in Indonesia.

The US President Biden stated on the issue of debt limit that he was willing to cut expenditure, but would not agree to reach an agreement with the Republican Party with the latter.

Reuters reported that the above -mentioned remarks were delivered on Sunday (May 21) when a press conference was held on Hiroshima, Japan.

The U.S. Democratic Party and the Republican Party have recently been deadlocked on the negotiations of raising debt limit issues. (<https://www.zaobao.com.sg/realtimeworld/story20230521-1396707>) Essence

He emphasized that if the US government has a debt defaults, it will face serious consequences, and this situation should not happen. He hopes that Republicans will realize that it will not reach a two -party agreement according to the conditions proposed by the Republican Party, and "Republicans must also take action."

Biden also said that he believed that he had the right to quote the 14th amendment to the US Constitution and increase the debt limit without passing the procedures of Congress, but it was not sure if he could take such actions to prevent breach of contract in time.

Biden said he still believed that he could reach an agreement with Republicans, but could not guarantee that Republicans would not force the breach of contract through "doing something outrageous".

The shooting occurred on Sunday (May 21), a French port city Marseille, causing three men to die.

Agence France -Presse reported that at 5 am on Sunday local time (at 11 am Sunday time on Singapore time), five men in their 20s were driven away from a nightclub and were under unknown attackers holding the Kalashnikovrifle (Kalashnikovrifle) shooting. Three of them died unfortunately, and the remaining two survivors were not injured.

Police said that one of them escaped the scene and the gunman had absconded.

The police found the suspect's car burned near the shot location. This method of crime was consistent with the previous poisoning killing incidents that occurred in Marseille. The criminals often burned their own vehicles to achieve the purpose of destroying evidence.

Frederique Camilleri, the director of the local police station, said the early signs showed that the attacked men lived in a frequent community with drug trafficking activities, and the police knew several of them.

Camilia told the media that it had mobilized the police force to take out the murderer who implemented despicable crimes and destroyed the drug dealer behind the violence.

Agence France -Presse reported that with this shot killing case on Sunday, Marseille has reached 21 drug -related murders since the beginning of this year.

The victims of this kind of homicide are usually young people with low status among drug trafficking gangs, and they are the goal of the killer of hostile gangs.

In early April, three of the Marseille were shot shot, including one 16 -year - old, and eight others were injured. The authorities deployed the special police force in the key areas of Marseille in Marseille.

Marseille Mayor Benoit Payan stated this month that "the war has continued for too long" and called on the French government to "take a firm and powerful way" to stop violence.
